GALLOGLY STARTS JOURNEY BACK TO 'HELL IN GEORGIA'

Turned Over To Officers Of That State After Losing Texas Fight

WIFE TELLS HIM 'WE'VE JUST STARTED FIGHTING'

Mother And Sister Echo Her Statement In Bristling Comment

DALLAS, Tex., March 23.—(AP)—Fugitive Richard Gray Gallogly turned back to a predicted "hell in Georgia" today, his long gamble for Texas justice ended.

The 30-year-old scion of a prominent Georgia family walked out of Dallas county jail in chains with two Georgia officers for the ride back to a life sentence for complicity in a slaying he fled six months ago.

"The first 12 years are the hardest," he smiled through wry lips. "I'm going back to hell."

Beauteous Vera Gallogly, the honey-haired wife whose personal plea to Governor W. Lee O'Daniel to refuse extradition was rejected, clutched his coat lapels, kissed him and whispered:

"We've just started fighting, Dick."

His mother, Mrs. Worth E. Yankey, Sr., and sister-in-law, Mrs. Yankey, Jr., echoed her in bristling comment.

The former Oglethorpe university student, who, with Robert Eliot Burns, author of "I'm a Fugitive From a Georgia Chain Gang," rank as the cracker state's most publicized prisoners, surrendered to Sheriff Smoot Schmid here in October, 1939, with the intention of "seeking Texas justice—out here where men are real men."

Gallogly had threaded his way across several states to Dallas after escaping from two prison guards who were transferring him from a hospital to a state prison.

On that night his mother and wife were with him. Mrs. Yankey pleaded with him to abandon his escape plans; his wife accompanied him to Texas. She is under indictment in Fulton county, Georgia, on a shoplifting charge which she claims was "a positive frameup."

Through six months of legal jockeying Gallogly has stayed in Dallas county jail while attorneys went up every avenue of escape from extradition back to Georgia. He was under life sentence after pleading guilty as an accomplice in two slayings of more than a dozen years ago.

Gallogly has claimed political persecution; exhibits scores of letters from publishers, business men, bankers, churchmen, social leaders recommending his parole.

"Now I see the federal officials are investigating conditions in Georgia. I may have a chance now. I don't know about my future plans. There is a possibility I'll file a writ in federal court.

"Texas is a fine state. I hold no resentment against anyone for the failure to keep me here and give me a chance to become a useful citizen. I'm sorry I didn't get that chance. You know—if Christ hadn't given people another chance we would be in bad shape now."

Gallogly was first jailed on October 28, 1928.

He entered a plea of guilty in the slaying of a Georgia drug store clerk, he claims, to save George Harsh, a

ROOSEVELT'S COLD WILL KEEP HIM IN

WASHINGTON, March 23.—(AP)—President Rooseelt's cold was reported much better today, but White House attaches said it probably would preent his attending Easter church services.

The chief executive stayed abed most of the day and his secretary, Stephen T. Early, said he thought it unlikely he would venture out tomorrow, particularly since the forecast is for a raw, cold day.

Mrs. Roosevelt expects to join thousands of other Washingtonians and visitors at sunrise services at Arlington cemetery, and also will attend services at St. John's Episcopal church.

In view of Mr. Roosevelt's progress in throwing off his cold, it is expected that he will join Mrs. Roosevelt for at least a few minutes of greeting on Monday to the thousands of children who will flock to the White House grounds for the traditional Easter-egg rolling.

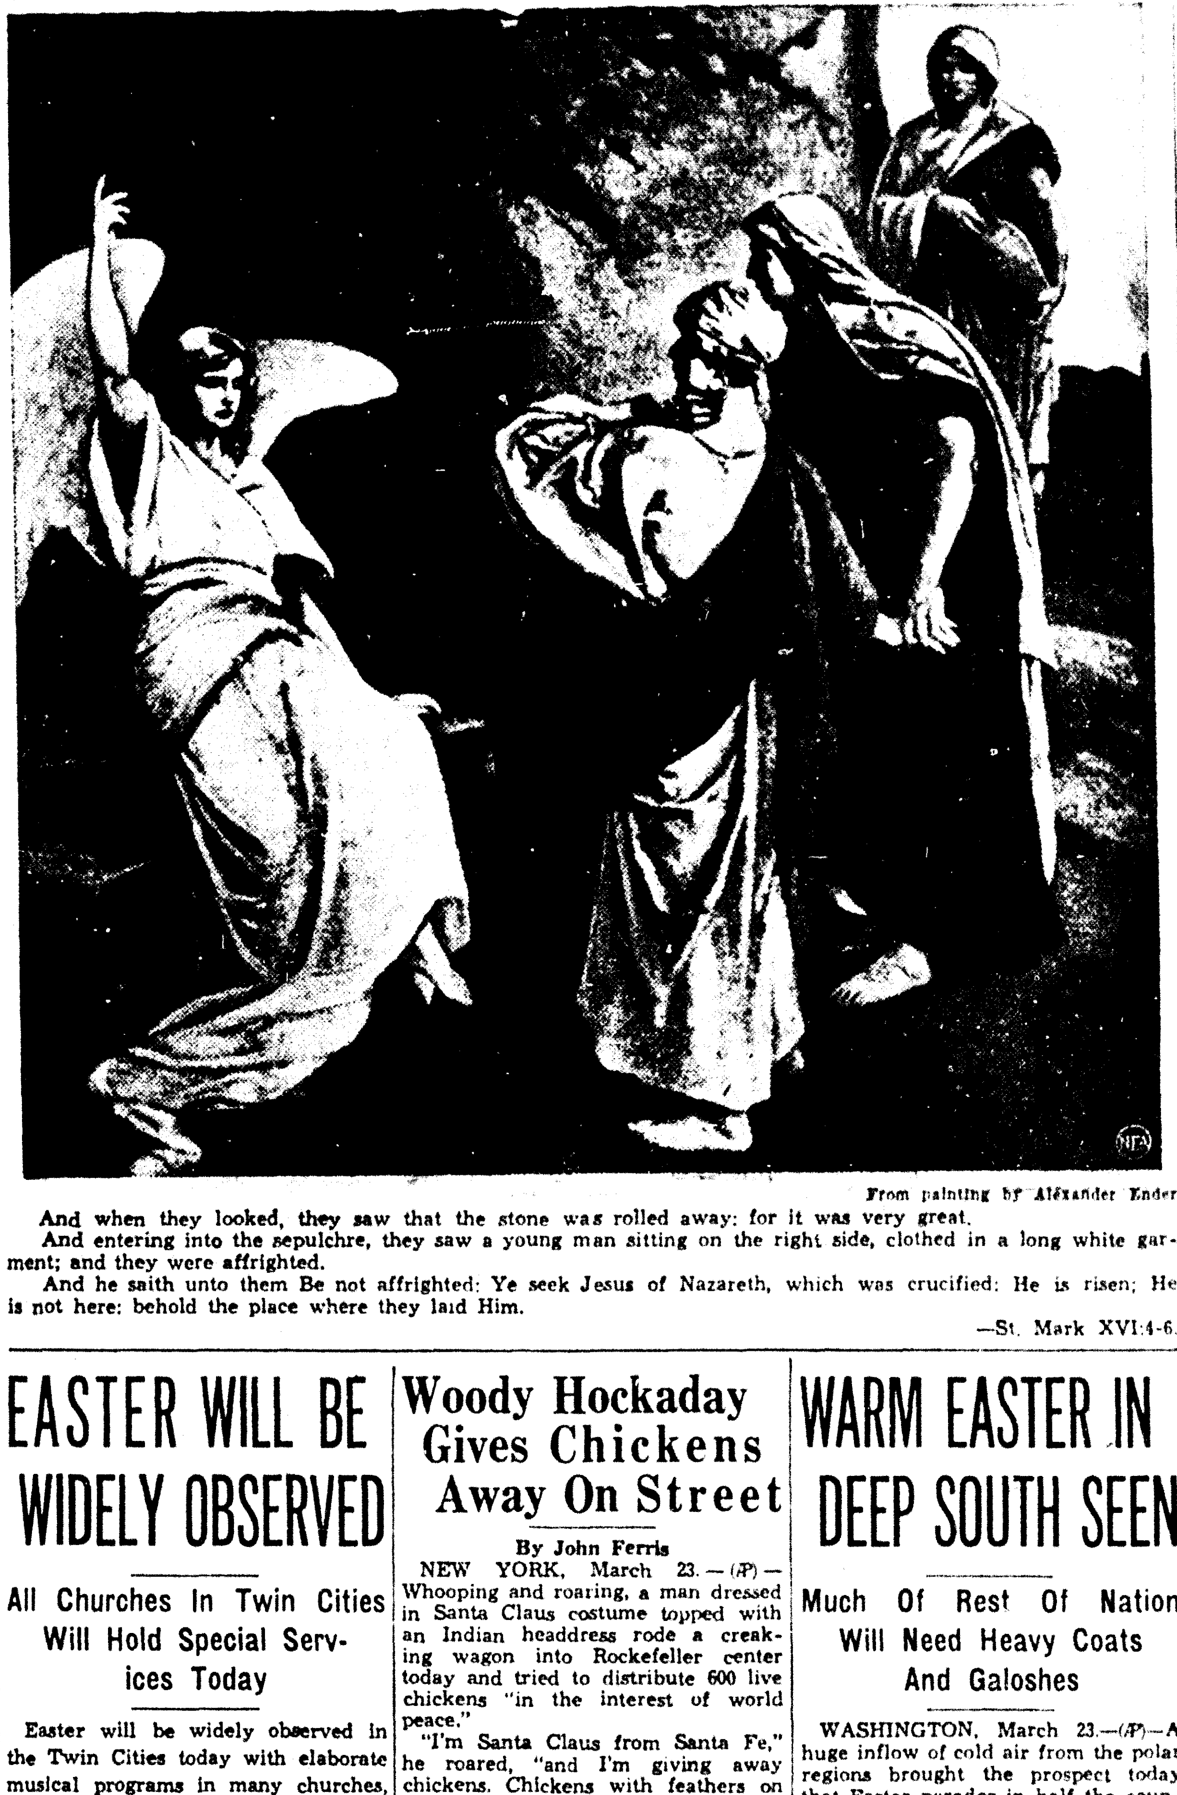
Although the forecast is for continued cold, White House police are preparing for an attendance approaching last year's 52,259.

Troops of boy and girl scouts will help with the general arrangements and be on call to track down for frantic parents the little ones who have wandered off and been lost in the crowd.

One doctor, one ambulance and four nurses will stand by for emergencies.

World Celebrates Easter Today

ON THESE WORDS HAS MANKIND BUILT



From painting by Alexander Ender

And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away: for it was very great.
And entering into the sepulchre, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a long white garment; and they were affrighted.

EASTER WILL BE WIDELY OBSERVED

All Churches In Twin Cities Will Hold Special Services Today

Easter will be widely observed in the Twin Cities today with elaborate musical programs in many churches, with church altars resplendent with lilies and flowers of early springtime and sermons that will reflect the glory of the risen Lord. Families whose members have been separated in many cases by absence in distant cities and towns will reassemble for the occasion, and advance indications are that the day will be made a memorable event.

At Grace Episcopal church, the Holy Eucharist will be observed at 7 a.m., with children's service at 9:30 a.m. The choral Eucharist and sermon will be held at 10:45 a.m., when the rector, Rev. Edward F. Hayward, will preach. The occasion will be specially important as the Monroe commandery No. 7, Knights Templar, will march to the church in full uniform and will occupy posts of honor when they hear the annual sermon delivered.

St. Matthew's Catholic church will have masses at 6:30 and 8 a.m. today, while at 10 a.m. high mass will be sung and the pastor, Rev. Father N. F. Vandegaer, will preach the Easter sermon. There will be an augmented choir with Don Breitenmoser at the organ. This service will be broadcast

WILLIAMS RAPS AT JUDGE CAGE'S STAND

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—(AP)—Augustus G. Williams, appointed civil judge here by Governor Earl K. Long, today termed as "absurd and undignified" the position taken by 80-year-old Judge Hugh C. Cage, who has not stepped down to make way for him.

Cage reached the retirement age last November but his term will not expire till the end of this year.

Cage said Governor Long has asked him to continue on the bench and, when Williams sought to be sworn in this week as his successor, Cage decided to wait upon an opinion of the New Orleans Bar association to be delivered Monday.

The bar group was asked by the judge to advise him whether Williams' appointment was legal. Election for the job will be held next fall.

Meanwhile, Williams, whom three judges refuse to swear in, announced he had taken the oath of office as judge before a notary public and had sent a copy of it to the secretary of state at Baton Rouge.

SHEPPARD SPEAKS FOR JOHN GARNER

Makes First Major Address In Behalf Of Vice-President's Candidacy

WASHINGTON, March 23.—(AP)—Making the first major campaign address for Vice-President Garner, Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, declared tonight that his fellow Texan had been one of the leaders in the New Deal fight for "greater liberalism."

This liberalism and Garner's 37 years' experience in the federal government, Sheppard declared, make him "the ideal successor to the presidency in 1940."

Sheppard, speaking on a national radio network, emphasized throughout his talk that Garner had a liberal record, declaring:

"When the history of the last seven years has been written, the crusade to achieve greater liberalism in government will list Garner among its outstanding leaders. Those of us in the ranks of congress who have striven to enact the liberal program know how much the wise counsel and courageous leadership of John Nance

WARM EASTER IN DEEP SOUTH SEEN

Much Of Rest Of Nation Will Need Heavy Coats And Galoshes

WASHINGTON, March 23.—(AP)—A huge inflow of cold air from the polar regions brought the prospect today that Easter parades in half the country might need heavy coats and galoshes.

The movement of the air mass sent winds of mid-January temperature blowing across much of the eastern two-thirds of the country and prompted the weatherman to predict cold, with occasional light snow in that area.

The forecasts for the Rocky mountain states was much the same, although the prediction was for temperatures somewhat above freezing. Cloudy skies, with now and then a snow flurry or shower, would be the order there, the forecaster said.

Only in the far west and deep south was the outlook pleasing to wearers of Easter finery.

Way down in Dixie, the temperatures will move down a little by Easter but not enough to spoil mildness imparted by the warm waters of the Gulf of Mexico, the weatherman said. Partly cloudy skies were in pros-

MANKIND AT WAR PAUSES IN HONOR OF RESURRECTION

Holy City Of Jerusalem Is Mecca For Thousands Of Pilgrims

ABOUT 10,000 WEDDINGS SOLEMNIZED IN BRITAIN

Pope Pius XII Arranges To Celebrate Mass In St. Peter's

(By Associated Press)

Mankind at war paused in troubled Europe today to celebrate in restrained Easter festivities the resurrection of the Prince of Peace more than 1,900 years ago.

Under the shadow of guns threatening to speak out in the long-feared total war, Christians of all sects raised their voices in song and prayer amidst ceremony and custom handed down through the centuries.

The Holy City of Jerusalem was the mecca of thousands of pilgrims who gathered to participate in impressive services around the Church of the Holy Supulchre, on the site of the tomb from which Christ arose.

The eyes of the Roman Catholic world turned to Vatican City, where Pope Pius XII personally arranged to celebrate mass in the basilica of historic St. Peter's.

The war kept down the usual throng of tourists attending the brilliant Easter service in St. Peter's but the occasion afforded the pontiff an occasion for another admonition for peace.

In his homily prepared for delivery before imparting his blessing on Rome and the world from the balcony of the ancient edifice, the pope was expected to appeal for a return of concord among nations without, however, suggesting an immediate truce. Both his message and benediction will be broadcast by the Vatican radio station, beginning at 8 a.m., 1 a.m., central standard time.

The 40 days of Lent ended yesterday with the ringing of the bells of Rome's 400 churches as Holy Saturday services commemorated Christ's resurrection.

Priests went about the eternal city blessing homes and offices, food shops strung their fronts with sausages and filled their windows with stacks of Easter cakes for today's feasting.

France's famed Strasbourg cathedral choir—its voice stilled since the war's start—sings again today at services in imposing Notre Dame cathedral while Frenchmen pray for peace.

The venerable Abbe Hoch, who has not seen the choir since Strasbourg's population was scattered over the countryside and the city became a ghost town on the Rhine, joyfully greeted the members, Alsatian refugees all, who reassembled in Paris for the services.

Last night Parisians jammed trains leaving the French capital for a holiday in the country and Britons poured in aboard incoming trains to join husbands or sons on leave from the front.

American and French churches in Paris arranged special services, but the music of former years was missing because of the war.

Services were scheduled for French troops at the front in trenches and rear line rest posts.

War-time rationing put a serious dent in Germany's Easter egg supply. Some of Germany's Easter customs were missing altogether. The traditional roast lamb was a rarity.

British And German Raids Result In Little Damage

By Kirke L. Simpson

The Nazi-allied war kettle boiled over in the North sea Easter week to shower deadly greetings from the skies on both sides.

It may have been a virtual tea-pot tempest of the conflict, or a spring harbinger of horrors to come.

The one outstanding military fact of a German-British interchange of tons of bombs is that no admitted or proven military damage of consequence resulted for either side. The barrage made more noise than it did harm.

Nazi nibbling at British North sea war-service ship tonnage goes on unchecked—and uncontrolled, London affirms, but still has a long, long way to go to become critical for France and Britain.

On the other hand, Germany claims that British bombing of the Nazi base on the island of Sylt did little more then blast holes in the seashore sand.

The British more than offset North sea tonnage losses of Easter week and several preceding weeks by drafting two great merchant liners, the Queen Mary and Mauretania, from the safety of American harborage to war service. The net of that week in the war bookkeeping, in which the lives of ships were more vital entries than the lives of their crews, was with the allies, even by optimistic and unverified Berlin claims of allied and neutral cargo craft sunk or bombed.

The dominant question at stake in this war—whether air power has overtaken and passed sea power as the most important element of force in European affairs, is no nearer a certain answer.

Meanwhile, political developments in both Britain and France assumed greater significance in pointing the way of the war in the weeks and months ahead.

Prime Minister Chamberlain rode out a storm of criticism in parliament by those who complained that he was not driving Britain's expanding war machine at a fast enough pace. He skillfully used the synchronizing fact of British air raiding in the Helgoland

GERMANS EXPECT MOLOTOFF VISIT

Russian's Trip Expected To Result In Three-Power Understanding

BERLIN, March 23.—(AP)—Official Germany apparently is convinced that Russia's premier and foreign commissar, Vyacheslaff Molotoff, will visit Berlin to cement anew the recently formed Berlin-Moscow friendship and remove any obstacle to Russian-Italian cooperation.

Men usually well informed put the date of Molotoff's likely arrival all the way from next Tuesday to a fortnight hence.

It was believed possible that Italy foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, might be in Berlin at the same time.

If and when Molotoff comes to Berlin it may be taken for granted that a three-power understanding concerning southeastern Europe will result, according to which Russia, Germany and Italy, without giving up their ideologies and without tying themselves beyond the duration of the present war, will agree:

1. To keep the Balkans at peace.
2. To consult the Balkan nations themselves on the kind of arrangement necessary in southeastern Europe after the present war to ensure a stable peace.

JONESES EXPECT QUIET MANSION

Incoming First Lady Says It Won't Be 'Hotel For Politicians'

TUCSON, Ariz., March 23.—(AP)—When Sam H. Jones is inaugurated governor of Louisiana in May, the executive mansion at Baton Rouge will become the quiet home of a family of six "instead of a hotel for politicians," Mrs. Jones promised today.

Discussing what she believes will be her "tremendous responsibilities" in the mansion, Mrs. Jones said she would start by sharply trimming the budget of the official household.

Mrs. Jones, whose parents live here, said she and her husband had agreed that he would hold the governorship only four years. After that Jones will return to his law practice at Lake Charles, she told interviewers while the governor-nominee was out golfing.

"Sam always planned to retire at 55, but he laid aside this dream when he ran for governor. Now he may have to work the rest of his days—but if we can help restore Louisiana to her people, it will be worth the sacrifice."

Mrs. Jones expressed the hope the governorship would not prevent her husband from devoting time to the four Jones children.

"Like all parents who have waited for children, Sam is devoted to them all."

The children are Jimmie, 11, and Billie, 9, both by a former marriage of Mrs. Jones, and Carolina 3, and Bobby, nine months.

Mrs. Jones said one of her principal problems as Louisiana's first lady would be conducting "reasonably intelligent" conversation about government and politics "when Sam's friends come in for dinner." The governor-nominate and Mrs. Jones have not indicated when they would return to Louisiana.

Miss Boyd had been visiting the Moore family here.

HUEY LONG BAR AGAIN ASSAILED

Louisiana Bar Committee Asks Repeal Of Law Creating Other Group

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—(AP)—Another instrument of Huey Long's dictatorship over Louisiana and one of the main ones came under direct fire today.

The Louisiana State Bar association's executive committee in a resolution advocated repeal of Long's specially inspired law which created the State Bar of Louisiana.

That organization was given power by the legislature to prevent any lawyer from practicing in the state by suspending his required membership in the State Bar of Louisiana to which he had to pay dues.

The incorporated association was created six years ago while Long was at the peak of his power and one year before his death.

Its board of governors was given exclusive authority to "prescribe rules and qualifications for admission to the bar in Louisiana and to prescribe the qualifications of all candidates for such admission."

The committee's resolution favored return of control of admissions to the bar and power to discipline members of the bar to the Louisiana supreme court and removal of any "semblance of legislative interference or usurpation."

Guidance toward integrating the Louisiana bar under the state supreme court was asked of American Bar association executives attending a regional conference here on the association's section of bar organization.

States represented at the conference were Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

The State Bar of Louisiana was created after Gaston L. Porterie, then attorney general and now a federal judge, was expelled from the Louisiana State Bar association.

Porterie was ousted after superseding Eugene Stanley as district attorney of Orleans parish and dropping an investigation of election frauds. Stanley had obtained three convictions on election fraud charges.

Huey Long, on whose ticket Porterie had been elected attorney general, announced following the expulsion of Porterie from the Louisiana State Bar association that he would have the legislature create the State Bar of Louisiana.

Porterie became its first president in 1935.

MAN CAUGHT ARMED IN AUTO SENTENCED

SHREVEPORT, La., March 23.—(AP)—A man booked as Clarence Jones, 23, of Texarkana, Tex., found lying in the car of Finance Commissioner John W. McW. Ford on Texas street last night, clutching a fully-loaded pistol, was sent to the Caddo penal farm for seven months following conviction on two charges in city court today.

Jones was held guilty of carrying a concealed weapon and of being a dangerous and suspicious character, being sentenced to serve six months on the former charge and thirty days on the latter count. Judge Ruvian D. Hendrick, who imposed sentence, said he was giving the defendant the maximum under the law.

Commissioner Ford had gone to his car about 9:30 last night after attending a Red Cross meeting. Glancing into the car before entering it he saw the man prone in the rear clutching a pistol, that later was found to be fully loaded. The intruder, however, did not see Ford, who summoned Patrolman Jones, who was nearby, and the officer disarmed the man and placed him under arrest.

The defendant Jones testified that he was drunk and had entered the car believing it to be that of a friend. He said he planned to wait in the car until morning when he would ride to Texarkana.

Patrolman Jones and Commissioner Ford testified that the man did not appear to be drunk and they expressed the opinion that the man planned to attack Ford. Judge Hendrick took the same view and imposed the maximum penalties under the charges.

REYNAUD TALKS WITH CHIEFS OF ARMY AND NAVY

LARGE GROUP TAKES VIEW HE RECEIVED 'RAW DEAL'

By John H. Martin

PARIS, March 23.—(AP)—With his first government supported by a slim majority in the chamber of deputies, Paul Reynaud set out today to counter Rightist hostility by mapping a program to step up the tempo of war against [illegible] and thereby strengthen his position as the lower house recesses April 2.

His first move was to confer at length with leaders of France's army and navy and members of the "inner" cabinet most concerned with executing the program of action to which the new government has pledged itself.

Foreign observers, discounting the possibility that this action might take the form of a land offensive, believed Reynaud would seek to increase France's efficiency in the war of siege and stiffen her diplomatic resistance against extension of German influence among neutrals.

Today's conference lasted an hour and three-quarters and was attended by Generalissimo Maurice Gustave Gamelin, Admiral Jean Darlan; Camille Chautemps, vice premier; Edouard Daladier, minister of defense; Cesar Campinchi, navy; Laurent Eynac, air; Georges Bonnet, blockade; Lucien Lamoureux, finance; Georges Mandel, colonies, and Raoul Dautry, armament.

As these leaders met, five deputies who abstained in yesterday's chamber vote of confidence, in which Reynaud obtained a one-vote majority, an-

NAVY ASKS SALE OF WAR PLANES

Believes Selling Them To Foreign Powers Would Step Up Own Production

WASHINGTON, March 23.—(AP)—The navy, it was learned today, has advised congress that it favors the sale to foreign nations of the latest type of war planes—stripped of military secrets—as a practical means of speeding its own airplane construction program, and reducing the cost.

Rear Admiral John H. Towers, chief of the bureau of aeronautics, told a senate appropriations sub-committee in closed hearings, members said, that, far from retarding naval plane building, foreign orders had made it possible to obtain better and faster ships at lower prices.

Towers was questioned on this point when he appeared to testify on the $965,000,000 naval appropriations bill.

Committee members said he declared emphatically that no appliances or accessories which the navy considers to be military secrets had been released in sales thus far to British, French and Finnish purchasers. (President Roosevelt, at a press conference last Tuesday, said it was sheer bunk to contend that military secrets were being divulged through plane sales to foreigners.)

The situation, as outlined by Towers, was said to be this:

The navy has found as a matter of practical application that it is able to obtain planes at lower costs because foreign buyers have paid for plant expansions.

This results from the fact that many navy contracts are on a so-called "cost-plus" basis, with the navy paying as profit to the manufacturer only

MARSHALL MAN IN SHREVEPORT SHOT

SHREVEPORT, La., March 23.—(AP)—James Cobb, 21, of Marshall, Tex., was shot twice and seriously wounded and his brother, Allen Cobb, 35, was struck on the head, supposedly with a pistol, and injured slightly in a fight early Saturday morning at the Tally-Ho night club on the Mooringsport road, just outside the city limits here.

Deputy Sheriff W. T. Prudhomme, who made an investigation Saturday morning, reported that J. Y. Sims, operator of the club, admitted shooting Cobb and striking his brother.

The Cobb brothers were taken to Charity hospital for treatment. The elder man was released after his head injury was dressed, but the younger man was kept overnight. His people came to Shreveport Saturday morning and took him to a Marshall hospital.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—(AP)—Making the first major campaign address for Vice-President Garner, Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, declared tonight that his fellow Texan had been one of the leaders in the New Deal fight for "greater liberalism."

This liberalism and Garner's 37 years' experience in the federal government, Sheppard declared, make him "the ideal successor to the presidency in 1940."

Sheppard, speaking on a national radio network, emphasized throughout his talk that Garner had a liberal record, declaring:

"When the history of the last seven years has been written, the crusade to achieve greater liberalism in government will list Garner among its outstanding leaders. Those of us in the ranks of congress who have striven to enact the liberal program know how much the wise counsel and courageous leadership of John Nance

WARM EASTER IN DEEP SOUTH SEEN

Much Of Rest Of Nation Will Need Heavy Coats And Galoshes

WASHINGTON, March 23.—(AP)—A huge inflow of cold air from the polar regions brought the prospect today that Easter parades in half the country might need heavy coats and galoshes.

The movement of the air mass sent winds of mid-January temperature blowing across much of the eastern two-thirds of the country and prompted the weatherman to predict cold, with occasional light snow in that area.

The forecasts for the Rocky mountain states was much the same, although the prediction was for temperatures somewhat above freezing. Cloudy skies, with now and then a snow flurry or shower, would be the order there, the forecaster said.

Only in the far west and deep south was the outlook pleasing to wearers of Easter finery.

Way down in Dixie, the temperatures will move down a little by Easter but not enough to spoil mildness imparted by the warm waters of the Gulf of Mexico, the weatherman said. Partly cloudy skies were in pros-

MANKIND AT WAR PAUSES IN HONOR OF RESURRECTION

Pope Pius XII Arranges To Celebrate Mass In St. Peter's

(By Associated Press)

Mankind at war paused in troubled Europe today to celebrate in restrained Easter festivities the resurrection of the Prince of Peace more than 1,900 years ago.

Under the shadow of guns threatening to speak out in the long-feared total war, Christians of all sects raised their voices in song and prayer amidst ceremony and custom handed down through the centuries.

The Holy City of Jerusalem was the mecca of thousands of pilgrims who gathered to participate in impressive services around the Church of the Holy Supulchre, on the site of the tomb from which Christ arose.

The eyes of the Roman Catholic world turned to Vatican City, where Pope Pius XII personally arranged to celebrate mass in the basilica of historic St. Peter's.

The war kept down the usual throng of tourists attending the brilliant Easter service in St. Peter's but the occasion afforded the pontiff an occasion for another admonition for peace.

In his homily prepared for delivery before imparting his blessing on Rome and the world from the balcony of the ancient edifice, the pope was expected to appeal for a return of concord among nations without, however, suggesting an immediate truce. Both his message and benediction will be broadcast by the Vatican radio station, beginning at 8 a.m., 1 a.m., central standard time.

The 40 days of Lent ended yesterday with the ringing of the bells of Rome's 400 churches as Holy Saturday services commemorated Christ's resurrection.

Priests went about the eternal city blessing homes and offices, food shops strung their fronts with sausages and filled their windows with stacks of Easter cakes for today's feasting.

France's famed Strasbourg cathedral choir—its voice stilled since the war's start—sings again today at services in imposing Notre Dame cathedral while Frenchmen pray for peace.

The venerable Abbe Hoch, who has not seen the choir since Strasbourg's population was scattered over the countryside and the city became a ghost town on the Rhine, joyfully greeted the members, Alsatian refugees all, who reassembled in Paris for the services.

Last night Parisians jammed trains leaving the French capital for a holiday in the country and Britons poured in aboard incoming trains to join husbands or sons on leave from the front.

American and French churches in Paris arranged special services, but the music of former years was missing because of the war.

Services were scheduled for French troops at the front in trenches and rear line rest posts.

War-time rationing put a serious dent in Germany's Easter egg supply. Some of Germany's Easter customs were missing altogether. The traditional roast lamb was a rarity.

British And German Raids Result In Little Damage

By Kirke L. Simpson

The Nazi-allied war kettle boiled over in the North sea Easter week to shower deadly greetings from the skies on both sides.

It may have been a virtual tea-pot tempest of the conflict, or a spring harbinger of horrors to come.

The one outstanding military fact of a German-British interchange of tons of bombs is that no admitted or proven military damage of consequence resulted for either side. The barrage made more noise than it did harm.

Nazi nibbling at British North sea war-service ship tonnage goes on unchecked—and uncontrolled, London affirms, but still has a long, long way to go to become critical for France and Britain.

On the other hand, Germany claims that British bombing of the Nazi base on the island of Sylt did little more than blast holes in the seashore sand.

The British more than offset North sea tonnage losses of Easter week and several preceding weeks by drafting two great merchant liners, the Queen Mary and Mauretania, from the safety of American harborage to war service. The net of that week in the war bookkeeping, in which the lives of ships were more vital entries than the lives of their crews, was with the allies, even by optimistic and unverified Berlin claims of allied and neutral cargo craft sunk or bombed.

The dominant question at stake in this war—whether air power has overtaken and passed sea power as the most important element of force in European affairs, is no nearer a certain answer.

Meanwhile, political developments in both Britain and France assumed greater significance in pointing the way of the war in the weeks and months ahead.

Prime Minister Chamberlain rode out a storm of criticism in parliament by those who complained that he was not driving Britain's expanding war machine at a fast enough pace. He skillfully used the synchronizing fact of British air raiding in the Helgoland

Russian's Trip Expected To Result In Three-Power Understanding

BERLIN, March 23.—(AP)—Official Germany apparently is convinced that Russia's premier and foreign commissar, Vyacheslaff Molotoff, will visit Berlin to cement anew the recently-formed Berlin-Moscow friendship and remove any obstacle to Russian-Italian cooperation.

Men usually well informed put the date of Molotoff's likely arrival all the way from next Tuesday to a fortnight hence.

It was believed possible that Italy foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, might be in Berlin at the same time.

If and when Molotoff comes to Berlin it may be taken for granted that a three-power understanding concerning southeastern Europe will result, according to which Russia, Germany and Italy, without giving up their ideologies and without tying themselves beyond the duration of the present war, will agree:

1. To keep the Balkans at peace.
2. To consult the Balkan nations themselves on the kind of arrangement necessary in southeastern Europe after the present war to ensure a stable peace.

JONESES EXPECT QUIET MANSION

Incoming First Lady Says It Won't Be 'Hotel For Politicians'

TUCSON, Ariz., March 23.—(AP)—When Sam H. Jones is inaugurated governor of Louisiana in May, the executive mansion at Baton Rouge will become the quiet home of a family of six "instead of a hotel for politicians," Mrs. Jones promised today.

Discussing what she believes will be her "tremendous responsibilities" in the mansion, Mrs. Jones said she would start by sharply trimming the budget of the official household.

Mrs. Jones, whose parents live here, said she and her husband had agreed that he would hold the governorship only four years. After that Jones will return to his law practice at Lake Charles, she told interviewers while the governor-nominee was out golfing.

"Sam always planned to retire at 55, but he laid aside this dream when he ran for governor. Now he may have to work the rest of his days—but if we can help restore Louisiana to her people, it will be worth the sacrifice."

Mrs. Jones expressed the hope the governorship would not prevent her husband from devoting time to the four Jones children.

"Like all parents who have waited for children, Sam is devoted to them all."

The children are Jimmie, 11, and Billie, 9, both by a former marriage of Mrs. Jones, and Carolina 3, and Bobby, nine months.

Mrs. Jones said one of her principal problems as Louisiana's first lady would be conducting "reasonably intelligent" conversation about government and politics "when Sam's friends come in for dinner." The governor-nominate and Mrs. Jones have not indicated when they would return to Louisiana.

The driver of the stave truck told police he had stopped behind a stalled automobile when Moore's truck crashed into his machine.

Miss Boyd had been visiting the Moore family here.

HUEY LONG BAR AGAIN ASSAILED

Louisiana Bar Committee Asks Repeal Of Law Creating Other Group

NEW ORLEANS, March 22.—(AP)—Another instrument of Huey Long's dictatorship over Louisiana—and one of the main ones—came under direct fire today.

The Louisiana State Bar association's executive committee in a resolution advocated repeal of Long's specially inspired laws which created the State Bar of Louisiana.

That organization was given power by the legislature to prevent any lawyer from practicing in the state by suspending his required membership in the State Bar of Louisiana to which he had to pay dues.

The incorporated association was created six years ago while Long was at the peak of his power and one year before his death.

Its board of governors was given exclusive authority to "prescribe rules and qualifications for admission to the bar in Louisiana and to prescribe the qualifications of all candidates for such admission."

The committee's resolution favored return of control of admissions to the bar and power to discipline members of the bar to the Louisiana supreme court and removal of any "semblance of legislative interference or usurpation."

Guidance toward integrating the Louisiana bar under the state supreme court was asked of American Bar association executives attending a regional conference here on the association's section of bar organization.

States represented at the conference were Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

The State Bar of Louisiana was created after Gaston L. Porterie, then attorney general and now a federal judge, was expelled from the Louisiana State Bar association.

Porterie was ousted after superseding Eugene Stanley as district attorney of Orlean parish and dropping an investigation of election frauds. Stanley had obtained three convictions on election fraud charges.

Huey Long, on whose ticket Porterie had been elected attorney general, announced folowing the expulsion of Porterie from the Louisiana State Bar association that he would have the legislature create the State Bar of Louisiana.

Porterie became its first president in 1935.

MAN CAUGHT ARMED IN AUTO SENTENCED

SHREVEPORT, La., March 23.—(AP)—A man booked as Clarence Jones, 23, of Texarkana, Tex., found lying in the car of Finance Commissioner John W. McW. Ford on Texas street last night, clutching a fully-loaded pistol, was sent to the Caddo penal farm for seven months following conviction on two charges in city court today.

Jones was held guilty of carrying a concealed weapon and of being a dangerous and suspicious character, being sentenced to serve six months on the former charge and thirty days on the latter count. Judge Ruvian D. Henrick, who imposed sentence, said he was giving the defendant the maximum under the law.

Commissioner Ford had gone to his car about 9:30 last night after attending a Red Cross meeting. Glancing into the car before entering it he saw the man prone in the rear clutching a pistol, that later was found to be fully loaded. The intruder, however, did not see Ford, who summoned Patrolman Jones, who was nearby, and the officer disarmed the man and placed him under arrest.

The defendant Jones testified that he was drunk and had entered the car believing it to be that of a friend. He said he planned to wait in the car until morning when he would ride to Texarkana.

Patrolman Jones and Commissioner Ford testified that the man did not appear to be drunk and they expressed the opinion that the man planned to attack Ford. Judge Hendrick took the same view and imposed the maximum penalties under the charges.

REYNAUD TALKS WITH CHIEFS OF ARMY AND NAVY

Believe Daladier May Be Called To Helm Again Within Next Month

LARGE GROUP TAKES VIEW HE RECEIVED 'RAW DEAL'

By John H. Martin

PARIS, March 23.—(AP)—With his first premiership sanctioned by a slim majority in the chamber of deputies, Paul Reynaud set out today to counter Rightist hostility by mapping a program to step up the tempo of war against Germany and thereby strengthen his position before the lower house reconvenes April 2.

His first move was to confer at length with leaders of France's army and navy and members of the "inner" cabinet most concerned with executing the policy of "action" to which the new government has pledged itself.

Foreign observers, discounting the possibility that this "action" might take the form of a land offensive, believed Reynaud would seek to increase France's efficiency in the war of siege and stiffen her diplomatic resistance against extension of German influence among neutrals.

Today's conference lasted an hour and three-quarters and was attended by Generalissimo Maurice Gustave Gamelin; Admiral Jean Darlan; Camille Chautemps, vice-premier; Edouard Daladier, minister of defense; Cesar Champinchi, navy; Laurent Eynac, air; Georges Bonnot, blockade; Lucien Lamoureux, finance; Georges Mandel, colonies, and Raoul Dautry, armament.

As these leaders met, five deputies who abstained in yesterday's chamber vote of confidence, in which Reynaud obtained a one-vote majority, an-

Believes Selling Them To Foreign Powers Would Step Up Own Production

WASHINGTON, March 23.—(AP)—The navy, it was learned today, has advised congress that it favors the sale to foreign nations of the latest type of war planes—stripped of military secrets—as a practical means of speeding its own airplane construction program, and reducing the cost.

Rear Admiral John H. Towers, chief of the bureau of aeronautics, told a senate appropriations sub-committee in closed hearings, members said, that, far from retarding naval plane building, foreign orders had made it possible to obtain better and faster ships at lower prices.

Towers was questioned on this point when he appeared to testify on the $965,000,000 naval appropriations bill.

Committee members said he declared emphatically that no appliances or accessories which the navy considers to be military secrets had been released in sales thus far to British, French and Finnish purchasers. (President Rooseelt, at a press conference last Tuesday, said it was sheer bunk to contend that military secrets were being divulged through plane sales to foreigners.)

The situation, as outlined by Towers, was said to be this:

The navy has found as a matter of practical application that it is able to obtain planes at lower costs because foreign buyers have paid for plant expansions.

This results from the fact that many navy contracts are on a so-called "cost-plus" basis, with the navy paying as profit to the manufacturer only

MARSHALL MAN IN SHREVEPORT SHOT

SHREVEPORT, La., March 23.—(AP)—James Cobb, 21, of Marshall, Tex., was shot twice and seriously wounded and his brother, Allen Cobb, 35, was struck on the head, supposedly with a pistol, and injured slightly in a fight early Saturday morning at the Tally-Ho night club on the Mooringsport road, just outside the city limits here.

Deputy Sheriff W. T. Prudhomme, who made an investigation Saturday morning, reported that J. Y. Sims, operator of the club, admitted shooting Cobb and striking his brother.

The Cobb brothers were taken to Charity hospital for treatment. The elder man was released after his head injury was dressed, but the younger man was kept overnight. His people came to Shreveport Saturday morning and took him to a Marshall hospital.

WIGGLING CHILD GIVEN DEFENSE

Psychologist Says Children Shouldn't Sit In School Like Ramrods

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—(AP)—Wiggling children today received the okay of a psychologist who said it's about time school teachers stopped making their pupils sit up like ramrods with hands folded.

"It's a very good thing for people to [illegible]," said Dr. Alan D. Grinsted of Louisiana State university, "so that they have to strike a pose like Rodin's thinker when trying to solve a problem."

Dr. Grinsted, reporting to the Southern Society of Psychology and Philosophy on his investigation of fidgets among school children, said a certain amount of wiggling is good for them, helps them relax, and is a bodily adjustment.

"The old fashioned method of trying to make a child sit still is wrong," said the psychologist. "It's wrong to make a child sit up straight constantly.

"It's [illegible] to tell a child to stand in the corner with his hands on his head. Perhaps short periods of bodily discipline are all right. But wiggling is not just due to meanness."

However, he added, when a child continually acts as if he were on "pins and needles" there may be somehting wrong with him emotionally or organically and he could bear examination.

The more intelligent a child is and the older he gets, Dr. Grinsted said, the less he seems to fidget around.

He also discovered, although unwilling to draw conclusions yet, that children wiggle most right after going to school in the morning and just before lunch time.

Then, explaining that it might have been appropriate for Rodin's thinker to sit solemnly with his chin on his fist because perhaps that particular man sat that way to solve a problem, Dr. Grinsted said:

"Different people assume different poses when they're thinking. Some frown, some lean forward, some lie down. I know in my own case I can think best when I'm in bed, half asleep."

SOLVAY BARGAINING AGENT IS ANNOUNCED

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—(AP)—Charles H. Logan, district director of the national labor relations board, announced today abolition of the Solvay Employes' council and recognition of the Oil Workers International union as the bargaining agent of employes of the Solvay Process company at Baton Rouge, La.

Logan said the board had reached the decision yesterday in Washington.

The board found, he said, that the company "had materially assisted in the formations and continuance of the Solvay Employes' council, an unaffiliated labor organization, which was recognized for certain bargaining purposes despite a claim by the Oil Workers' International union that it represented a majority of workers."

Basing its findings upon evidence adduced at a hearing held in Baton Rouge in September and October of 1938, the board asserted that the company refused to bargain with the Oil Workers union. It declared the Solvay Employes' council was company-dominated and therefore outlawed by the national labor relations act.

ICE CREAM NEW CHILD OF COTTON

DALLAS, March 23.—(AP)—King cotton, problem child of the south, has a new offspring—ice cream.

The development of the ice cream, made with special meal and extract from cotton as a base, was revealed today by Sim T. Lake, president of the State Restaurant Association of Texas.

He said it would be served as a test to more than 1,000 restaurant men next Thursday night during the joint convention of the association and the southwest region of the National Restaurant association.

The new ice cream was originated by Prosper Ingels, hotel pastry chef in cooperation with the state of Texas and the National Cotton council in the campaign to find new uses for the cotton surplus.

The young Belgian chef had been experimenting with cotton ice cream for a year and a half and only recently perfected the formula.

If the restaurant men pass a favorable verdict, Ingels added, one of the largest manufacturers in the country (Borden) has agreed to market the ice cream.

JOHNSON THINKS 'PEOPLE SWEET'

Mississippi Governor Pleased At Number Of Gifts On Sixtieth Birthday

JACKSON, Miss., March 23.—(AP)—Paul Burney Johnson, the tall robust country lawyer who battled up and down Mississippi for ten years to be elected governor, looked toward the future and back to the past on his 60th birthday today and decided that "people are mighty sweet, mighty fine."

There were flowers in his office, a box of his favorite candy on the table, a new clock, and a pile of congratulatory messages.

"Yessuh," he said with the slow drawl a lifetime in politics has not obliterated, "people are mighty sweet, mighty fine to me. More people remembered my birthday today than I thought would bother about it."

"I can remember the day when I was 50," he said. "I was a candidate then. I can remember the town I was in and the speech I made. I didn't have any loudspeaker then and the strain was so hard in that campaign my manager used to have to paint my throat with antiseptic every night.

"We'd come to a town and my manager would go down one side of the street and I'd go down the other telling the people Paul Johnson was going to speak at such and such a time at such and such a place. We'd get all the people out of the stores."

Governor Johnson made three campaigns before being elected and for a generatiion has been a figure in Mississippi's turbulent politics.

"I wouldn't go through it again," he said today. "There was lots of hard fighting, but I can take it. There were a lot of happy days and a lot of unhappy days."

Later, continuing a reminiscing sketch of his political career, the governor added, "I'm mighty well satisfield as far as it's gone now."

His administration is beset in both house and senate by an opposition which seeks to block certain of his revenue bills and to reduce the $44,000,000 budget he has requested. Senate finance leaders have calculated it will cost this amount to run Mississippi's government for the next two years and pay for the social security measures in the "average man" program.

"Sixth months or a year from now no one will ever know the fight went on," the governor said.

"A lot of these fellows fighting me and my old age pension and my other measures will be drawing one some day. I'll ride by and look at them on the porch and feel mighty happy I got those poor old felows a pension."

Continuing seriously he said "I believe that a lot of those who are opposing me will really regret it some day. They just don't understand now. But maybe if we can reason together we can all come to the conclusion eventually that this program I'm advocating is to the best interest of the people."

The governor observed his birthday with a small dinner party attended by his family and several old friends. Monday he and Mrs. Johnson will visit Natchez.

V. F. W. NATIONAL CHIEF TO VISIT

Otis N. Brown Will Dedicate Post's New Home Here On Friday

Rodney J. Hobbs post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars is planning for the entertainment of the national commander-in-chief, Otis N. Brown, on Friday night. The visit of this official will assume unusual interest as the new post home on Sixth street will be dedicated at this time. He will speak here before a joint meeting of Rodney J. Hobbs post and auxiliary and members of posts and auxiliaries located in cities and towns throughout the Fifth congressional district.

C. A. Hunt, state service officer, also department chief of staff, will be in charge of the itinerary and trip through Louisiana. Commander Brown will first visit Lake Charles next Thursday and will visit posts in Lake Charles, Kinder, Oakdale and Woodsworth. He will spend the night in Alexandria. Early Friday morning he will visit the veterans' hospital and will then proceed to Rayville where a meeting will be held in the high school at 3:30 p.m.

From Rayville he will come to Monroe for the Friday night meeting at the Rodney J. Hobbs post hall. After a ceremony of dedication, Commander Brown will deliver an address concerning the veteran and his obligation to his country before representatives of many posts and auxiliaries of northeast Louisiana. An invitation is being extended to every post and auxiliary in the Fifth congressional district.

The national commander will leave Monroe early Saturday for Baton Rouge and will make short stops to deliver talks at Natchez and Francesville.

March 31 will be spent in New Orleans where he will dedicate the Willian J. Bauer post's new home. A banquet will be held in his honor at Monteleone hotel in connection with his New Orleans visit.

Accompanying Commander Brown to Monroe will be Department Commander Harvey C. Redmon of Gretna; Dr. Joseph C. Menendez, of New Orleans, national senior vice-commander; Department Senior Vice-commander W. W. Twigg and Department Adjutant Thomas H. Bingham, both of New Orleans; Department Quartermaster L. F. FERRIDAY, La., March 23.—(Special)—B. F. Young, president of the board of commissioners for the Fifth Louisiana Levee district, and J. Martain Hamley, E. D. Coleman, sheriff of Tensas parish, and Dr. D. E. Brown of Ferriday, senator-elect from this district, have returned from the meeting to the Mississippi Valley Flood Control association in Washington, D. C. They were representatives of the board at this meeting.

EIGHT DEMOCRATS WILL FACE TRIAL

Cases Charging Forcing Of Political Contributions Will Come Up Monday

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 23.—(AP)—Eight Pennsylvania Democrats, under indictment for a year, go on trial Monday on charges of using political office to force campaign contributions from state employes—a practice known in Pennsylvania as "macing."

The trial of Democratic State Chairman David L. Lawrence, Party Secretary Ralph M. Bashore and six lesser figures, is the fourth and last in a series that stemmed from the findings of a special grand jury assigned to investigate charges of corruption during the "little new deal administration of former Governor George H. Earle, now United States minister to Bulgaria.

In a previous trial Lawrence was acquitted of five indictments charging blackmail, extortion and conspiracy to award unlawful gravel contracts.

Disposition of the charges has taken two years to date. Some of them first were voiced in the 1938 Democratic primary campaign and the impending trial comes up at a time when the Democrats again are enmeshed in a primary scrap—oil man Walter A. Jones contesting United States Senator Joseph F. Guffey for the senatorial nomination.

The accusations, pressed by a Republican district attorney, Carl B. Shelley, resulted in the convictions of Roy E. Brownmiller, former state secretary of highways, for permitting a padded payroll just before election time, and for two Pittsburgh insurance men charged with conspiring to control the commonwealths bonding business with road contractors.

The two convictions, carrying a one-year sentence for Brownmiller and fines against the insurance men, James P. Kirk and Victor Skok, have been appealed and argued before the state superior court.

Lawrence, Bashore and Carl K. Deen, Harrisburg resident secretary of the Democratic state committee, will be tried Monday on indictments charging conspiracy. The district attorney contends they set up a plan of assessing state employes, under threat of dismissal or demotion, as soon as the Democrats took control of the state government in 1935 for the first time in 40 years.

WIGGLING CHILD GIVEN DEFENSE

Psychologist Says Children Shouldn't Sit In School Like Ramrods

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—(AP)—Wiggling children today received the okay of a psychologist who said it's about time school teachers stopped making their pupils sit up like ramrods with hands folded.

Also a very good thing for people to forget, pointed out Dr. Alan D. Grinsted of Louisiana State university, is that they have to strike a pose like Rodin's thinker when trying to solve a problem.

Dr. Grinsted, reporting to the Southern Society of Psychology and Philosophy on his investigation of fidgets among school children, said a certain amount of wiggling is good for them, helps them relax, and is a bodily adjustment.

"The old-fashioned method of trying to make a child sit still is wrong," said the psychologist. "It's wrong to make a child sit up straight constantly.

"It's worse to tell a child to stand in the corner with his hands on his head. Perhaps short periods of bodily discipline are all right. But wiggling is not just due to meanness."

However, he added, when a child continually acts as if he were on "pins and needles" there may be somehting wrong with him emotionally or organically and he could bear examination.

The more intelligent a child is and the older he gets, Dr. Grinsted said, the less he seems to fidget around.

He also discovered, although unwilling to draw conclusions yet, that children wiggle most right after going to school in the morning and just before lunch time.

Then, explaining that it might have been appropriate for Rodin's thinker to sit solemnly with his chin on his fist because perhaps that particular man sat that way to solve a problem, Dr. Grinsted said:

"Different people assume different poses when they're thinking. Some frown, some lean forward, some lie down. I know in my own case I can think best when I'm in bed, half asleep."

SOLVAY BARGAINING AGENT IS ANNOUNCED

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—(AP)—Charles H. Logan, district director of the national labor relations board, announced today abolition of the Solvay Employes' council and recognition of the Oil Workers International union as the bargaining agent of employes of the Solvay Process company at Baton Rouge, La.

Logan said the board had reached the decision yesterday in Washington.

The board found, he said, that the company "had materially assisted in the formations and continuance of the Solvay Employes' council, an unaffiliated labor organization, which was recognized for certain bargaining purposes despite a claim by the Oil Workers' International union that it represented a majority of workers."

Basing its findings upon evidence adduced at a hearing held in Baton Rouge in September and October of 1938, the board asserted that the company refused to bargain with the Oil Workers union. It declared the Solvay Employes' council was company-dominated and therefore outlawed by the national labor relations act.

ICE CREAM NEW CHILD OF COTTON

DALLAS, March 23.—(AP)—King cotton, problem child of the south, has a new offspring—ice cream.

The development of the ice cream, made with special meal and extract from cotton as a base, was revealed today by Sim T. Lake, president of the State Restaurant Association of Texas.

He said it would be served as a test to more than 1,000 restaurant men next Thursday night during the joint convention of the association and the southwest region of the National Restaurant association.

The new ice cream was originated by Prosper Ingels, hotel pastry chef in cooperation with the state of Texas and the National Cotton council in the campaign to find new uses for the cotton surplus.

The young Belgian chef had been experimenting with cotton ice cream for a year and a half and only recently perfected the formula.

If the restaurant men pass a favorable verdict, Ingels added, one of the largest manufacturers in the country (Borden) has agreed to market the ice cream.

JOHNSON THINKS 'PEOPLE SWEET'

Mississippi Governor Pleased At Number Of Gifts On Sixtieth Birthday

JACKSON, Miss., March 23.—(AP)—Paul Burney Johnson, the tall robust country lawyer who battled up and down Mississippi for ten years to be elected governor, looked toward the future and back to the past on his 60th birthday today and decided that "people are mighty sweet, mighty fine."

There were flowers in his office, a box of his favorite candy on the table, a new clock, and a pile of congratulatory messages.

"Yessuh," he said with the slow drawl a lifetime in politics has not obliterated, "people are mighty sweet, mighty fine to me. More people remembered my birthday today than I thought would bother about it."

"I can remember the day when I was 50," he said. "I was a candidate then. I can remember the town I was in and the speech I made. I didn't have any loudspeaker then and the strain was so hard in that campaign my manager used to have to paint my throat with antiseptic every night.

"We'd come to a town and my manager would go down one side of the street and I'd go down the other telling the people Paul Johnson was going to speak at such and such a time at such and such a place. We'd get all the people out of the stores."

Governor Johnson made three campaigns before being elected and for a generatlion has been a figure in Mississippi's turbulent politics.

"I wouldn't go through it again," he said today. "There was lots of hard fighting, but I can take it. There were a lot of happy days and a lot of unhappy days."

Later, continuing a reminiscing sketch of his political career, the governor added, "I'm mighty well satisfied as far as it's gone now."

His administration is beset in both house and senate by an opposition which seeks to block certain of his revenue bills and to reduce the $44,000,000 budget he has requested. Senate finance leaders have calculated it will cost this amount to run Mississippi's government for the next two years and pay for the social security measures in the "average man" program.

"Sixth months or a year from now no one will ever know the fight went on," the governor said.

"A lot of these fellows fighting me and my old age pension and my other measures will be drawing one some day. I'll ride by and look at them on the porch and feel mighty happy I got those poor old felows a pension."

Continuing seriously he said "I believe that a lot of those who are opposing me will really regret it some day. They just don't understand now. But maybe if we can reason together we can all come to the conclusion eventually that this program I'm advocating is to the best interest of the people."

The governor observed his birthday with a small dinner party attended by his family and several old friends. Monday he and Mrs. Johnson will visit Natchez.

ST. JAMES CHURCH TO OBSERVE EASTER

V. F. W. NATIONAL CHIEF TO VISIT

Otis N. Brown Will Dedicate Post's New Home Here On Friday

Rodney J. Hobbs post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars is planning for the entertainment of the national commander-in-chief, Otis N Brown, on Friday night. The visit of this official will assume unusual interest as the new post home on Sixth street will be dedicated at this time. He will speak here before a joint meeting of Rodney J. Hobbs post and auxiliary and members of posts and auxiliaries located in cities and towns throughout the Fifth congressional district.

C. A. Hunt, state service officer, also department chief of staff, will be in charge of the itinerary and trip through Louisiana. Commander Brown will first visit Lake Charles next Thursday and will visit posts in Lake Charles, Kinder, Oakdale and Woodsworth. He will spend the night in Alexandria. Early Friday morning he will visit the veterans' hospital and will then proceed to Rayville where a meeting will be held in the high school at 3:30 p.m.

From Rayville he will come to Monroe for the Friday night meeting at the Rodney J. Hobbs post hall. After a ceremony of dedication, Commander Brown will deliver an address concerning the veteran and his obligation to his country before representatives of many posts and auxiliaries of northeast Louisiana. An invitation is being extended to every post and auxiliary in the Fifth congressional district.

The national commander will leave Monroe early Saturday for Baton Rouge and will make short stops to deliver talks at Natchez and Francesville.

March 31 will be spent in New Orleans where he will dedicate the Willian J. Bauer post's new home. A banquet will be held in his honor at Monteleone hotel in connection with his New Orleans visit.

Accompanying Commander Brown to Monroe will be Department Commander Harvey C. Redmon of Gretna; Dr. Joseph C. Menendez, of New Orleans, national senior vice-commander; Department Senior Vice-commander W. W. Twigg and Department Adjutant Thomas H. Bingham, both of New Orleans; Department Quartermaster L. F. Fish, of Lake Charles; assistant Service Commissioner C. W. Wilson, of Alexandria and others.

Incidentally, Mr. Hunt will have a substantial report to make to Commander Brown. This will include increased memberships and an extended organization service rendered. Mr. Hunt's office has been able to secure increased compensation and pensions to disabled veterans to the sum of $118,000 since August 1, 1938.

They were representatives of the board at this meeting.

EIGHT DEMOCRATS WILL FACE TRIAL

Cases Charging Forcing Of Political Contributions Will Come Up Monday

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 23.—(AP)—Eight Pennsylvania Democrats, under indictment for a year, go on trial Monday on charges of using political office to force campaign contributions from state employes—a practice known in Pennsylvania as "macing."

The trial of Democratic State Chairman David L. Lawrence, Party Secretary Ralph M. Bashore and six lesser figures, is the fourth and last in a series that stemmed from the findings of a special grand jury assigned to investigate charges of corruption during the "little new deal administration of former Governor George H. Earle, now United States minister to Bulgaria.

In a previous trial Lawrence was acquitted of five indictments charging blackmail, extortion and conspiracy to award unlawful gravel contracts.

Disposition of the charges has taken two years to date. Some of them first were voiced in the 1938 Democratic primary campaign and the impending trial comes up at a time when the Democrats again are enmeshed in a primary scrap—oil man Walter A. Jones contesting United States Senator Joseph F. Guffey for the senatorial nomination.

The accusations, pressed by a Republican district attorney, Carl B. Shelley, resulted in the convictions of Roy E. Brownmiller, former state secretary of highways, for permitting a padded payroll just before election time, and for two Pittsburgh insurance men charged with conspiring to control the commonwealths bonding business with road contractors.

The two convictions, carrying a one-year sentence for Brownmiller and fines against the insurance men, James P. Kirk and Victor Skok, have been appealed and argued before the state superior court.

Lawrence, Bashore and Carl K. Deen, Harrisburg resident secretary of the Democratic state committee, will be tried Monday on indictments charging conspiracy. The district attorney contends they set up a plan of assessing state employes, under threat of dismissal or demotion, as soon as the Democrats took control of the state government in 1935 for the first time in 40 years.

STATE'S ROYALTY IN OIL IS LARGE

Estimated At 40,000,000 Barrels In Biennial Report Of Mineral Board

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—(AP)—The Times-Picayune said today that the state's royalty interests "in the proven oil reserves underlying its public lands and water bottoms, mostly in south Louisiana, is estimated at 40,000,000 barrels in the biennial report of the state mineral board, just completed for printing and distribution.

"This would indicate a total reserve of more than 300,000,000 barrels yet underground in the known and partly developed state oil fields. The state's royalty interest in most of the fields is one-eighth, although in a few of them there is an additional override royalty.

"It is estimated, very generally, of course," says the mineral board's report, "that the state's share of oil reserves under state lands already under lease is 40,000,000 barrels. The oil reserve under unleased state lands is at this time not susceptible of even a vague estimate. However, it can be stated that with improved exploration methods the mineral wealth of the state-owned lands is far from exhausted.

"The mineral board in its report estimates the total acreage of state lands under lease at 3,000,000 acres, of which 2,750,000 acres were leased prior to the time it took charge of the public oil lands. As a result of a policy of real competitive bidding which the board encouraged, and the limiting of leases to 10,000 acres as a maximum, far greater returns have been received on the quarter of a million acres the board has leased than on the lands turned over to oil companies and individuals under former methods used by the state.

"Cash bonuses obtained by the mineral board have averaged $4.22 per acre, says the report, while the average cash bonus paid for leases still in effect, which were made before the board took charge, was 20 cents per acre. The average yearly rental for lands leased by the board is $2.11 per acre, and the old leases is 10 cents per acre. The board since it was organized in July, 1937, is shown to have leased 244,746 acres of state lands, for which the state received, in addition to the prospective royalty, cash bonuses totaling $1,041,009.69.

"These figures," says the report, "make clearly apparent the advantage to the state of granting leases on limited tracts only. An examination of leases granted prior to the creation of the mineral board reveals that it was the practice to allow single leases on huge areas containing as much as 500,000 acres and the cash bonuses paid for such leases were comparatively small, and it will be noted that several leases covering huge areas were awarded without payment of any cash bonuses and offering of overriding royalty.

"To illustrate, one certain lease covering 500,000 acres brought a cash bonus of $50,000, and another covering 400,000 acres brought a cash bonus of $32,750, and still another, covering 250,000 acres, brought a cash bonus of $75,000. Thus in three leases only, the state leased 1,150,000 acres and received as cash bonuses therefrom a total of $157,750, whereas, as above stated, the state mineral board required 103 leases to lease 246,746 acres but received in cash bonuses therefrom the sum of $1,041,099.68.

"And such bonuses were not paid at a sacrifice to royalty to be paid the state. The royalty share of the state, under mineral board leases, is 1-32 above leases, which is estimated to net the state additional millions of dollars.

"While there is no mention of the matter in the report, and no official announcement has been made, it is known that the board has had under consideration for some time the advisability of filing suit to void a number of large leases made before it came into office, on the ground that they are being held for nominal rentals and with insufficient development.

"Just how much additional revenue the state could obtain were such suits to be filed and prosecuted to a successful conclusion cannot be estimated, but it is certain that it would run into a very substantial amount, possibly millions of dollars, thrugh increased bnuses and rentals, or actual development and production of oil. There are almost as many known undeveloped prospects underlying the state lands, as actual fields from which the state now draws royalties. Some of these prospects have been drilled once or more times, but many of them still remain untouched.

"Revenue to the state from its oil lands, from royalties, bonuses and rentals, has been between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 annually in the past two or three years. Revision of old leases, so as to provide larger rentals, or more active exploration work with a consequent rise in royalty payments, would add a substantial sum to this revenue."

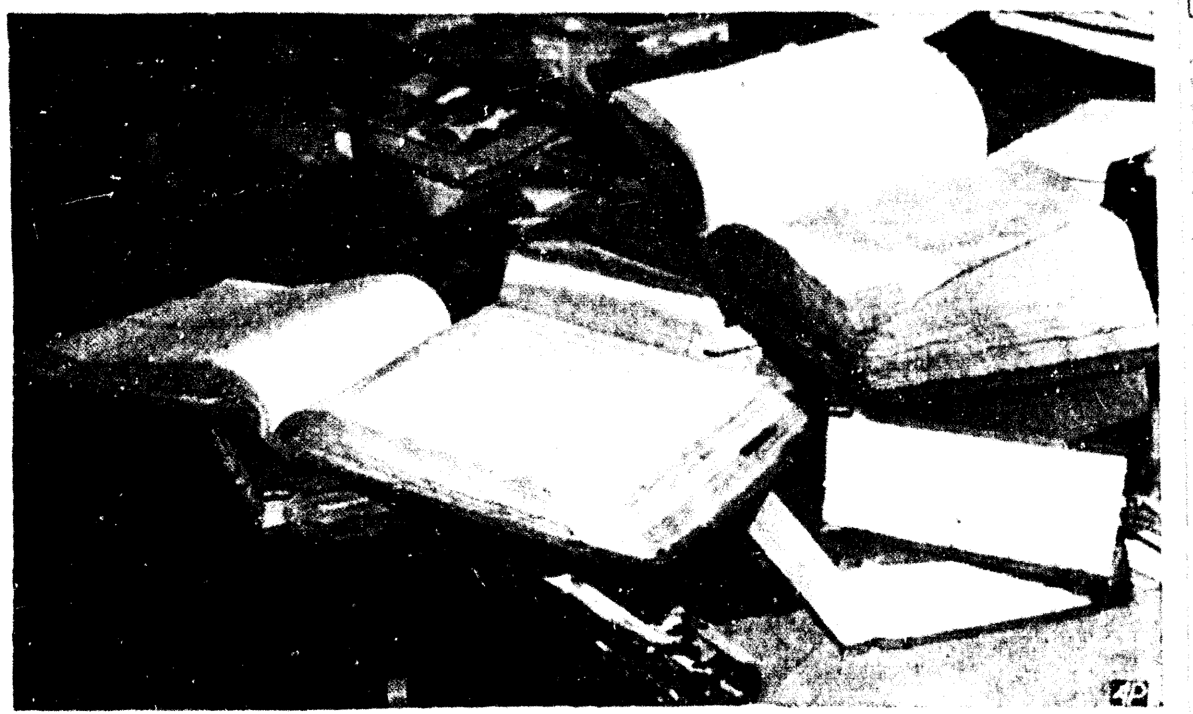
THE BOOKS FINALLY ARE OPEN



Books of the conservation department of Louisiana, closed almost nine months for "audit," finally have been opened by Conservation Commissioner Ernest Clements following a supreme court decision holding that the books must be thrown open to public perusal. The books are shown here at New Orleans. Attorneys for various organizations pledged to better government plan a thorough-going search of the books.

JANITOR HERO OF ESCAPE ATTEMPT

CLEVELAND, Miss., March 23.—(AP)—Janitor Ed Buckhorn emerged as the hero today when five youthful prisoners under sentence for highway robbery attempted an escape from the Bolivar county jail with a "gun" made of soap.

Sheriff Ed Rayner said the 60-year-old employe was ordered to "open up or else" by Frank Moody, 20, who was pointing what appeared to be a gray revolver.

"Boy, get on back to your business," Buckhorn told Moody and his four companions, Edwin Harey, Robert Lake, Herman Frost and Alfred Maynard, all under 21. Buckhorn called the sheriff and deputies, who found the revolver was a carefully carved soap model, blackened with a pencil.

Moody, whose 20th birthday was today, said "and I thought today would be lucky for me."

'MA' FERGUSON ASKS IF THEY WANT HER

AUSTIN, March 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson of Austin, 64-year-old former governor, today called upon Texans who would vote for her for a third term to mail post cards pledging their support.

Asserting in a written statement that she was considering another campaign, Texas' only woman governor intimated the response to the post card request would dictate her decision.

Mrs. Ferguson, who completed her second term in January, 1935, announced the high points of her platform in event she should become a candidate. They were:

A one-half of one per cent gross receipts tax, with "reasonable exemption" to the small merchant, to finance larger old age pensions and institute the programs of aiding the needy blind and dependent children and matching teachers' retirement contributions. She estimated the levy would yield $30,000,000 a year.

Reduction of $25,000,000 or approximately 25 per cent, in ordinary expenses of the state government.

A third term for President Roosevelt.

Removal of discriminations which she said now exist against persons past 45.

SHOCKED CHICKENS SHOULD READ SIGNS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 23.—(AP)—William Shymos complained to the sheriff's office that his chickens were being shocked by an electrically-charged wire fence put up by a neighbor.

A deputy investigated and found the fence had been erected to protect a flower bed. Since it was on private property, the neighbor was within his rights, but the officer ordered him to put up a sign warning that the fence was charged.

Now it's up to Shymos' chickens to learn how to read.

Estimated At 40,000,000 Barrels In Biennial Report Of Mineral Board

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—(AP)—The Times-Picayune said today that the state's royalty interests "in the proven oil reserves underlying its public lands and water bottoms, mostly in south Louisiana, is estimated at 40,000,000 barrels in the biennial report of the state mineral board, just completed for printing and distribution.

"This would indicate a total reserve of more than 300,000,000 barrels yet underground in the known and partly developed state oil fields. The state's royalty interest in most of the fields is one-eighth, although in a few of them there is an additional override royalty.

"It is estimated, very generally, of course," says the mineral board's report, "that the state's share of oil reserves under state lands already under lease is 40,000,000 barrels. The oil reserve under unleased state lands is at this time not susceptible of even a vague estimate. However, it can be stated that with improved exploration methods the mineral wealth of the state-owned lands is far from exhausted.

"The mineral board in its report estimates the total acreage of state lands under lease at 3,000,000 acres, of which 2,750,000 acres were leased prior to the time it took charge of the public oil lands. As a result of a policy of real competitive bidding which the board encouraged, and the limiting of leases to 10,000 acres as a maximum, far greater returns have been received on the quarter of a million acres the board has leased than on the lands turned over to oil companies and individuals under former methods used by the state.

"Cash bonuses obtained by the mineral board have averaged $4.22 per acre, says the report, while the average cash bonus paid for leases still in effect, which were made before the board took charge, was 20 cents per acre. The average yearly rental for lands leased by the board is $2.11 per acre, and the old leases is 10 cents per acre. The board since it was organized in July, 1937, is shown to have leased 244,746 acres of state lands, for which the state received, in addition to the prospective royalty, cash bonuses totaling $1,041,009.69.

"These figures," says the report, "make clearly apparent the advantage to the state of granting leases on limited tracts only. An examination of leases granted prior to the creation of the mineral board reveals that it was the practice to allow single leases on huge areas containing as much as 500,000 acres and the cash bonuses paid for such leases were comparatively small, and it will be noted that several leases covering huge areas were awarded without payment of any cash bonuses and offering of overriding royalty.

"To illustrate, one certain lease covering 500,000 acres brought a cash bonus of $50,000, and another covering 400,000 acres brought a cash bonus of $32,750, and still another, covering 250,000 acres, brought a cash bonus of $75,000. Thus in three leases only, the state leased 1,150,000 acres and received as cash bonuses therefrom a total of $157,750, whereas, as above stated, the state mineral board required 103 leases to lease 246,746 acres but received in cash bonuses therefrom the sum of $1,041,099.68.

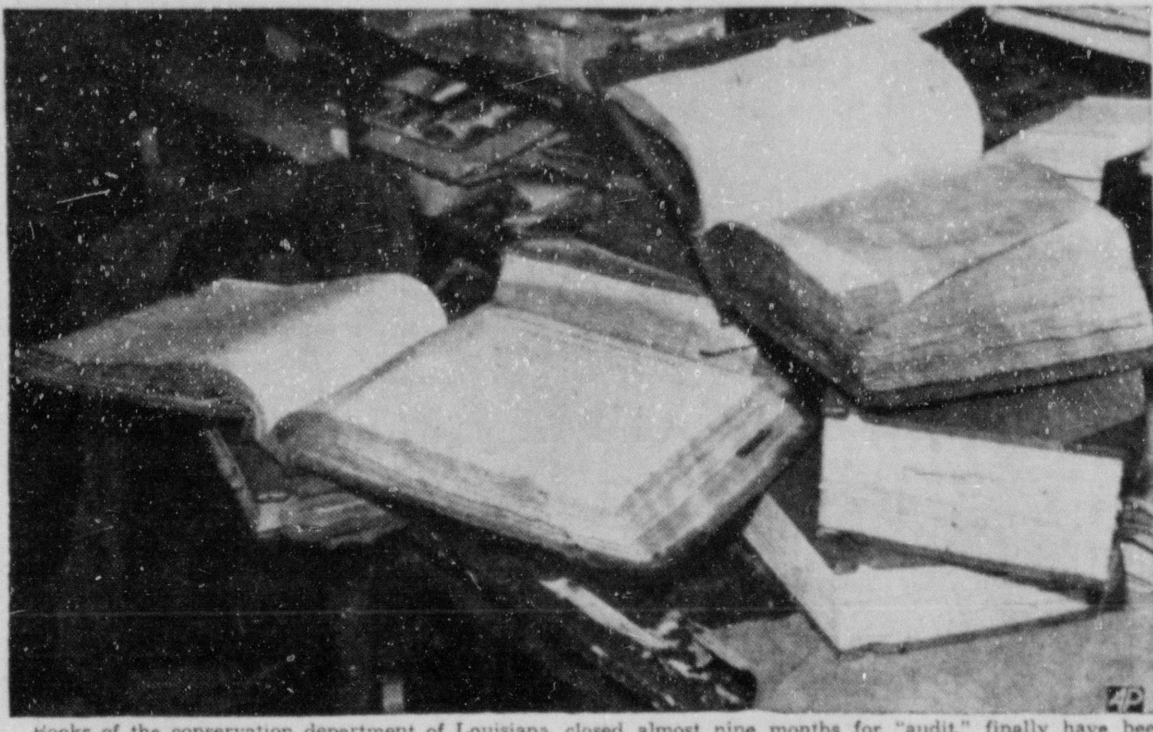
"And such bonuses were not paid at a sacrifice to royalty to be paid the state. The royalty share of the state, under mineral board leases, is 1/32 above leases, which is estimated to net the state additional millions of dollars.

"While there is no mention of the matter in the report, and no official announcement has been made, it is known that the board has had under consideration for some time the advisability of filing suit to void a number of large leases made before it came into office, on the ground that they are being held for nominal rentals and with insufficient development.

"Just how much additional revenue the state could obtain were such suits to be filed and prosecuted to a successful conclusion cannot be estimated, but it is certain that it would run into a very substantial amount, possibly millions of dollars, thrugh increased bnuses and rentals, or actual development and production of oil. There are almost as many known undeveloped prospects underlying the state lands, as actual fields from which the state now draws royalties. Some of these prospects have been drilled once or more times, but many of them still remain untouched.

"Revenue to the state from its oil lands, from royalties, bonuses and rentals, has been between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 annually in the past two or three years. Revision of old leases, so as to provide larger rentals, or more active exploration work with a consequent rise in royalty payments, would add a substantial sum to this revenue."

THE BOOKS FINALLY ARE OPEN



Books of the conservation department of Louisiana, closed almost nine months for "audit," finally have been opened by Conservation Commissioner Ernest Clements following a supreme court deciison holding that the books must be thrown open to public perusal. The books are shown here at New Orleans. Attorneys for various organizations pledged to better government plan a thorough-going search of the books.

Easter

On the first Easter morning one said, "He that was laid in the guarded tomb has disappeared; they say He has arisen from the dead."

Roman authority hushed up that report. That official act is all that is known of the career of the Roman officer in charge. Doubtless he and his confreres considered him a great man; incomparably greater than the One who was buried in the guarded tomb.

Later, one who went about preaching the doctrine of the resurrection, said that to some it was a stumbling block; to others, foolishness.

The formal and official religionists had trouble fitting it into their theology. The philosophers could not make it consistent with their reasoning.

But the handful, the ten who first believed, increased to hundreds, to millions, and the belief ran beyond nations and over continents.

Revolutions intervened. Oppressive authority on many occasions took action to suppress the idea. Their control passed. The faith remained.

It is a custom among many to watch through the night until the hour that ushers in Easter. They welcome it with exchange of salutations. "The Lord is risen!" "He is risen indeed!"

To some, a stumbling block; to some, foolishness, but to millions the expression of a great hope that will not be given up.

AMERICAN HERITAGE

Some angles of the opposition to census questions about income are intriguing and reassuring when they are examined. Take, for illustration, the sensitivity of the native-born American citizen with respect to his privacy. It does not approach in intensity that of the Englishman, whose home is his castle, but it is pronounced.

When an American citizen is asked to disclose his income for tax purposes, that is one thing under this code of privacy. Tax information is a law unto itself, having become so a quarter century ago with the advent of the income tax under Wilson. Without it, income taxing would be difficult, and without income taxes government would fail, or at least many politicians would be forced to go to work. From the founding of the republic the high courts have extended special privileges in their rulings on tax laws. All objections have been unavailing.

The American citizen now catches this legal point, or realizes the hopelessness of opposing the taxers. But when he is asked by an official to dig up something that he considers strictly personal, for a purpose divorced from taxes, the American citizen flares up like a prairie fire on a blustery night.

There is much psychology in this attitude. The opposition to intrusion goes back at least to the days of 1776. The American colonists were enraged by "search and seizures" that pioneer settlers, other than Anglo-Saxon, accepted with serenity. Perhaps, therefore, the present opposition to snooping questions in the census has a racial basis.

BUSINESS AND ECONOMY

Industrial charts kept in New York indicate that the United States has lost all of the business gains made after the European war began. The uptrend which started last August, reached a high rate in September and October and began leveling off in November and December, has since January been reversed. A recession has continued so far this year.

It is known that considerable war business has come to this country. Shipbuilding, aircraft and machine tool plants are booming as they would not be if the war stopped. It is therefore plain that the United States has suffered setbacks in the so-called peace industries—just why or where no one seems to know. Doubtless the dislocations caused by international blockades and emphasis upon types of production for war needs alone are responsible.

It is certain that every day this condition prevails, the degree of persuasion in congress for increased government spending will be stepped up. Already congress, initially inclined toward economy, is wavering. Soon the demand that business be stepped up to impress the voters may be such that the economy watchdogs will be hard put to hold their lines.

NO SWIGGING ON THE JOB

Some good advice, directed toward his own unionists, but applicable to anyone who has a job, is given by Daniel J. Tobin, president, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America.

"Whatever else you may be guilty of, don't be guilty of imbiding any kind of stimulants or intoxicating liquer during your hours of work," Mr. Tobin says. "That is an unpardonable sin . . ." As for drinking after hours—well, your life is your own, says the union leader, but you had better remember to keep yourself fit for your job the next day.

THE STORY OF DEMOCRACY

By Hendrik Willem van Loon

CHAPTER XVIII

The recuperative power of the human race seems to be unlimited. No sooner had the roads once more become safe for travel than that we can observe a return of commercial activities which had been absent for some 20 generations.

This did not mean international trade in the modern sense of the word, for in an age when the emperor's family traveled in bullock carts, the exchange of goods was still so insignificant that peddlers with packs on their backs could easily take care of all the people's needs.

But after this long period of hibernation, any return to a normal form of existence meant an enormous step forward, and at this point is is necessary to give the devil his due and say a good word for an institution which in our modern America is usually regarded with profound disapproval. I refer to that interesting form of government known as feudalism.

It is true that from the point of view of the year 1940 feudalism as an institution has very little to recommend it. But if we want to be fair, we should remember that it was something absolutely unavoidable.

Feudalism during the early Middle Ages was necessary as the system of the vigilantes which sprang up all over the far west during the earliest days of its development, and as self-appointed policemen these feudal lords performed a most valuable service.

Once more the merchant could move from place to place without the constant fear of losing not only his possessions but also his life.

The feudal lord of course did nothing for nothing. But as the recognized man of violence, he promptly eradicated the smaller fry and no sooner had a modicum of safety returned to a much plagued world than behold! commerce and trade once more made their triumphant entry among the people of Europe.

Here and there such energetic individuals banded together, and amidst the ruins of ancient Roman towns they reestablished themselves as citizens of a free community.

Soon their numbers were increased by those former serfs who by means of their extraordinary ability at some particular craft had been able to buy their personal liberty. And then came the twelfth century when a combination of circumstances suddenly rushed to their assistance in a most unexpected fashion.

The primitive agricultural methods of the Dark Ages had completely exhausted the soil. Soon there was not land enough to feed the multitudes. And at that precise moment, the victory in the east of the Mohammedans had placed the holy shrines of Christendom at the mercies of an unbelieving sultan.

The church began to preach those crusades which were to deliver the Holy Land from the yoke of the infidel and soon it was practically impossible fot any self-respecting country squire not to take part in at least one of these great migrations.

He was of course obliged to travel in state and with a considerable retinue of soldiers and servants. For that purpose he needed ready money, for the shipping companies of Venice and Genoa did not believe in credit. This money he obtained by borrowing cash from the only people who had any—from the merchants.

The merchants, not being under any particular obligation to do the fashionable thing, could stay peacefully at home. And when no interest was paid on their loans, they were able to insist upon certain substitutes in the form of all sorts of rights and prerogatives that were to increase the indepenedence of their little cities. And as this process continued for almost three centuries, the same crusades were of the greatest importance in helping the growth of Europe's monied middle classes.

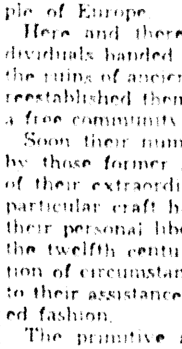
And since "city air meant free air," the spirit of independence among the inhabitants of the high-walled towns grew to a point where they felt themselves strong enough to act independently of any over-lord.

That was the beginning of those city-republics which originated in Italy during the thirteenth century (the crusades had lasted from 1096 until 1270) and which were almost exact replicas of the old Greek democracies, in regard to their political structure and in their devotion to the arts.

But none of those ever became a dedomracy in our modern sense of the word. They were ruled by and for the well-to-do classes. The average man had no influence whatsoever upon the government. He worked, paid his taxes and obeyed.

His time was to come, but not until he had been able to gain strength through organization—not until he had established those early unions which we know by the picturesque name of the guilds.

NEXT: The rise and fall of the guilds as a step toward democracy.



JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23. Dear Staff: If you folks in Hollywood have any notion that Tony Martin is weeping his heart out over Alice Faye, revise your ideas pronto.

Tony, as far as I can estimate from talking to him when he paid me a backstage visit, doesn't give a damn. He is carrying no torch! While he speaks of their separation with regret, I saw no tear buckets in his traveling kit.

Too much has happened to Martin within the past few months to leave him time to moan and groan. No doubt, if he were still in Hollywood, under contract to 20th Century-Fox at a meager salary and playing fourth-class roles, he would be moping.

But he is too busy to think. His record for the past year proves what I mean. Take a look for yourself:

Twelve months ago he was dropped with a thud by Fox. He went to New York in more or less of a daze; curtains had dropped on his little act.

But New York welcomed him. He was paid $4,500 a week for two weeks at the Paramount. He was such a hit, the theater brought him back later at $5,500. Now they're offering $6,500! His phonograph records are selling second only to Bing Crosby's, and with his old recording contract now ending, he has been offered a $25,000-a-year guarantee to re-sign. He went to Miami Beach, Fla., for a three-day, week-end engagement, and stayed nine weeks—for which he collected $35,000.

Believe me, fellas, that Faye gal dropped the hottest lad on this side of the continent. Plenty of gals are ready to take up where she left off!

JIMMIE FIDLER.

Dear Boss; We're elated this ayem about a new Hollywood enterprise called "Jeeves, Inc." (Slogan: "Let Jeeves Do It.") The management offers to "handle telephone calls, take dictation, keep books, clean cars, plan trips, give clothes and etiquette advice, prepare speeches, plan parties, run errands, make investigations, furnish a fourth for bridge, hire servants, watch the baby and get tickets." We asked, immediately, how they are at getting pay raises and they said, "Simply terrific!" You'll undoubtedly be hearing from our agent, Mr. Jeeves.

So much for the chaff, now to the grain: Myrna Loy is doing "how-do-they-get-that-way" nip-ups over a silly rumor that she and Arthur Hornblow have rifted—and we'd advise the gossip who started it all to hunt cover. . . . Brenda Marshall and Orchestra Leader Garwood Van, currently appearing at the San Bernardino orange show, are sipping their orangeade through one straw. . . . Ronald Reagan and Jane Wyman plan to take time out on Quentin Washburn's famous "Honeymoon Isle." Elsa Maxwell will test next week at WB for the "Tugboat Annie" role. . . . Ernst Lubitsch, who satirized Communism so bitingly in "Ninotchka," will harpoon Hitlerism in a pic entitled "Heil Darling." . . . Bette Davis is displaying the first personally autographed pix of the Dionne quints to reach Hollywood.

Seems that a friend of Ty Power, on hand with a home-movie camera, caught a complete record of Ty's ski spill. When the newsreel lads heard about it, they immediately started making offers. The camera-wielding friend referred them to Ty, who refused to sanction the deal. "What good in showing everyone what a sap I am on skis?" he argued. "Well," retorted the newsreel agent, "it's not every day that beginners have a chance to study what not to do on skis!"

Dorris Bowdon, who's been honeymooning in Florida with Nunnally Johnson, will return to Hollywood alone to start work in "Brigham Young." . . . Steve Sekely, noted European director, will stage two hour-long television broadcasts from LA station W6XAO, the first on March 29. . . . John Howard, Filmville's No. 2 bow-and-arrow fisherman, is planning a big game cruise to Mexican waters. . . . It was a close call for Mary Beth Hughes when a horse on the "Cisco Kid" set bit her and tore off a finger nail.

A scare ended in chuckles yesterday at Warner Brothers. The "Torrid Zone" company, working on location in brush-covered hills a few miles from the studio, struck a production snag and Jim Cagney, bestriding his horse, went exploring while awaiting resumption of work. Fifteen minutes later, his horse—with an empty saddle—reappeared. A search party started immediately to hunt for the missing star. Finally, in a clearing a good quarter of a mile away, they found him. Stripped to shorts for sunbathing, he was sound asleep.

Looks like a three-cornered race 'twixt Metro, Warners and Edward Small to see which can get a screenography of Columbus in production first. . . . Has anyone told how about the producer's second cousin who did such a swell job that he was promoted? They made him a first cousin!

BARBS

Adolphe Menjou is scheduled to play the leading role in a film based on John Barrymore's life. Maybe Barrymore himself just isn't the type.

Time continues to march on and bring many changes. One scarcely thinks any more about the college boys who used to gulp goldfish.

Japan has thought up some new automobile taxes, which will be bad if what passes for statesmen over here hear about them.

If the government is so eager for people to own their own homes, it might try inventing one with a steering wheel on it.

A Missouri coed is studying to become a veterinary surgeon. Maybe it's because horses pay their bills more promptly than human patients.

And after the inventor settles in the wilderness, the chances are his first caller is a house-to-house agent for an improved mousetrap.

Now that the pressure if off the Finns, maybe America can settle down and pay some attention to the problems here at home.

Just to prove they are willing to meet an issue half way, Mussolini and Hitler hold a rendezvous in the Brenner pass.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE MANNA-BEARING TREE—The manna-bearing tree (tamarix mannifera) growing in the Sinai peninsula, is the source of the manna of the Bible (a small, round food like white coriander seed, tasting like wafers made with honey). An insect (trabutina mannipara) feeding in this tree, excretes the manna, which falls to the ground and is of the consistency of hard syrup. To the present day the Arabs gather and eat it, either as candy or as a spread on their bread. They still call it manna.

Human Side Of The News

(Copyright, 1940, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

We didn't know quite what to think about this news of Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Pluto and their co-workers being penned up in a big corporation. The Walt Disney Productions has notified the SEC of its intention to raise four million dollars by the sales of securities of this enterprise. Of course, the members of Walt Disney's incomparable road company ought to be worth that, and more, on the hoof, but we had an uncomfortable feeling that this was something like the auction sale in the old Hoosier tales where the beloved brown mare, or Daisy, the pet cow, has to go on the auction block.

I suppose this dubiety comes from the difficulty of associating any of this Disney menage with the severe exactitudes of debentures, preferred stock, cumulative dividends, interest and other such devices by which we think we can eat our cake and have it. One suspects that maybe these mischievous little creatures will find a way to rib this solemn corporate structure, or circus it up somehow, or that Donald Duck will take a poke at it and give it a piece of his mind and somehow get away with it.

They are delightful and errant troupers, all of them, and one just can't fancy them trussed up in ticker tape. But perhaps it has to be. Our age ordinarily isn't hospitable to such elfin tribes and it is one of the world's marvels that they have worked themselves up to a four million dollars' rating. I'm sure they didn't mean it that way. It's just like P. T. Barnum trapping the real original Rumpelstilskin.

The news of the new corporation came out almost on the same day that Miss Anne Morgan, sailing for Europe, said, "We must get rid of that terrible word, 'security.'" Miss Morgan's ideas, apparently, was that there are urgencies and challenges and calls to high spiritual endeavor which should make us indifferent to our workaday preoccupation with saving our hides.

There are those among us who "labor and are heavy laden," and who look for peace and well-being, who would not agree with Miss Morgan that security is a terrible word. However, we'll pass that argument along to Roger Babson or Irving Fisher. What interested me was that this happy and hoydenish and wayward Disney outfit is at last to be roped and hog-tied with security.

Naturally, they'll put a cost-finding system on Donald Duck. He might, from now on, just get pretty mad instead of rip-snorting mad, because it would require two thousand more shots for him to go one of his old-time benders. The Disney studios probably will be getting telegrams from their Wall Street bankers, something like this: "In interest of film economy, directors insist use only two small bears in Goldilocks."

The anomaly seems to be that the members of the Disney tribe have won out so far by shooting the works and that's the last thing in the world that a four-million-dollar corporation wants to do, or dares to do. Can we believe that Mickey Mouse, et al. will behave with decorum suited to their new corporation status, and if they do, will they continue to wow the non-shareholding youngsters the way they are wont to do? Will they start figuring the house percentage against them when they square off for a battle with a whale or a bumble-bee or whatever it is that is deviling them?

In a conveyor-belt economy nobody dares to take a sock at anybody else because he may be wired in with the boss. Our lockstep multitudes have found vicarious delight, a joyous sense of freedom and adventure, in the Disney saga of the bucko little guy that steps into the big guy and lives to tell the tale. Let us hope that the new articles of incorporation will forever set apart an inviolable Disney domain of free fantasy, even if they have to put a new plaster on their debentures every few weeks.

As a matter of fact, freedom of fantasy might rate up in importance with the freedom of the seas. That's how the Disney stable got to be worth four million dollars. Both Anne Morgan and Walt Disney sense the one exigent problem of the age: "Freedom vs. Organization."

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

As might be expected, the birth of a child is generally a matter of such great significance that the number of superstitions concerning this event may be counted into the thousands.

Many of them represent wishes that the people hope will be realized. Others are protective in that they afford opportunity to ward off disappointments and dissatisfactions and to explain them satisfactorily to inquiring friends. Still others go back to the past when our biological and scientific knowledge was much slighter than it is today.

One of the simplest of beliefs, repeated in a variety of forms, is that a woman, on a first visit to a newly born baby, should not hold him in her arms unless she wishes shortly to become a mother. Also, if a married woman is the first person to see a recently born infant, she will have the next baby; or if a woman lays her coat or hat on a strange bed, she will bear a child.

All of these superstitions are protective against creation of a desire. It is the nature of women to want babies and to become attracted to them. The belief about the woman who lays her hat and coat on a strange bed is based on nothing scientific, beyond the power of suggestion.

A number of superstitions about childbirth are based purely on experience. For example, there are the saying that a poor man is certain to have many children and the belief that children conceived while the parents are intoxicated will be idiotic. There seems to be plenty of good evidence to indicate that chronic alcoholism is likely to produce deterioration in the children.

There is the belief that the mother who fails to nurse her baby will soon have another. This is based on the fact that nursing of the child seems to postpone resumption of the periodic functions of women, during which conception is possible.

Much more suggestive is the belief that if a husband and wife quarrel continually, their children will be ugly. Continuous quarreling among parents is likely to be reflected in sullenness and dissatisfaction in the children, leading to an appearance which will be ugly, even in the child with regular features.

OHIO HIGHWAY FATALITIES

Excluding accidents within municipalities, there were 578 fatal automobile accidents on the highways of Ohio during 1938. There are approximately two and a half million drivers in the state.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

RETURN OF THE OLD PUPILS

There is no telling what a child may become when he leaves childish things behind him. A school system like ours is full of surprises. Any school that has served a few generations of children knows the delight and sometimes the grief, of having an old pupil return to report on his life's progress.

One of our old boys dropped in today. He was one of the most difficult boys we ever had in the place. No day passed without a complaint about him, or from him. He had a daily fight, his opponents ranging from the officer on the beat to the small boy who hit him in the neck with a snowball. His temper was set on a hair trigger, his fist was as quick as his anger, his hatred of rule and regulation deep and boldly manifested. It took the whole school and the full power of the community to get him graduated and into college, but we managed it.

Imagine then, our astonishment when he dropped into a chair beside the principal's desk and said, "I need your help. There's a gang planning to open a poolroom in our neighborhood and we can't allow it. We have a high school, a college, a junior high school one at each corner, and the poolroom wants the other corner. I want your help to stop them."

He got plenty of help after we swallowed our astonishment. He was, he told us, a busy man but he had time to lend a hand to the youngsters of the neighborhood. He organized clubs and entertainments for them, helped them to find decent entertainment, healthy sports, and he was not going to have any poolroom interfering. We could have told the poolroom people that such interference would not be healthy, but we left that to their experience and glowed and beamed upon the returned thorn-in-the-flesh.

We had another old boy come in about the same time, but differently. He, too, had been a troublesome one. He hated routine and escaped whenever he could. He loved the clayroom and the drawing room and instead of reporting for English or mathematics would hitch himself on to another group on their way to the art classes and before he was located the period would be about over. When he was placed under the supervision of a senior he went to the scheduled place, thought of something he had forgotten and went out to a field where he had found some clay good for modelling and stayed there with it until discovered and brought back.

We managed to hold him long enough to graduate him. Now here he was, a man, seedy, in need of a shave, a failure by any outward sign, but still in love with beauty.

"I found this scheme for making little etchings and thought some of the kids would like to work with it," and he showed me a simple interesting method of making little pictures. We had a pleasant chat, we thanked him, told him we were always glad to see him, and he went his way, gay and cheerful as any man could be. He was happy and he was holding on to the beauty he knew and he had returned to the place where he knew it to be welcome.

To the school all children are precious, each bears his own gift, his own grief. We never know who or what they really are. We work and hope strong in the faith that in all of them lies much that is good.

Mr. Patri has prepared a leaflet entitled, "Trouble With Number Tables," in which he explains an easy way to help children improve in arithmetic. Send for it, addressing your request to Mr. Angelo Patri, Child Psychology Department of this paper, P. O. Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y. WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—This is the story of a big stink in the United States senate.

Sedate senators, walking through the second floor halls of the capitol past the door of the senate military affairs committee, sniffed the odor and scowled. The noses of senate guards, catching the pungent aroma, twitched. Everyone around looked apprehensively at the closed committee room. No one dared investigate. The committee was in secret session.

It smelled like something burning. It was something burning—a fistful of stenographic abracadabra that told what may have been one of the strangest secrets of the day—the exact formula of Lester P. Barlow's liquid oxygen-carbon aerial mines.

Utter Futility

It happened the other day. Here's how. Senators Nye and Gillette and Representative Church of Illinois are sponsors of a resolution to look into the possibilities of the Barlow bomb. The resolution came before the senate committee. Mr. Barlow was called in.

Mr. Barlow is an inventor and temperamental. On occasion, he can be very outspoken. On this occasion he was so outspoken that he had the senators gasping. He not only described the death and destruction which his invention will cause. He declared that the nation which owns it will be impregnable and create in the world a sense of the utter futility of war. And then Mr. Barlow tossed a verbal bomb, just to give the senators an idea of his capabilities. Without even lowering his voice to a whisper, he reeled off the chemical formula of his invention.

Aghast committeemen asked: "Have you told this to anyone before? To representatives of any foreign nation?" Mr. Barlow said emphatically no.

The committee passed a motion to have the testimony burned. A wastebasket was placed on the committee-room table, the stenographic report dumped into it. A match was applied and while the committee looked solemnly on, Mr. Barlow's secret went up in smoke.

Reporters smelled the smoke and a story but when they arrived, grim-faced senators shook their heads through the haze and held up shushing hands to silence questions.

Demonstration?

The liquid oxygen-carbon aerial mine is not the first occasion of Mr. Barlow's dealings with the government. A few years ago, the United States court of claims allowed him something like $600,000 for his inventions on engines and arms of death during the World war. Before that, he worked with Pancho Villa, but not after the United States took a hand in the affairs of that colorful Mexicano.

Mr. Barlow wants to demonstrate to the government the killing powers of his new bomb. The committee wants the army and navy experts to look on. Mr. Barlow says he will use live animals to prove killing radius of the waves of death that spread for unheard-of distances from the bomb explosion.

He assures the committee that, in no case, can there be any suffering to the dumb animals trotted out for this little show.

Mr. Church reports: "He says the death of such animals will be much quicker than any means used in the packing houses. By using dumb animals in these detonating tests, he has stated that it will be very convincing that war is futile."

Some of the boys in the ordnance division of the army are skeptical. They insist such bombs are not practicable. They might go boom while being handled, they claim.

Mr. Barlow says not. He says his new bomb can be toted about with as much safety as if it were a cap-pistol.

We shall see what we shall see—maybe. It isn't often that these secret committees call attention to themselves by raising a stink in the capitol corridors.

France Remembers Hero of Medicine

ALTHOUGH the current Famous Americans series of stamps marks a departure from U. S. philatelic precedent, the custom of honoring private citizens with stamps has long been established in France. Included among the "Heroes of Peace" whose portraits have formed French stamp designs is Jean Charcot, famous 19th century physician, pictured on the semi-postal above, issued for the benefit of French seamen.

Charcot is noted for his research in neurology and for his work at Salpetiere, where he established the greatest neurological clinic of modern times. He was an authority on diseases of the brain.

Easter

On the first Easter morning one said, "He that was laid in the guarded tomb has disappeared; they say He has arisen from the dead."

Roman authority hushed up that report. That official act is all that is known of the career of the Roman officer in charge. Doubtless he and his confreres considered him a great man; incomparably greater than the One who was buried in the guarded tomb.

Later, one who went about preaching the doctrine of the resurrection, said that to some it was a stumbling block; to others, foolishness.

The formal and official religionists had trouble fitting it into their theology. The philosophers could not make it consistent with their reasoning.

But the handful, the ten who first believed, increased to hundreds, to millions, and the belief ran beyond nations and over continents.

Revolutions intervened. Oppressive authority on many occasions took action to suppress the idea. Their control passed. The faith remained.

It is a custom among many to watch through the night until the hour that ushers in Easter. They welcome it with exchange of salutations. "The Lord is risen!" "He is risen indeed!"

To some, a stumbling block; to some, foolishness, but to millions the expression of a great hope that will not be given up.

AMERICAN HERITAGE

Some angles of the opposition to census questions about income are intriguing and reassuring when they are examined. Take, for illustration, the sensitivity of the native-born American citizen with respect to his privacy. It does not approach in intensity that of the Englishman, whose home is his castle, but it is pronounced.

When an American citizen is asked to disclose his income for tax purposes, that is one thing under this code of privacy. Tax information is a law unto itself, having become so a quarter century ago with the advent of the income tax under Wilson. Without it, income taxing would be difficult, and without income taxes government would fail, or at least many politicians would be forced to go to work. From the founding of the republic the high courts have extended special privileges in their rulings on tax laws. All objections have been unavailing.

The American citizen now catches this legal point, or realizes the hopelessness of opposing the taxers. But when he is asked by an official to dig up something that he considers strictly personal, for a purpose divorced from taxes, the American citizen flares up like a prairie fire on a blustery night.

There is much psychology in this attitude. The opposition to intrusion goes back at least to the days of 1776. The American colonists were enraged by "search and seizures" that pioneer settlers, other than Anglo-Saxon, accepted with serenity. Perhaps, therefore, the present opposition to snooping questions in the census has a racial basis.

BUSINESS AND ECONOMY

Industrial charts kept in New York indicate that the United States has lost all of the business gains made after the European war began. The uptrend which started last August, reached a high rate in September and October and began leveling off in November and December, has since January been reversed. A recession has continued so far this year.

It is known that considerable war business has come to this country. Shipbuilding, aircraft and machine tool plants are booming as they would not be if the war stopped. It is therefore plain that the United States has suffered setbacks in the so-called peace industries—just why or where no one seems to know. Doubtless the dislocations caused by international blockades and emphasis upon types of production for war needs alone are responsible.

It is certain that every day this condition prevails, the degree of persuasion in congress for increased government spending will be stepped up. Already congress, initially inclined toward economy, is wavering. Soon the demand that business be stepped up to impress the voters may be such that the economy watchdogs will be hard put to hold their lines.

NO SWIGGING ON THE JOB

Some good advice, directed toward his own unionists, but applicable to anyone who has a job, is given by Daniel J. Tobin, president, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America.

"Whatever else you may be guilty of, don't be guilty of imbiding any kind of stimulants or intoxicating liquer during your hours of work," Mr. Tobin says. "That is an unpardonable sin . . ." As for drinking after hours—well, your life is your own, says the union leader, but you had better remember to keep yourself fit for your job the next day.

• THE STORY OF DEMOCRACY

By Hendrik Willem van Loon

CHAPTER XVIII

The recuperative power of the human race seems to be unlimited. No sooner had the roads once more become safe for travel than that we can observe a return of commercial activities which had been absent for some 20 generations.

This did not mean international trade in the modern sense of the word, for in an age when the emperor's family traveled in bullock carts, the exchange of goods was still so insignificant that peddlers with packs on their backs could easily take care of all the people's needs.

But after this long period of hibernation, any return to a normal form of existence meant an enormous step forward, and at this point is is necessary to give the devil his due and say a good word for an institution which in our modern America is usually regarded with profound disapproval. I refer to that interesting form of government known as feudalism.

It is true that from the point of view of the year 1940 feudalism as an institution has very little to recommend it. But if we want to be fair, we should remember that it was something absolutely unavoidable.

Feudalism during the early Middle Ages was necessary as the system of the vigilantes which sprang up all over the far west during the earliest days of its development, and as self-appointed policemen these feudal lords performed a most valuable service.

Once more the merchant could move from place to place without the constant fear of losing not only his possessions but also his life.

The feudal lord of course did nothing for nothing. But as the recognized man of violence, he promptly eradicated the smaller fry and no sooner had a modicum of safety returned to a much plagued world than behold! commerce and trade once more made their triumphant entry among the people of Europe.

Here and there such energetic individuals banded together, and amidst the ruins of ancient Roman towns they reestablished themselves as citizens of a free community.

Soon their numbers were increased by those former serfs who by means of their extraordinary ability at some particular craft had been able to buy their personal liberty. And then came the twelfth century when a combination of circumstances suddenly rushed to their assistance in a most unexpected fashion.

The primitive agricultural methods of the Dark Ages had completely exhausted the soil. Soon there was not land enough to feed the multitudes. And at that precise moment, the victory in the east of the Mohammedans had placed the holy shrines of Christendom at the mercies of an unbelieving sultan.

The church began to preach those crusades which were to deliver the Holy Land from the yoke of the infidel and soon it was practically impossible for any self-respecting country squire not to take part in at least one of these great migrations.

He was of course obliged to travel in state and with a considerable retinue of soldiers and servants. For that purpose he needed ready money, for the shipping companies of Venice and Genoa did not believe in credit. This money he obtained by borrowing cash from the only people who had any—from the merchants.

The merchants, not being under any particular obligation to do the fashionable thing, could stay peacefully at home. And when no interest was paid on their loans, they were able to insist upon certain substitutes in the form of all sorts of rights and prerogatives that were to increase the indepenedence of their little cities. And as this process continued for almost three centuries, the same crusades were of the greatest importance in helping the growth of Europe's monied middle classes.

And since "city air meant free air," the spirit of independence among the inhabitants of the high-walled towns grew to a point where they felt themselves strong enough to act independently of any over-lord.

That was the beginning of those city-republics which originated in Italy during the thirteenth century (the crusades had lasted from 1096 until 1270) and which were almost exact replicas of the old Greek democracies, in regard to their political structure and in their devotion to the arts.

But none of those ever became a dedomracy in our modern sense of the word. They were ruled by and for the well-to-do classes. The average man had no influence whatsoever upon the government. He worked, paid his taxes and obeyed.

His time was to come, but not until he had been able to gain strength through organization—not until he had established those early unions which we know by the picturesque name of the guilds.

NEXT: The rise and fall of the guilds as a step toward democracy.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23.—Dear Staff: If you folks in Hollywood have any notion that Tony Martin is weeping his heart out over Alice Faye, revise your ideas pronto.

Tony, as far as I can estimate from talking to him when he paid me a backstage visit, doesn't give a damn. He is carrying no torch! While he speaks of their separation with regret, I saw no tear buckets in his traveling kit.

Too much has happened to Martin within the past few months to leave him time to moan and groan. No doubt, if he were still in Hollywood, under contract to 20th Century-Fox at a meager salary and playing fourth-class roles, he would be moping.

But he is too busy to think. His record for the past year proves what I mean. Take a look for yourself:

Twelve months ago he was dropped with a thud by Fox. He went to New York in more or less of a daze; curtains had dropped on his little act.

But New York welcomed him. He was paid $4,500 a week for two weeks at the Paramount. He was such a hit, the theater brought him back later at $5,500. Now they're offering $6,500! His phonograph records are selling second only to Bing Crosby's, and with his old recording contract now ending, he has been offered a $25,000-a-year guarantee to re-sign. He went to Miami Beach, Fla., for a three-day, week-end engagement, and stayed nine weeks—for which he collected $35,000.

Believe me, fellas, that Faye gal dropped the hottest lad on this side of the continent. Plenty of gals are ready to take up where she left off!

JIMMIE FIDLER.

Dear Boss: We're elated this ayem about a new Hollywood enterprise called "Jeeves, Inc." (Slogan: "Let Jeeves Do It.") The management offers to "handle telephone calls, take dictation, keep books, clean cars, plan trips, give clothes and etiquette advice, prepare speeches, plan parties, run errands, make investigations, furnish a fourth for bridge, hire servants, watch the baby and get tickets." We asked, immediately, how they are at getting pay raises and they said, "Simply terrific!" You'll undoubtedly be hearing from our agent, Mr. Jeeves.

So much for the chaff, now to the grain: Myrna Loy is doing "how-do-they-get-that-way" nip-ups over a silly rumor that she and Arthur Hornblow have rifted—and we'd advise the gossip who started it all to hunt cover. . . . Brenda Marshall and Orchestra Leader Garwood Van, currently appearing at the San Bernardino orange show, are sipping their orangeade through one straw. . . . Ronald Reagan and Jane Wyman plan to take time out on Quentin Washburn's famous "Honeymoon Isle." Elsa Maxwell will test next week at WB for the "Tugboat Annie" role. . . . Ernst Lubitsch, who satirized Communism so bitingly in "Ninotchka," will harpoon Hitlerism in a pic entitled "Heil Darling." . . . Bette Davis is displaying the first personally autographed pix of the Dionne quints to reach Hollywood.

Seems that a friend of Ty Power, on hand with a home-movie camera, caught a complete record of Ty's ski spill. When the newsreel lads heard about it, they immediately started making offers. The camera-wielding friend referred them to Ty, who refused to sanction the deal. "What good in showing everyone what a sap I am on skis?" he argued. "Well," retorted the newsreel agent, "it's not every day that beginners have a chance to study what not to do on skis!"

Dorris Bowdon, who's been honeymooning in Florida with Nunnally Johnson, will return to Hollywood alone to start work in "Brigham Young." . . . Steve Sekely, noted European director, will stage two hour-long television broadcasts from LA station W6XAO, the first on March 29. . . . John Howard, Filmville's No. 2 bow-and-arrow fisherman, is planning a big game cruise to Mexican waters. . . . It was a close call for Mary Beth Hughes when a horse on the "Cisco Kid" set bit her and tore off a finger nail.

A scare ended in chuckles yesterday at Warner Brothers. The "Torrid Zone" company, working on location in brush-covered hills a few miles from the studio, struck a production snag and Jim Cagney, bestriding his horse, went exploring while awaiting resumption of work. Fifteen minutes later, his horse—with an empty saddle—reappeared. A search party started immediately to hunt for the missing star. Finally, in a clearing a good quarter of a mile away, they found him. Stripped to shorts for sunbathing, he was sound asleep.

Looks like a three-cornered race 'twixt Metro, Warners and Edward Small to see which can get a screenography of Columbus in production first. . . . Has anyone told how about the producer's second cousin who did such a swell job that he was promoted? They made him a first cousin!

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE MANNA-BEARING TREE—The manna-bearing tree (tamarix mannifera) growing in the Sinai peninsula, is the source of the manna of the Bible (a small, round food like white coriander seed, tasting like wafers made with honey). An insect (trabutina mannipara) feeding in this tree, excretes the manna, which falls to the ground and is of the consistency of hard syrup. To the present day the Arabs gather and eat it, either as candy or as a spread on their bread. They still call it manna.

Human Side Of The News

(Copyright, 1940, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

We didn't know quite what to think about this news of Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Pluto and their co-workers being penned up in a big corporation. The Walt Disney Productions has notified the SEC of its intention to raise four million dollars by the sales of securities of this enterprise. Of course, the members of Walt Disney's incomparable road company ought to be worth that, and more, on the hoof, but we had an uncomfortable feeling that this was something like the auction sale in the old Hoosier tales where the beloved brown mare, or Daisy, the pet cow, has to go on the auction block.

I suppose this dubiety comes from the difficulty of associating any of this Disney menage with the severe exactitudes of debentures, preferred stock, cumulative dividends, interest and other such devices by which we think we can eat our cake and have it. One suspects that maybe these mischievous little creatures will find a way to rib this solemn corporate structure, or circus it up somehow, or that Donald Duck will take a poke at it and give it a piece of his mind and somehow get away with it.

They are delightful and errant troupers, all of them, and one just can't fancy them trussed up in ticker tape. But perhaps it has to be. Our age ordinarily isn't hospitable to such elfin tribes and it is one of the world's marvels that they have worked themselves up to a four million dollars' rating. I'm sure they didn't mean it that way. It's just like P. T. Barnum trapping the real original Rumpelstilskin.

The news of the new corporation came out almost on the same day that Miss Anne Morgan, sailing for Europe, said, "We must get rid of that terrible word, 'security.'" Miss Morgan's ideas, apparently, was that there are urgencies and challenges and calls to high spiritual endeavor which should make us indifferent to our workaday preoccupation with saving our hides.

There are those among us who "labor and are heavy laden," and who look for peace and well-being, who would not agree with Miss Morgan that security is a terrible word. However, we'll pass that argument along to Roger Babson or Irving Fisher. What interested me was that this happy and hoydenish and wayward Disney outfit is at last to be roped and hog-tied with security.

Naturally, they'll put a cost-finding system on Donald Duck. He might, from now on, just get pretty mad instead of rip-snorting mad, because it would require two thousand more shots for him to go one of his old-time benders. The Disney studios probably will be getting telegrams from their Wall Street bankers, something like this: "In interest of film economy, directors insist use only two small bears in Goldilocks."

The anomaly seems to be that the members of the Disney tribe have won out so far by shooting the works and that's the last thing in the world that a four-million-dollar corporation wants to do, or dares to do. Can we believe that Mickey Mouse, et al, will behave with decorum suited to their new corporation status, and if they do, will they continue to wow the non-shareholding youngsters the way they are wont to do? Will they start figuring the house percentage against them when they square off for a battle with a whale or a bumble-bee or whatever it is that is deviling them?

In a conveyor-belt economy nobody dares to take a sock at anybody else because he may be wired in with the boss. Our lockstep multitudes have found vicarious delight, a joyous sense of freedom and adventure, in the Disney saga of the bucko little guy that steps into the big guy and lives to tell the tale. Let us hope that the new articles of incorporation will forever set apart an inviolable Disney domain of free fantasy, even if they have to put a new plaster on their debentures every few weeks.

As a matter of fact, freedom of fantasy might rate up in importance with the freedom of the seas. That's how the Disney stable got to be worth four million dollars. Both Anne Morgan and Walt Disney sense the one exigent problem of the age: "Freedom vs. Organization."

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

As might be expected, the birth of a child is generally a matter of such great significance that the number of superstitions concerning this event may be counted into the thousands.

Many of them represent wishes that the people hope will be realized. Others are protective in that they afford opportunity to ward off disappointments and dissatisfactions and to explain them satisfactorily to inquiring friends. Still others go back to the past when our biological and scientific knowledge was much slighter than it is today.

One of the simplest of beliefs, repeated in a variety of forms, is that a woman, on a first visit to a newly born baby, should not hold him in her arms unless she wishes shortly to become a mother. Also, if a married woman is the first person to see a recently born infant, she will have the next baby; or if a woman lays her coat or hat on a strange bed, she will bear a child.

All of these superstitions are protective against creation of a desire. It is the nature of women to want babies and to become attracted to them. The belief about the woman who lays her hat and coat on a strange bed is based on nothing scientific, beyond the power of suggestion.

A number of superstitions about childbirth are based purely on experience. For example, there are the saying that a poor man is certain to have many children and the belief that children conceived while the parents are intoxicated will be idiotic. There seems to be plenty of good evidence to indicate that chronic alcoholism is likely to produce deterioration in the children.

There is the belief that the mother who fails to nurse her baby will soon have another. This is based on the fact that nursing of the child seems to postpone resumption of the periodic functions of women, during which conception is possible.

Much more suggestive is the belief that if a husband and wife quarrel continually, their children will be ugly. Continuous quarreling among parents is likely to be reflected in sullenness and dissatisfaction in the children, leading to an appearance which will be ugly, even in the child with regular features.

OHIO HIGHWAY FATALITIES

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

RETURN OF THE OLD PUPILS

There is no telling what a child may become when he leaves childish things behind him. A school system like ours is full of surprises. Any school that has served a few generations of children knows the delight and sometimes the grief, of having an old pupil return to report on his life's progress.

One of our old boys dropped in today. He was one of the most difficult boys we ever had in the place. No day passed without a complaint about him, or from him. He had a daily fight, his opponents ranging from the officer on the beat to the small boy who hit him in the neck with a snowball. His temper was set on a hair trigger, his fist was as quick as his anger, his hatred of rule and regulation deep and boldly manifested. It took the whole school and the full power of the community to get him graduated and into college, but we managed it.

Imagine then, our astonishment when he dropped into a chair beside the principal's desk and said, "I need your help. There's a gang planning to open a poolroom in our neighborhood and we can't allow it. We have a high school, a college, a junior high school one at each corner, and the poolroom wants the other corner. I want your help to stop them."

He got plenty of help after we swallowed our astonishment. He was, he told us, a busy man but he had time to lend a hand to the youngsters of the neighborhood. He organized clubs and entertainments for them, helped them to find decent entertainment, healthy sports, and he was not going to have any poolroom interfering. We could have told the poolroom people that such interference would not be healthy, but we left that to their experience and glowed and beamed upon the returned thorn-in-the-flesh.

We had another old boy come in about the same time, but differently. He, too, had been a troublesome one. He hated routine and escaped whenever he could. He loved the clayroom and the drawing room and instead of reporting for English or mathematics would hitch himself on to another group on their way to the art classes and before he was located the period would be about over. When he was placed under the supervision of a senior he went to the scheduled place, thought of something he had forgotten and went out to a field where he had found some clay good for modelling and stayed there with it until discovered and brought back.

We managed to hold him long enough to graduate him. Now here he was, a man, seedy, in need of a shave, a failure by any outward sign, but still in love with beauty.

"I found this scheme for making little etchings and thought some of the kids would like to work with it," and he showed me a simple interesting method of making little pictures. We had a pleasant chat, we thanked him, told him we were always glad to see him, and he went his way, gay and cheerful as any man could be. He was happy and he was holding on to the beauty he knew and he had returned to the place where he knew it to be welcome.

To the school all children are precious, each bears his own gift, his own grief. We never know who or what they really are. We work and hope strong in the faith that in all of them lies much that is good.

Mr. Patri has prepared a leaflet entitled, "Trouble With Number Tables," in which he explains an easy way to help children improve in arithmetic. Send for it, addressing your request to Mr. Angelo Patri, Child Psychology Department of this paper, P. O. Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y. WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—This is the story of a big stink in the United States senate.

Sedate senators, walking through the second floor halls of the capitol past the door of the senate military affairs committee, sniffed the odor and scowled. The noses of senate guards, catching the pungent aroma, twitched. Everyone around looked apprehensively at the closed committee room. No one dared investigate. The committee was in secret session.

It smelled like something burning. It was something burning—a fistful of stenographic abracadabra that told what may have been one of the strangest secrets of the day—the exact formula of Lester P. Barlow's liquid oxygen-carbon aerial mines.

Utter Futility

It happened the other day. Here's how. Senators Nye and Gillette and Representative Church of Illinois are sponsors of a resolution to look into the possibilities of the Barlow bomb. The resolution came before the senate committee. Mr. Barlow was called in.

Mr. Barlow is an inventor and temperamental. On occasion, he can be very outspoken. On this occasion he was so outspoken that he had the senators gasping. He not only described the death and destruction which his invention will cause. He declared that the nation which owns it will be impregnable and create in the world a sense of the utter futility of war. And then Mr. Barlow tossed a verbal bomb, just to give the senators an idea of his capabilities. Without even lowering his voice to a whisper, he reeled off the chemical formula of his invention.

Aghast committeemen asked: "Have you told this to anyone before? To representatives of any foreign nation?" Mr. Barlow said emphatically no.

The committee passed a motion to have the testimony burned. A wastebasket was placed on the committee-room table, the stenographic report dumped into it. A match was applied and while the committee looked solemnly on, Mr. Barlow's secret went up in smoke.

Reporters smelled the smoke and a story but when they arrived, grim-faced senators shook their heads through the haze and held up shushing hands to silence questions.

Demonstration?

The liquid oxygen-carbon aerial mine is not the first occasion of Mr. Barlow's dealings with the government. A few years ago, the United States court of claims allowed him something like $600,000 for his inventions on engines and arms of death during the World war. Before that, he worked with Pancho Villa, but not after the United States took a hand in the affairs of that colorful Mexicano.

Mr. Barlow wants to demonstrate to the government the killing powers of his new bomb. The committee wants the army and navy experts to look on. Mr. Barlow says he will use live animals to prove killing radius of the waves of death that spread for unheard-of distances from the bomb explosion.

He assures the committee that, in no case, can there be any suffering to the dumb animals trotted out for this little show.

Mr. Church reports: "He says the death of such animals will be much quicker than any means used in the packing houses. By using dumb animals in these detonating tests, he has stated that it will be very convincing that war is futile."

Some of the boys in the ordnance division of the army are skeptical. They insist such bombs are not practicable. They might go boom while being handled, they claim.

Mr. Barlow says not. He says his new bomb can be toted about with as much safety as if it were a cap-pistol.

We shall see what we shall see—maybe. It isn't often that these secret committees call attention to themselves by raising a stink in the capitol corridors.

France Remembers Hero of Medicine

ALTHOUGH the current Famous Americans series of stamps marks a departure from U. S. philatelic precedent, the custom of honoring private citizens with stamps has long been established in France. Included among the "Heroes of Peace" whose portraits have formed French stamp designs is Jean Charcot, famous 19th century physician, pictured on the semi-postal above, issued for the benefit of French seamen.

Charcot is noted for his research in neurology and for his work at Salpetiere, where he established the greatest neurological clinic of modern times. He was an authority on diseases of the brain.

companion, from the death sentence. Harsh was named as the actual killer; Gallogly as his companion the night of the slaying.

Lieutenant O. W. Whiteside and Corporal W. P. Grinstead of the Georgia state police returned Gallogly by automobile.

It was not known whether Mrs. Gallogly would return immediately to Georgia.

GALLOGLY WILL GO TO TULLNALL PRISON

ATLANTA, March 23.—(AP)—Lifetermer Richard Gray Gallogly, heading back to Georgia from Dallas, Tex., will be brought to state patrol headquarters here and whisked thence to Tattnall prison, State Safety Commissioner Lon Sullivan said tonight.

It was to Tattnall that Gallogly was being taken last October 6, when he overcame two guards with threat of a pistol and fled with his young wife to Texas in search of "justice."

Sullivan said Gallogly, in custody of Captain D. Frank Simmons, Lieutenant O. W. Whiteside and Corporal W. P. Grimstead, would be brought without halt from Texas, probably arriving in Atlanta Sunday morning.

"He will be behind the bars at Tattnall by Sunday afternoon," the state patrol chief said.

"Then we'll wash our hands of the whole case."

The state patrol entered the case after the prisoner's escape, and sought him in five states before he surrendered voluntarily in Dallas and announced he would seek to balk extradition.

Gallogly, scion of a prominent Atlanta family, was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1929 when, after two mistrials, he confessed voluntarily to the slaying of an Atlanta drug store clerk. Gallogly contended he did so to save his companion, George Harsh, who previously had been tried and sentenced to die. The latter's sentence was commuted.

Claiming ill health, Gallogly spent much time in an Atlanta hospital, under private guard. He was being transferred from the hospital to Tattnall prison, after losing a fight for executive clemency, when he escaped.

MANKIND AT WAR HALTS AT EASTER

in khaki or blue, featured Great Britain's Easter observance, a welcome break in three dreary months of war.

British churches, from London's massive St. Paul's to the tiniest village chapel were crowded from midnight on with wives, sisters and mothers of men in the fighting services.

London swapped thousands of tired citizens for thousands of eager visitors. Londoners jammed a full schedule of holiday trains, making for the seashore and quiet of the country, while into the city poured a mass of "provincials" and soldiers from the British expeditionary force or dominion troops training here.

The latter, getting their first look at the British capital, made Easter eve one of the gayest nights of the war.

There was a continuous procession of couples at London marriage registry offices. From all over England came reports of similar "booms."

While there were record train reservations, many Britons who had kept their cars in storage because of wartime gasoline rationing, got them out for the Easter week-end.

Hundreds of others who couldn't afford cars or railway tickets used bicycles for trips to the seashore where many hotels and boarding houses posted "full up" signs.

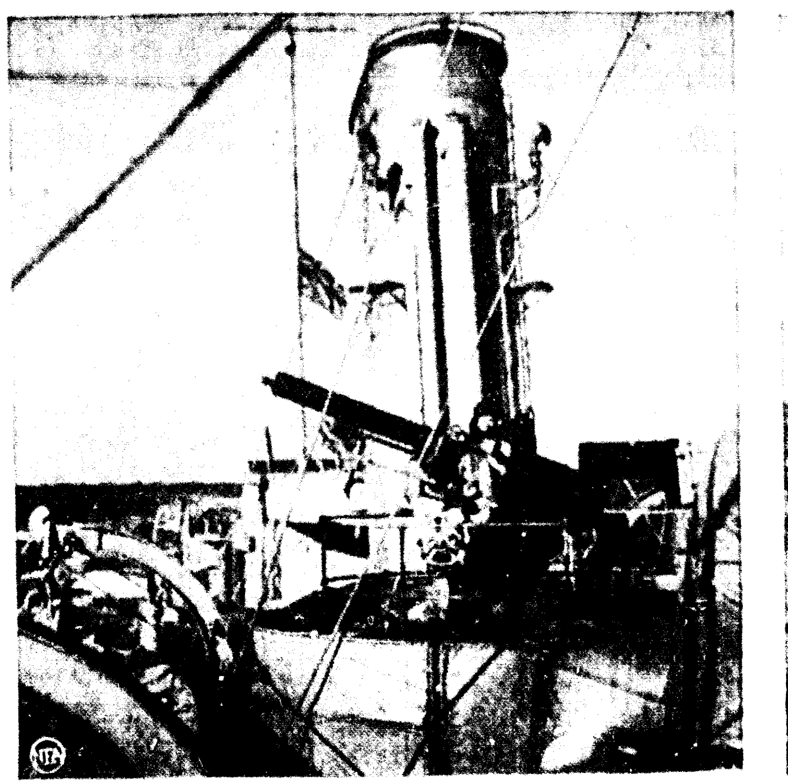
CANADA'S NAVY GUARDS THE WESTERN SEA FRONT



Well-trained gun crews are ever alert aboard the Canadian destroyer flotillas on active service. The heavily-garbed seamen, above, man an antiaircraft gun aboard a destroyer on convoy duty.

Bight to implement his renewed pledge of implacable war on Hitlerism.

Premier Daladier, France's first war leader of this conflict, went down under a similar parliamentary assault, turning his stewardship over to a "push-the-war" ministry headed by Paul Reynaud. Daladier and his party followers reserved, however, pledges of full cooperation with Reynaud, as did some other elements of the complex French party alignment, until the new government could be judged by its acts of war, not its promises.

The Daladier move obviously puts Reynaud on the spot to find, in cooperation with Britain, means to force the war on Germany but without risking either heavy battle losses by frontal attack or incurring German retaliation by indiscriminate bombing. Those twin fears still are holding all three belligerents in check in the air and on the front.

Germany's Baltic flank has been sealed indefinitely as a none too promising road to allied military victory by the surrender of Finland to Russia. The only other avenue for allied diplomatic or military flank-and-rear attack on Nazidom is via the Mediterranean, the Black sea and the Balkans. Russia and Italy are imponderable quantities in considering that strategy.

It is patent that Hitler's controlling purpose in the Brenner pass meeting with Mussolini was to seal the Balkan flank against the Allies as the Baltic flank was sealed by Russo-Finnish peace. But what new deal in southeastern Europe is hatching between the Rome-Berlin axis partners remains a close-held secret.

Summer Welles, President Roosevelt's fact-finding emissary to war-torn Europe, is homeward bound with one negative item in the report which he bears. It includes no forecast of early peace in Europe.

Garner has been responsible for the success achieved."

Sheppard declared that Garner's "occasional advice to make haste slowly" resulted from "his devotion to liberal objectives" and his desire "to avoid any error that might imperil them."

"Without question," the Texas senator continued, "from the standpoint of experience, as well as from the standpoint of his loyalty to the liberal program of this administration, John Nance Garner is the ideal successor to the presidency in 1940.

"With his inborn straightforwardness and fearless candor he has announced his candidacy without reference to the course anyone else may pursue or which may be pursued for anyone else. A candidacy of any other kind would be absolutely foreign to John Garner."

Sheppard referred to the fact that Garner was the first avowed candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. The vice-president has made it clear that his name will go before the Democratic national convention regardless of whether President Roosevelt seeks a third term.

Another political development was a demand by Senator Van Nuys, Democrat, Indiana, supporter of Paul V. McNutt for the presidential nomination, that James A. Farley resign as chairman of the Democratic national committee "in fairness" to other contenders for the nomination.

Farley announced this week that his name would be presented to the Democratic convention.

Van Nuys declared that Farley was an able man, and that he would support him if he became the Democratic nominee, but said Farley should not capitalize on the prestige of the national chairmanship to further his own candidacy.

a percentage above the actual cost. Mass production methods, made possible by the foreign orders, have cut these costs. Furthermore, manufacturers' profits are limited by law to 10 per cent, so the navy may benefit from lower costs even on contracts made at specified figures, rather than on the cost-plus basis.

Admiral Towers was said to have told of specific instances where the navy was able to get better planes because of the foreign demand.

In one case, the navy permitted the sale of a number of recently-manufactured fighting planes to the Finns, only to replace them on the production line almost immediately with an improved model of the ship capable of 30 miles an hour greater speed.

Despite these assurances, congressional investigations will seek further information on the effect of foreign purchases of American planes.

The house military affairs committee expects to start its delayed investigation as soon as Secretary of War Woodring signifies his readiness to testify. The committee's inquiry was postponed last Wednesday when Woodring asked for more time to prepare data to be presented.

Chairman Shepard, Democrat, Texas, announced that the senate military committee would meet Monday to consider a resolution by Senator LaFollette, Progressive, Wisconsin, to look into military plane sales to foreign governments.

LaFollette said he intended to push for enactment of his resolution, regardless of the turn of the house investigation.

Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop is remaining in Berlin over Easter—another indication that he is working on something more than a routine matter. Although yesterday was Good Friday and a legal holiday the foreign minister's personal staff worked feverishly.

At the Russian embassy the cautious reply to inquiries was: "The exact date for events in the offing is not yet set." There were other indications that the foreign office and the Russian embassy were preparing for a Molotoff visit.

It was understood that the German, Russian and Italian governments were taking their time about closing the three-power agreement to permit a crystalization of the results of the French cabinet change and other developments.

GALLOGLY STARTS TRIP TO GEORGIA

companion, from the death sentence. Harsh was named as the actual killer; Gallogly as his companion the night of the slaying.

Lieutenant O. W. Whiteside and Corporal W. P. Grinstead of the Georgia state police returned Gallogly by automobile.

It was not known whether Mrs. Gallogly would return immediately to Georgia.

GALLOGLY WILL GO TO TULLNALL PRISON

ATLANTA, March 23.—(AP)—Lifetermer Richard Gray Gallogly, heading back to Georgia from Dallas, Tex., will be brought to state patrol headquarters here and whisked thence to Tattnall prison, State Safety Commissioner Lon Sullivan said tonight.

It was to Tattnall that Gallogly was being taken last October 6, when he overcame two guards with threat of a pistol and fled with his young wife to Texas in search of "justice."

Sullivan said Gallogly, in custody of Captain D. Frank Simmons, Lieutenant O. W. Whiteside and Corporal W. P. Grimstead, would be brought without halt from Texas, probably arriving in Atlanta Sunday morning.

"He will be behind the bars at Tattnall by Sunday afternoon," the state patrol chief said.

"Then we'll wash our hands of the whole case."

The state patrol entered the case after the prisoner's escape, and sought him in five states before he surrendered voluntarily in Dallas and announced he would seek to balk extradition.

Gallogly, scion of a prominent Atlanta family, was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1929 when, after two mistrials, he confessed voluntarily to the slaying of an Atlanta drug store clerk. Gallogly contended he did so to save his companion, George Harsh, who previously had been tried and sentenced to die. The latter's sentence was commuted.

Claiming ill health, Gallogly spent much time in an Atlanta hospital, under private guard. He was being transferred from the hospital to Tattnall prison, after losing a fight for executive clemency, when he escaped.

CLOUDY WEATHER EASTER IS FORECAST

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—(AP)—The United States weather bureau here issued glum Easter tidings tonight, forecasting cloudy, cool weather over several southern states.

The prediction was cloudy and cooler for Louisiana, with showers in the southwest portion tomorrow. "Cloudy and colder" was the forecast for Mississippi and Alabama, also for Arkansas.

Monday will be "partly cloudy" over these states, said Meteorologist W. R. Stevens.

A low temperature of about 36 degrees was predicted for New Orleans, with other parts of the forecast area to be even chillier for the Easter parade. Fresh winds were forecast over much of the section.

A PREDICTION

Spring training for Monroe's White Sox hasn't even started and developments may throw us for the well-known loop but we're going to climb out on a limb with the prediction that Dale Englehorn will be the outstanding outfielder of the circuit this year.

Last spring when Englehorn reported with the other hopefuls who were tabbed as future greats for Larry Gilbert's Nashville Vols, he looked like a sure-fire prospect. He was fast, fielded well, had a good arm and his hitting was plenty okay. But the Vols had other outfielders with more experience and fine records in higher circles, and Dale was shunted off to Pine Bluff, another affiliate of the Brooklyn club.

From then on, Englehorn encountered a series of setbacks that would have shaken the faith of the most enthusiastic of ball players. Injuries in large numbers dogged his every move, with the result that, after a fast start, Dale was slowed down to a walk. In other words, he was of very little use to the Judges in his crippled condition and they released him. Manager Doug Taitt promptly signed the young fellow, and he started up the comeback trail as a member of the White Sox clan. He finished the season in good style and if we remember correctly, his batting average was slightly over .300 for the entire campaign, good days and bad.

Now Dale is back again, and he says his legs are ready for the strenuous campaign ahead. As you know, several Charley horses and a sprain were his chief ailments last summer. But that's all a thing of the past, according to the tall youngster. Englehorn checked in yesterday, all set for the best year of his minor league career and ready to show 'em he's capable of better things.

There's never been any doubt of Englehorn's ability to hit this brand of pitching and he can field with the best of them when he isn't jinxed by a flock of injuries. Given just an even break in the durability department, Dale's going to show 'em how the outfield should be played.

Maybe we're wrong, but along about last September we tagged him as the best outfielder in the Cotton States circuit for 1940, and we're still sticking with that guess.

THE GRADUATES

Every fan wants to know what's happening to the departed brethren who graduated from the White Sox last season, and we've tried to follow them through news reports from the various spring camps. From all we've rounded up this past week, here are the developments:

Murrell Jones, sold to Shreveport for a wad of cash and options on four players, is ticketed as the regular first sacker for the Sports. They tell us they've assigned the job to him without competition and will let him have it at least for a month after the season opens. In other words, it's up to Jonesy; he'll be given every opportunity to make the grade. As this is

HOGAN, HEAFNER TIED FOR LEAD IN LINKS OPEN

Shoot 69 To Pace Greensboro Golf Tourney Field In First Round

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 23.—(AP)—A change of scenes makes no difference to Ben Hogan. The lad who won the North-South open championship two days ago continued in the same stride today as he finished the first round of the $5,000 Greensboro open tournament in a first-place tie with Clayton Heafner at 69.

Comparing the figures alone, Hogan's two-under-par effort this afternoon would hardly stand up to the 66 on a par 72 course with which he opened up at Pinehurst. But considering the fact that there was a tricky wind, that the greens weren't in any too good shape and the fairways also had their bad spots, his 69 was a remarkable accomplishment.

It became even more so upon scrutiny of his card. The 27-year-old ex-Texan, who missed only one green and not a single fairway all the way around, had a potential 63. Unbelievable as it may seem, Hogen was bare inches away from sinking six birdie putts of five feet or less.

If Hogan's round was remarkable because it could have been so much better, Heafner's stood out because of the scrambling he did on the first nine and the recovery to consistency he made on the second. He was out in 35, even par, and came home at two under par 34.

Hogan, with seven pars and two birdies, reached the turn in 33. He then matched standard figures on the back nine, where he missed the green at the par-4 11th and took a 5, but came back to retrieve that extra stroke by sinking a four-footer that just curled into the back of the cup for a birdie 4.

Though some of the touring pros turned in their highest scores of the season, Hogan and Heafner finished only one stroke in front. At 70 there was a foursome consisting of Craig Wood, who saw a 25-footer for a 69 bounce out of the back of the cup on No. 18, Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., one of the better younger pros, Jack Helms of Charlotte, N. C., former caddie master at the nearby Greensboro C. C., and Sam Snead.

Only man to match par-71 was Gene Sarazen. Tony Manero, Ky Laffoon and Johnny Bulla were at 72; 73's were returned by such aces as Open Champion Byron Nelson, Jug McSpaden, Paul Runyan, Ed Oliver, Horton Smith and Ralph Guldahl and Amateur Henry Stvers of Lexington, N. C. matched the 74's scored by Willie Goggin, Lawson Little, Lloyd Mangrum, Dick Metz and Johnny Revolta.

Henry Picard was a 75-shooter, Jimmy Thomson had 76, Harry Cooper and Vic Ghezzi had 77, and Jimmy Hines an 80, his worst round of the year.

Tony Bruno, above, Milwaukee, Wis., middleweight, who will meet Jack Taylor, of Houston, Tex., Friday night in a 10-round match that will headline Promoter Gus Kallio's boxing program. Four other bouts are on the card, which will be staged in the exhibit building at the Ouachita Valley fairgrounds.

Kallio To Present Pro Ring Bouts Here Friday

Total Of 30 Rounds Of Fisticuffs On Tap At Valley Fairgrounds

Promoter Gus Kallio will present his first all-boxing card in almost a year here Friday night when professional ringmen tangle in a total of 30 rounds of fisticuffs in the exhibit building at the Ouachita Valley fair grounds.

Kallio will present the Friday night events in cooperation with the Monroe Motor company. The promoter's last fistic card was given in April of last year and many fans are expected to turn out to witness the revival of the professional ring sport here.

The feature bout on the card, which will present five matches, will be middleweight battle between Tony Bruno, Milwaukee, Wis., Italian, and Jack Taylor, of Houston, Tex. None of the bouts will be for a title and Taylor is expected to fight at a few pounds over the 16-pound middleweight limit. Bruno, however, will be fighting at 160 pounds and is expected to make up in fighting ability the slight weight advantage Taylor will have. The match is slated for 10 rounds.

From a local angle, the welterweight match between Walter Brady, Monroe, and Young Joey Parks, Houston, should attract much interest. Brady, a former Neville High school boxer, will be making his first showing as a professional and fans are expected to give him plenty of support Friday night. Brady and Parks will fight at 150 pounds for a scheduled four rounds.

A six-round semi-final battle will pit Ted Tellos, Mexico City, Mexico, against Don Eddy, Boston, Mass., in the 135-pound division.

Also on the card will be a four-round match, contestants for which have not yet been announced, and a six-round "special" between George Thomas, Shreveport, and Mike Balaban, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The program will get under way at 8:15 o'clock. Ringside seats will go for $1.10, general admission will be 55 cents, and students will be admitted for 25 cents.

The bouts, in the order of their place on the card, are as follows:

Four-round match, contestants not yet signed.

George Thomas, Shreveport, vs. Mike Balaban, Pittsburgh, six rounds.

Ted Tellos, 135, Mexico City, vs. Don Eddy, 135, Boston, six rounds.

Tony Bruno, 160, Milwaukee, vs. Jack Taylor, 164, Houston, ten rounds.

KNOT-HOLE GANG TO BE ORGANIZED

Rules Announced And Application Blank Furnished For Boys

Plans for organization of the Monroe Knot-Hole gang have been completed and a blank for application for membership is printed in the sports section of the Monroe Morning World today.

A special bleacher section is being erected for the Knot-Hole gang at Casino park through the efforts of the sports committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Rules regulating operation of the Knot-Hole gang have been announced as follows:

1. Age limit for boys eligible, 10 to 14 years inclusive; boys becoming 10 before the 1st of June are eligible. Boys becoming 15 before June 1 are ineligible.
2. School attendance required: 98 per cent for entire school year, sickness excepted. Boys entering school for good reasons, after the beginning of the school year, may qualify by making the 98 per cent record for the remainder of the year.
3. Deportment to qualify boys: Boys must make a satisfactory grade in deportment during the school year.
4. Regular attendance at Sunday school or religious school, of the boy's choice, is required. This is to be certified by the religious school teacher.
5. School boys qualifying under the above provisions, will be issued membership tickets in the Knot-Hole gang, by courtesy of the Monroe Baseball club. Those tickets will admit boys holding them to all home games except opening day, Sundays and holidays.
6. Tickets are not transferable and will be cancelled if transfered, or for ungentlemanly conduct in or about the ball park or on the ball field.
7. Ineligibility, or the revoking of a boy's membership, may take place at any time throughout the year.
8. Applications for membership will be published in the News-Star and Morning World. These applications must be signed by the boy's parent or guardian, school teacher, Sunday school teacher or religious leader. When the signatures have been secured, the application must be brought to the office of the Monroe Baseball club, 509 Bernhardt building, on the dates between April 1 and April 17. No Knot-Hole tickets will be issued after April 17.
9. Supervision at the ball park will be in the hands of scoutmasters, appointed by Scout Executive Olan Black.

RINGGOLD NINE BRINGS END TO DUBACH STREAK

DUBACH, La., March 23.—(Special)—The Dubach Plungers, district Class B baseball champions last season, fell before the Ringgold aggregation here this afternoon, 5 to 4, thus evening a two-game series with the visitors. It was the Plungers' first defeat in seven starts this season.

Each club got only six hits. D. Colvin and Manning got a double each for the locals, and Fuller connected with a two-ply blow for Ringgold. Sasser was the winning pitcher and Jeffcoat was the loser.

Score by innings:

Ringgold	210 002 000	5	6	1
Dubach	001 002 010	4	6	2

'GATORS SCORE 64 POINTS FOR FOURTH CROWN

Tigers Total 60; One Mark Broken Three Times In Hot Competition

ATLANTA, March 23.—(AP)—Florida's 'Gators beat out Louisiana State university with a total point count of 64-60 tonight to retain their Southeastern conference swimming championship for the fourth successive year.

The Floridians put on a masterful exhibition in the final events to overcome a two-point lead the Bengals had gained last night at the midway mark of the meet.

Three new records were established in the last four events, making a total of six for the finals of the competition. One mark was shattered three times, twice in the afternoon time trials and once in the finals.

Georgia wound up in third place with 23 points.

The other teams in the meet with the order of finish were: Georgia Tech, 17 points; Tennessee, 9, Auburn, 8, and Kentucky, 5.

After the 100-yard free style record had been shaved twice during the afternoon, Robert Percy of L. S. U. gave it another going over in the finals, leaving it at 53.5 seconds compared with the 54.8 mark set by Walters of Georgia Tech last year.

Bill Van Cliff, 'Gator breast-stroking wizard, gave the 200-yard breast stroke time a two-phase refurbishing. He trimmed 2.7 seconds from it in an afternoon heat and took a little more than that off it tonight to leave it at two minutes, 36.8 seconds. The old mark was 2:42.7 set by Walter Liddell of Florida last year.

The last record to fall was in the 400-yard relay won by the L. S. U. team of Percy, Smith, Klock and Setliffe in three minutes, 44.8 seconds. This time was 3.4 seconds better than 3.48.2 rung up last year by Georgia.

WAYNE NET TEAM SMASHES TECHMEN

RUSTON, La., March 23.—(Special)—Tennis players of Wayne university, Detroit, Mich., whitewashed the Louisiana Tech netters, 9-0, at Ruston Saturday, giving the visiting Tartars their 61st victory in 65 matches and their 34th consecutive win. The engagement here was the opener of an extensive southern tour by the Wayne men.

Bill Maul, the Tartars' No. 1 man and ranked as the nation's 21st player, smashed his way to swamp Tech's Harbert Marshall of Monroe, 6-1, 6-2.

In the closest match on the program, Wayne's doubles' pair, Maul and Irving Blumenfeld, were forced to extend themselves to win 6-3, 7-5, over Marshall and Billy Fouche of Shreveport.

The contests Saturday were Tech's first of the season. The college here last year did not participate in intercollegiate tennis.

Results:

Singles: Maul, Wayne, defeated Marshall, 6-1, 6-3. Blumenfeld, Wayne, defeated Billy Newman, 6-2, 6-3. Mike Swetina, Wayne, defeated Fouche, 6-0, 6-2. Rice, Wayne, defeated Henderson, 6-3, 6-3. Burns, Wayne, defeated Miles Mims, 6-3, 6-1. Granger, Wayne, defeated Bobby Foster, 6-2, 6-1.

Doubles: Maul and Blumenfeld, Wayne, defeated Marshall and Fouche, 6-3, 7-5. Swetina and Rice, Wayne, defeated Newman and Henderson, 6-0, 6-0. Granger and Burns, Wayne, defeated Mims and Foster, 6-2, 6-3.

MAKI DEFEATED BY WOLVERINE RUNNER

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 23.—(AP)—Taisto Maki, Finland's star distance runner, met defeat tonight again on his American tour, losing a two-mile race to Ralph Schwarzkopf, Michigan ace, by 25 yards.

The Wolverine star kept one strike behind Maki for 15 of the 16 laps in Yost field house, shooting out in front on the last turn around to finish in nine minutes and nine seconds. The race headlined the Michigan A. A. U. championships.

While the time was comparatively slow, the triumph avenged Schwarzkopf's two defeats from Maki last summer in Europe over the three-mile route.

LIONS TO GET IN HARD WORK

Ouachita Grid Candidates Are Slated For Rough Drills This Week

The Ouachita Parish High school Lions, who have been in spring training for the past two weeks, will get down to hard work this week, Coach Mack Avants said last night. The Lions still have about six weeks of work ahead of them.

Forty-four candidates for the 1940 team are on hand at the present. The first week of work was for freshmen only, and last week the entire squad was on hand with the exception of a few regulars from last season, who are working at the present with the track team.

Conditioning work and instruction in elementary football tactics have featured the drills thus far, but rough contact work is slated to get under way this week.

The squad working with Coach Avants at the present includes only seven lettermen, who are Tackles Sonny Foreman and Sam McInnis, Guard Wayne Doss, Center Bill Eason, and Backs Herbert Pace, "Cotton" Hall, and James Hewitt.

Richard Pate and Clayton Brown, halfbacks, who lettered last season, will be on hand next fall, but they are with the track squad this spring.

Coach Avants listed his spring training roster as follows:

Ends—Dudley Slaughter, B. F. Cummings, Earl Cottingham, Milam Towns, J. M. McBeth, Burron Sikes, and Cullen Kirby.

Tackles—Rudy Eason, Jesse Mauser, Cecil Sinclair, Paul Hinton, Jimmie Hale, Wayne Christman, Sonny Foreman, and Sam McInnis.

Guards—Wayne Doss, Wallace Williamson, William Downing, Stewart Peters, Willie Coleman, Charles Cain, Paul Twiner, John Melton, and Bill Curry.

Centers—Bill Eason, G. S. Robinson, Jack Dray, and Henry Smith.

Backs—"Cotton" Hall, Maurice LeBlanc, Johnnie Simpson, A. B. Grant, Aubrey Mason, Richard Lanningham, Hiddel, Herbert Pace, James McKeithen, Dyke Lenard, James Hewitt, L. E. Skains, Buddy Foreman, H. Foggins, and Hoyt Moncrief.

PAYCHECK GETS UNDERDOG ROLE AGAINST LOUIS

Iowan Not Given Much Chance Of Defeating Champ Friday Night

By Sid Feder

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP)—The Finns and Joe Louis are going to benefit from the fistic festivities in Madison Square Garden Friday night. But it is almost unanimously agreed that the only pleasure the other half of the duet, Johnny Paycheck, will derive will be when—and if—he picks up his namesake the next day.

The "if" is used advisedly in this case, referring to Louis' tenth defense of the world's heavyweight championship. The "experts" have given the fiddle-playing flailer from Des Moines a thorough "once-over" two or three times. And, even knowing full well that stranger things have happened in the pleasant pastime of scrambling ears, they're convinced there is no immediate danger the bomber will blow this one.

He may have trouble from the style of the serious-minded socker with the sparse hair, and he may be hurt by the short right hand Johnny drops into your whiskers. But, like little Louie when he hops into the rumble seat behind sis and her beau, Johnny looks like he's just along for the ride this time.

On a count of noses, the majority votes for a short and sweet—to everybody but Johnny—ending to the thing. Since this corner is never one to go against the will of the majority, yours truly figures the whole affair will be over and Joe will be hopping a cab for Harlem and some fried chicken inside of five rounds.

This prediction is made with a vivid recollection of the wreckage the limb made when it let go under the weight of a large number of the experts who didn't think Arturo Godoy, the rhumba riot from Chile, would survive long enough to say "bueanas noches" to Louis February 9.

The bomber and his fistic family—especially the latter—have learned their lessons well in some of Joe's most recent bouts, such as those with Godoy, Bob Pastor and Tony Galento. As a result, they're not kidding around for any opponent. So they have Joe as busy as a starving man over a steak in his training for this affair. At his acmp at Greenwood Lake, N. Y., "Mr. Deadpan" has even been boxing five days weekly, one more than his usual stint.

As usual, the lure of Louis is expected to make Friday's fuss a financial as well as an artistic success. Promoter Mike Jacobs, who has been drawing a considerable number of blanks here lately, won't feel at all

THIRTY PLAYERS TO REPORT FOR TRAINING WORK

First Exhibition Game Slated Saturday With Alexandria Reds

Baseball takes the spotlight in sporting circles of this area tomorrow as the Monroe White Sox, Cotton States league leaders last summer, go into spring training at Casino park here.

Manager Doug "Poco" Taitt has summoned thirty hopefuls for the spring drills and several more are expected to join the club for tryouts.

With exhibition games slated for next Saturday and Sunday with the Alexandria Reds of the Evangeline league, the Sox will have to work hard this week to get in shape for the engagements. Manager Taitt will prescribe workouts of from four to five hours each day, beginning at 11 a. m. and tapering off at 4 p. m.

Tom Perry and Keltor Maxfield, lefthanders, who are slated to pitch against Alexandria, already have been at work here for the past week, and from all indications, both will be in good condition for the Reds.

Other early arrivals are Outfielder Dale Englehorn, Catcher Theo Williford, and Pitchers George Taitt and Wright Sherrard. All other pospects will begin checking in today and tomorrow morning with the probable exception of Catcher Bobby Schang.

Schang, who in addition to his duties as first string catcher is slated for a berth as assistant manager, will be delayed because of a death in his family, according to an announcement by club officials. He may not arrive here from Sacramento, Calif., until about the middle of the week.

In addition to those already here, others due to report tomorrow morning at Casino park are Pitchers Floyd Speer, "Lefty" Hinton, Jack Cohan, Louis Boyne, Leon Langston, and Hubert Young; Catchers Carl Pettigrew, James Brownlee, and Melvin Russell; Outfielders Bob Hill, Robert Burt, James Marino and Ed Knight; and Infielders Larry Fisher, Frank Hackney, Verner Riha, Howard Taylor, John LaBue, Quinton Fortenberry, Herman Goodnight, Kirby Jones, and Joe Eagar.

Manager Taitt said last night that Eagar had been obtained from Shreveport as one of three players due Monroe in completion of the deal that sent Murrell Jones to the Sports. Eagar will have the inside track on the way to the short stop berth, and is expected to more than hold his own against the other aspirants for the spot.

The Sox are also trying to obtain Rookie First Baseman Scocco from Shreveport but a contract difficulty is involved. Manager Taitt said the rookie had been given a contract "too big for a Class C club to handle," but that club officials were trying to workout a deal with Shreveport

Walter Brady, 150, Monroe, vs. Young Joey Parks, 150, Houston, four rounds.

George Thomas, Shreveport, vs. Mike Balaban, Pittsburgh, six rounds.

Ted Tellos, 135, Mexico City, vs. Don Eddy, 135, Boston, six rounds.

Tony Bruno, 160, Milwaukee, vs. Jack Taylor, 164, Houston, ten rounds.

KNOT-HOLE GANG TO BE ORGANIZED

Rules Announced And Application Blank Furnished For Boys

Plans for organization of the Monroe Knot-Hole gang have been competed and a blank for application for membership is printed in the sports section of the Monroe Morning World today.

A special bleacher section is being erected for the Knot-Hole gang at Casino park through the efforts of the sports committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Rules regulating operation of the Knot-Hole gang have been announced as follows:

1. Age limit for boys eligible, 10 to 14 years inclusive; boys becoming 10 before the 1st of June are eligible. Boys becoming 15 before June 1 are ineligible.
2. School attendance required: 98 per cent for entire school year, sickness excepted. Boys entering school for good reasons, after the beginning of the school year, may qualify by making the 98 per cent record for the remainder of the year.
3. Deportment to qualify boys: Boys must make a satisfactory grade in deportment during the school year.
4. Regular attendance at Sunday school or religious school, of the boy's choice, is required. This is to be certified by the religious school teacher.
5. School boys qualifying under the above provisions, will be issued membership tickets in the Knot-Hole gang, by courtesy of the Monroe Baseball club. Those tickets will admit boys holding them to all home games except opening day, Sundays and holidays.
6. Tickets are not transferable and will be cancelled if transfered, or for ungentlemanly conduct in or about the ball park or on the ball field.
7. Ineligibility, or the revoking of a boy's membership, may take place at any time throughout the year.
8. Applications for membership will be published in the News-Star and Morning World. These applications must be signed by the boy's parent or guardian, school teacher, Sunday school teacher or religious leader. When the signatures have been secured, the application must be brought to the office of the Monroe Baseball club, 509 Bernhardt building, on the dates between April 1 and April 17. No Knot-Hole tickets will be issued after April 17.
9. Supervision at the ball park will be in the hands of scoutmasters, appointed by Scout Executive Olan Black.

RINGGOLD NINE BRINGS END TO DUBACH STREAK

DUBACH, La., March 23.—(Special)—The Dubach Plungers, district Class B baseball champions last season, fell before the Ringgold aggregation here this afternoon, 5 to 4, thus evening a two-game series with the visitors. It was the Plungers' first defeat in seven starts this season.

Each club got only six hits. D. Colvin and Manning got a double each for the locals, and Fuller connected with a two-ply blow for Ringgold. Sasser was the winning pitcher and Jeffcoat was the loser.

Score by innings:

'GATORS SCORE 64 POINTS FOR FOURTH CROWN

Tigers Total 60; One Mark Broken Three Times In Hot Competition

ATLANTA, March 23.—(AP)—Florida's 'Gators beat out Louisiana State university with a total point count of 64-60 tonight to retain their Southeastern conference swimming championship for the fourth successive year.

The Floridians put on a masterful exhibition in the final events to overcome a two-point lead the Bengals had gained last night at the midway mark of the meet.

Three new records were established in the last four events, making a total of six for the finals of the competition. One mark was shattered three times, twice in the afternoon time trials and once in the finals.

Georgia wound up in third place with 23 points.

The other teams in the meet with the order of finish were: Georgia Tech, 17 points; Tennessee, 9; Auburn, 8, and Kentucky, 5.

After the 100-yard free style record had been shaved twice during the afternoon, Robert Percy of L. S. U. gave it another going over in the finals, leaving it at 53.5 seconds compared with the 54.8 mark set by Walters of Georgia Tech last year.

Bill Van Cliff, 'Gator breast-stroking wizard, gave the 200-yard breast stroke time a two-phase refurbishing. He trimmed 2.7 seconds from it in an afternoon heat and took a little more than that off it tonight to leave it at two minutes, 36.8 seconds. The old mark was 2:42.7 set by Walter Liddell of Florida last year.

The last record to fall was in the 400-yard relay won by the L. S. U. team of Percy, Smith, Klock and Setliffe in three minutes, 44.8 seconds. This time was 3.4 seconds better than 3:48.2 rung up last year by Georgia.

WAYNE NET TEAM SMASHES TECHMEN

RUSTON, La., March 23.—(Special)—Tennis players of Wayne university, Detroit, Mich., whitewashed the Louisiana Tech netters, 9-0, at Ruston Saturday, giving the visiting Tartars their 61st victory in 65 matches and their 34th consevutive win. The engagement here was the opener of an extensive southern tour by the Wayne men.

Bill Maul, the Tartars' No. 1 man and ranked as the nation's 21st player, smashed his way to swamp Tech's Harbert Marshall of Monroe, 6-1, 6-2.

In the closest match on the program, Wayne's doubles' pair, Maul and Irvging Blumenfeld, were forced to extend themselves to win 6-3, 7-5, over Marshall and Billy Fouche of Shreveport.

The contests Saturday were Tech's first of the season. The college here last year did not participate in intercollegiate tennis.

Results:

Singles: Maul, Wayne, defeated Marshall, 6-1, 6-3. Blumenfeld, Wayne, defeated Billy Newman, 6-2, 6-3. Mike Swetina, Wayne, defeated Fouche, 6-0, 6-2. Rice, Wayne, defeated Henderson, 6-3, 6-3. Burns, Wayne, defeated Miles Mims, 6-3, 6-1. Granger, Wayne, defeated Bobby Foster, 6-2, 6-1.

Doubles: Maul and Blumenfeld, Wayne, defeated Marshall and Fouche, 6-3, 7-5. Swetina and Rice, Wayne, defeated Newman and Henderson, 6-0, 6-0. Granger and Burns, Wayne, defeated Mims and Foster, 6-2, 6-3.

MAKI DEFEATED BY WOLVERINE RUNNER

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 23.—(AP)—Taisto Maki, Finland's star distance runner, met defeat tonight again on his American tour, losing a two-mile race to Ralph Schwarzkopf, Michigan ace, by 25 yards.

The Wolverine star kept one strike behind Maki for 15 of the 16 laps in Yost field house, shooting out in front on the last turn around to finish in nine minutes and nine seconds. The race headlined the Michigan A. A. U. championships.

While the time was comparatively slow, the triumph avenged Schwarzkopf's two defeats from Maki last summer in Europe over the three-mile route.

WILL FORM PLANS FOR BIG 6 BASEBALL LOOP

RUSTON, La., March 23.—(Special)—Reorganization plans for the Big Six baseball league will get under way this week, it was announced by Larry J. Fox, president of the league. A meeting is being arranged and all 1939 members will be notified.

Teams in the circuit last year were Bernice, Farmerville, Ansley, Chatham, Marion and Huttig, Ark.

LIONS TO GET IN HARD WORK

Ouachita Grid Candidates Are Slated For Rough Drills This Week

The Ouachita Parish High school Lions, who have been in spring training for the past two weeks, will get down to hard work this week, Coach Mack Avants said last night. The Lions still have about six weeks of work ahead of them.

Forty-four candidates for the 1940 team are on hand at the present. The first week of work was for freshmen only, and last week the entire squad was on hand with the exception of a few regulars from last season, who are working at the present with the track team.

Conditioning work and instruction in elementary football tactics have featured the drills thus far, but rough contact work is slated to get under way this week.

The squad working with Coach Avants at the present includes only seven lettermen, who are Tackles Sonny Foreman and Sam McInnis, Guard Wayne Doss, Center Bill Eason, and Backs Herbert Pace, "Cotton" Hall, and James Hewitt.

Richard Pate and Clayton Brown, halfbacks, who lettered last season, will be on hand next fall, but they are with the track squad this spring.

Coach Avants listed his spring training roster as follows:

Tackles—Rudy Eason, Jesse Mauser, Cecil Sinclair, Paul Hinton, Jimmie Hale, Wayne Christman, Sonny Foreman, and Sam McInnis.

Guards—Wayne Doss, Wallace Williamson, William Downing, Stewart Peters, Willie Coleman, Charles Cain, Paul Twiner, John Melton, and Bill Curry.

Centers—Bill Eason, G. S. Robinson, Jack Dray, and Henry Smith.

PAYCHECK GETS UNDERDOG ROLE AGAINST LOUIS

By Sid Feder

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP)—The Finns and Joe Louis are going to benefit from the fistic festivities in Madison Square Garden Friday night. But it is almost unanimously agreed that the only pleasure the other half of the duet, Johnny Paycheck, will derive will be when—and if—he picks up his namesake the next day.

The "if" is used advisedly in this case, referring to Louis' tenth defense of the world's heavyweight championship. The "experts" have given the fiddle-playing flailer from Des Moines a thorough "once-over" two or three times. And, even knowing full well that stranger things have happened in the pleasant pastime of scrambling ears, they're convinced there is no immediate danger the bomber will blow this one.

He may have trouble from the style of the serious-minded socker with the sparse hair, and he may be hurt by the short right hand Johnny drops into your whiskers. But, like little Louie when he hops into the rumble seat behind sis and her beau, Johnny looks like he's just along for the ride this time.

On a count of noses, the majority votes for a short and sweet—to everybody but Johnny—ending to the thing. Since this corner is never one to go against the will of the majority, yours truly figures the whole affair will be over and Joe will be hopping a cab for Harlem and some fried chicken inside of five rounds.

This prediction is made with a vivid recollection of the wreckage the limb made when it let go under the weight of a large number of the experts who didn't think Arturo Godoy, the rhumba riot from Chile, would survive long enough to say "bueanas noches" to Louis February 9.

The bomber and his fistic family—especially the latter—have learned their lessons well in some of Joe's most recent bouts, such as those with Godoy, Bob Pastor and Tony Galento. As a result, they're not kidding around for any opponent. So they have Joe as busy as a starving man over a steak in his training for this affair. At his acmp at Greenwood Lake, N. Y., "Mr. Deadpan" has even been boxing five days weekly, one more than his usual stint.

As usual, the lure of Louis is expected to make Friday's fuss a financial as well as an artistic success. Promoter Mike Jacobs, who has been drawing a considerable number of blanks here lately, won't feel at all

THIRTY PLAYERS TO REPORT FOR TRAINING WORK

First Exhibition Game Slated Saturday With Alexandria Reds

Baseball takes the spotlight in sporting circles of this area tomorrow as the Monroe White Sox, Cotton States league leaders last summer, go into spring training at Casino park here.

Manager Doug "Poco" Taitt has summoned thirty hopefuls for the spring drills and several more are expected to join the club for tryouts.

With exhibition games slated for next Saturday and Sunday with the Alexandria Reds of the Evangeline league, the Sox will have to work hard this week to get in shape for the engagements. Manager Taitt will prescribe workouts of from four to five hours each day, beginning at 11 a. m. and tapering off at 4 p. m.

Tom Perry and Kelton Maxfield, lefthanders, who are slated to pitch against Alexandria, already have been at work here for the past week, and from all indications, both will be in good condition for the Reds.

Other early arrivals are Outfielder Dale Englehorn, Catcher Theo Williford, and Pitchers George Taitt and Wright Sherrard. All other pospects will begin checking in today and tomorrow morning with the probable exception of Catcher Bobby Schang.

Schang, who in addition to his duties as first string catcher is slated for a berth as assistant manager, will be delayed because of a death in his family, according to an announcement by club officials. He may not arrive here from Sacramento, Calif., until about the middle of the week.

In addition to those already here, others due to report tomorrow morning at Casino park are Pitchers Floyd Speer, "Lefty" Hinton, Jack Cohan, Louis Boyne, Leon Langston, and Hubert Young; Catchers Carl Pettigrew, James Brownlee, and Melvin Russell; Outfielders Bob Hill, Robert Burt, James Marino and Ed Knight; and Infielders Larry Fisher, Frank Hackney, Verner Riha, Howard Taylor, John LaBue, Quinton Fortenberry, Herman Goodnight, Kirby Jones, and Joe Eagar.

Manager Taitt said last night that Eagar had been obtained from Shreveport as one of three players due Monroe in completion of the deal that sent Murrell Jones to the Sports. Eagar will have the inside track on the way to the short stop berth, and is expected to more than hold his own against the other aspirants for the spot.

The Sox are also trying to obtain Rookie First Baseman Scocco from Shreveport but a contract difficulty is involved. Manager Taitt said the rookie had been given a contract "too big for a Class C club to handle," but that club officials were trying to workout a deal with Shreveport

NINE TIGERS SHOOT FOR STATE RING TITLES

Neville Entered In All But 145-Pound Class At Baton Rouge

Fifty-eight north Louisiana high school boxers are qualified to participate in the tenth annual state boxing tournament at Baton Rouge this week-end. Boxers from all over the state will converge on the capital Thursday to begin the title fights which will last through Saturday.

The Neville High school Tigers of Monroe, undefeated in their last 20 dual meets, district champions and state champions of 1934, will lead the north Louisiana delegation with an eligible list of nine scrappers, representing all official weight classes except the 145.

The Mansfield Wolverines, winner of the Bayou Macon tournament at Tallulah last week, and the Bossier City Bearcats, who participated in the tournament here, each have seven eligible entries.

Other schools with mittmen qualified to participate in the state fights are Farmerville, Forest and Tallulah, six each; Lake Providence, five; Clarks, four; Oak Grove, three; Delhi, two; and Wisner, Grayson, and Monticello, one each.

In order to qualify for the state championship battles a boxer must have placed first, second or third in a district championship meet.

One state champion will be returning but he barely qualified this year. He is Tom LaHood, Mansfield, who won the light-heavyweight crown last spring, a weight class that does not count points toward a team championship. Fighting at 165 pounds in the Bayou Macon meet, LaHood was beaten in the semifinals by Fred Carver, Tallulah, and won third place on a forfeit from Buddy Pilgrim of Monticello.

The only other boxer in north Louisiana this season who won a state title last year is Billy "Cubo" Culbertson, Bossier City, who won't be able to go this year. Culbertson, defending 145-pound champ, fell by the wayside in a preliminary bout with Talmadge Stout, Neville, here last week.

The other north Louisiana scrappers who won state points last spring will be back in action. They are Buck Brantley, Neville 126-pounder, who was third in the 118-pound class last year and Bob Murray, Bossier City 105-pounder, who placed third as a 90-pounder in 1939.

While many of the qualified leather-pushers from this section of the state are expected to seek further laurels at Baton Rouge there will be several who will remain at home.

Coach Percy Brown, Neville, plans to take his band of Bengal battlers in quest of the state title for the ninth time. Neville boxers have participated in every state meet since 1932.

North Louisiana's eligible boxers are:

126 pounds: Buck Brantley, Neville, northwest champion; Ed Brumley, Mansfield, northeast champion; and Pete Traylor, Farmerville; Bill Walker, Bossier City; Roe Cagnolatti, Tallulah; and Ralph Ross, Forest.

BREAKS CHICAGO MEET RECORD AS DEFEATS VENZKE

Cunningham Trails In Third Position; San Romani Drops Out

CHICAGO, March 23.—(AP)—Charles Fenske, University of Wisconsin graduate student, won his eighth straight mile victory of the indoor season tonight in the Chicago relays, breaking the meet record with a time of 4 minutes 7.9 seconds.

Gene Venzke of the New York Athletic club was second, 12 yards behind the winner, and Glenn Cunningham of Kansas was third. Archie San Romani, Emporia, Kas., the only other starter, dropped out at the three-quarters mark.

Fenske's record clipped two seconds off the record set by Cunningham two years ago. The performance was a half-second above Fenske's best mile of the season, 4.07.4, run in New York several weeks ago.

Fenske's brilliant triumph brought a great ovation from the 10,000 spectators jammed in the amphitheater but could not compare with the thunderous cheers accorded little Greg Rice of Notre Dame when he came on with a great stretch drive to win the two mile.

Rice ran the distance in 9.05, the second of four meet records established in the relays. The old two-mile mark was 9:05, set by Don Lash of Indiana in 1939. Tonight Walter Mehl of Wisconsin was second and Lash third.

Another meet record was written in the high jump when Mel Walker of New York, ex-Ohio State star, leaped six feet, 5 3-8 inches. Bob Diegenthaler of Illinois held the old record of six feet, five inches, established in 1939. Behind Walker were Dave Albritton, another ex-Buckeye star, Art Byrnes of Manhattan college, New York, and Jim Smith, Northwestern. They tied for second at six feet, two inches.

OUACHITA VALLEY LEAGUE SCHEDULE TO OPEN APRIL 21

The Ouachita Valley baseball league will open its 1940 schedule on April 21 with six clubs operating in the circuit this year, according to an announcement by Larry J. Fox, Ruston, league president.

The entry of Springhill and Magnolia, Ark., boosted the membership to six and has the league boasting three member clubs from each of the states of Louisiana and Arkansas. Old clubs still in the loop are Ruston and Hodge in Louisiana, and Camden and Crossett in Arkansas.

President Fox stated the league had a successful year with four clubs in 1939 but that the addition of Springhill and Magnolia was expected to create wider interest and stimulate competition even more this year.

George Harper, former Cotton States league performer who also saw service in the majors, will manage the Magnolia club, it was announced.

There is still a possibility that the Brown Paper Mill club of West Monroe will come into the league, and the circuit, with that possibility in mind, is preparing two schedules, one for a seven-team league.

IN TWIN VICTORIES

BATON ROUGE, La., March 23.—(AP)—Louisiana State scored two sports victories over Vanderbilt today, in tennis and golf, winning the net meet 6-0 and the links event 16-2. Billy Umstaedter, Tiger sophomore ace from New Jersey, whipped Joe Davis, Vandy's Southeastern conference singles champion, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3. The conference title-holding golf team breezed over Vandy's squad.

PHILLIPS 66 WINS NATIONAL CROWN

DENVER, March 23.—(AP)—Mighty Phillips 66 of Oklahoma won its first national A. A. U. basketball title after years of trying by beating its arch foe, the defending Champion Denver Nuggets 39 to 36, before 7,000 fans in city auditorium tonight.

The game followed closely the pattern of many of the bitterly waged battles in the past between these two outfits of seasoned tournament veterans.

It was an even more stirring struggle that the championship game of last year's tournament when the Nuggets nipped the Bartlesville five 25 to 23.

Phillips' skilful sure offense reached its highest peak in the first part of the second half when they piled up a 38 to 23 lead, enough to repulse a late-game charge of the Nuggets.

LIONS RETURN TO BASEBALL WARS

Coach Hartman Must Build Ouachita Nine Around Only One Veteran

Absent from high school baseball wars last season, the Ouachita Parish High school Lions will return to action this spring with hopes of building another championship team such as Coach Leo Hartman has turned out in the past several years.

Coach Hartman starts the task of rebuilding the Ouachita diamond force with a squad of 52 raw recruits and one veteran. The only holdover from his last team of 1938 is Dean Fields, righthanded pitcher.

The Lions went into training a week ago, working on two diamonds at Northeast Center of L. S. U. The squad is shaping up as well as can be expected at this time, but the boys show lots of promise and can be depended on to give Ouachita good representation.

The infield looks particularly good with Bobby Kilpatrick at first base, John Bass at second, Junior Mears at short, Buck Youngblood on third, and Eugene Leath doing the catching. However, there are several other contenders for these spots who are crowding the leaders in the race for places on the team.

The outfield jobs are wide open, Coach Hartman said, but Malcolm Stone, Hood, George Fifer, Mangham, Simpson, and several others are looking particularly good although they still need improvement in hitting.

The pitchers looking best at the present are Fields, J. C. Simpson, and Dalton Veach, all righthanders, and a lone southpaw, Chester Couch. Three or four other candidates for places on the pitching staff stand good chances to break in.

While no complete schedule has been mapped out as yet, Coach Hartman said last night the Lions would open their season next Saturday against the Jonesboro-Hodge Tigers. He also stated an effort was being made to organize a high school baseball league and that it was possible Ouachita would join. Coach "Sonny" Maroney of Jonesboro, one of the sparkplugs of the organization movement, has called a meeting of high school baseball coaches for next Tuesday to discuss plans for such a league.

Ouachita's last baseball team won the north Louisiana championship, which it had won several years in succession, but Coach Hartman doesn't expect to have a title team this year. He does believe his charges will be plenty tough on competition this spring, and predicts they will be in the championship race in a big way next year. Practically every member of the present squad has at least one more year in school.

Each year 1,700,000 cases of orange juice are consumed in the United States.

TILT CALLED IN ELEVENTH FRAME

Tech And Iowa Nines End Three-Game Series In 2-2 Deadlock

RUSTON, La., March 23.—(Special)—With the score tied 2-2 at the end of the eleventh inning the finale of a three-game series between the University of Iowa and Louisiana Tech was called here this afternoon, after which the Hawkeye diamondmen left on their homeward journey, expecting to spend the night in Little Rock. The Iowans defeated the Bulldogs, 10-7, Thursday and 7-4, Friday.

In all three of the contests the entirely rebuilt Tech nine surpassed the Hawkeyes on hits, the record being 8 to 6 Saturday, 10 to 8 Friday and 19 to 13 Thursday.

The Bulldogs this afternoon scored their two runs in the fourth stanza. Horne, getting the first triple of the series, was driven home by Hendricks, and the latter scored on the third baseman's error.

Iowa was held scoreless until the seventh, when Prasse, who walked, came in on the catcher's miscue. In the eighth, Radics, who singled, was batted in by Wymore's double.

TRI-PARISH RING MEET WILL BE HELD FRIDAY

SICILY ISLAND, La., March 23.—(Special)—The Tri-Parish boxing tournament, for teams of Concordia, Catahoula and Franklin parishes, will be held here next Friday night, beginning at 8 o'clock in the Sicily Island High school gymnasium.

Sixteen weight classes, ranging from 65 to 175 pounds, will be recognized. Medals will be awarded all individual winners, and trophies will go to teams getting most points as a team and in the light and heavyweight divisions.

Wisner, Ferriday and Sicily Island are the teams entered, it was announced by Principal C. B. Coney. Wisner and Ferriday each have 16 entries, while Sicily Island has 12 entries.

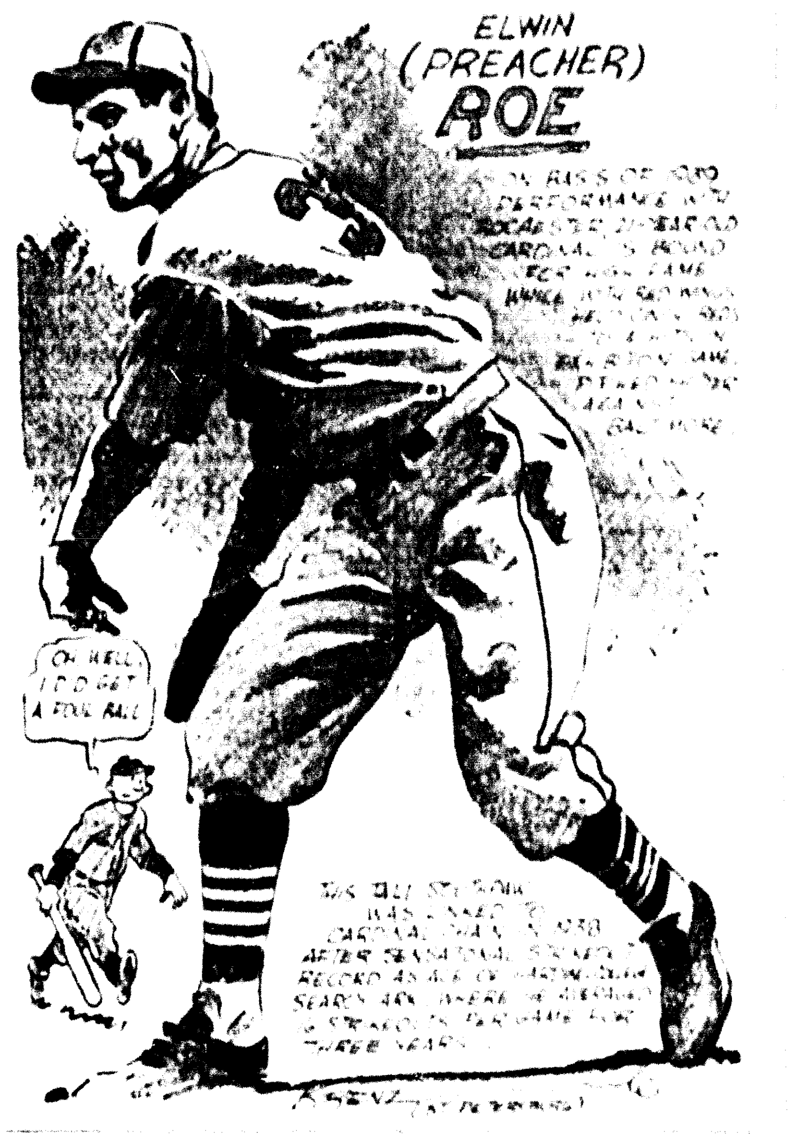

Exhibition Games

REDS DOWN CUBANS

HAVANA, March 23.—(AP)—With Bucky Walters and Whitey Moore pitching effectively Cincinnati's Reds downed the Cuban All-Stars 6-1 today to even up their exhibition series at a game apiece.

Manager Bill McKechnie juggled his lineup, putting Billy Myers in the leadoff position and Mike McCormick in seventh.

Walters and Garcia fought on even terms for four innings, but the Reds broke away in the fifth, aided by Bucky's own double for their first two runs. The Cubans managed to squeeze across a run in the ninth on three singles off Moore, who pitched the last three innings.

BROWNS BEAT OILERS

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 23.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns probably wished the Texas league was the American league as they defeated the Tulsa Oilers again today, 10 to 2.

The Browns scored seven runs in a big second inning, initiated by Johnny Berardino's homer with a man on base, but most of the scoring resulted from two walks and three Tulsa errors.

George Susce, obtained from Pittsburgh to replace Holdout Joe Glenn, caught part of the game for the Browns.

ROCHESTER WHIPS PHILS

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 23.—(AP)—Baffled by the slants of Hershel Lyons, Bill McLaughlin and Henry Gornicki the Phillies were defeated by Rochester of the International league 4 to 1 here today.

The Phils' lone tally came in the ninth on Ed Levy's triple and Merrill May's single.

Rochester scored twice in the first off Silas Johnson when Harry Davis doubled with two on.

BREWERS LICK NATS

OCALA, Fla., March 23.—(AP)—Pitcher Buck Newsom of the Milwaukee Brewers doubled his catcher home in the seventh inning today to defeat the Washington Senators 2 to 1, in an exhibition baseball game.

The American association team jumped on Joe Krakauskas for both their runs after Dutch Leonard, star of the Washington pitching staff, had pitched two-hit scoreless ball for the first five innings. Washington scored in the third when Jimmy Pofahl arrived on a two-base error and came home on Leonard's single.

TRIBE EDGES GIANTS

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 23.—(AP)—A second successive five-hit job by pitchers of the New York Giants was just as meaningless today as yesterday for the Cleveland Indians scored a 2 to 1 victory.

Cliff Melton was the "goat" of the Tribe's two-run uprising in the seventh. He let the Indians fill the bases with one out. Then when Johnny McCarthy tried for a double play and got half of it, Melton intervened on the return throw, deflecting the ball into the stands as two runs scored.

DODGERS BLAST TIGERS

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 23.—(AP)—Breaking the spell that American leaguers had held over them in exhibition games, the Brooklyn Dodgers walloped the Detroit Tigers 12 to 4 today with a 16-hit assault on three rookie pitchers.

The Dodger sluggers were paced by Jimmy Ripple's homer with two on in the seventh.

Hank Greenberg also connected for a three-run circuit blow for Detroit in the sixth.

YANKS DROP CARDS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 23.—(AP)—Lee Grissom started to payoff on the investment of the New York Yankees today as the champions beat the St. Louis Cardinals 6 to 5.

The eccentric southpaw, obtained from Cincinnati, worked five scoreless innings, giving two hits, two passes and fanning four.

The Yanks had to come from behind to win after the Cards scored four runs in the seventh off rookie Charley Stanceu.

GREENIES LOSE

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—(AP)—The University of Minnesota nine, scoring in all but three innings, defeated the Tulane baseball team today 7-0, in the first of a two-game series which opened the season for both clubs. Walter Blasey, veteran righthander, went the route for Tulane, giving up a dozen hits. He fanned only three Gophers. Stan Sowa, Minnesota southpaw, allowed Tulane seven hits, striking out eight Greenies. The second game will be played Monday.

NINE TIGERS SHOOT FOR STATE RING TITLES

Neville Entered In All But 145-Pound Class At Baton Rouge

Fifty-eight north Louisiana high school boxers are qualified to participate in the tenth annual state boxing tournament at Baton Rouge this weekend. Boxers from all over the state will converge on the capital Thursday to begin the title fights which will last through Saturday.

The Neville High school Tigers of Monroe, undefeated in their last 20 dual meets, district champions and state champions of 1934, will lead the north Louisiana delegation with an eligible list of nine scrappers, representing all official weight classes except the 145.

The Mansfield Wolverines, winner of the Bayou Macon tournament at Tallulah last week, and the Bossier City Bearcats, who participated in the tournament here, each have seven eligible entries.

Other schools with mittmen qualified to participate in the state fights are Farmerville, Forest and Tallulah, six each; Lake Providence, five; Clarks, four; Oak Grove, three; Delhi, two; and Wisner, Grayson, and Monticello, one each.

In order to qualify for the state championship battles a boxer must have placed first, second or third in a district championship meet.

One state champion will be returning but he barely qualified this year. He is Tom LaHood, Mansfield, who won the light-heavyweight crown last spring, a weight class that does not count points toward a team championship. Fighting at 165 pounds in the Bayou Macon meet, LaHood was beaten in the semifinals by Fred Carver, Tallulah, and won third place on a forfeit from Buddy Pilgrim of Monticello.

The only other boxer in north Louisiana this season who won a state title last year is Billy "Cubo" Culbertson, Bossier City, who won't be able to go this year. Culbertson, defending 145-pound champ, fell by the wayside in a preliminary bout with Talmadge Stout, Neville, here last week.

The other north Louisiana scrappers who won state points last spring will be back in action. They are Buck Brantley, Neville 126-pounder, who was third in the 118-pound class last year and Bob Murray, Bossier City 105-pounder, who placed third as a 90-pounder in 1939.

While many of the qualified leather-pushers from this section of the state are expected to seek further laurels at Baton Rouge there will be several who will remain at home.

Coach Percy Brown, Neville, plans to take his band of Bengal battlers in quest of the state title for the ninth time. Neville boxers have participated in every state meet since 1932.

North Louisiana's eligible boxers are:

Fenske Takes Eighth Straight Victory In Mile Run

BREAKS CHICAGO MEET RECORD AS DEFEATS VENZKE

Cunningham Trails In Third Position; San Romani Drops Out

CHICAGO, March 23.—(AP)—Charles Fenske, University of Wisconsin graduate student, won his eighth straight mile victory of the indoor season tonight in the Chicago relays, breaking the meet record with a time of 4 minutes 7.9 seconds.

Gene Venzke of the New York Athletic club was second, 12 yards behind the winner, and Glenn Cunningham of Kansas was third. Archie San Romani, Emporia, Kas., the only other starter, dropped out at the three-quarters mark.

Fenske's record clipped two seconds off the record set by Cunningham two years ago. The performance was a half-second above Fenske's best mile of the season, 4:07.4, run in New York several weeks ago.

Fenske's brilliant triumph brought a great ovation from the 10,000 spectators jammed in the amphitheater but could not compare with the thunderous cheers accorded little Greg Rice of Notre Dame when he came on with a great stretch drive to win the two mile.

Rice ran the distance in 9:05, the second of four meet records established in the relays. The old two-mile mark was 9:05, set by Don Lash of Indiana in 1939. Tonight Walter Mehl of Wisconsin was second and Lash third.

Another meet record was written in the high jump when Mel Walker of New York, ex-Ohio State star, leaped six feet, 5 3-8 inches. Bob Diegenthaler of Illinois held the old record of six feet, five inches, established in 1939. Behind Walker were Dave Albritton, another ex-Buckeye star, Art Byrnes of Manhattan college, New York, and Jim Smith, Northwestern. They tied for second at six feet, two inches.

OUACHITA VALLEY LEAGUE SCHEDULE TO OPEN APRIL 21

The Ouachita Valley baseball league will open its 1940 schedule on April 21 with six clubs operating in the circuit this year, according to an announcement by Larry J. Fox, Ruston, league president.

The entry of Springhill and Magnolia, Ark., boosted the membership to six and has the league boasting three member clubs from each of the states of Louisiana and Arkansas. Old clubs still in the loop are Ruston and Hodge in Louisiana, and Camden and Crossett in Arkansas.

President Fox stated the league had a successful year with four clubs in 1939 but that the addition of Springhill and Magnolia was expected to create wider interest and stimulate competition even more this year.

George Harper, former Cotton States league performer who also saw service in the majors, will manage the Magnolia club, it was announced.

There is still a possibility that the Brown Paper Mill club of West Monroe will come into the league, and the circuit, with that possibility in mind, is preparing two schedules, one for a seven-team league.

IN TWIN VICTORIES

BATON ROUGE, La., March 23.—(AP)—Louisiana State scored two sports victories over Vanderbilt today, in tennis and golf, winning the net meet 6-0 and the links event 16-2. Billy Umstaedter, Tiger sophomore ace from New Jersey, whipped Joe Davis, Vandy's Southeastern conference singles champion, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3. The conference title-holding golf team breezed over Vandy's squad.

PHILLIPS 66 WINS NATIONAL CROWN

DENVER, March 23.—(AP)—Mighty Phillips 66 of Oklahoma won its first national A. A. U. basketball title after years of trying by beating its arch foe, the defending Champion Denver Nuggets 39 to 36, before 7,000 fans in city auditorium tonight.

The game followed closely the pattern of many of the bitterly waged battles in the past between these two outfits of seasoned tournament veterans.

It was an even more stirring struggle that the championship game of last year's tournament when the Nuggets nipped the Bartlesville five 25 to 23.

Phillips' skillful sure offense reached its highest peak in the first part of the second half when they piled up a 38 to 23 lead, enough to repulse a late-game charge of the Nuggets.

LIONS RETURN TO BASEBALL WARS

Coach Hartman Must Build Ouachita Nine Around Only One Veteran

Absent from high school baseball wars last season, the Ouachita Parish High school Lions will return to action this spring with hopes of building another championship team such as Coach Leo Hartman has turned out in the past several years.

Coach Hartman starts the task of rebuilding the Ouachita diamond force with a squad of 32 raw recruits and one veteran. The only holdover from his last team of 1938 is Dean Fields, righthanded pitcher.

The Lions went into training a week ago, working on two diamonds at Northeast Center of L. S. U. The squad is shaping up as well as can be expected at this time, but the boys show lots of promise and can be depended on to give Ouachita good representation.

The infield looks particularly good with Bobby Kilpatrick at first base, John Bass at second, Junior Mears at short, Buck Youngblood on third, and Eugene Leath doing the catching. However, there are several other contenders for these spots who are crowding the leaders in the race for places on the team.

The outfield jobs are wide open, Coach Hartman said, but Malcolm Stone, Hood, George Fifer, Mangham, Simpson, and several others are looking particularly good although they still need improvement in hitting.

The pitchers looking best at the present are Fields, J. C. Simpson, and Dalton Veach, all righthanders, and a lone southpaw, Chester Couch. Three or four other candidates for places on the pitching staff stand good chances to break in.

While no complete schedule has been mapped out as yet, Coach Hartman said last night the Lions would open their season next Saturday against the Jonesboro-Hodge Tigers. He also stated an effort was being made to organize a high school baseball league and that it was possible Ouachita would join. Coach "Sonny" Maroney of Jonesboro, one of the sparkplugs of the organization movement, has called a meeting of high school baseball coaches for next Tuesday to discuss plans for such a league.

Ouachita's last baseball team won the north Louisiana championship, which it had won several years in succession, but Coach Hartman doesn't expect to have a title team this year. He does believe his charges will be plenty tough on competition this spring, and predicts they will be in the championship race in a big way next year. Practically every member of the present squad has at least one more year in school.

Each year 1,700,000 cases of orange juice are consumed in the United States.

TILT CALLED IN ELEVENTH FRAME

Tech And Iowa Nines End Three-Game Series In 2-2 Deadlock

RUSTON, La., March 23.—(Special)—With the score tied 2-2 at the end of the eleventh inning, the finale of a three-game series between the University of Iowa and Louisiana Tech was called here this afternoon, after which the Hawkeye diamondmen left on their homeward journey, expecting to spend the night in Little Rock. The Iowans defeated the Bulldogs, 10-7, Thursday and 7-4, Friday.

In all three of the contests, the entirely rebuilt Tech nine surpassed the Hawkeyes on hits, the record being 8 to 6 Saturday, 10 to 8 Friday and 19 to 13 Thursday.

The Bulldogs this afternoon scored their two runs in the fourth stanza. Horne, getting the first triple of the series, was driven home by Hendricks, and the latter scored on the third baseman's error.

Iowa was held scoreless until the seventh, when Prasse, who walked, came in on the catcher's miscue. In the eighth, Radics, who singled, was batted in by Wymore's double.

REDS DOWN CUBANS

HAVANA, March 23.—(AP)—With Bucky Walters and Whitey Moore pitching effectively, Cincinnati's Reds downed the Cuban All-Stars 6-1 today to even up their exhibition series at a game apiece.

Manager Bill McKechnie juggled his lineup, putting Billy Myers in the leadoff position and Mike McCormick in seventh.

Walters and Garcia fought on even terms for four innings, but the Reds broke away in the fifth, aided by Bucky's own double, for their first two runs. The Cubans managed to squeeze across a run in the ninth on three singles off Moore, who pitched the last three innings.

BROWNS BEAT OILERS

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 23.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns probably wished the Texas league was the American league as they defeated the Tulsa Oilers again today, 10 to 2.

The Browns scored seven runs in a big second inning, initiated by Johnny Berardino's homer with a man on base, but most of the scoring resulted from two walks and three Tulsa errors.

George Susce, obtained from Pittsburgh to replace Holdout Joe Glenn, caught part of the game for the Browns.

ROCHESTER WHIPS PHILS

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 23.—(AP)—Baffled by the slants of Hershel Lyons, Bill McLaughlin and Henry Gornicki the Phillies were defeated by Rochester of the International league 4 to 1 here today.

The Phils' lone tally came in the ninth on Ed Levy's triple and Merrill May's single.

Rochester scored twice in the first off Silas Johnson when Harry Davis doubled with two on.

BREWERS LICK NATS

OCALA, Fla., March 23.—(AP)—Pitcher Buck Newsom of the Milwaukee Brewers doubled his catcher home in the seventh inning today to defeat the Washington Senators, 2 to 1, in an exhibition baseball game.

The American association team jumped on Joe Krakauskas for both their runs after Dutch Leonard, star of the Washington pitching staff, had pitched two-hit, scoreless ball for the first five innings. Washington scored in the third when Jimmy Pofahl survived on a two-base error and came home on Leonard's single.

TRIBE EDGES GIANTS

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 23.—(AP)—A second successive five-hit job by pitchers of the New York Giants was just as meaningless today as yesterday—for the Cleveland Indians scored a 2 to 1 victory.

Clif Melton was the "goat" of the Tribe's two-run uprising in the seventh. He let the Indians fill the bases with one out. Then when Johnny McCarthy tried for a double play, and got half of it, Melton intervened on the return throw, deflecting the ball into the stands as two runs scored.

DODGERS BLAST TIGERS

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 23.—(AP)—Breaking the spell that American leaguers had held over them in exhibition games, the Brooklyn Dodgers walloped the Detroit Tigers 12 to 4 today with a 16-hit assault on three rookie pitchers.

The Dodger sluggers were paced by Jimmy Ripple's homer with two on in the seventh.

Hank Greenberg also connected for a three-run circuit blow for Detroit in the sixth.

YANKS DROP CARDS

ST. PETTERSBURG, Fla., March 23.—(AP)—Lee Grissom started to payoff on the investment of the New York Yankees today as the champions beat the St. Louis Cardinals 6 to 5.

The eccentric southpaw obtained from Cincinnati, worked five scoreless innings, giving two hits, two passes and fanning four.

GREENIES LOSE

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—(AP)—The University of Minnesota nine, scoring in all but three innings, defeated the Tulane baseball team today, 7-6, in the first of a two-game series which opened the season for both clubs. Walter Bleasey, veteran righthander, went the route for Tulane, giving up a dozen hits. He fanned only three Gophers. Stan Sowa, Minnesota southpaw, allowed Tulane seven hits, striking out eight Greenies. The second game will be played Monday.

TEACHERS HAVE ANOTHER STAR

North Texas College Bobs Up With Track Ace To Replace Rideouts

DENTON, Tex., March 23.—(AP)—Dust fogged the finish line when the little boy with the lightning bolt stitched across his jersied chest snapped the string.

Thousands grabbed programs, thumbed through the entry list.

"Number 319—Williams. Williams? Who is this Williams?"

Out in the infield a barrel-chested man cracked a knowing grin. Coach Choc Sportsman just had unveiled another in a long line of North Texas State Teachers college track greats. Unknown Welby Williams, a 153-pound sophomore, had run his first college sprint.

Behind him trailed Freddie Wolcott of Rice institute, internationally famed hurdler and sprinter. Since that border Olympic triumph at Laredo two week-ends ago, Williams has run the 100-yard dash twice in 9.6 seconds.

Coach Sportsman, maker of champions at his Denton retreat 35 miles from Dallas, is the man who trained the Rideout twins and world record-holding relay teams.

In the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans in 1937, studious, bespectacled Wayne Rideout jogged away from the starting line in a two-mile field that included American Champion Don Lash of Indiana university.

He beat Lash in 9:03.5—the second fastest two miles ever run outdoors in the United States.

A few months later in the Penn relays, another set of twins, Elmer and Delmer Brown, Johnnie Stovel, football scat back, and Alvin Chrisman, had one of the greatest afternoons in modern history. They won four of five relay events.

At Madison Square Garden in February, 1938, those identical twins, the Rideouts, Wayne and Blaine, and the Browns, set a new world indoor record of 7:27.5 for the medley relay. Two months later the Rideouts, Chrisman and Henry Morgan burned out a 9:59.4 distance medley relay world mark which still stands. In June, 1938, Wayne Rideout dueled Kansas Glenn Cunningham at the Princeton meet; set a world mark in the three-quarter-mile run at three minutes, 3-10 of a second.

The Rideouts are running their last season for North Texas. But now comes Welby Williams to carry on for three years. When he's gone, Choc Sportsman will have someone else. He always does.

KEEPING THINGS EVEN

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. — (AP) — The wives of twin brothers, Clyde and Cecil Newell, entered a hospital at just about the same time. On the same day a son was born to one, a daughter to the other. They're doing swell.

THIRTY PLAYERS TO REPORT HERE

whereby Monroe would pay half the contract price and the Sports the other half, provided, of course, the arrangement is okayed by Judge William G. Bramham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues. Manager Taitt said he was counting on the third man due from Shreveport, no decision having been made as yet what the Sox want. But Taitt said a good righthanded hurler was needed.

May Moore, president of the Monroe club, was in Shreveport yesterday for the exhibition battle between Shreveport and Dallas and it is possible that he will return with additional help in the way of players.

The first seven exhibition games will be played in Alexandria next Saturday, and the other six will be played here with Alexandria next Sunday and Shreveport, Jackson, Miss., and Greenville's Buckshots. Manager Taitt said attempts were being made to schedule an exhibition battle here for Sunday, April 7.

The Cotton States season opens April 21 with games in Monroe, Hot Springs, Helena and Greenville. El Dorado's Lions will open with the White Sox here. Pine Bluff will be at Hot Springs, Clarksdale will be in Helena, and Greenwood will invade Greenville. The complete 1940 Cotton States schedule is elsewhere in the sports section of this paper.

The Monroe club will be a good one from all indications. The outfield is practically all set with Manager Taitt, Englehorn, Hill, Burt, Knight and Marino. The infield, with Eagar added, should shape up nicely, and numerous youngsters, coming here well recommended, will provide plenty of competition for those considered as choice prospects.

Manager Taitt's only request of Monroe fans is that they give the club wholehearted support.

"For my part, all I hope is that this will be the best Class C town in the United States, and that covers a lot of territory and a lot of good Class C towns," the pilot stated, and then added—"I also hope to develop two or three major leaguers in the future."

Considerable improvement will be noted at Casino park when the fans go out this week to watch the training grinds and attend next Sunday's game with Alexandria.

The infield has been improved, the grandstand completely renovated and painted, and the box seating arrangement has been greatly improved over the conditions in that section during the past seasons.

The club owners have undertaken a big expense in these park improvements, and one of the most expensive jobs is still under way—that of changing the lighting system. When complete, Monroe expects to have the best illuminated park in the circuit.

Funds obtained through the sale of box seats and fence advertising have been sunk in these improvements, and club officials said they were gratified with the response from merchants and fans in obtaining the special seats and ads on the fence. Some national advertisers bought up sections of the fence space. It was also announced that there were some spots left on the loudspeaking system for advertising. Advertising through the announcing system proved satisfactory last season, and is expected to be used more often this year.

The PAYOFF

By Jerry Brondfield
(NEA Service Sports Writer)

Spring grid gossip: Ernie Nevers, anxious to return to Stanford, is actively angling for an assistant's position under Clark Shaughnessy . . . and has a good chance of getting it. . . . Tulane invited high school stars from all over the country to spend Easter week in Baton Rouge, all expenses paid. . . . Four all-city selections from one Milwaukee school were included, and some day these raids will bring on the second Civil war. . . . Tommy O'Brien, greatest backfield prospect at Tennessee in years, is out of spring practice and may be out next fall because of appendicitis.

Earl Blaik of Dartmouth says maybe the Green Bay Packers or the Chicago Bears could beat Cornell next year but unfortunately they aren't on the Big Red schedule.

Horned Frogs Hail Prize Sophomore Back

Dutch Meyer is all smiles over Dean Bagley, the 150-pounder who is running everybody dizzy in Texas Christian spring drills. . . . He led the nation's schoolboys in scoring a couple years ago.

Indiana fans claim Sophomore Paul Davis, 190 pounds of dynamite, is a better fullback prospect than his all-America big brother Corky was a few seasons back. . . . They're labeling Mississippi "Dangerous—Handle With Care," and the Southeast conference knows it's no idle warning. . . . Harry Mehre, incidentally, says he has an all-America guard in George Kinard, kid brother of all-America Bruiser Kinard.

Reason for all that exuberant spirit at West Virginia is simply Bill Kern. . . . Jimmy Aiken, who just three or four years ago, was coaching the Canton, O., High school team, says his spring squad of 60 is the biggest and best he's yet had at Nevada.

U. C. L. A. Still Moaning Over Washington's Loss

Grievingest man in Los Angeles is Babe Horrell, who is trying to fashion a U. C. L. A. offense without Kenny Washington.

Homer Norton, who is absolutely wallowing in the best football material in the world at Texas A. and M., says Southern Methodist is the team to beat down his way next fall. . . . And Cowboy Jack Crain, the wild-running Texas halfback, has picked up 10 pounds without losing an ounce of speed.

Frank Thomas expects to have the fastest backfield in the south next fall, if spring drills at Alabama mean anything. . . . You can't beat University of Miami for convenience. . . . Every member of the football squad is employed at either a horse or dog-racing plant.

hurt if the thing lives up to his expectations of a gate of $80,000 or over. What with the recent woeful events, which saw the Billy Conn-Gus Lesnevich, Henry Armstrong-Lou Ambers and Buddy Baer-Valentin Campoio bouts cancelled for one reason or another, "Uncle Mike" is looking for the jackpot this time.

The Finnish relief fund, which is to get a percentage "off the top," benefits from this scrap instead of the Tony Galento-Max Baer brawl. Originally, "Uncle Mike" took steps to toss it over to Jersey City, relief or no relief. The state's sagacious solons of sock refused to give Joe Jacobs a manager's license, although Yussel is recognized as Tony's manager just about everywhere except Zululand—where they haven't heard of Yussel yet.

Sports Chatter

BY GEO. H. LOFTON

written (before Saturday's exhibition game with Dallas), Jones has made three hits in some eleven appearances at the plate in three games and has fielded acceptably.

Johnny Conway spent a couple of weeks with the Cincinnati Reds at Tampa and then was sent, with a half dozen other prospects, to the camp of the Birmingham Barons at Sumter, S. C., last Monday. The former White Sox shortstop should be in good shape. His progress with the Barons isn't known, as news out of Sumter has been scarce, but he broke into print several times while he was working out with the Reds, parent club of the Barons.

John Yelovic reported to Dallas, who claimed him after last season. The lanky righthander pitched part of one game we saw reported, and he may have seen other action. Anyway, he was not assigned to the Longview club when the Steers announced the list to be sent to their affiliate in the East Texas circuit and he may stick with Dallas.

Hank Taylor, traded to Fort Worth in the exchange that brought Bobby Schang here as the outright property of the Sox, is being groomed as a regular with the Cats. Those who saw him in action against Shreveport last week said he didn't look so good, but came back with the information that Catcher-Manager Linton, who doesn't expect to see a great deal of service behind the plate this year, likes the gabby Taylor. Hank shouldn't have too much trouble with Texas league pitching and if he can improve his technique back of the platter he has a good chance of sticking.

Frank Hargrove, here last year on option from Dallas, has been assigned to the Longview club. Pete Medak will play with Marshall, 'tis said. Al Bronkhurst, here a part of last season, is again trying for a berth as a regular member of the Shreveport hurling corps.

BENGALS MAKE IT TWO IN ROW OVER WILDCATS

BATON ROUGE, La., March 23.—(AP)—Louisiana State's Southeastern conference champion baseball team won its second straight victory today over Northwestern, 4 to 0, as Ray Radovich held the Wildcats to two hits.

Anastasio's homer with a teammate on base earned more than enough runs for L. S. U.'s conquest.

TIGERS FACE TWO GAMES THIS WEEK

The Neville High school Tigers, defending north Louisiana Class A baseball champions, will have two more games on their hands this week, one at home.

The Ruston Bearcats, who fell before the locals the past week in Ruston, will be here Wednesday afternoon for a game on the Neville diamond.

The Tigers will go to Clarks Tuesday to give the Clarks High school Lumberjacks a return game. Clarks was also beaten by the Bengals the past week.

The Neville combination, studded with stars of the winning 1933 aggregation, has played only two games thus far this season. The Tigers beat Ruston, 13 to 8, and trounced Clarks, 15 to 2.

MAYSVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—Driver Lloyd Watson and a companion jumped to safety as their truck skidded over an embankment. The truck rolled several hundred feet and knocked two houses from their foundations. They burst into flames. nounced their approval of the government. One other who had abstained announced his opposition.

These changes gave the government a majority of 11, or 273 for; 157 against and 105 still listed as abstaining and hence assumed hostile.

Daladier, who resigned as premier last Wednesday after failing to obtain an absolute majority on a chamber vote, remains a "strong man" in the government.

Hostility to Reynaud among many radical-Socialists was apparently based on the belief that Daladier, who belongs to that group, had received a "raw deal."

Many leading French publicists also contended that even those who brought about his resignation by abstaining were surprised and had wanted only to make a show of strength against him.

Press comment in general indicated a belief that Reynaud should be given a chance to show what his government can do before the chamber forces another vote of confidence.

There was a general feeling that if that happens next month and Reynaud should be defeated, Daladier would be called to take the helm again, perhaps with a more compact ministry.

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP)—Why don't some of the smart guys down south dig up the reason why Larry MacPhail suddenly shifted from the swank hotel where the dodgers are stopping to the Bellaire Bath club? . . . Was it to dodge Dolf Camilli or because somebody else is wearing smoked glasses? . . . Bill McGowan and Red Ormsby, the umpires, conducted a school at Palatka, Fla., and Jackson, Miss., this spring. . . . They had 60 pupils and 39 already have been signed for jobs in minor leagues. . . . Diet note: John Kimbrough, the Texas Aggie football star, weighed 227 stripped after a four-month football season. . . . The U. of Colorado cagers have been invited back east next year to meet St. John's U. (Brooklyn) in the Garden. . . . Jimmy Phelan of Washington U., has sent Dutch Meyer of Texas Christian a handsome silver pipe. . . . "The Life of Babe Ruth" will be the feature of the "Johnny Presents" hour on March 26. . . . Dick Harlow has put the old squelcher on the latest rumor by saying: "I won't be going back to Maryland this year, next year, the year after, or ever." . . . (Personally, we think Dick is pulling somebody's leg.) . . . Michigan State's fine new Jenison field house broke indoor athletic attendance records the first three months it was in use.

Today's guest star:

Charles Bartlett, Chicago Tribune: "And now about Mr. Maurice Tillett, the wrestler. . . . Mr. Webster of the dictionary Websters was caught off first with this one. . . . He has no word to describe him. . . . Mr. Boris Karloff, one of the most grotesque men of the cinema, is beautiful in comparison."

One of the reasons Johnny Paychek has been looking so lousy in his drills for Joe Louis may be that his sparring partners are the worst set of so-called fighters we have ever seen in a training camp. . . . Just when everyone thought George Selkirk had the left field berth with the Yankees cinched, along comes Joe McCarthy with the announcement that George will have to beat out Tommy Henrich, who is going great guns. . . . John H. Lancaster of the Baltimore Sun, has issued an attractive booklet on "Baltimore, a Pioneer in Organized Baseball." . . . Swell reading, too. . . . Steve Belloise (Mike's young brother) and Irish Eddie Dunne, two of the best of the welterweight contenders, go at White Plains Tuesday night under the auspices of Joe McKenna and Tex Sullivan.

Hero's award:

The National league should make some sort of award to Irv Kupcinet, a baseball writer on the Chicago Times, for keeping it together. . . . In Tampa the other night, Horace Stoneham, owner of the Giants, was all set to take a poke at Irv (who is as big as your new car) because Irving took down his hair and let one and all know what he thought of the Giants and Bill Terry. . . . Fortunately, for the National league, Kupcinet held his temper—or they might be looking for somebody to buy the Giants.

HUEY LONG BAR AGAIN ASSAILED

legislature of 1934. That act was amended by act 21 of the third extra session of 1934.

The executive committee of the Louisiana State Bar association announced that its resolution favoring repeal of both those acts would be submitted to the membership of the association at its convention April 26 and 27 in Shreveport.

The resolution said:

"Resolved that this executive committee go on record as approving the repeal of act No. 10 of the second extra session of 1934 of the Louisiana legislature, as amended by act No. 21 of the third extra session of 1934, known as the state bar act, for the following reasons:

"(a) The effect of said act has been to weaken, if not destroy, the constitutionally granted and inherent power in the supreme court to control admissions to the bar and to discipline the membership of the bar, and the repeal of said act would restore this power to the supreme court, where it rightfully belongs, free of any semblance of legislative interference or usurpation.

"(b) Louisiana's experience with act 10 of the second extra session of 1934, as amended by act 21 of the third extra session of 1934, has demonstrated that it lacks the support and approval of the profession as a whole, and that it is unworkable and inefficient in practice.

"(c) The members of the bar in this state have never had an opportunity to determine whether they are in favor or not in favor of an integrated or incorporated bar and should be granted this opportunity.

"(d) If the majority of the members of the profession favor the principle of an integrated or incorporated bar, such integration or incorporation should be effected by the supreme court, and should not be effected by legislative act, nor submitted to the control or supervision of the legislature. An association organized under the authorization of the supreme court could be made readily responsive to changing needs of the profession and the public by the ability of the court to effect necessary amendment at once through the exercise of its rule-making power.

"Be it further resolved, that the recommendation of this committee, as herein expressed, be submitted to the membership of this association, for approval at its annual convention to be held in Shreveport, La., April 26 and 27, 1940, and that this matter be made a special order of business at the convention.

"Be it further resolved, that copies of this resolution be transmitted to the membership of the association, to local bar associations of the state and to the press."

BEARDSLEY URGES BAR INTEGRATION

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—(AP)—Charles A. Beardsley, president of the American Bar association, in urging integration of the bar, said today lawyers of a state virtually form a department of the state government.

Beardsley, of Oakland, Calif., said, "in the public mind we are responsible for the administration of justice. The only way we can perform the service that is expected of us is to get the grant of power to do it.

"In the last 20 years in more than a score of states that power has been attained by bar integration—the self-governing bar."

Beardsley addressed a conference of state and local bar association executives from Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma and Texas with members of the house of delegates of the association from those states.

The fight of local bar associations against "loan sharks," cooperation between bar examiners and associations and the law schools, and cooperation between the American Law institute and the bar associations were discussed.

Al M. Heck, chairman of the San Antonio association's anti-usury committee, said it had prosecuted 3,000 cases against "loan sharks" for persons without funds.

Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson of the Fifth United States circuit court of appeals urged that lawyers consult the findings of the American Law institute before briefing a case, and that cases in each state be annotated by the bar association and law professors.

Woody Hockaday Gives Chickens Away On Street

turned to the strange figure, who grinned amiably.

"I'm old Santa Claus from Santa Fe," he bellowed. "On the Q. T., though, I'm old Woody Hockaday. Have a chicken, my friend."

He held out two birds, but spectators shied.

"Come on, my friends," he shouted. "Old Santa Claus' chickens won't bite you. Take one home for the kiddies. Any chickens today? The same old Santa Claus coming your way."

A policeman came over. Santa Claus tossed the chickens in the air. Then he opened a crate and freed some more. Then another crate. The chickens looked scared and dodged among the spectators.

Next Santa leaped from wagon to horse's back and turned west on 50th street, roaring his tiding of peace and chickens with the cop in pursuit.

At Sixth avenue he halted, and began giving away more chickens. Men and women held out their hands. Kids scrambled into the wagon and seized chickens. Feathers flew. And finally the puffing cop arrived. Santa Claus shoved a chicken into his face.

Another policeman ran over.

"I'm just giving away chickens," shouted Santa Claus.

So they took him to the West 47th street police station.

TWO PATIENTS

QUINCY, Calif.—(AP)—An 81-year-old patient was admitted to the free county hospital here on his declaration of destitution—then asked the doctor to put a wallet containing $710 in a safe place. He was transferred to a private hospital. The same day a 71-year-old prospector was found suffering from malnutrition in his cabin, too proud to ask charity. He was welcomed at the free institution.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubanks

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP)—Buyers again turned to air transport stocks and specialties in today's market and left most leaders to shift for themselves in narrow territory.

While sluggish intervals were frequent in the brief session, mild bursts of activity sent the day's volume to around 400,000 shares.

Outstanding news was lacking both at home and abroad and few traders inclined to reach for issues in any department.

At the same time, lightness of offerings was attributed to the growing belief in financial quarters that European war may soon take on fresh intensity and spur the Allied demand for goods in the United States.

Heavy passenger traffic for the air carriers brought forecasts of a substantial jump in profits of a number of these companies and was said to have been a prime factor in recent strength of shares in this group.

While attendance was sparse in boardrooms, many customers stretching the Good Friday recess over the week-end, sentiment appeared to be more bullish than otherwise among those who put in an appearance.

Reports the government would ease restrictions on late warplane types wanted by the British and French tended to steady aircraft manufacturing stocks. Steels lagged as another recession in production was thought likely next week.

Bonds and commodities were a trifle uneven. Foreign securities markets remained closed for Easter, reopening next Tuesday.

TESTS ARE HELD FOR WORKERS ON CENSUS

J. L. Heath, Jr., director of the federal census for the Fifth congressional district, has been conducting elimination tests for all persons who are applicants as canvassers when the house-to-house solicitation of data starts on April 2. The elimination tests have been held in Monroe, Ruston, Tallulah, Winnsboro and Ferriday so as to be easily accessible to persons from all parts of the parish.

Following these tests, this week will be devoted to the holding of a special training course for workers. The course in Monroe will be held in the old Peters furniture store building on South Grand street, but the time had not been determined, Mr. Heath said Saturday, aside from the fact that it will be held this week.

whereby Monroe would pay half the contract price and the Sports the other half, provided, of course, the arrangement is okayed by Judge William G. Bramham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues. Manager Taitt said he was "waiting on" the third man due from Shreveport, no decision having been made as to just who the Sox want, but Taitt said a good right-handed hurler was needed.

Max Moses, president of the Monroe club, was in Shreveport yesterday for the exhibition battle between Shreveport and Dallas, and it is possible that he will return with additional help in the way of players.

The first seven exhibition games will be played in Alexandria next Saturday, and the other six will be played here with Alexandria next Sunday and Shreveport, Jackson, Miss., and Greenville's Buckshots. Manager Taitt said attempts were being made to schedule an exhibition battle here for Sunday, April 7.

The Cotton States season opens April 21 with games in Monroe, Hot Springs, Helena and Greenville. El Dorado's Lions will open with the White Sox here. Pine Bluff will be at Hot Springs, Clarksdale will be in Helena, and Greenwood will invade Greenville. The complete 1940 Cotton States schedule is elsewhere in the sports section of this paper.

The Monroe club will be a good one from all indications. The outfield is practically all set with Manager Taitt, Englehorn, Hill, Burt, Knight and Marino. The infield, with Eagar added, should shape up nicely, and numerous youngsters, coming here well recommended, will provide plenty of competition for those considered as choice prospects.

Manager Taitt's only request of Monroe fans is that they give the club wholehearted support.

"For my part, all I hope is that this will be the best Class C town in the United States, and that covers a lot of territory and a lot of good Class C. towns," the pilot stated, and then added—"I also hope to develop two or three major leaguers in the future."

Considerable improvement will be noted at Casino park when the fans go out this week to watch the training grinds and attend next Sunday's game with Alexandria.

The infield has been improved, the grandstand completely renovated and painted, and the box seating arrangement has been greatly improved over the conditions in that section during the past seasons .

The club owners have undertaken a big expense in these park improvements, and one of the most expensive jobs is still under way—that of changing the lighting system. When complete, Monroe expects to have the best illuminated park in the circuit.

Funds obtained through the sale of box seats and fence advertising have been sunk in these improvements, and club officials said they were gratified with the response from merchants and fans in obtaining the special seats and ads on the fence. Some national advertisers bought up sections of the fence space. It was also announced that there were some spots left on the loudspeaking system for advertising. Advertising through the announcing system proved satisfactory last season, and is expected to be used more often this year.

The PAYOFF

Spring grid gossip: Ernie Nevers, anxious to return to Stanford, is actively angling for an assistant's position under Clark Shaughnessy . . . and has a good chance of getting it. . . . Tulane invited high school stars from all over the country to spend Easter week in Baton Rouge, all expenses paid. . . . Earl Blaik of Dartmouth says maybe the Green Bay Packers or the Chicago Bears could beat Cornell next year but unfortunately they aren't on the Big Red schedule.

Horned Frogs Hail
Prize Sophomore Back

Dutch Meyer is all smiles over Dean Bagley, the 150-pounder who is running everybody dizzy in Texas Christian spring drills. . . . He led the nation's schoolboys in scoring a couple years ago.

Indiana fans claim Sophomore Paul Davis, 190 pounds of dynamite, is a better fullback prospect than his all-America big brother Corky was a few seasons back. . . . They're labeling Mississippi "Dangerous—Handle With Care," and the Southeast conference knows it's no idle warning. . . . Harry Moore, incidentally, says he has an all-America guard in George Kinard, kid brother of all-America Bruiser Kinard.

Reason for all that exuberant spirit at West Virginia is simply Bill Kern. . . . Jimmy Aiken, who just three or four years ago, was coaching the Canton, O., High school team, says his spring squad of 60 is the biggest and best he's yet had at Nevada.

U. C. L. A. Still Moaning
Over Washington's Loss

Grievingest man in Los Angeles is Babe Horrell, who is trying to fashion a U. C. L. A. offense without Kenny Washington.

Homer Norton, who is absolutely wallowing in the best football material in the world at Texas A. and M., says Southern Methodist is the team to beat down his way next fall. . . . And Cowboy Jack Crain, the wild-running Texas halfback, has picked up 10 pounds without losing an ounce of speed.

Frank Thomas expects to have the fastest backfield in the south next fall, if spring drills at Alabama mean anything. . . . You can't beat University of Miami for convenience. . . . Every member of the football squad is employed at either a horse or dog-racing plant.

RUSTON CCC ENROLLEES WHO ARE ATTENDING TECH

hurt if the thing lives up to his expectations of a gate of $80,000 or over. What with the recent woeful events, which saw the Billy Conn-Gus Lesnevich, Henry Armstrong-Lou Ambers and Buddy Baer-Valentin Campoio bouts cancelled for one reason or another, "Uncle Mike" is looking for the jackpot this time.

The Finnish relief fund, which is to get a percentage "off the top," benefits from this scrap instead of the Tony Galento-Max Baer brawl. Originally, "Uncle Mike" took steps to toss it over to Jersey City, relief or no relief. The state's sagacious solons of sock refused to give Joe Jacobs a manager's license, although Yussel is recognized as Tony's manager just about everywhere except Zululand—where they haven't heard of Yussel yet.

written (before Saturday's exhibition game with Dallas), Jones has made three hits in some evelen appearances at the plate in three games and has fielded acceptably.

Johnny Conway spent a couple of weeks with the Cincinnati Reds at Tampa and then was sent, with a half dozen other prospects, to the camp of the Birmingham Barons at Sumter, S. C., last Monday. The former White Sox shortstop should be in good shape. His progress with the Barons isn't known, as news out of Sumter has been scarce, but he broke into print several times while he was working out with the Reds, parent club of the Barons.

John Yelovic reported to Dallas, who claimed him after last season. The lanky righthander pitched part of one game we saw reported, and he may have seen other action. Anyway, he was not assigned to the Longview club when the Steers announced the list to be sent to their affiliate in the East Texas circuit and he may stick with Dallas.

Hank Taylor, traded to Fort Worth in the exchange that brought Bobby Schang here as the outright property of the Sox, is being groomed as a regular with the Cats. Those who saw him in action against Shreveport last week said he didn't look so good, but came back with the information that Catcher-Manager Linton, who doesn't expect to see a great deal of service behind the plate this year, likes the gabby Taylor. Hank shouldn't have too much trouble with Texas league pitching and if he can improve his technique back of the platter he has a good chance of sticking.

Frank Hargrove, here last year on option from Dallas, has been assigned to the Longview club. Pete Medak will play with Marshall, 'tis said. Al Bronkhurst, here a part of last season, is again trying for a berth as a regular member of the Shreveport hurling corps.

BENGALS MAKE IT TWO IN ROW OVER WILDCATS

BATON ROUGE, La., March 23.—(AP)—Louisiana State's Southeastern conference champion baseball team won its second straight victory today over Northwestern, 4 to 0, as Ray Radovich held the Wildcats to two hits.

Anastasio's homer with a teammate on base earned more than enough runs for L. S. U.'s conquest.

Score by innings:

Northwestern	000	000	000—0	2	2
L. S. U.	000	002	02x—4	6	3

J. W. LILES, VET OF SPANISH WAR, DIES

J. W. Liles, 73, of 503 Stone avenue, died at his home at 9:30 o'clock last night following a heart attack.

Mr. Liles was a Spanish-American war veteran and a member of the First Baptist church of Monroe.

He is survived by his wife; three daughters, Mrs. L. M. Hand of Crew Lake, Mrs. Maude Slaughter of Monroe and Mrs. Byron Smith of Los Angeles, Calif.; four sons, H. A. Liles of Alexandria, and J. C. Liles, W. M. Liles and P. M. Liles of Monroe; one brother, Alfred Liles of Winnfield; two sisters, Mrs. Patrick Smith and Mrs. Lizzie Forest of Winnfield.

Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Davis-Lawhead Funeral chapel, with Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating.

Interment will be in Riverview Burial park.

TIGERS FACE TWO GAMES THIS WEEK

The Neville High school Tigers, defending north Louisiana Class A baseball champions, will have two more games on their hands this week, one at home.

The Ruston Bearcats, who fell before the locals the past week in Ruston, will be here Wednesday afternoon for a game on the Neville diamond.

The Tigers will go to Clarks Tuesday to give the Clarks High school Lumberjacks a return game. Clarks was also beaten by the Bengals the past week.

The Neville combination, studded with stars of the winning 1933 aggregation, has played only two games thus far this season. The Tigers beat Ruston, 13 to 8, and trounced Clarks, 15 to 2.

GRAYSON MITTMEN END SEASON WITH VICTORY

GRAYSON, La., March 23.—(Special)—The Grayson High school Warriors scored a 6 to 2 victory over the Pollock mittmen here last night in the locals' last dual boxing card of the season. O. A. McKeithen, Grayson 135-pounder, won the feature bout of the card when he decisioned Johnnie Kelly.

The results were as follows, with the visitors named first:

Fifty-four pounds, Milan lost to Buddy Neugent; 66 pounds, Clyde Slaughter was technically knocked out by David Neugent; 72 pounds, Carl Slaughter was technically knocked out by Olan Neugent; 75 pounds, Carol Barrett outpointed Curtis Love; 85 pounds, Gene Tiley was technically knocked out by George tSamper; 95 pounds, Knox lost to Charles Gordy; 100 pounds, Gerald Trammel won over Gerald Francis; and 135 pounds, Keily was decisioned by McKeithen.

FROM LITTLE ACORNS GROW

MAYSVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—Driver Lloyd Watson and a companion jumped to safety as their truck skidded over an embankment. The truck rolled several hundred feet and knocked two houses from their foundations. They burst into flames. Mrs. John Bennett, negro, living in one of the houses, was hurried to a hospital, where she gave birth to a boy. Eight other persons were rescued from the houses. Firemen summoned to the scene stretched hose several blocks before they found an unfrozen hydrant.

HAPPY MISTAKE

GARDEN CITY, Kans.—(AP)—Dale Jones was puzzled when someone apparently stole his car, drove it a short way, and then brought it back operating more smoothly than before. He learned an automobile mechanic had taken it by mistake and had made repairs upon it.

nounced their approval of the government. One other who had abstained announced his opposition.

These changes gave the government a majority of 11, or 273 for; 157 against and 105 still listed as abstaining and hence assumed hostile.

Daladier, who resigned as premier last Wednesday after failing to obtain an absolute majority on a chamber vote, remains a "strong man" in the government.

Hostility to Reynaud among many radical-Socialists was apparently based on the belief that Daladier, who belongs to that group, had received a "raw deal."

Many leading French publicists also contended that even those who brought about his resignation by abstaining were surprised and had wanted only to make a show of strength against him.

Press comment in general indicated a belief that Reynaud should be given a chance to show what his government can do before the chamber forces another vote of confidence.

There was a general feeling that if that happens next month and Reynaud should be defeated, Daladier would be called to take the helm again, perhaps with a more compact ministry.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP)—Why don't some of the smart guys down south dig up the reason why Larry MacPhail suddenly shifted from the swank hotel where the dodgers are stopping to the Bellaire Bath club? . . . Was it to dodge Dolf Camilli or because somebody else is wearing smoked glasses? . . . Bill McGowan and Red Ormsby, the umpires, conducted a school at Palatka, Fla., and Jackson, Miss., this spring. . . . They had 60 pupils and 39 already have been signed for jobs in minor leagues. . . . Diet note: John Kimbrough, the Texas Aggie football star, weighed 227 stripped after a four-month football season. . . . Now, after three months on the banquet circuit, he tips the old beam at 215. . . . You figure it out.

No wonder!

Pinky George, who built up Johnny Paychek and Lee Savold to where both are in the ante room to title shots, is known among fight men as a smart guy. . . . And no wonder, for Pinky used to be in the army intelligence service.

The U. of Colorado cagers have been invited back east next year to meet St. John's U. (Brooklyn) in the Garden. . . . Jimmy Phelan of Washington U., has sent Dutch Meyer of Texas Christian a handsome silver pipe. . . . "The Life of Babe Ruth" will be the feature of the "Johnny Presents" hour on March 26. . . . Dick Harlow has put the old squelcher on the latest rumor by saying: "I won't be going back to Maryland this year, next year, the year after, or ever." . . . (Personally, we think Dick is pulling somebody's leg.) . . . Michigan State's fine new Jenison field house broke indoor athletic attendance records the first three months it was in use.

Today's guest star:

Charles Bartlett, Chicago Tribune: "And now about Mr. Maurice Tillett, the wrestler. . . . Mr. Webster of the dictionary Websters was caught off first with this one. . . . He has no word to describe him. . . . Mr. Boris Karloff, one of the most grotesque men of the cinema, is beautiful in comparison."

One of the reasons Johnny Paychek has been looking so lousy in his drills for Joe Louis may be that his sparring partners are the worst set of so-called fighters we have ever seen in a training camp. . . . Just when everyone thought George Selkirk had the left field berth with the Yankees cinched, along comes Joe McCarthy with the announcement that George will have to beat out Tommy Henrich, who is going great guns. . . . John H. Lancaster of the Baltimore Sun, has issued an attractive booklet on "Baltimore, a Pioneer in Organized Baseball." . . . Swell reading, too. . . . Steve Belloise (Mike's young brother) and Irish Eddie Dunne, two of the best of the welterweight contenders, go at White Plains Tuesday night under the auspices of Joe McKenna and Tex Sullivan.

Hero's award:

The National league should make some sort of award to Irv Kupcinet, a baseball writer on the Chicago Times, for keeping it together. . . . In Tampa the other night, Horace Stoneham, owner of the Giants, was all set to take a poke at Irv (who is as big as your new car) because Irving took down his hair and let one and all know what he thought of the Giants and Bill Terry. . . . Fortunately, for the National league, Kupcinet held his temper—or they might be looking for somebody to buy the Giants.

legislature of 1934. That act was amended by act 21 of the third extra session of 1934.

The executive committee of the Louisiana State Bar association announced that its resolution favoring repeal of both those acts would be submitted to the membership of the association at its convention April 26 and 27 in Shreveport.

The resolution said:

"Resolved that this executive committee go on record as approving the repeal of act No. 10 of the second extra session of 1934 of the Louisiana legislature, as amended by act No. 21 of the third extra session of 1934, known as the state bar act, for the following reasons:

"(a) The effect of said act has been to weaken, if not destroy, the constitutionally granted and inherent power in the supreme court to control admissions to the bar and to discipline the membership of the bar, and the repeal of said act would restore this power to the supreme court, where it rightfully belongs, free of any semblance of legislative interference or usurpation.

"(b) Louisiana's experience with act 10 of the second extra session of 1934, as amended by act 21 of the third extra session of 1934, has demonstrated that it lacks the support and approval of the profession as a whole, and that it is unworkable and inefficient in practice.

"(c) The members of the bar in this state have never had an opportunity to determine whether they are in favor or not in favor of an integrated or incorporated bar and should be granted this opportunity.

"(d) If the majority of the members of the profession favor the principle of an integrated or incorporated bar, such integration or incorporation should be effected by the supreme court, and should not be effected by legislative act, nor submitted to the control or supervision of the legislature. An association organized under the authorization of the supreme court could be made readily responsive to changing needs of the profession and the public by the ability of the court to effect necessary amendment at once through the exercise of its rule-making power.

"Be it further resolved, that the recommendation of this committee, as herein expressed, be submitted to the membership of this association, for approval at its annual convention to be held in Shreveport, La., April 26 and 27, 1940, and that this matter be made a special order of business at the convention.

"Be it further resolved, that copies of this resolution be transmitted to the membership of the association, to local bar associations of the state and to the press."

BEARDSLEY URGES
BAR INTEGRATION

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—(AP)—Charles A. Beardsley, president of the American Bar association, in urging integration of the bar, said today lawyers of a state virtually form a department of the state government.

Beardsley, of Oakland, Calif., said, "in the public mind we are responsible for the administration of justice. The only way we can perform the service that is expected of us is to get the grant of power to do it.

"In the last 20 years in more than a score of states that power has been attained by bar integration—the self-governing bar."

Beardsley addressed a conference of state and local bar association executives from Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma and Texas with members of the house of delegates of the association from those states.

The fight of local bar associations against "loan sharks," cooperation between bar examiners and associations and the law schools, and cooperation between the American Law institute and the bar associations were discussed.

Al M. Heck, chairman of the San Antonio association's anti-usury committee, said it had prosecuted 3,000 cases against "loan sharks" for persons without funds.

Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson of the Fifth United States circuit court of appeals urged that lawyers consult the findings of the American Law institute before briefing a case, and that cases in each state be annotated by the bar association and law professors.

Woody Hockaday Gives Chickens Away On Street

turned to the strange figure, who grinned amiably.

"I'm old Santa Claus from Santa Fe," he bellowed. "On the Q. T., though, I'm old Woody Hockaday. Have a chicken, my friend."

He held out two birds, but spectators shied.

"Come on, my friends," he shouted. "Old Santa Claus' chickens won't bite you. Take one home for the kiddies. Any chickens today? The same old Santa Claus coming your way."

A policeman came over. Santa Claus tossed the chickens in the air. Then he opened a crate and freed some more. Then another crate. The chickens looked scared and dodged among the spectators.

Next Santa leaped from wagon to horse's back and turned west on 50th street, roaring his tiding of peace and chickens with the cop in pursuit.

At Sixth avenue he halted, and began giving away more chickens. Men and women held out their hands. Kids scrambled into the wagon and seized chickens. Feathers flew. And finally the puffing cop arrived. Santa Claus shoved a chicken into his face.

Another policeman ran over.

"I'm just giving away chickens," shouted Santa Claus.

So they took him to the West 47th street police station.

TWO PATIENTS

QUINCY, Calif.—(AP)—An 81-year-old patient was admitted to the free county hospital here on his declaration of destitution—then asked the doctor to put a wallet containing $710 in a safe place. He was transferred to a private hospital. The same day a 71-year-old prospector was found suffering from malnutrition in his cabin, too proud to ask charity. He was welcomed at the free institution.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubanks

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP)—Buyers again turned to air transport stocks and specialties in today's market and left most leaders to shift for themselves in narrow territory.

While sluggish intervals were frequent in the brief session, mild bursts of activity sent the day's volume to around 400,000 shares.

Outstanding news was lacking both at home and abroad and few traders inclined to reach for issues in any department.

At the same time, lightness of offerings was attributed to the growing belief in financial quarters that European war may soon take on fresh intensity and spur the Allied demand for goods in the United States.

Heavy passenger traffic for the air carriers brought forecasts of a substantial jump in profits of a number of these companies and was said to have been a prime factor in recent strength of shares in this group.

While attendance was sparse in boardrooms, many customers stretching the Good Friday recess over the week-end, sentiment appeared to be more bullish than otherwise among those who put in an appearance.

Reports the government would ease restrictions on late warplane types wanted by the British and French tended to steady aircraft manufacturing stocks. Steels lagged as another recession in production was thought likely next week.

Bonds and commodities were a trifle uneven. Foreign securities markets remained closed for Easter, reopening next Tuesday.

Oil And Gas News

NEW ORLEANS, March 34.—(AP)—Issuance of 34 drilling permits and the completion of 12 new oil wells with a total initial daily production of 4640 barrels of oil were announced in the weekly report of the Louisiana department of conservation.

Dates of the completions ranged from March 8 through March 17. Four of the completions, each of which produced more than 500 barrels through a quarter-inch choke in a 24-hour test, were at the Eola field, Avoyelles parish.

Nine of the drilling permits were for locations at the Golden Meadow field, Lafourche parish.

The completions, names of the producers, names of the wells and initial daily production of each follows:

Charenton field, St. Mary parish, Pan American production company, H. Ecuer A-7, 397.44 barrels on gas lift, and same producer, A. Veeder company, Inc., No. 20, 149.04 barrels on quarter-inch choke.

Cheneyville field, Rapides parish, S. W. Richardson, Weil company, Inc., No. 10, 260 barrels on 3-16ths-inch choke.

Eola field, Avoyelles parish, Amerada Petroleum corporation (three wells) Mrs. L. B. Dent A-1, 637.56 barrels on quarter-inch choke; Mrs. L. B. Dent No. 3, 535.32 barrels on quarter-inch choke, and Mrs. Felix S. Monchau et al No. 1, 678.96 barrels on quarter-inch choke, and S. W. Richardson, Haas Investment company No. 10, 621.84 barrels on quarter-inch choke.

Golden Meadow field, Lafourche parish, Berkshire Oil company, Zavier Malgom et al No. 2, 360 barrels on 16-64ths-inch choke, and Temple Hargrave, Gaspard-Rizan No. 3, 50 barrels on gas list.

North Crowley field, Acadia parish, Humble Oil and Refining company, P. J. Reiners No. 1, 421.92 barrels on 3-16ths-inch choke, and same producers, F. Williams No. 7, 421.92 barrels on 3-16ths-inch choke.

Woodlawn field, Jefferson Davis parish, Woodlawn Oil corporation, Joseph Hebert estate No. 1, 106.40 barrels on quarter-inch choke.

Permits issued for south Louisiana operations follows:

Jefferson parish—Shell Oil company, State No.1.

Cameron parish—Superior Oil company, Calcasieu lake-State No. 2; Shell Oil company, Sweet Lake Land and Oil company No. 1.

Beauregard parish—Republic production company, Columbia Land and Lumber company No. 17.

TESTS ARE HELD FOR WORKERS ON CENSUS

J. L. Heath, Jr., director of the federal census for the Fifth congressional district, has been conducting elimination tests for all persons who are applicants as canvassers when the house-to-house solicitation of data starts on April 2. The elimination tests have been held in Monroe, Ruston, Tallulah, Winnsboro and Ferriday so as to be easily accessible to persons from all parts of the parish.

Following these tests, this week will be devoted to the holding of a special training course for workers. The course in Monroe will be held in the old Peters furniture store building on South Grand street, but the time had not been determined, Mr. Heath said Saturday, aside from the fact that it will be held this week.

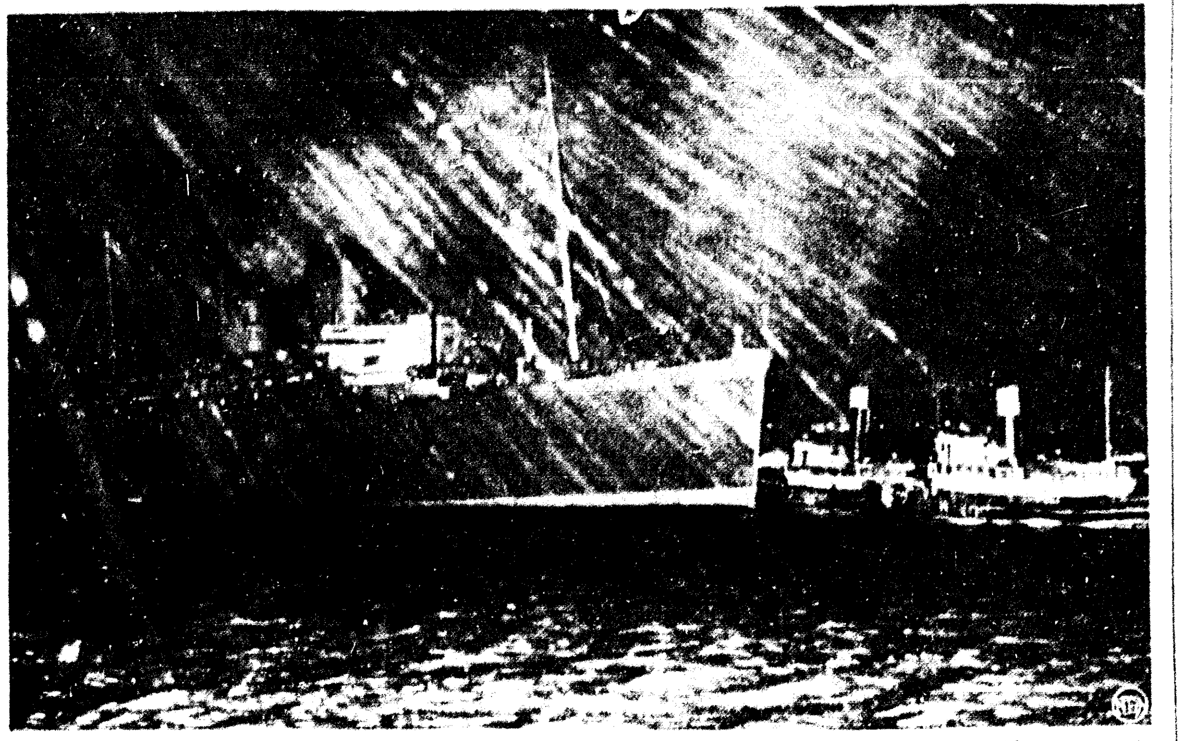
NATURE DRAMATIZES MAURETANIA'S EXIT



Blacked out, except for running lights, ghostly in her warship gray paint, the British liner Mauretania slips down the Hudson river from her New York berth to the perils of war-duty "under sealed orders." With pelting rain, thunder and flashes of lightning, nature provided a dramatic orchestration for the luxury ship's abandonment of safe haven.

National Nutrition Expert Completes Visit In Parish

It was a break for the United States department of agriculture — and a newspaper article was behind it all. A Brooklyn lass, who had just completed a teacher's course at Smith college in New York City and who was bored stiff with the prospect of teaching botany digested a feature article on nutrition which whetted her appetite for home economics, and she promptly switched careers.

Now Marion Birdseye is the national nutrition specialist, has a Washington office and staff and spends half her time touring the country to see what vitamins are doing to people. She spent last week in Louisiana, visiting Ouachita parish Thursday and Friday.

As head of the federal department of agriculture's nutrition division, Miss Birdseye supervises state nutrition work. Forty-six states now have 77 full-time nutrition specialists, and the other two, Nevada and Idaho, have part-time workers. Miss Birdseye and her staff assist state workers with their projects and problems, and pass the results on to other specialists. She keeps in touch with state workers and keep them in contact with each other. She plans and coordinates their work and is ready always to lend a helping hand or sage advice. It is her business to spent part of the time in the field and she likes that—for she especially likes the country.

From Mississippi the national director came to Louisiana last Sunday, and she left Louisiana yesterday to inspect Alabama. She visited several sections of the state with Miss Hazel Bratley, Louisiana's nutrition specialist. Arriving in Monroe late Thursday afternoon from a cross-country tour, the bright little director—she's scarcely over five feet tall—insisted she wasn't at all weary and crawled into another automobile with Mrs. Jewel L. McQuiller, home demonstration agent, to inspect one of her pet projects, a farm food and feed experiment.

Sponsored by Miss Bratley and the state extension division and aided by parish agents, five families in six parishes are experimenting with farm food and feed projects. Ouachita's families who are working to produce on the farm food for the family and feed for the livestock necessary for a home food supply are the Leon Whites at Bosco, E. L. Edelens at Swartz, B. O. Avants at Calhoun, G. F. Owens and D. E. Owens on Lunar Star route.

Off to Bosco went the national nutrition director. She inspected with interest Mrs. White's white house and well-kept grounds. She nodded her perfectly waved white head understandingy when slight, blonde Mrs. White proudly showed her new bathroom—made possible by her live-at-home program. Inspecting the 16-acre farm, the specialist made suggestions here and there. She was properly impressed on learning that on five acres the Whites made six bales of cotton, that they increased their corn yield from 125 bushels on seven acres in 1938 to 200 bushels on three acres in 1939 by planting cover crops and increasing fertility. She complimented Mrs. White on her poultry which cleared $157 from March to August last year and the turkeys which cleared $19. New wine spring bonnet and all, she looked at the waddling Duroc-Jersey pigs and was greatly interested in the one that wasn't there—the one who froze his tail during the cold spell, spoiled the looks of the handsome White livestock, and consequently was given away.

Her bright brown eyes twinkling behind polished spectacles, Miss Birdseye remarked that Mrs. White's laundry room curtains were most unusual. Half the double White garage is used as a storage room for numerous canned vegetables, fruits and meats, as a laundry room and and a play room for four-year-old Patsy. The national director suggested that the Whites do something immediately about their pecan trees that don't bear so well, admired the sunset, shooed the calf away from the poisoning sprinkled around a peach tree and poked around among the spring flowers. She hasn't forgotten she once was a botanist.

Nutrition work really has gone places since it first was begun on a national scale, Miss Birdseye declared—and it still has a long way to go. State specialists and state and national extension services are doing a magnificent job, and people are becoming more and more nutrition conscious, she said, but its importance still is not properly appreciated.

Questioned on the farm situation she stated indignantly that too many farmers still raise cash crops and buy what they need instead of living off the farm. It may work for the city man, she said, but it won't for the average son of the soil—especially since 1929 when the bottom fell out of agriculture.

Nutritionists have proved invaluable to farmers and others, Miss Birdseye stated—and she was one of the first. She was New York's first full-time extension nutrition specialist, working from Cornell after completing a two-year home economics course at Pratt institute. In 1917 she went into the nutrition department of the United States department of agriculture in Washington, went straight to the top and is still there.

In national and sectional emergencies nutrition specialists have been made to order for the job of coordinating governmental food relief measures. During floods, tornadoes and drouths nutritionists have planned diets, directed canneries and trained leaders to carry out the necessary work. Familiar with people and conditions in states, the specialists were called into service to assist the national relief administration with its food program. They showed clients how to spend their money in the most effective way, planned diets and prepared menus using foods frequently unfamiliar in some sections. They helped health units get under way—training nurses and workers in child health and nutrition. With various and sundry other agencies the nutritionists have cooperated and lent their services.

They're pretty essential, these nutrition specialists, according to Miss Birdseye, and she ought to know.

JONES 'THE MAN'

FRIENDS WANTED

INANE REQUESTS

By Norman Walker

BATON ROUGE, La., March 23.—(AP)—There's something behind that jolly feeling at Louisiana's capitol.

People known for years as long-faced and glum smile happily, shake your hand and exchange pleasantries.

The gay comraderie is engagingly disarming—but it's meant to be.

Upon the jobholders, cemented in their positions for years through the old Huey Long machine's longevity, has dawned the idea their status may not be so permanent after all.

With Governor-Designate Sam Jones' new administration soon to take over, the fence-building season is on in full swing.

Old-time state officeholders are busily making friends where once they had enemies, contacting "Jones people" and slyly competing in a free-for-all popularity contest.

In politics the victor always gains the spoils. Naturally the outgoing administration workers, owing their jobs to former Governor Richard W. Leche and his successor, Governor Earl K. Long, are stewing about wondering what Governor Jones will do after his inaugural May 14.

One answer is the pledge made by Jones he will cleanse state payrolls of those whose duties are principally imaginary.

Those familiar with the financial set-up say the $15,000,000 annual state payroll probably could be pared about $5,000,000.

All admit that's a rough estimate and probably a maximum of what results could be achieved from closely inspecting the state's uncharted "trough"—but it would mean that much money toward meeting the new administration's manifold pledges to the electorate.

While capitol workers smile brightly and rustle impressive documents on long-dusty desks, the temporary headquarters of Governor-Designate Jones over at Lake Charles has some troubles too.

As soon as Jones returns from his vacation in Arizona, he will move his office here and begin formulating his administrative program but, meanwhile, his Lake Charles staff hold the fort.

Campaign aides of both Jones and his ally, Senator James A. Noe, are impatient for the inaugural and send in stacks of queries on what job so-and-so may expect. Congratulatory messages still pour in.

But then there are other requests. For instance, some folks want help in meeting payments on their autos, want clemency for relatives being detained in the penitentiary.

One fellow asked for a new set of radio batteries. He explained his were burned out listening to political broadcasts during the recent campaign.

Then there was the lady who favored a new law for consideration at the forthcoming legislative session. Any married man seen out on the streets "with a woman not his wife without due cause or reason"—why that blackguard, she proposed, would pay a fine and go to jail.

"This," she pointed out, "will stop a lot of running around."

Everybody has his own problem.

For instance, the library commission washes its hands of the tri-parish library in Winn, Grant and Jackson parishes on June 30. The commission established it about two and a half years ago, furnished the books, a trained librarian and a portable traveling book purveyor called a "bookmobile."

Now the commission wants the three parishes to take over the project with their own money.

So police juries of the three parishes have ordered a special election April 16, along with the general election that day, for vote on a five-year two-mill tax to continue the library.

As an Easter touch do you know Louisiana is fast becoming a major producer of lilies? Plaquemines parish produces a highly-considered variety known as the Creole lily. This season's crop suffered from the severe cold, many plants having not bloomed in time for the Easter demand, but the parish's production in recent years reached 600,000 bulbs and brought $40,000 wholesale.

DR. MORELOCK TO GIVE COURSE

Methodist Church General Lay Secretary Will Hold Institute

Dr. W. L. Doss, Jr., district superintendent of the Monroe district of the Methodist church, announces that Dr. G. L. Morelock, of Nashville, Tenn., general secretary of the board of lay activities, will conduct an institute for stewards of the Monroe district in the First Methodist church in Monroe on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Morelock is a layman and speaks to laymen from a long experience gained in active work in the church as well as secretary of the board of lay activities. He has conducted many such institutes throughout the south which have, it is stated, proved of great benefit to all who have attended.

Recently he has conducted institutes in three of the districts of the Troy conference in the northeastern district of the Methodist church.

It is said of Dr. Morelock that all who hear his lectures are fascinated and that they are all too short. "If there are any more down south like Dr. Morelock, they should be sprinkled around up north," is the way he was described at the recent Troy engagement. Superintendents agreed that if Dr. Morelock's messages could be put into all their charges that the Kingdom of God would come far more quickly.

A prominent church layman has described him as follows:

"He has a way of making words, which are liable to be dull, such as 'steward,' 'unified budget,' 'official board,' 'fellowship,' spring into vibrant and appealing life. Maybe it is because the teacher is not a professional, but rather a layman, that makes listeners sit on the edges of chairs to catch each word. Maybe it is his past experience in colleges, teaching dead languages, that has qualified him to make dead bones live among church officials. Certainly his unfeigned interest in his hearers, their churches and their problems, and his palpable experience of a living God, had much to do with the eagerness with which they looked forward to hearing the next lecture in the series."

All Methodist stewards and church workers, as well as the public, are invited and urged to attend each night's lecture of this institute.

SHREVEPORT YOUTHS ON LONG BOAT TRIP

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., March 23.—(AP)—Three Shreveport, La., youths, their muscles aching from straining at the oars, rowed into Ohio river lock 27 north of here last night with little more than 250 miles of their trip from Pittsburgh to Shreveport behind them after 18 hard days.

They started the expedition March 5, hoping to average 30 miles a day, but 21-year-old Charles Ryan said, "It's been cold and wet and we haven't done that well." His companions are Charles Smith, 18, and Glenn Draper, 17.

The trio is traveling in a 10-foot johnboat. A tarpaulin erected in covered-wagon style provides protection from rain. They sleep in the boat and cook meals over an open fire on the shore.

HOW N. Y. WOMAN LOST 26 LBS. OF FAT

Fat Girls — Here's A Tip!
NEW YORK—Special

In 30 days Mrs. Helga Blaugh reduced 26 lbs. Took 4 inches off hips, 3 inches off bust and 7 1-2 inches off waist. She writes: "I feel fine and look 10 yrs. younger."

How would you like to safely and harmlessly lost 15 pounds of fat in a few weeks? How would you like to lose your double chin and your bulging hips and stomach and along with it get the increase in energy and improvement in health which so often accompanies excess fat reduction?

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh. Take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water first thing every morning to gently activate liver, bowels and kidneys. Cut down your calorie intake. Eat wisely and satisfyingly.

Then after 30 days, weigh yourself again and just see if you haven't lost pounds of ugly fat. Money back if not joyfully satisfied.

Refuse imitations. Demand and get the genuine Kruschen made right here in the U. S. A. A jar lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle.—Adv.

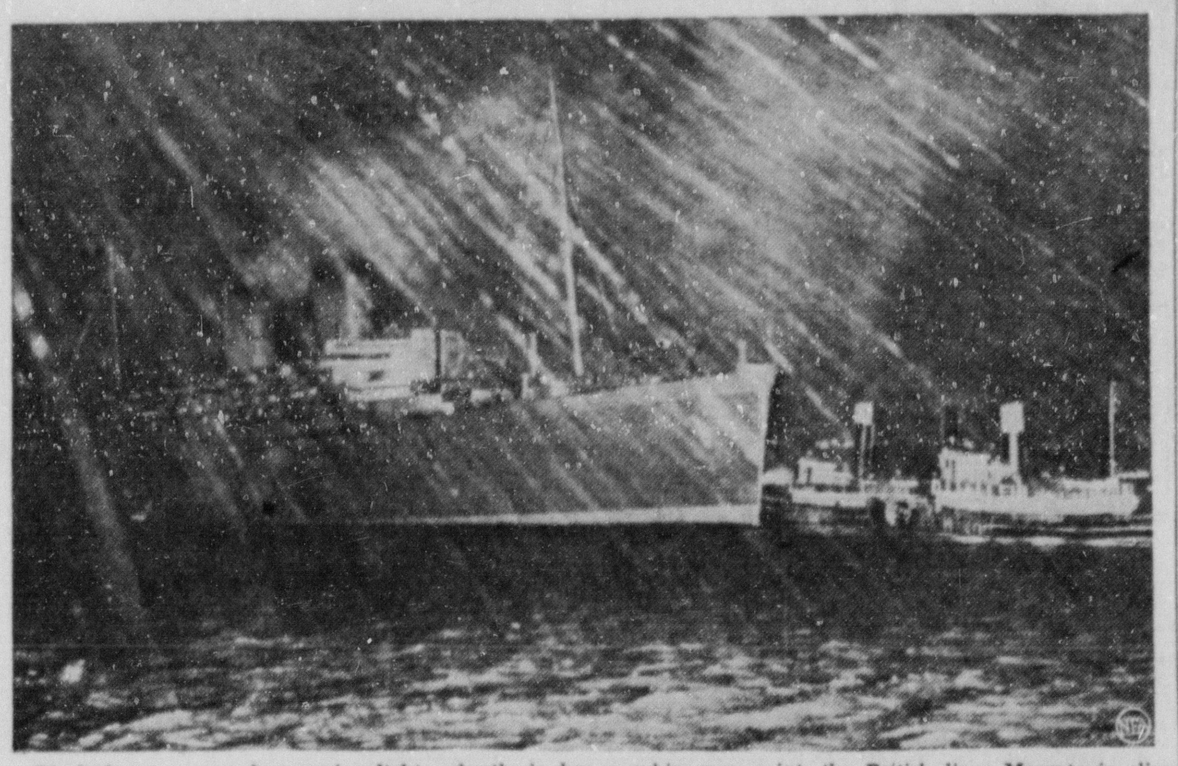
NATURE DRAMATIZES MAURETANIA'S EXIT



Blacked out, except for running lights, ghostly in her warship gray paint, the British liner Mauretania slips down the Hudson river from her New York berth to the perils of war-duty "under sealed orders." With pelting rain, thunder and flashes of lightning, nature provided a dramatic orchestration for the luxury ship's abandonment of safe haven.

National Nutrition Expert Completes Visit In Parish

It was a break for the United States department of agriculture — and a newspaper article was behind it all. A Brooklyn lass, who had just completed a teacher's course at Smith college in New York City and who was bored stiff with the prospect of teaching botany digested a feature article on nutrition which whetted her appetite for home economics, and she promptly switched careers.

Now Marion Birdseye is the national nutrition specialist, has a Washington office and staff and spends half her time touring the country to see what vitamins are doing to people. She spent last week in Louisiana, visiting Ouachita parish Thursday and Friday.

As head of the federal department of agriculture's nutrition division, Miss Birdseye supervises state nutrition work. Forty-six states now have 77 full-time nutrition specialists, and the other two, Nevada and Idaho, have part-time workers. Miss Birdseye and her staff assist state workers with their projects and problems, and pass the results on to other specialists. She keeps in touch with state workers and keep them in contact with each other. She plans and coordinates their work and is ready always to lend a helping hand or sage advice. It is her business to spent part of the time in the field and she likes that—for she especially likes the country.

From Mississippi the national director came to Louisiana last Sunday, and she left Louisiana yesterday to inspect Alabama. She visited several sections of the state with Miss Hazel Bratley, Louisiana's nutrition specialist. Arriving in Monroe late Thursday afternoon from a cross-country tour, the bright little director—she's scarcely over five feet tall—insisted she wasn't at all weary and crawled into another automobile with Mrs. Jewel L. McQuiller, home demonstration agent, to inspect one of her pet projects, a farm food and feed experiment.

Sponsored by Miss Bratley and the state extension division and aided by parish agents, five families in six parishes are experimenting with farm food and feed projects. Ouachita's families who are working to produce on the farm food for the family and feed for the livestock necessary for a home food supply are the Leon Whites at Bosco, E. L. Edelens at Swartz, B. O. Avants at Calhoun, G. F. Owens and D. E. Owens on Lunar Star route.

Off to Bosco went the national nutrition director. She inspected with interest Mrs. White's white house and well-kept grounds. She nodded her perfectly waved white head understandingy when slight, blonde Mrs. White proudly showed her new bathroom—made possible by her live-at-home program. Inspecting the 16-acre farm, the specialist made suggestions here and there. She was properly impressed on learning that on five acres the Whites made six bales of cotton, that they increased their corn yield from 125 bushels on seven acres in 1938 to 200 bushels on three acres in 1939 by planting cover crops and increasing fertility. She complimented Mrs. White on her poultry which cleared $157 from March to August last year and the turkeys which cleared $19. New wine spring bonnet and all, she looked at the waddling Duroc-Jersey pigs and was greatly interested in the one that wasn't there—the one who froze his tail during the cold spell, spoiled the looks of the handsome White livestock, and consequently was given away.

Her bright brown eyes twinkling behind polished spectacles, Miss Birdseye remarked that Mrs. White's laundry room curtains were most unusual. Half the double White garage is used as a storage room for numerous canned vegetables, fruits and meats, as a laundry room and and a play room for four-year-old Patsy. The national director suggested that the Whites do something immediately about their pecan trees that don't bear so well, admired the sunset, shooed the calf away from the poisoning sprinkled around a peach tree and poked around among the spring flowers. She hasn't forgotten she once was a botanist.

Nutrition work really has gone places since it first was begun on a national scale, Miss Birdseye declared—and it still has a long way to go. State specialists and state and national extension services are doing a magnificent job, and people are becoming more and more nutrition conscious, she said, but its importance still is not properly appreciated.

Questioned on the farm situation she stated indignantly that too many farmers still raise cash crops and buy what they need instead of living off the farm. It may work for the city man, she said, but it won't for the average son of the soil—especially since 1929 when the bottom fell out of agriculture.

Nutritionists have proved invaluable to farmers and others, Miss Birdseye stated—and she was one of the first. She was New York's first full-time extension nutrition specialist, working from Cornell after completing a two-year home economics course at Pratt institute. In 1917 she went into the nutrition department of the United States department of agriculture in Washington, went straight to the top and is still there.

In national and sectional emergencies nutrition specialists have been made to order for the job of coordinating governmental food relief measures. During floods, tornadoes and drouths nutritionists have planned diets, directed canneries and trained leaders to carry out the necessary work. Familiar with people and conditions in states, the specialists were called into service to assist the national relief administration with its food program. They showed clients how to spend their money in the most effective way, planned diets and prepared menus using foods frequently unfamiliar in some sections. They helped health units get under way—training nurses and workers in child health and nutrition. With various and sundry other agencies the nutritionists have cooperated and lent their services.

They're pretty essential, these nutrition specialists, according to Miss Birdseye, and she ought to know.

JONES 'THE MAN'

By Norman Walker

BATON ROUGE, La., March 23.—(AP)—There's something behind that jolly feeling at Louisiana's capitol.

People known for years as long-faced and glum smile happily, shake your hand and exchange pleasantries.

The gay comraderie is engagingly disarming—but it's meant to be.

Upon the jobholders, cemented in their positions for years through the old Huey Long machine's longevity, has dawned the idea their status may n:t be so permanent after all.

With Governor-Designate Sam Jones' new administration soon to take over, the fence-building season is on in full swing.

Old-time state officeholders are busily making friends where once they had enemies, contacting "Jones people" and slyly competing in a free-for-all popularity contest.

In politics the victor always gains the spoils. Naturally the outgoing administration workers, owing their jobs to former Governor Richard W. Leche and his successor, Governor Earl K. Long, are stewing about wondering what Governor Jones will do after his inaugural May 14.

One answer is the pledge made by Jones he will cleanse state payrolls of those whose duties are principally imaginary.

Those familiar with the financial set-up say the $15,000,000 annual state payroll probably could be pared about $5,000,000.

All admit that's a rough estimate and probably a maximum of what results could be achieved from closely inspecting the state's uncharted "trough"—but it would mean that much money toward meeting the new administration's manifold pledges to the electorate.

While capitol workers smile brightly and rustle impressive documents on long-dusty desks, the temporary headquarters of Governor-Designate Jones over at Lake Charles has some troubles too.

As soon as Jones returns from his vacation in Arizona, he will move his office here and begin formulating his administrative program but, meanwhile, his Lake Charles staff hold the fort.

Campaign aides of both Jones and his ally, Senator James A. Noe, are impatient for the inaugural and send in stacks of queries on what job so-and-so may expect. Congratulatory messages still pour in.

But then there are other requests. For instance, some folks want help in meeting payments on their autos, want clemency for relatives being detained in the penitentiary.

One fellow asked for a new set of radio batteries. He explained his were burned out listening to political broadcasts during the recent campaign.

Then there was the lady who favored a new law for consideration at the forthcoming legislative session. Any married man seen out on the streets "with a woman not his wife without due cause or reason"—why that blackguard, she proposed, would pay a fine and go to jail.

"This," she pointed out, "will stop a lot of running around."

Everybody has his own problem.

For instance, the library commission washes its hands of the tri-parish library in Winn, Grant and Jackson parishes on June 30. The commission established it about two and a half years ago, furnished the books, a trained librarian and a portable traveling book purveyor called a "bookmobile."

Now the commission wants the three parishes to take over the project with their own money.

So police juries of the three parishes have ordered a special election April 16, along with the general election that day, for vote on a five-year two-mill tax to continue the library.

As an Easter touch do you know Louisiana is fast becoming a major producer of lilies? Plaquemines parish produces a highly-considered variety known as the Creole lily. This season's crop suffered from the severe cold, many plants having not bloomed in time for the Easter demand, but the parish's production in recent years reached 600,000 bulbs and brought $49,000 wholesale

Methodist Church General Lay Secretary Will Hold Institute

Dr. W. L. Doss, Jr., district superintendent of the Monroe district of the Methodist church, announces that Dr. G. L. Morelock, of Nashville, Tenn., general secretary of the board of lay activities, will conduct an institute for stewards of the Monroe district in the First Methodist church in Monroe on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Morelock is a layman and speaks to laymen from a long experience gained in active work in the church as well as secretary of the board of lay activities. He has conducted many such institutes throughout the south which have, it is stated, proved of great benefit to all who have attended.

Recently he has conducted institutes in three of the districts of the Troy conference in the northeastern district of the Methodist church.

It is said of Dr. Morelock that all who hear his lectures are fascinated and that they are all too short. "If there are any more down south like Dr. Morelock, they should be sprinkled around up north," is the way he was described at the recent Troy engagement. Superintendents agreed that if Dr. Morelock's messages could be put into all their charges that the Kingdom of God would come far more quickly.

Churches To Be Crowded Today As Monroe Residents Celebrate Joyful Easter

Bewitching Hats Will Claim Much Attention

Many Turn Thoughts To Rural Life As Spring Arrives And Planting Begins

By Eve Bradford

EASTER Sunday! All the traditions of the season—scurrying delivery boys with gifts of flowers, crowded churches, special music, fragrance of lilies in the air and new bonnets. When worshippers pour out of the churches this hat-conscious Easter the sight will be enough to start a riot. Never have hats been so laden with flowers, so bewitching and so generally becoming.

In every flower banked church today, the story that has produced the most profound effect on human hearts since the beginning of recorded history will again be told. It is the age old story of the resurrection from the dead of Him who was "the first fruits of them that slept" and who "brought immortality to light."

The vernal urge is now upon us—the urge to dig in the ground to get close to the sweet smelling earth—to plant things and to watch them grow. There is scarcely a man in Monroe today, we venture to say, who doesn't long for a taste of country life. If half of the men who are pining for a home in the country could attain that ambition, the rural population around these parts would pick up.

It may be some hangover inherited from pioneer forefathers or it may be due to a woeful lack of knowledge of what rural life entails. Whatever it is, an amazing number of city-reared men hanker with all their hearts for country homes and long to live where they can look out over green fields and go rustic after work hours in town.

They ride out into the country on Sunday and see a cozy little house nestling in a grove of trees. It looks to them as if it had been put there by some magic hand. Snow-white chickens dot the yard, horses and cows graze peacefully in a green meadow and sheep and a lamb or two amble away in the distance.

All this apparently peaceful life looks like a little bit of heaven. The urge to live in the country grows stronger with every trip and the city-reared man goes home trying to convince friend wife she ought to see it his way. The chances are that friend wife has had a little experience with farm life along the line and knows full well that country places are not run by magic or remote control.

Some men have really done something about it and others satisfy the urge to some extent by cultivating flowers and puttering around their gardens. The D. C. Metcalfs selected a lot in a secluded spot in West Monroe and built themselves a country home—the Bradley Waelders have been established for a year in their country home on the West Side—the W. A. Walkers have practically given up their home on Pine street since they discovered how wonderful life is at Forty Oaks, their country home—Omega, the country home of the Arthur Dryburghs, is ideally situated just off the Rayville highway. The ante-bellum home of early American architecture is being restored to its former beauty and if we judge correctly will in the near future be the permanent home of Arthur and Stella. The rooms are high ceilinged and spacious, with immense open fireplace in every room down stairs. Arthur spends almost every waking moment among his chickens, and other live stock and looking after the planting of trees and shrubs and landscaping generally—the Bert Williams have a picturesque log cabin on the banks of Bayou DeSiard. Bert is happiest when working in the garden and Louise is happiest when she can walk down to the water and catch a few white perch for the evening meal.

John Breard, who would like to be a gentleman farmer but is a banker instead, contents himself with raising specimen camellias and roses in the gardens of his home on North Third street. Almost every known variety of camellia is found in his garden. Joe Washburn is another banker who is a dude farmer at heart. The moment he arrives home in the evening he dons overalls and turns to the good earth for exercise and recreation.

Carl McHenry is a city lawyer but deep down in his heart there is a hankering for greener fields and the more abundant life down on the farm. To satisfy that urge he annexed the lot adjoining his home in Fairview and hedged it in with shrubbery and rose bushes. The swimming pool slopes down to the tennis court where Cornelia and Mary Wilton are found daily surrounded by their young friends—the Amos Smelsers had a beautiful home on Island Drive but they found the quickest way to cure a lingering malady was to move to the country. They sold their town house, rebuilt their plantation home and are now living the ideal life down on the farm. Frances was born and reared on a plantation so she knows what it means—she knows that fields have to be plowed and planted—she knows that corn must be thinned after it comes up and harvested after the crop is made—she knows that farm equipment costs like sixty and eternal vigilance and unending effort is the price of a well-run country place of any kind—she knows that rural country dwellers can't throw out a little feed to the animals now and then and spend the rest of the time enjoying life.

Housewives are now in the throes of spring cleaning, and the head of the house is disgruntled. Everything is topsy turvy and the daily routine, so necessary to the comfort of the sterner sex, is at sixes and sevens.

Mrs. S. Wood Brown, librarian at the Monroe Public library, suggests that all those desiring quietude and wish to escape the discomfort of home during the dread house cleaning season, spend a few quiet hours in the library where new books and the latest periodicals are placed at their disposal.

New books are arriving daily, among the most recent novels being a few "Four Part Setting," by Ann Bridge; "The Trees," by Conrad Richter, "Other Gods," by Pearl S. Buck; "Star Gazer," by Zsolt Harsanyi; "Their Own Country," by Alice Tisdale Hobart, "Sea Island Lady," by Francis Griswold, and "Ballad Makin' in the Mountains of Kentucky," by Jean Thomas.

Mrs. Brown has a valuable assistant, Thomas Gilhula, who is without a doubt the most obliging, the most considerate and the best informed on the subject of books, that we know of.

Library work demands something infinitely more than efficiency. One of the essentials is a soft, pleasant voice and that is where Mrs. Brown excels. Not only is her voice pleasing but her manner is gracious and her mind alert. She instinctively knows the book to suit the mood of a patron and is prepared to give a synopsis of all the new books on the library shelves. New patrons are being drawn to the library as a result of a soft spoken, cultured and gracious librarian and her able assistant.

Lovely to look at and charming and intellectual as well is Joe Evelyn Bales, home from L. S. U. to spend the Easter holidays. Just in case you aren't acquainted with her intellectual qualities read the following letter written by Ophelia Stone, academic dean and chairman of the faculty committee on honors at the state university.

"I am writing to congratulate you and the university on the character of work accomplished by you during the first semester of the session 1939-40. You have attained for the semester a rating of 'two point five plus,' entitling you to the distinction of the following rank: Honor student Cum Laude.

"As academic dean of the university, and as chairman of the faculty committee on honors, I wish to express our pride and satisfaction in your accomplishment. It is truly an indication of future success in what you undertake, success that will enrich and enlarge your own life work and reflect credit on your Alma Mater.

"I salute you, whole heartedly, and honor you.'

Miro Book Club Holds Meeting

Varied colored tulips and hycinths were used in profusion in the living room when Mrs. Arthur Steele Tidwell entertained members of the Miro Book club in her home on Jackson street.

The program included a report by Mrs. M. M. Munholland on the Philippine islands. Mrs. Munholland said this was the largest group in the Malay group. They were discovered by Magellan and conquered by Spain. By the Treaty of Paris they were ceded to the United States, following the Spanish-American war.

The guest speaker was Mrs. C. C. Colvert, who gave a most interesting talk on "Education of Women." Mrs. F. C. Bennett reviewed the latest best seller, "How Green Was My Valley" by Richard Llewellyn. Mrs. Bennett said in part:

"This is a magnificent novel of Wales, full of the tragedy and comedy of lift itself. (How Green Was My Valley) is the story of a large family, the Morgans, whose livelihood depended on mining in the days when South Wales still prospered and coal dust had not blackened the greenness of the valley. It is the story told by Huw, one of the youngest children of his family, their friends and their neighbors. It pictures his gentle tyrant of a father, one of the most upright and honored of all the men in the valley, his shrewd and impulsive mother, his many brothers and sisters. A high light of Huw's early childhood is the marriage of his eldest brother to the beautiful and tender Bronwen, who Huw is destined to love all his life.

"In a mood of nostalgia, Huw, now a main in his sixties, remembers those days of youth. A great slag has crept down menacingly upon his childhood home, and Huw is about to leave the valley forever.

"Everything is here: comedy, tragedy, love, excitement, fighting, heroism, and sacrifice. There is a crisp, salty Welch humor which seasons the tale and makes it proof against sentimentality. The characters will live long in the reader's memory; and the story is written with beauty and simplicity which are beyond praise."

A delightful social hour permitted the hostess to serve delicious chicken a la king and a salad course to: Mrs. C. C. Colvert, Mrs. Vernon LaCour of Baton Rouge, Mrs. F. C. Bennett, Mrs. J. D. Calhoun, Mrs. J. B. Collins, Mrs. S. M. Collins, Mrs. C. C. Lindley, Mrs. M. M. Munholland, Mrs. W. G. Murphy, Mrs. A. L. Peters, Mrs. John Fracher, Mrs. J. T. Pugh, Mrs. J. M. Russell, Mrs. C. R. Tidwell, Mrs. H. M. Venable, Mrs. J. E. Whitfield and Mrs. W. A. Whitfield.

LITTLE GIRL AND LILIES . . .

As lovely and as fair as the Easter lilies is Helen Hilliard, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Faye Hilliard of Houston who is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Beaman. Helen's mother was formerly Miss Winnie Helen Beaman, popular member of Monroe's younger set.

Review Club Meets With Mrs. Major

Colorful spring flowers were used by Mrs. Reese Major, Sr., in her reception rooms when she entertained members of the Review club Monday afternoon for their regular meeting in March. Mrs. C. B. Braun, president, opened the meeting and the club collect was read in unison by the members. During the business session the nominating committee presented the following names as officers of the club for the coming year: President, Mrs. C. B. Braun; vice-president, Mrs. Chester Nenney; secretary, Mrs. W. T. Davis; treasurer, Mrs. W. J. Veazey, board member, Mrs. DeWitt Henry. These were accepted by vote of the club.

Mrs. C. V. McGimsey and Mrs. Henry Colbert were responsible for the afternoon's program which dealt with the new culture of the New England states. Developing the theme, "Renaissance in a Minor Key," Mrs. McGimsey discussed Van Wyck Brook's, "The Flowering of New England," a narrative fashioned for the purposes of philosophy. "This book," she said, "is a steady, substantial, incandescent fusion of time, place and people. Beginning with the Cambridge poets the author traces the growth of the literary cult through the period of Transcendentalism and the subsequent Romanticism which grew from it. Mr. Brooks must have lived in New England, so vividly does he conjure up for us the New England countryside, having absorbed not only the ideology of the writers but the very landscape and atmosphere as well, interweaving the foreign influences which affected the culture of the area."

Mrs. Colbert reviewed "The Late George Apley" in which J. P. Marquand has interpreted a typical Bostonian from the viewpoint of an insider who knows all the characteristics of a true Beacon Hill family. George Apley is the latter-day heir of the New England renaissance which Brooks portrayed in "The Flowering of New England." Very subtly, by means of plausible events and characters, Marquand has in this biographical-like story exhibited quiet humor and keen penetration of the culture of the New England of today.

The following members were present: Mrs. Ben Breard, Mrs. C. B. Braun, Mrs. Edward Cooley, Mrs. Henry Colbert, Mrs. W. T. Davis, Mrs. Lealis Hale, Mrs. Roy Hale, Mrs. DeWitt Henry, Mrs. Reese Major, Sr., Mrs. C. V. McGimsey, Mrs. D. M. Moore, and Mrs. W. J. Veazey.

Dinner Enjoyed By Altrusa Club

Mrs. Hattie Taylor, president of the Altrusa club, graciously presided over the dinner table in the private dining room of the Frances hotel when members of the club met for dinner Thursday night.

The speaker of the evening, Mrs. James A. Noe, was unable to be present at this time, so all formality was dispensed with and conversation was general. Members of the club are anticipating the time in the near future when Mrs. Noe will be their guest and address them in customary brilliant manner.

Enjoying the four course dinner, in addition to Mrs. Taylor, were: Miss Agatha Burkett, Mrs. Adrian Carr, Mrs. Maude Golson, Miss Clyde Cox, Miss Bernice McCoy, Dr. Julia Hunter, Mrs. Evelyn Reims and one guest, Miss Eve Bradford.

Banquet Is Enjoyed By Local Glee Club

Parish High School Group Holds Annual Event At The Virginia Hotel

Annual banquets in high school circles reminds one that summer is on the way. The first social event, marking the completion of a most successful year, was the Ouachita Parish High school glee club annual dinner party in the crystal ballroom of the Virginia hotel.

As customary each year, considerable beauty of detail was observed in the elaborate table decorations. Candlelight gleamed down the full length of the table where bowls of fragrant spring flowers were placed at intervals.

J. C. Wallace presided as toastmaster and presented Bonnie Crenshaw, Georgia Belle Goza and Charles Chapman in vocal numbers, Violet DeCuir and Elbertine Moore in piano numbers and Laura Flournoy in a dramatic reading.

Members of the glee club entertained with several numbers and Irvie Lee Humble read the glee club prophesy.

The lights were lowered and the toastmaster proposed a toast to members of the senior class present at this time. "Bells Of St. Mary," was beautifully rendered by members of the glee club.

Mrs. George Moffett, whose work has brought such marvelous results in high school music circles, was a guest of honor on this occasion. Other guests were Lavania Tarver and Thias Norris.

Members of the glee club present were: Elaine Anderson, Morris Austin, Eula Barrett, John Breazeal, Charles Chapman, Mildred Colton, Bonnie Crenshaw, Chloe Crews, Violet DeCuir, Mary Evelyn Dunden, Richard Englerth, Buddy Eunson, Bettie Boyce, Lelia Fields, Laura Flournoy, Georgia Belle Goza, Sue Griffin, Ray Hawkins, Clara Belle Hair, Rex Harmon, Ann Hilton, Elizabeth Humble, Irvie Lee Humble, Jeune Hunt, Jerry Juneman, Jimmy Kelly, Genevieve Lofton, Albert Martin, David Martin, Gracie Martin, Louise Gaile McDonald, Jack Mayo, Billy Meredith, Ellientine Moore, George Muller, Annie Marjorie Pohl, Ray Sherrod, Helen Steele, Clarice Slagle, Edwina Slater, Regina Simpson, Roy Stewart, Jack Terzia, Jack Thatcher, S. A. Trichell, Dorothy Taylor, J. C. Wallace, Elizabeth Warrington, Sonny Washburn, Gene Wilder, Ruth Yager.

Those in charge of the banquet were Jeune Mayo, Bonnie Crenshaw, Irvie Lee Humble, Annie Marjorie Pohl and J. C. Wallace.

Literary Club Holds Meeting

Mrs. Floyd Mathews extended the charming hospitality of her home to members of Monroe Literary club for their regular meeting on Wednesday.

A business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. R. L. Ross, at which time newly elected officers drafted a program of the ensuing year's work.

Selected poems were read and discussed by each member present.

Delicious refreshments were served to Mrs. D. N. Barron, Mrs. Carl Couch, Miss Beulah Doerr, Mrs. R. P. McKay, Mrs. P. E. Massey, Mrs. S. E. Morris, Mrs. R. E. Wilson, Mrs. J. R. Roark, Mrs. R. L. Ross, Mrs. L. A. Materne and Mrs. A. B. Calmer.

Mrs. J. S. Holmes Is Guest Of Honor

A miscellaneous shower was given in the home of Mrs. A. A. Phillips, complimentary to Mrs. J. S. Holmes, a bride of a recent date. Mrs. Phillips assisted, by Miss Lucille Williamson, served refreshments to the following: Mesdames J. H. Frasier, J. D. Koonce, Marshall Aswell, N. S. Holmes, Ranny Glanton, B. C. Williamson, Misses Francis Holmes, Lucille Williamson, Mr. A. A. Phillips, J. S. Holmes and the honoree, Mrs. J. S. Holmes, and hostess, Mrs. A. A. Phillips.

Those sending gifts were Mesdames J. H. Waller, R. N. Hearne, R. H. Grant, Ollie Stuckey and Bennie Stuckey.

Miss Brock Marries William E. Andrews

A wedding of interest to a wide circle of friends in north Louisiana and Arkansas was that of Miss Dorothy Brock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Allen Brock of McGehee, Ark., and Mr. William Earl Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Andrews of Mer Rouge on Wednesday, March 13, at 8:30 p.m. at the Presbyterian church of Monroe with the Rev. Ernest Holloway officiating.

The bride was attired in a becoming spring model of navy blue. With it she wore white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

The groom is a member of a prominent pioneer family of north Louisiana. He holds a responsible position with Ritchie Grocer company of Monroe, where he and his bride will make their home.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Andrews left for a week's honeymoon in Galveston, Tex. Upon their return they will make their home at the Layton Place.

Churches To Be Crowded Today As Monroe Residents Celebrate Joyful Easter

Developing the theme, "Renaissance in a Minor Key," Mrs. McGimsey discussed Van Wyck Brook's, "The Flowering of New England," a narrative fashioned for the purposes of philosophy. "This book," she said, "is a steady, substantial, incandescent fusion of time, place and people. Beginning with the Cambridge poets the author traces the growth of the literary cult through the period of Transcendentalism and the subsequent Romanticism which grew from it. Mr. Brooks must have lived in New England, so vividly does he conjure up for us the New England countryside, having absorbed not only the ideology of the writers but the very landscape and atmosphere as well, interweaving the foreign influences which affected the culture of the area."

Mrs. Colbert reviewed "The Late George Apley" in which J. P. Marquand has interpreted a typical Bostonian from the viewpoint of an insider who knows all the characteristics of a true Beacon Hill family. George Apley is the latter-day heir of the New England renaissance which Brooks portrayed in "The Flowering of New England." Very subtly, by means of plausible events and characters, Marquand has in this biographical-like story exhibited quiet humor and keen penetration of the culture of the New England of today.

The following members were present: Mrs. Ben Breard, Mrs. C. B. Braun, Mrs. Edward Cooley, Mrs. Henry Colbert, Mrs. W. T. Davis, Mrs. Lealis Hale, Mrs. Roy Hale, Mrs. DeWitt Henry, Mrs. Reese Major, Sr., Mrs. C. V. McGimsey, Mrs. D. M. Moore, and Mrs. W. J. Veazey.

Dinner Enjoyed By Altrusa Club

Mrs. Hattie Taylor, president of the Altrusa club, graciously presided over the dinner table in the private dining room of the Frances hotel when members of the club met for dinner Thursday night.

The speaker of the evening, Mrs. James A. Noe, was unable to be present at this time, so all formality was dispensed with and conversation was general. Members of the club are anticipating the time in the near future when Mrs. Noe will be their guest and address them in customary brilliant manner.

Enjoying the four course dinner, in addition to Mrs. Taylor, were: Miss Agatha Burkett, Mrs. Adrian Carr, Mrs. Maude Golson, Miss Clyde Cox, Miss Bernice McCoy, Dr. Julia Hunter, Mrs. Evelyn Reims and one guest, Miss Eve Bradford.

Parish High School Group Holds Annual Event At The Virginia Hotel

Annual banquets in high school circles reminds one that summer is on the way. The first social event, marking the completion of a most successful year, was the Ouachita Parish High school glee club annual dinner party in the crystal ballroom of the Virginia hotel.

As customary each year, considerable beauty of detail was observed in the elaborate table decorations. Candlelight gleamed down the full length of the table where bowls of fragrant spring flowers were placed at intervals.

J. C. Wallace presided as toastmaster and presented Bonnie Crenshaw, Georgia Belle Goza and Charles Chapman in vocal numbers, Violet DeCuir and Elbertine Moore in piano numbers and Laura Flournoy in a dramatic reading.

Members of the glee club entertained with several numbers and Irvie Lee Humble read the glee club prophesy.

The lights were lowered and the toastmaster proposed a toast to members of the senior class present at this time. "Bells Of St. Mary," was beautifully rendered by members of the glee club.

Mrs. George Moffett, whose work has brought such marvelous results in high school music circles, was a guest of honor on this occasion. Other guests were Lavania Tarver and Thias Norris.

Members of the glee club present were: Elaine Anderson, Morris Austin, Eula Barrett, John Breazeal, Charles Chapman, Mildred Colton, Bonnie Crenshaw, Chloe Crews, Violet DeCuir, Mary Evelyn Dunden, Richard Englerth, Buddy Eunson, Bettie Boyce, Lelia Fields, Laura Flournoy, Georgia Belle Goza, Sue Griffin, Ray Hawkins, Clara Belle Hair, Rex Harmon, Ann Hilton, Elizabeth Humble, Irvie Lee Humble, Jeune Hunt, Jerry Juneman, Jimmy Kelly, Genevieve Lofton, Albert Martin, David Martin, Gracie Martin, Louise Gaile McDonald, Jack Mayo, Billy Meredith, Ellientine Moore, George Muller, Annie Marjorie Pohl, Ray Sherrod, Helen Steele, Clarice Slagle, Edwina Slater, Regina Simpson, Roy Stewart, Jack Terzia, Jack Thatcher, S. A. Trichell, Dorothy Taylor, J. C. Wallace, Elizabeth Warrington, Sonny Washburn, Gene Wilder, Ruth Yager.

Those in charge of the banquet were Jeune Mayo, Bonnie Crenshaw, Irvie Lee Humble, Annie Marjorie Pohl and J. C. Wallace.

Literary Club Holds Meeting

Mrs. Floyd Mathews extended the charming hospitality of her home to members of Monroe Literary club for their regular meeting on Wednesday.

A business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. R. L. Ross, at which time newly elected officers drafted a program of the ensuing year's work.

Selected poems were read and discussed by each member present.

Delicious refreshments were served to Mrs. D. N. Barron, Mrs. Carl Couch, Miss Beulah Doerr, Mrs. R. P. McKay, Mrs. P. E. Massey, Mrs. S. E. Morris, Mrs. R. E. Wilson, Mrs. J. R. Roark, Mrs. R. L. Ross, Mrs. L. A. Materne and Mrs. A. B. Calmer.

Mrs. J. S. Holmes Is Guest Of Honor

A miscellaneous shower was given in the home of Mrs. A. A. Phillips, complimentary to Mrs. J. S. Holmes, a bride of a recent date. Mrs. Phillips assisted, by Miss Lucille Williamson, served refreshments to the following: Mesdames J. H. Frasier, J. D. Koonce, Marshall Aswell, N. S. Holmes, Ranny Glanton, B. C. Williamson, Misses Francis Holmes, Lucille Williamson, Mr. A. A. Phillips, J. S. Holmes and the honoree, Mrs. J. S. Holmes, and hostess, Mrs. A. A. Phillips.

Those sending gifts were Mesdames J. H. Waller, R. N. Hearne, R. H. Grant, Ollie Stuckey and Bennie Stuckey.

Miss Brock Marries William E. Andrews

A wedding of interest to a wide circle of friends in north Louisiana and Arkansas was that of Miss Dorothy Brock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Allen Brock of McGehee, Ark., and Mr. William Earl Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Andrews of Mer Rouge on Wednesday, March 13, at 8:30 p.m. at the Presbyterian church of Monroe with the Rev. Ernest Holloway officiating.

The bride was attired in a becoming spring model of navy blue. With it she wore white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

The groom is a member of a prominent pioneer family of north Louisiana. He holds a responsible position with Ritchie Grocer company of Monroe, where he and his bride will make their home.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Andrews left for a week's honeymoon in Galveston, Tex. Upon their return they will make their home at the Layton Place.

Miss Pricilla Hodge Becomes Bride Of Harry Hawthorne In West Monroe

Ceremony Solemnized At Methodist Church

Young Couple Leave On Honeymoon Trip To Mexico City; Will Make Home In Bastrop

Of sincere and affectionate interest to friends in this section of the state is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Pricilla Hodge, daughter of Mrs. W. J. Hodge of West Monroe, and Mr. Harry Hawthorne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hawthorne of Mansfield and brother of District Attorney Frank Hawthorne, Jr., of Bastrop.

The ceremony, witnessed by a few intimate friends and members of the family was solemnized March 20, at the West Monroe Methodist church with the pastor, Rev. C. Karlos Smith, officiating.

The bride, of considerable personal beauty, was wearing a smart, advanced spring model of black and coral. The black skirt of many gores was worn with a blouse of coral colored chiffon and a small coral colored straw hat, flower trimmed. A nosegay of old-fashioned flowers was worn at the throat.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hawthorne motored to Mexico Ctiy for a honeymoon, visiting Mr. Hawthorne's parents in Mansfield en route.

Following the honeymoon they will be at home in Bastrop where Mr. Hawthorne is a prominent young lawyer.

The bride, a popular member of the younger set, is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High school and attended Northeast Junior college. She is a member of Delta Beta Sigma sorority.

Mr. Hawthorne is a graduate of the Louisiana State university and is a member of Lambda Chi fraternity.

Miss Bobbie Rogers Weds Roy Smith

A wedding of interest was solemnized March 14 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon when Miss Bobbie Rogers and Mr. Roy Smith were married in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Rogers on Stella street in West Monroe, with Rev. C. Karlos Smith performing the ceremony.

The living room was beautifully decorated with spring flowers. Smilax intermingled with red bud and baby breath formed the background for the ceremony, which took place before an improvised altar, flanked by tall candelabra supporting cathedral tapers, which were lighted by John Everett Rogers, nephew of the bride.

Mr. Herlon Averett sang "I Love You Truly."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Mr. J. C. Rogers, wore a beautiful model of navy blue crepe with white lace trimming. For something old she wore an heirloom, heart-shaped locket. The selection of her grandparents' 74th wedding anniversary for her wedding day was of lovely sentiment. Her corsage was of white carnations and snowdrops.

Following the ceremony, an informal reception was held with the bride's mother extending gracious courtesies.

The bride's table in the dining room, overlaid with lace, was adorned with the beautifully embossed, three-tiered wedding cake, surmounted with a miniature bride and groom. At either end of the table were lighted candles in crystal holders.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith left for a short honeymoon trip and will later be at home to their friends at Sterlington, where Mr. Smith is associated with the Louisiana Power and Light company.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Beasley have returned from a visit in New York City where Mr. Beasley transacted business in the interest of the Brown Paper mill of West Monroe.

Of lovely sentiment and a unique gesture on the part of a certain Monroe man was his gift of books to the Monroe Public library, which he dedicated to the memory of cherished friends who recently passed on. In place of expressing his sorrow with flowers as customary, he preferred to establish an everlasting memorial in the form of books. The two volumes, "They Found It in Natchez," and "Charleston, a City of Gardens," are especially fitting as they tell of flowers, beautiful gardens and gracious living.

On the fly leaf of each book appears the name of the departed friend in whose memory the book was given.

Both books have a wide circulation and highly recommended by those who have been privileged to read them.

Junior Gavel Meets With Mrs. Riser

Members of the Junior Gavel club enjoyed the cordial hospitality extended in the home of Mrs. George Riser Thursday afternoon.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. C. O. Boyce, who welcomed a new member, Mrs. Ivy Jordan.

The roll call and minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Olan Black, treasurer, Mrs. John Richardson, program chairman, and Mrs. E. T. Heard, membership chairman, submitted reports.

Mrs. John C. Best entertained with a review of "The Web and the Rock," by Thomas Wolfe. She said in part:

"'This novel marks not only a turning away from the books I have written in the past but a genuine spiritual and artistic change. It is the most objective novel that I have written. I have invented characters from the whole amalgram and harmony of seeing, feeling, thinking, living and knowing many people. I have sought through free creation, a release of my inventive power.'—Thomas Wolfe.

"So, in a brief foreword, Wolfe explained his approach to his third novel—a novel that has the best and the worst of Wolfe in it. Actually, 'The Web and the Rock' contains two distinct novels: a first half that closely parallels the material of 'Look Homeward Angel' and a second half that is a sequel to the events recorded in 'Of Time and the River.' A sequel to all events and purposes, but with Eugene Gant replaced by a new hero named George Webber.

"If 'The Web and the Rock' had been published as two novels, it would be possible to say that the first half was Wolfe's best novel, the second half, his most disappointing. It is the first half also in which Wolfe almost succeeds in his attempt to gain objectivity, because it is here that character and growth of George is most in the background, many of the scenes do not involve him as a direct participant. But that is all that can be said for the objectivity of the story. The significance of even the earliest events is in their emotional impact on George Webber, who stands for the author as completely as Gant ever did and through whose consciousness Wolfe projected some of his most inspired lyrical passages. The second half, the love story, is utterly subjective throughout.

"The first is dominated by Wolfe's brooding observation of the dark corners of life, the fringes of human nature. It can flash through unforgetably in an anecdote—like that of Rance Joyner, great uncle of George. A simple-minded mountaineer with the supernatural property of appearing at times of disaster; or like that of the Joyner brothers sitting for three days over the corpse of their father discussing the Egyptian way of embalming; or like that of Aunt Mag and the idiot orphans whom she makes her peons. It can magnificently sustain a long episode, as in the chapter about the butcher and his wife who brutalized their own children.

"Scene after scene is breath-taking. Wolfe has illuminated a section of experience which no other novelist has explored more searchingly.

"These are followed by a section more conventional, on George's life at the University of North Carolina and his early career in New York. Half a page in italics tells us that George went to Europe, knew strange countries, countless things and people, sucked as from an orange the juice of new lives, new cities, newer events. He worked, toiled, sweated, cursed, brawled, got drunk, traveled, spent all his money and then came back with greater fury and unrest than ever before to hurl the shoulder of his strength against the world, desiring everything, attempting much, completing little. Then on the return trip, he meets and falls awkwardly in love with a woman considerably older than himself, Esther Jack, a successful designer for the theater."

Mrs. John Richardson delighted her audience by reading "Susan and God," a drama in three acts by Rachel Crothers.

Miss Odom And Mr. Burns Wed

A marriage of interest to many friends throughout northeast Louisiana was that of Miss Cecil Odom, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Odom of Farmerville, and Mr. Young Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Burns of Bernice. Rev. M. A. Treadwell of Farmerville performed the ceremony in the presence of many relatives and friends.

The bride, a member of the Spearsville school faculty, was charming in a blue and pink ensemble with a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Among those who witnessed the ceremony were Miss Margaret Odom, Mr. Oscar Harrel, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Colvin, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Odom, Mr. J. L. Burns, Mr. H. S. Wasson, Miss Ernestine Ramsey, Miss Florence Odom, Mr. Mose P. Compton, Jr., Mr. Ernest L. Brantley and Mr. Raymond Odom.

The bride is a graduate of Louisiana Tech at Ruston. The groom graduated from Louisiana college, at Pineville, and is employed by the federal government.

PROMINENT LEADERS OF A. A. U. W. . . .

Outstanding among the members of the American Association of University Women who are assisting in plans for the state convention to be held in this city in May are: Miss Dean McKoin, upper left, Miss Francis Flanders, upper center, and Mrs. Fred Coon, upper right. In the lower picture to the left is Mrs. W. R. Hammond and to the right is Mrs. George Holland.

Miss Bobbie Rogers Weds Roy Smith

A wedding of interest was solemnized March 14 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon when Miss Bobbie Rogers and Mr. Roy Smith were married in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Rogers on Stella street in West Monroe, with Rev. C. Karlos Smith performing the ceremony.

The living room was beautifully decorated with spring flowers. Smilax intermingled with red bud and baby breath formed the background for the ceremony, which took place before an improvised altar, flanked by tall candelabra supporting cathedral tapers, which were lighted by John Everett Rogers, nephew of the bride.

Mr. Herlon Averett sang "I Love You Truly."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Mr. J. C. Rogers, wore a beautiful model of navy blue crepe with white lace trimming. For something old she wore an heirloom, heart-shaped locket. The selection of her grandparents' 74th wedding anniversary for her wedding day was of lovely sentiment. Her corsage was of white carnations and snowdrops.

Following the ceremony, an informal reception was held with the bride's mother extending gracious courtesies.

The bride's table in the dining room, overlaid with lace, was adorned with the beautifully embossed, three-tiered wedding cake, surmounted with a miniature bride and groom. At either end of the table were lighted candles in crystal holders.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith left for a short honeymoon trip and will later be at home to their friends at Sterlington, where Mr. Smith is associated with the Louisiana Power and Light company.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Beasley have returned from a visit in New York City where Mr. Beasley transacted business in the interest of the Brown Paper mill of West Monroe.

Of lovely sentiment and a unique gesture on the part of a certain Monroe man was his gift of books to the Monroe Public library, which he dedicated to the memory of cherished friends who recently passed on. In place of expressing his sorrow with flowers as customary, he preferred to establish an everlasting memorial in the form of books. The two volumes, "They Found It in Natchez," and "Charleston, a City of Gardens," are especially fitting as they tell of flowers, beautiful gardens and gracious living.

On the fly leaf of each book appears the name of the departed friend in whose memory the book was given.

Both books have a wide circulation and highly recommended by those who have been privileged to read them.

Junior Gavel Meets With Mrs. Riser

Members of the Junior Gavel club enjoyed the cordial hospitality extended in the home of Mrs. George Riser Thursday afternoon.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. C. O. Boyce, who welcomed a new member, Mrs. Ivy Jordan.

The roll call and minutes were read by the secretary. Mrs. Olan Black, treasurer, Mrs. John Richardson, program chairman, and Mrs. E. T. Heard, membership chairman, submitted reports.

Mrs. John C. Best entertained with a review of "The Web and the Rock," by Thomas Wolfe. She said in part:

"'This novel marks not only a turning away from the books I have written in the past but a genuine spiritual and artistic change. It is the most objective novel that I have written. I have invented characters from the whole amalgram and harmony of seeing, feeling, thinking, living and knowing many people. I have sought through free creation, a release of my inventive power.'—Thomas Wolfe.

"So, in a brief foreword, Wolfe explained his approach to his third novel—a novel that has the best and the worst of Wolfe in it. Actually, 'The Web and the Rock' contains two distinct novels: a first half that closely parallels the material of 'Look Homeward Angel' and a second half that is a sequel to the events recorded in 'Of Time and the River.' A sequel to all events and purposes, but with Eugene Gant replaced by a new hero named George Webber.

"If 'The Web and the Rock' had been published as two novels, it would be possible to say that the first half was Wolfe's best novel; the second half, his most disappointing. It is the first half also in which Wolfe almost succeeds in his attempt to gain objectivity, because it is here that character and growth of George is most in the background, many of the scenes do not involve him as a direct participant. But that is all that can be said for the objectivity of the story. The significance of even the earliest events is in their emotional impact on George Webber, who stands for the author as completely as Gant ever did and through whose consciousness Wolfe projected some of his most inspired lyrical passages. The second half, the love story, is utterly subjective throughout.

"The first is dominated by Wolfe's brooding observation of the dark corners of life, the fringes of human nature. It can flash through unforgetably in an anecdote—like that of Rance Joyner, great uncle of George. A simple-minded mountaineer with the supernatural property of appearing at times of disaster; or like that of the Joyner brothers sitting for three days over the corpse of their father discussing the Egyptian way of embalming; or like that of Aunt Mag and the idiot orphans whom she makes her peons. It can magnificently sustain a long episode, as in the chapter about the butcher and his wife who brutalized their own children.

"Scene after scene is breath-taking. Wolfe has illuminated a section of experience which no other novelist has explored more searchingly.

"These are followed by a section more conventional, on George's life at the University of North Carolina and his early career in New York. Half a page in italics tells us that George went to Europe, knew strange countries, countless things and people, sucked as from an orange the juice of new lives, new cities, newer events. He worked, toiled, sweated, cursed, brawled, got drunk, traveled, spent all his money and then came back with greater fury and unrest than ever before to hurl the shoulder of his strength against the world, desiring everything, attempting much, completing little. Then on the return trip, he meets and falls awkwardly in love with a woman considerably older than himself, Esther Jack, a successful designer for the theater."

Mrs. John Richardson delighted her audience by reading "Susan and God," a drama in three acts by Rachel Crothers.

During the social hour refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. J. L. Cheshire, Mrs. C. B. Flinn, Mrs. Merrell Williams, Mrs. C. O. Boyce, Mrs. E. T. Heard, Jr., Mrs. Olan Black, Mrs. John Richardson, Mrs. John C. Best, Mrs. Ivy Jordan and Mrs. George Riser.

Miss Hostuttler To Wed Mr. Holloman

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Shadbolt announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their granddaughter, Miss Ruth Hostuttler, to Mr. Ira Dale Holloman.

Miss Hostuttler has resided with her grandparents since coming from her home in West Virginia last year. She and Mr. Holloman are both graduates of the Ruston High school.

Mr. and Mrs. N. D. McGaughey enjoyed a motor trip to Natchez where they attended the Garden Pilgrimage.

Miss Broadway Weds Captain Robert Lee

Claiming the interest of friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Mary Helen Broadway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Keller Broadway of Gilbert, to Captain Robert Edward Lee, S. S. Maine, Saturday March 16, in the First Methodist church at Lake Charles, with the Rev. H. L. Johns officiating in the presence of intimate friends.

Miss Broadway was attended by Mrs. R. E. Evans of Monroe, as matron of honor, and Mr. H. A. Goodman of Houston, Tex., served as best man.

Mrs. Lee is a graduate of Gilbert High school and attended Louisiana State university in Baton Rouge, Soule college of business in New Orleans, and Bish Mathis institute in Monroe. She is a member of Eloise chapter No. 76, Order of Eastern Star, and Sigma Phi chapter of Beta Mu Iota. Until her recent marriage she was employed as private secretary to Mr. E. C. Gibson at the Alvis hotel.

On April 15, after an extended honeymoon, the couple will make their home in Chicago.

Miss Odom And Mr. Burns Wed

A marriage of interest to many friends throughout northeast Louisiana was that of Miss Cecil Odom, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Odom of Farmerville, and Mr. Young Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Burns of Bernice. Rev. M. A. Treadwell of Farmerville performed the ceremony in the presence of many relatives and friends.

The bride, a member of the Spearsville school faculty, was charming in a blue and pink ensemble with a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Among those who witnessed the ceremony were Miss Margaret Odom, Mr. Oscar Harrel, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Colvin, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Odom, Mr. J. L. Burns, Mr. H. S. Wasson, Miss Ernestine Ramsey, Miss Florence Odom, Mr. Mose P. Compton, Jr., Mr. Ernest L. Brantley and Mr. Raymond Odom.

The bride is a graduate of Louisiana Tech at Ruston. The groom graduated from Louisiana college, at Pineville, and is employed by the federal government.

Mrs. Reid Talks On Americanism

Mrs. Alfred Reid's address on "Americanism" was the highlight of the March meeting of the American Legion auxiliary at the Legion home. Mrs. Reid also led the pledge of allegiance to the flag, repeated in unison, and always a feature of each meeting.

Mrs. T. C. Mahr, president, presided during the business session, at which time various committees reported on all activities. The reports included the child welfare conference at Jacksonville, Fla., by Mrs. Charles Mitchell; presidents' and secretaries' conference in Baton Rouge, by Miss May Faulk; annual birthday party for the veterans at the government hospital in Alexandria, by Mrs. Wayne Huckaby.

Mrs. Reid, talking on "Americanism," said:

"National defense is America's greatest peacetime program, and the American Legion auxiliary may well review with pride the part they played in the recent awakening of the country's vital need of adequate national defense."

Mrs. Reid concluded her remarks with the poem, "I Like America," by Nancy Boyd.

Mrs. H. Flood Madison, talking on the subject of "Community Service," said:

"Community service program of our organization encompasses so much that it is difficult to make a factual record. Each year finds us responding to the call for closer cooperation with other community agencies to the end that constructive accomplishment, without wasteful duplication of effort, is reported. This year particular attention is centered on 'Books and Readers,' bringing them together through our library extension activities. When someone tritely characterized library service as 'getting the book and the reader together,' he failed to take into consideration that this may be accomplished and no reading done. So, to the first question we might answer that it is an effort to make books available to the greatest number of people, and also to arouse and stimulate their desire to read.

"All of us are familiar with the formal agencies now at work promoting reading, that is, public libraries, school libraries, college libraries and, more recently, county and traveling libraries. These are agencies provided for, sometimes by appropriations from state, county and municipal governments. But there are also at work striving to make more books available to more people certain informal agencies, where the plans are made and sponsored by laymen or members of organizations other than those made up of librarians and educators.

"Here I might mention libraries established by our effort in the American Legion auxiliary. Our national chairman reports two such libraries, and offers a few general recommendations as to how we can help to hasten the progress of this work in our own state."

Mrs. A. L. Harrington is sponsoring for the ninth consecutive year the world bridge olympic game at her home on Riverside, Thursday, April 4. Every bridge player in Monroe is eligible but every player must have a partner. Mrs. Harrington requests that reservations be made.

Recreational Director Addresses P.-T. A. Here

J. A. Zimmerman Tells Of Importance Of Play As Part Of Nation's Blessings

A most interesting meeting of the Neville High school P. T. A. was held March 21 with a large assembly present.

The guest speaker of the afternoon was Mr. J. A. Zimmerman, state recreational director of the WPA of New Orleans, who spoke on "Today's Youth at Play."

Mr. Zimmerman said he liked to look at the youth of today through rose-colored glasses instead of dark ones as some people do. He said if we would tear a page out of our lives and think how we used to play, it would represent 90 per cent of youth at play today, the only difference being that we are faster and have more things to attract us. We have more magazines, radios, etc., but in spite of this fact, we should look on the bright side of youth and also on the leisure side. Today, we have twenty hours more of leisure time than we had twenty years ago. This is due to shorter working hours, unemployment, etc. Millions of high school graduates are out of work or are unable to obtain work. Today, through government agencies, these conditions are known, while years ago, perhaps the same conditions existed, but we had no way of finding out about them. He spoke of his recreational leaders as "salesmen of joy and builders of a fuller life for people." He said: "We have a problem today with youth, and now that we know about it, we should do something about it, and, this first lesson should be taught at home, then in the school, church and at the recreation center. He said the recreation movement was not against any problem of youth, but that it was for youth and good wholesome recreation for all.

"If we offer enough opportunity to people who do not have time to play, they will soon avail themselves of it and be better off thereby. The recreation movement in this country took root on the playgrounds and now, it should include physical, cultural and pure entertainment for all participants. Theory of recreation should be indulged in by all organizations and the government should be notified of the needs of the various communities.

"There are now only two thousand employed by WPA as compared with eighteen thousand formerly; while there are still forty-four thousand people to be entertained. How long WPA will last is not known. Four years ago, only one person in the state had training in recreation work. The state is virgin territory for this kind of work and the present leaders were trained by WPA directors."

He asked that the P.-T. A. organizations present and recommend the needs of recreation movements in all communities and by all means to let the youth plan their own form of entertainment. They would be happier doing the things they wanted to do.

He said his leaders were trained to do all kinds of things so when play or a party began to sag, they could offer some other form of amusement. He told of pottery work being done at a center in New Orleans under the able direction of a former Newcomb graduate who is now on WPA. As an idle mind is the devil's workshop, so is delinquency prevented, if time is full.

Mrs. Landreaux, state chairman, was introduced and stated that she had five workers in Monroe. Mrs. Louise Adger, supervisor, was likewise introduced at this time.

Mr. Zimmerman stated that while a number of his trained workers had been discharged, he was still working hard and hoped to continue promoting wholesome play for youth. He again urged that we use our leisure time intelligently and wholesomely for the betterment of the youth of today.

Central Grammar

How the Young Women's Christian association's program has contributed to better developed and well rounded womanhood was the theme of Miss Ivo Wilson's address before the Central Grammar school's P.-T. A., Wednesday afternoon. Miss Wilson is executive secretary of the Monroe "Y."

She stated that the local "Y" is 11 years old and that it has performed in the past a special service for the community. It is the endeavor, she said, of the "Y" to find the needs and interests of young womanhood.

After the World war, Miss Wilson said, the associational buildings were crowded with children and the Girl Reserves were then formed. This group is open to girls from 12-18 years and its program is constructed around the needs of young girls.

Christian thinking, of the sort that is non-sectarian, the building of the community into a better place to live, are embraced in the program. There should be fellowship, recreation and a development of skills and understandings, Miss Wilson assured.

In this connection she cited several books that can be read by parents with interest. These included: "Do Adolescents Need Parents?" by Taylor; "Growing Up in the World Today."

Some of the subjects that concern growing girls are those which comprise boy and girl relationships; relationships between girls themselves; the development of skills and hobbies, music, wholesome recreation and spiritual guidance. The speaker said that now is the time to build a new world, and along this line of thought she mentioned two books, "How Character Is Developed"; "Character Building and Building Attitudes."

"The purpose of the 'Y'," Miss Wilson said, "is conveyed on the symbol of the group, a white triangle on a blue background, which stands for health, mind and spirit."

Reports were rendered and a nominating committee named as follows: Mrs. Robert Dartez, chairman; Mrs. Margaret McCormick, Mrs. Cora Thompson and Mrs. T. Tarpley.

Mrs. E. G. Courtney, Sr., P.-T. A. president, and the incoming president to be elected at the meeting, will be the delegates to the state P.-T. A. convention to be held in Lake Charles, April 19.

A folk dance was presented by grade one pupils of Miss Kate Henry. Grade 4-b had the honor of having most mothers present at the meeting.

St. Matthew's

The members of St. Matthew's P.-T. A. were delightfully entertained at their regular meeting for the month of March, by Mr. Olan Black, local Boy Scout executive, and Miss Ivo Wilson, of the Y. W. C. A., who gave inspirational and instructive addresses. Mr. Black's address, in keeping the topic of the month, "Safety," dwelt on the Boy Scout program of safety. He stated that the Boy Scouts are now offered a special award for marksmanship, teaching them the safe method of handling a gun. His address was preceded by Troop 1, Boy Scouts, presenting a short and original skit on their method of first aid at the scene of an accident. Mr. Black, in referring to the short skit, said that the Boy Scouts not only were taught first aid to take care of accidents, but were also taught how to avoid accidents. He made a plea to the members for the upbuilding of citizenship, and strengthening of the character of youth in order that the pioneer spirit of yesteryear may be preserved, and continued in the citizenship of tomorrow. In closing he left his definition of character. "Character is one's ability to live up to their ideals," he said.

Miss Wilson's message had to do with adolescent girls. She related events from her vast storehouse of experience over the past few years, when her work kept her in direct contact with all types of girls. She gave methods in dealing with the Girl Reserve movement, it's aims and objects. She asked for cooperation from the adult leaders in leading adolescent girls to womanhood. The manner in which both messages were delivered and the realization that both speakers were competent and capable of discussing their chosen subjects kept the entire assemblage deeply interested.

Mrs. Charles Guerriero, president, presided over the business session. A motion was made that outstanding bills be paid. The executive committee's recommendations were given by the secretary. Mrs. Guerriero asked that all committee chairmen have their reports ready for the April meeting. Mrs. Allen Ritter, secretary, gave a short report of the Fifth district meeting. Mrs. M. R. Hausherr was complimented on her splendid work as historian, in compiling the year book. St. Matthew's year book, received honorable mention at the Fifth district meeting.

The room awards of $1 each were given to the seventh grade and second year high for having the most mothers present. The nominating committee selected at this time includes Mrs. M. R. Hausherr, Mrs. Pat Curtin and Mrs. Tom Sullivan. The members were invited to attend the state convention to be held in Lake Charles April 18, 19, 20. Plans were made to attend the monthly book review on March 29. Pat Curtin and J. W. Webster, grade school students, received 50 cents for their safety posters and $1 was awarded Bill Riley, high school student, for his safety essay.

Final plans were made for the bingo party to be held at the school Tuesday night, March 26. Mrs. V. C. Spatafora and Mrs. Stanley Hodges are in charge of the ticket sale and door. Mrs. William Zinsmeister is in charge of soft drinks and Mrs. Stanley Reid is in charge of candy sales.

Announcement is made by Mrs. G. B. Wilson, state safety chairman of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association, that the winners in the safety poster contest held at the Fifth district meeting recently were awarded to Harvey White, Swartz; Herman Bernard Wilson, Swartz; Jane Wise, Fairbanks.

Fourteen posters were entered in the contest and the winning posters will be sent to the state convention, Lake Charles, April 18, 19, 20, to compete with posters from the other ten districts.

Judges for the posters were Mrs. J. B. Best, Mrs. Sep Hetherwick and Mrs. A. B. Fuller of Shreveport.

Auxiliary Will Entertain Doctors

Once each year, on Doctor's day, members of the auxiliary to the Ouachita Parish Medical society, entertain the doctors with an elaborate social affair. This year's compliment, a dinner-dance in the crystal ball room of the Virginia hotel will be a brilliant social event with such well known hostesses as Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, Mrs. Scott Hamilton, Mrs. R. H. Frost, Mrs. W. G. Murphy, Mrs. D. I. Hirsch, Mrs. A. L. Peters, Mrs. C. P. Gray, Jr., and Mrs. P. L. Perot arranging the details.

Unusual interest is centered in this year's affair as the tenth anniversary of the auxiliary will be celebrated at this time. Mrs. Blanche Oliver, Monroe's versatile entertainer, will be presented in several clever skits and dramatic readings.

MRS. COTTINGHAM HONORED . . .

Claiming interest on last week's social calendar was the beautifully appointed dinner party honoring Mrs. Georgia Cottingham, whose approaching marriage to Mr. W. L. Vanderford is claiming the interest of friends.

The dinner table, in the Cameo room of the Virginia hotel, reflected a bridal theme with graceful sprays of bridal wreath, white wistaria and wedding bells in artistic arrangement. A white trellis entwined with white wistaria formed the central decor. Beneath the arch was a crystal bowl overflowing with transparent bubbles. Directly overhead a cluster of wedding bells were suspended.

Pink and white cornucopias overflowing with snow drops and bridal wreath were placed at intervals along the table. The cover reserved for Mrs. Cottingham was marked with an exquisite corsage of pink roses and valley lilies.

Mrs. Cottingham was a lovely figure on this occasion in a beautiful spring model of pastel blue with a smart little black hat and black gloves.

A delicious five-course dinner was served to Mrs. Cottingham, Mrs. W. R. Humphries, Mrs. Lealis Hale, Mrs. W. J. Chapman, Jr., Miss Doris Aycock, Miss Lois Pace, Miss M. McKnight, Miss Wilma Noble, Miss Aileen Grigsby, Miss Hopie Ross, Miss Juanita Hogge and Miss Juanita Fant.

Mrs. Colvert Talks To Welcome Branch

Mrs. C. C. Colvert, fifth district chairman of the department of education of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, addressed members of Welcome Branch club last week when they met in the home of Mrs. Zell Smith with Mrs. Harvey Callendar and Mrs. L. R. Ledbetter, co-hostesses.

Mrs. Colvert stated the purpose of the department of education in the federation is to coopetrate with the department of education in the state of Louisiana and in the department of education of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Washington, D. C.

She said, "Education is the name we give to those forces which guide direct and encourage the growth pattern of the individual."

Mrs. Colvert discussed education in Louisiana under the following divisions: (1) adult education, (2) library service, (3) mothercraft, (4) public instruction and (5) character education. She stated the General Federation approved studies in character building and crime prevention and urged school authorities to include them in the curriculum as society has shifted this training from the home to the school. However, Mrs. Colvert stressed the need for better home life.

Following the business session presided over by Mrs. Zell Smith the program, "Color in the Home," was presented.

Mrs. H. R. Saenger, talented artist, gave an interesting talk on "Making Magic With Pictures and Bric-a-Brac." She said in part:

"Well-chosen paintings provide an important cultural background for your family. A room can be built around a single picture, using it as the key to the color scheme, the rhythm and the mood of the room. In small homes water colors, drawings, etchings and prints are most appropriate while oil paintings are for the larger, formal homes. Be sure the accessories of your room are decorative additions to your scheme, as your selection is a revealing indication of your personal taste."

Mrs. John Whitfield's paper on window decorations, curtains, draperies and Venetian blinds was most constructive.

Mrs. Joseph Winkler, Jr., concluded the program with an interesting talk on ceilings and floors.

The Easter motif was reflected in the refreshments served during the tea hour to the following members and guests: Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. F. E. Black, Mrs. H. Callendar, Mrs. J. T. Eubank, Mrs. W. C. Faulk, Mrs. George Fink, Mrs. J. H. Gorman, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. M. R. Hausherr, Mrs. J. S. Henderson, Mrs. J. G. Hicks, Mrs. G. D. Holland, Mrs. C. M. Koontz, Mrs. E. E. Lawson, Mrs. L. R. Ledbetter, Mrs. Clyde Pedigo, Mrs. B. M. Murphy, Mrs. J. D. Petty, Mrs. George Phebus, Mrs. J. F. Prendergast, Mrs. W. E. Sandel, Mrs. T. H. Scott, Mrs. Dean Selig, Mrs. Zell Smith, Mrs. H. R. Saenger, Mrs. Albert Speer, Mrs. Charles Swain, Mrs. John L. Whitfield, Mrs. Joseph Winkler, Jr., Mrs. C. A. Young, Mrs. William H. Treiber and Mrs. Eugene Treiber of Topeka, Kas., Mrs. C. C. Colvert, Mrs. F. H. Peterson, Mrs. E. M. Baber, Mrs. A. R. Aauerfind, Mrs. M. O. Young, Mrs. C. T. Miss Dieterich And Donald Quinn Marry

Interest is centered in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Myrtle Agnes Dieterich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Dieterich, and Mr. Donald S. Quinn, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Quinn, Saturday, March 9, at the Baptist parsonage with the pastor of the First Baptist church, Rev. L. T. Hastings, officiating in the presence of a few intimate friends and members of the family.

An improvised altar, encircled with tall white tapers, was reared in the midst of southern smilax and spring flowers.

The bride's attendant, her sister, Miss Doris Dieterich, wore a dusty rose crepe ensemble with navy accessories.

Mr. Quinn was attended by Mr. James Williams.

The bride wore a lovely spring model of aqua blue with accessories of camellia pink and a corsage of pink gladioli and Roman hyacinth.

Before the ceremony Mrs. S. L. Webb sang, "Because," and "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. Carl Couch. During the ceremony "Love's Old Sweet Song," was rendered.

Mr. Quinn is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High school, attended Northeast Junior college and a graduate of B. M. I. He is employed by Louisiana Tire and Supply company.

After a brief wedding trip they are now at home to friends at 2705 Gordon avenue.

Mrs. Quinn is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High school, Northeast Junior college and B. M. I. She is now employed by Kiper Hardware company.

Recreational Director Addresses P.-T. A. Here

J. A. Zimmerman Tells Of Importance Of Play As Part Of Nation's Blessings

A most interesting meeting of the Neville High school P.-T. A. was held March 21 with a large assembly present.

The guest speaker of the afternoon was Mr. J. A. Zimmerman, state recreational director of the WPA of New Orleans, who spoke on "Today's Youth at Play."

Mr. Zimmerman said he liked to look at the youth of today through rose-colored glasses instead of dark ones as some people do. He said if we would tear a page out of our lives and think how we used to play, it would represent 99 per cent of youth at play today, the only difference being that we live faster and have more things to attract us. We have more magazines, radios, etc., but in spite of this fact, we should look on the bright side of youth and also on the leisure side. Today, we have twenty hours more of leisure time than we had twenty years ago. This is due to shorter working hours, unemployment, etc. Millions of high school graduates are out of work or are unable to obtain work. Today, through government agencies, these conditions are known, while years ago, perhaps the same conditions existed, but we had no way of finding out about them. He spoke of his recreational leaders as "salesmen of joy and builders of a fuller life for people." He said: "We have a problem today with youth, and now that we know about it, we should do something about it, and, this first lesson should be taught at home, then in the school, church and at the recreation center. He said the recreation movement was not against any problem of youth, but that it was for youth and good wholesome recreation for all.

"If we offer enough opportunity to people who do not have time to play, they will soon avail themselves of it and be better off thereby. The recreation movement in this country took root on the playgrounds and now, it should include physical, cultural and pure entertainment for all participants. Theory of recreation should be indulged in by all organizations and the government should be notified of the needs of the various communities.

"There are now only two thousand employed by WPA as compared with eighteen thousand formerly; while there are still forty-four thousand people to be entertained. How long WPA will last is not known. Four years ago, only one person in the state had training in recreation work. The state is virgin territory for this kind of work and the present leaders were trained by WPA directors."

He asked that the P.-T. A. organizations present and recommend the needs of recreation movements in all communities and by all means to let the youth plan their own form of entertainment. They would be happier doing the things they wanted to do.

He said his leaders were trained to do all kinds of things so when play or a party began to sag, they could offer some other form of amusement. He told of pottery work being done at a center in New Orleans under the able direction of a former Newcomb graduate who is now on WPA. As an idle mind is the devil's workshop, so is delinquency prevented, if time is full.

Mrs. Landreaux, state chairman, was introduced and stated that she had five workers in Monroe. Mrs. Louise Adger, supervisor, was likewise introduced at this time.

Mr. Zimmerman stated that while a number of his trained workers had been discharged, he was still working hard and hoped to continue promoting wholesome play for youth. He again urged that we use our leisure time intelligently and wholesomely for the betterment of the youth of today.

Central Grammar

How the Young Women's Christian association's program has contributed to better developed and well rounded womanhood was the theme of Miss Ivo Wilson's address before the Central Grammar school's P.-T. A., Wednesday afternoon. Miss Wilson is executive secretary of the Monroe "Y."

She stated that the local "Y" is 11 years old and that it has performed in the past a special service for the community. It is the endeavor, she said, of the "Y" to find the needs and interests of young womanhood.

After the World war, Miss Wilson said, the associational buildings were crowded with children and the Girl Reserves were then formed. This group is open to girls from 12-18 years and its program is constructed around the needs of young girls.

Christian thinking, of the sort that is non-sectarian, the building of the community into a better place to live, are embraced in the program. There should be fellowship, recreation and a development of skills and understandings, Miss Wilson assured.

In this connection she cited several books that can be read by parents with interest. These included: "Do Adolescents Need Parents?" by Taylor; "Growing Up in the World Today."

Some of the subjects that concern growing girls are those which comprise boy and girl relationships; relationships between girls themselves; the development of skills and hobbies, music, wholesome recreation and spiritual guidance. The speaker said that now is the time to build a new world, and along this line of thought she mentioned two books, "How Character Is Developed"; "Character Building and Building Attitudes."

"The purpose of the 'Y'," Miss Wilson said, "is conveyed on the symbol of the group, a white triangle on a blue background, which stands for health, mind and spirit."

Reports were rendered and a nominating committee named as follows: Mrs. Robert Dartez, chairman; Mrs. Margaret McCormick, Mrs. Cora Thompson and Mrs. T. Tarpley.

Mrs. E. G. Courtney, Sr., P.- T. A. president, and the incoming president to be elected at the meeting, will be the delegates to the state P.-T. A. convention to be held in Lake Charles, April 19.

A folk dance was presented by grade one pupils of Miss Kate Henry. Grade 4-b had the honor of having most mothers present at the meeting.

St. Matthew's

The members of St. Matthew's P.-T. A. were delightfully entertained at their regular meeting for the month of March, by Mr. Olan Black, local Boy Scout executive, and Miss Ivo Wilson, of the Y. W. C. A., who gave inspirational and instructive addresses. Mr. Black's address, in keeping the topic of the month, "Safety," dwelt on the Boy Scout program of safety. He stated that the Boy Scouts are now offered a special award for marksmanship, teaching them the safe method of handling a gun. His address was preceded by Troop 1, Boy Scouts, presenting a short and original skit on their method of first aid at the scene of an accident. Mr. Black, in referring to the short skit, said that the Boy Scouts not only were taught first aid to take care of accidents, but were also taught how to avoid accidents. He made a plea to the members for the upbuilding of citizenship, and strengthening of the character of youth in order that the pioneer spirit of yesteryear may be preserved, and continued in the citizenship of tomorrow. In closing he left his definition of character. "Character is one's ability to live up to their ideals," he said.

Miss Wilson's message had to do with adolescent girls. She related events from her vast storehouse of experience over the past few years, when her work kept her in direct contact with all types of girls. She gave methods in dealing with the Girl Reserve movement, it's aims and objects. She asked for cooperation from the adult leaders in leading adolescent girls to womanhood. The manner in which both messages were delivered and the realization that both speakers were competent and capable of discussing their chosen subjects kept the entire assemblage deeply interested.

Mrs. Charles Guerriero, president, presided over the business session. A motion was made that outstanding bills be paid. The executive committee's recommendations were given by the secretary. Mrs. Guerriero asked that all committee chairmen have their reports ready for the April meeting. Mrs. Allen Ritter, secretary, gave a short report of the Fifth district meeting. Mrs. M. R. Hausherr was complimented on her splendid work as historian, in compiling the year book. St. Matthew's year book, received honorable mention at the Fifth district meeting.

The room awards of $1 each were given to the seventh grade and second year high for having the most mothers present. The nominating committee selected at this time includes Mrs. M. R. Hausherr, Mrs. Pat Curtin and Mrs. Tom Sullivan. The members were invited to attend the state convention to be held in Lake Charles April 18, 19, 20. Plans were made to attend the monthly book review on March 29. Pat Curtin and J. W. Webster, grade school students, received 50 cents for their safety posters and $1 was awarded Bill Riley, high school student, for his safety essay.

Final plans were made for the bingo party to be held at the school Tuesday night, March 26. Mrs. V. C. Spatafora and Mrs. Stanley Hodges are in charge of the ticket sale and door. Mrs. William Zinsmeister is in charge of soft drinks and Mrs. Stanley Reid is in charge of candy sales.

Announcement is made by Mrs. G. B. Wilson, state safety chairman of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association, that the winners in the safety poster contest held at the Fifth district meeting recently were awarded to Harvey White, Swartz; Herman Bernard Wilson, Swartz; Jane Wise, Fairbanks.

Fourteen posters were entered in the contest and the winning posters will be sent to the state convention, Lake Charles, April 18, 19, 20, to compete with posters from the other ten districts.

Judges for the posters were Mrs. J. B. Best, Mrs. Sep Hetherwick and Mrs. A. B. Fuller of Shreveport.

Auxiliary Will Entertain Doctors

Once each year, on Doctor's day, members of the auxiliary to the Ouachita Parish Medical society, entertain the doctors with an elaborate social affair. This year's compliment, a dinner-dance in the crystal ball room of the Virginia hotel will be a brilliant social event with such well known hostesses as Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, Mrs. Scott Hamilton, Mrs. R. H. Frost, Mrs. W. G. Murphy, Mrs. D. I. Hirsch, Mrs. A. L. Peters, Mrs. C. P. Gray, Jr., and Mrs. P. L. Perot arranging the details.

Unusual interest is centered in this year's affair as the tenth anniversary of the auxiliary will be celebrated at this time. Mrs. Blanche Oliver, Monroe's versatile entertainer, will be presented in several clever skits and dramatic readings.

Claiming interest on last week's social calendar was the beautifully appointed dinner party honoring Mrs. Georgia Cottingham, whose approaching marriage to Mr. W. L. Vanderford is claiming the interest of friends.

The dinner table, in the Cameo room of the Virginia hotel, reflected a bridal theme with graceful sprays of bridal wreath, white wistaria and wedding bells in artistic arrangement. A white trellis entwined with white wistaria formed the central decor Beneath the arch was a crystal bowl overflowing with transparent bubbles. Directly overhead a cluster of wedding bells were suspended.

Pink and white cornucopias overflowing with snow drops and bridal wreath were placed at intervals along the table. The cover reserved for Mrs. Cottingham was marked with an exquisite corsage of pink roses and valley lilies.

Mrs. Cottingham was a lovely figure on this occasion in a beautiful spring model of pastel blue with a smart little black hat and black gloves.

A delicious five-course dinner was served to Mrs. Cottingham, Mrs. W. R. Humphries, Mrs. Lealis Hale, Mrs. W. J. Chapman, Jr., Miss Doris Aycock, Miss Lois Pace, Miss M. McKnight, Miss Wilma Noble, Miss Aileen Grigsby, Miss Hopie Ross, Miss Juanita Hogge and Miss Juanita Fant.

Mrs. Colvert Talks To Welcome Branch

Mrs. C. C. Colvert, fifth district chairman of the department of education of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, addressed members of Welcome Branch club last week when they met in the home of Mrs. Zell Smith with Mrs. Harvey Callendar and Mrs. L. R. Ledbetter, co-hostesses.

Mrs. Colvert stated the purpose of the department of education in the federation is to coopetrate with the department of education in the state of Louisiana and in the department of education of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Washington, D. C.

She said, "Education is the name we give to those forces which guide direct and encourage the growth pattern of the individual."

Mrs. Colvert discussed education in Louisiana under the following divisions: (1) adult education, (2) library service, (3) mothercraft, (4) public instruction and (5) character education. She stated the General Federation approved studies in character building and crime prevention and urged school authorities to include them in the curriculum as society has shifted this training from the home to the school. However, Mrs. Colvert stressed the need for better home life.

Following the business session presided over by Mrs. Zell Smith the program, "Color in the Home," was presented.

Mrs. H. R. Saenger, talented artist, gave an interesting talk on "Making Magic With Pictures and Bric-a-Brac." She said in part:

"Well-chosen paintings provide an important cultural background for your family. A room can be built around a single picture, using it as the key to the color scheme, the rhythm and the mood of the room. In small homes water colors, drawings, etchings and prints are most appropriate while oil paintings are for the larger, formal homes. Be sure the accessories of your room are decorative additions to your scheme, as your selection is a revealing indication of your personal taste."

Mrs. John Whitfield's paper on window decorations, curtains, draperies and Venetian blinds was most constructive.

Mrs. Joseph Winkler, Jr., concluded the program with an interesting talk on ceilings and floors.

The Easter motif was reflected in the refreshments served during the tea hour to the following members and guests: Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. F. E. Black, Mrs. H. Callendar, Mrs. J. T. Eubank, Mrs. W. C. Faulk, Mrs. George Fink, Mrs. J. H. Gorman, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. M. R. Hausherr, Mrs. J. S. Henderson, Mrs. J. G. Clubs Stress Interest In Community Affairs

The public affairs committees of the Altrusa club, the American Association of University Women, the Business and Professional Women's club, the Y. W. C. A. Business Girls' club and the Y. W. C. A. are uniting for the present year in an effort to promote a community program of public affairs. These committees are taking advantage of the current series of lectures sponsored by the Y's Men's club and given by Judge Pierre Crabites of Louisiana State university's law department, and they offer these lectures as their first item in the program designed to present an opportunity for group discussion once each month. Therefore all members of these clubs, and others interested, are urged to attend the forthcoming lecture, scheduled for Monday evening, March 25, at Georgia Tucker school at 8 p.m. A representative of each club will be stationed at the entrance of the auditorium, and it is urged that the members of the clubs register with their respective representatives. The committees are indebted to the Y's Men's club for their generous cooperation in this matter. No admission is charged.

Judge Crabites has had long and varied experience in foreign countries and will discuss vital issues from his first-hand information of the foreign situation. Chairman of these committees from whom club members can receive more information if desired are: Miss Bernice McCoy, Altrusa; Miss Myrtle Rodgers, A. A. U. W.; Mrs. Johnnie Smith Elbert, Business and Professional Women's club; Miss Eleona Brinsmade, Y. W. C. A. Business Girls' club; Mrs. A. D. Tisdale and Miss Sue Hefley, Y. W. C. A. These clubs invite any others not represented to join them in sponsoring this community program on foreign affairs; any clubs with standing committees whose work would be aided by joining with this group are urged to get in touch with any one of the chairmen named above, and arrangements will be made for participation.

Business Girls To Entertain 'Bosses'

The "boss" gets all the breaks—this time he's to be guest of honor at a banquet sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. Business and Professional Women's club. Practically every business and profession in the Twin Cities will be represented at the affair, to be held Thursday evening on the roof of Hotel Virginia, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Something different in banquets is promised by the committee in charge—after sending out invitations in the forms of court subpoenas.

Miss Eleona Brinsmade will be toastmistress, and club officers, Mrs. Sybil Cooper, Miss Mary Benoit, Mrs. Louise Phillips, Mrs. Alice Terry and Miss Ivo Wilson will comprise the receiving line. In charge of the program are Misses Mabel Hendricks, Lucyle Godwin, Winifred McWhorter and Dorothy Lee Pettit. Miss Mary Janet Zeagler has charge of the music. Table decorations will be supervised by Miss Marie Thompson, Mrs. Elizabeth Benton, Mrs. Cora Grower and Miss Lenora Airoldi, and novel place cards are being prepared by Mrs. Martha Bradley, Miss Edythe Farmer and Miss Ruth Hamilton. Directing invitations and reservations are Miss Mary Benoit and Mrs. Louise Phillips.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Deen and son of Jackson, Miss., former residents of this city, were the guests last week of Mrs. O. E. Duggins on Wood street.

Miss Mary Lavinia Inabnet, student at Randolph Macon college, arrived home Thursday, via the Delta Airways, to spend the Easter season with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barlow Inabnet.

The interest of friends is centered in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Margaret Louise Warlick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Warlick, Sr., of this city and Joseph McClain, at the Baptist parsonage March 3, with the pastor, Rev. L. F. Hastings, officiating in the presence of a few intimate friends and members of the family.

The bride wore an advanced spring model of poudre blue with accessories of dusty pink and a corsage of pink carnations.

Clubs Stress Interest In Community Affairs

The public affairs committees of the Altrusa club, the American Association of University Women, the Business and Professional Women's club, the Y. W. C. A. Business Girls' club and the Y. W. C. A. are uniting for the present year in an effort to promote a community program of public affairs. These committees are taking advantage of the current series of lectures sponsored by the Y's Men's club and given by Judge Pierre Crabites of Louisiana State university's law department, and they offer these lectures as their first item in the program designed to present an opportunity for group discussion once each month. Therefore all members of these clubs, and others interested, are urged to attend the forthcoming lecture, scheduled for Monday evening, March 25, at Georgia Tucker school at 8 p.m. A representative of each club will be stationed at the entrance of the auditorium, and it is urged that the members of the clubs register with their respective representatives. The committees are indebted to the Y's Men's club for their generous cooperation in this matter. No admission is charged.

Judge Crabites has had long and varied experience in foreign countries and will discuss vital issues from his first-hand information of the foreign situation. Chairman of these committees from whom club members can receive more information if desired are: Miss Bernice McCoy, Altrusa; Miss Myrtle Rodgers, A. A. U. W.; Mrs. Johnnie Smith Elbert, Business and Professional Women's club; Miss Eleona Brinsmade, Y. W. C. A. Business Girls' club; Mrs. A. D. Tisdale and Miss Sue Hefley, Y. W. C. A. These clubs invite any others not represented to join them in sponsoring this community program on foreign affairs; any clubs with standing committees whose work would be aided by joining with this group are urged to get in touch with any one of the chairmen named above, and arrangements will be made for participation.

Business Girls To Entertain 'Bosses'

The "boss" gets all the breaks—this time he's to be guest of honor at a banquet sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. Business and Professional Women's club. Practically every business and profession in the Twin Cities will be represented at the affair, to be held Thursday evening on the roof of Hotel Virginia, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Something different in banquets is promised by the committee in charge—after sending out invitations in the forms of court subpoenas.

Miss Eleona Brinsmade will be toastmistress, and club officers, Mrs. Sybil Cooper, Miss Mary Benoit, Mrs. Louise Phillips, Mrs. Alice Terry and Miss Ivo Wilson will comprise the receiving line. In charge of the program are Misses Mabel Hendricks, Lucyle Godwin, Winifred McWhorter and Dorothy Lee Pettit. Miss Mary Janet Zeagler has charge of the music. Table decorations will be supervised by Miss Marie Thompson, Mrs. Elizabeth Benton, Mrs. Cora Grower and Miss Lenora Airoldi, and novel place cards are being prepared by Mrs. Martha Bradley, Miss Edythe Farmer and Miss Ruth Hamilton. Directing invitations and reservations are Miss Mary Benoit and Mrs. Louise Phillips.

:-: BUSINESS REVIEW :-:

Spatafora Gives Fast, Courteous, Careful Service

Fast, careful, courteous service—that's what you get at Spatafora's pharmacy, 801 DeSiard street, Monroe's most interesting drug store.

No drug store in this vicinity carries a more complete line of standard drugs and remedies or maintains a better prescription department than Spatafora's pharmacy, the telephone number of which is 2333. From the very start, the drug store has been providing the public with the best in merchandise and service at moderate price.

All orders are carefully handled by Spatafora's pharmacy, particularly the compounding of prescriptions. There are four registered pharmacists on the staff of the establishment. This enables it to fill prescriptions without a moment's delay.

Moreover, Spatafora's pharmacy utilizes several motor bikes and an automobile in providing Monroe and West Monroe residents with the fastest drug store delivery service available. Prescriptions are called for as well as delivered.

For the convenience of patrons who find themselves out of things on Sundays and holidays, Spatafora's pharmacy carries a number of essential items like handkerchiefs, socks, stockings and the like and such things as fish hooks, fishing lines, sinkers and so on. Moreover, suitable gifts for most any occasion can be had there.

In connection with the drug store, Spatafora's pharmacy operates a bar where you can get any kind of soft or spirituous drink you desire and which handles imported and domestic wines and liquors of every description.

Patronize Spatafora's pharmacy, the place that is always pleased to serve you.

Electrical Union Has Steady Growth

W. S. Adcock, secretary and business representative of local 446, of the International Brotherhood of Electrical workers, states that this group was formed in 1914 here and has enjoyed a steady growth, its rolls comprising competent and reliable electricians.

"It has been proven these many years that cheaply paid electrical mechanics are expensive and most likely to do a wiring job of inferior quality which often results in fire hazards and danger to life and property. We urge you to use electrical contractors who employ members of local No. 446 when you build your new home. A first-class electrical installation will make you feel safe both for yourself and for loved ones.

"You can depend also upon these contractors to use only the best of materials as well as workmanship on all types of electrical repairs and installation.

"Demand a union wired job. It costs no more than the best," Mr. Adcock concluded.

Scott Shows New Ground Grip Tires

The Scott Truck and Tractor company is offering the new Firestone ground grip tractor tires.

The new tractor tire has triple braced traction bars which cannot bend or tear off. It has a 32 per cent greater surface contact which gives it increased pulling power. The tread design enables the tire to clean itself with each revolution, giving the tire clean gripping power at all times.

Now you can trade your old steel wheels on these new tires at lowest prices and at terms arranged for your convenience.

Why not drop by the Scott Truck and Tractor company, 720 DeSiard street, and get a demonstration with no cost or obligation to you?

Did you know that Monroe has one of the best truck-freight service daily, direct from Chicago, St. Louis and intermediate points right to your door? Well, we have and Kimbel Lines, Inc., give you third morning delivery from Chicago, and second morning from St. Louis, and overnight from Memphis and Little Rock, also serving intermediate points between these cities. The arrival time in Monroe is 8:30 a.m. and departure is 2 p.m., daily.

Your freight from any of these points does not transfer to another line but is brought direct from the manufacturer and delivered direct to you here in Monroe.

The Kimbel Lines, Inc., are bonded and carry the necessary insurance required by any motor freight carrier. They also have a fleet of 96 of the most modern and up-to-date freight trucks. They also have a one-line connection with principally all the eastern and northern cities, giving you the best possible freight truck service into Monroe and this vicinity.

Give them a trial shipment and let them prove to you their service. The terminal is located at 504 Olive street and the telephone number is 4808; the agent is R. P. Lee, who is well known to most of the shipping public as he has been in the freight service in Monroe for the past twenty years.

Stock Company Protection Best

When you buy stock company insurance, you buy insurance protection on which you can rely when catastrophe strikes. You buy it from a man whose business is counseling people on their insurance problems. Stock companies stand behind their contracts with their millions of dollars in safely invested assets and their reputation for fair dealing and fast service.

Such are the stock companies represented by Gregg and McKenzie, 313 Harrison street, Monroe's oldest insurance agency.

If you have a loss under a stock company insurance policy, you receive immediate dependable loss service. You turn at once to the man from whom you bought the policy and he is there to serve you. Your local insurance counselor, with whom you can get in touch at any time, day or night, is in a position to advise you on all your insurance needs. He offers insurance to complete the protection of your business and your home.

More than 80 per cent of the men and firms who buy insurance against loss or damage to property wisely choose stock company insurance. When four out of five use this service, it must be good. Stock company insurance means that back of the contract of insurance is capital supplied by investors that provides additional security for your insurance. In insurance, you may lose hundreds of times the original cost if you take a chance in buying. So you are thrifty as well as wise when you buy stock company protection from your local insurance counselor, for it's cheaper to be safe than sorry.

BUSINESS REVIEW

Spatafora Gives Fast, Courteous, Careful Service

Fast, careful, courteous service—that's what you get at Spatafora's pharmacy, 801 DeSiard street, Monroe's most interesting drug store.

No drug store in this vicinity carries a more complete line of standard drugs and remedies or maintains a better prescription department than Spatafora's pharmacy, the telephone number of which is 2333. From the very start, the drug store has been providing the public with the best in merchandise and service at moderate price.

All orders are carefully handled by Spatafora's pharmacy, particularly the compounding of prescriptions. There are four registered pharmacists on the staff of the establishment. This enables it to fill prescriptions without a moment's delay.

Moreover, Spatafora's pharmacy utilizes several motor bikes and an automobile in providing Monroe and West Monroe residents with the fastest drug store delivery service available. Prescriptions are called for as well as delivered.

For the convenience of patrons who find themselves out of things on Sundays and holidays, Spatafora's pharmacy carries a number of essential items like handkerchiefs, socks, stockings and the like and such things as fish hooks, fishing lines, sinkers and so on. Moreover, suitable gifts for most any occasion can be had there.

In connection with the drug store, Spatafora's pharmacy operates a bar where you can get any kind of soft or spirituous drink you desire and which handles imported and domestic wines and liquors of every description.

Patronize Spatafora's pharmacy, the place that is always pleased to serve you.

Electrical Union Has Steady Growth

W. S. Adcock, secretary and business representative of local 446, of the International Brotherhood of Electrical workers, states that this group was formed in 1914 here and has enjoyed a steady growth, its rolls comprising competent and reliable electricians.

"It has been proven these many years that cheaply paid electrical mechanics are expensive and most likely to do a wiring job of inferior quality which often results in fire hazards and danger to life and property. We urge you to use electrical contractors who employ members of local No. 446 when you build your new home. A first-class electrical installation will make you feel safe both for yourself and for loved ones.

"You can depend also upon these contractors to use only the best of materials as well as workmanship on all types of electrical repairs and installation.

"Demand a union wired job. It costs no more than the best," Mr. Adcock concluded.

Scott Shows New Ground Grip Tires

The Scott Truck and Tractor company is offering the new Firestone ground grip tractor tires.

The new tractor tire has triple braced traction bars which cannot bend or tear off. It has a 32 per cent greater surface contact which gives it increased pulling power. The tread design enables the tire to clean itself with each revolution, giving the tire clean gripping power at all times.

Now you can trade your old steel wheels on these new tires at lowest prices and at terms arranged for your convenience.

Why not drop by the Scott Truck and Tractor company, 720 DeSiard street, and get a demonstration with no cost or obligation to you?

Vigoro Advocated By Lane Wilson

A square meal for lawns, flowers, vegetables and shrubbery—that's Vigoro, the fertilizer recommended by Lane Wilson Seed company, 113-115 North Grand street, telephone No. 387.

Vigoro contains all of the 11 elements science has found that plants of every description require. And it's inexpensive because a little goes a long way.

Vigoro produces thick grass with a sturdy root growth. It produces healthy, full-foliaged trees and shrubs. It roduces luxuriant flowers. And it improves the flavor and increases the productivity of vegetables.

While it does all of these things, it has these attractive qualities: It is clean. It is odorless. It is sanitary.

Complete instructions as to the proper manner of feeding plants with Vigoro are contained in each package.

Vigoro supplies plants with these vital and essential elements: nitrogen, phosphorus, potash, calcium, magnesium, manganese, iron, suphur, copper, zinc and boron.

You can get Vigoro in any quantity suitabe to your requirements, from one-pound cartons to 100-pound bags. Lane Wilson Seed company carries a compete stock.

In fact, the estabishment has everything required for the care and cutlivation of lawns, flower gardens, vegetable gardens and fields. Visit Lane Wilson Seed company in shopping for seed, fertilizer, equipment, insecticides and feeds.

NETWORK OF ROOTS

The giant sequoia tree has a tap root only during the early years of its long life. Thereafter, it sends its roots laterally, close to the surface of the ground, and this network may spread over two or three acres.

The ostrich, which grows to a height of nine feet, weighs as much as 300 pounds, and provides feathers for feminine adornment, is the largest extant bird domesticated to man's use.

Quick Service By Kimbel Lines, Inc.

Did you know that Monroe has one of the best truck-freight service daily, direct from Chicago, St. Louis and intermediate points right to your door? Well, we have and Kimbel Lines, Inc., give you third morning delivery from Chicago, and second morning from St. Louis, and overnight from Memphis and Little Rock, also serving intermediate points between these cities. The arrival time in Monroe is 8:30 a.m. and departure is 2 p.m., daily.

Your freight from any of these points does not transfer to another line but is brought direct from the manufacturer and delivered direct to you here in Monroe.

The Kimbel Lines, Inc., are bonded and carry the necessary insurance required by any motor freight carrier. They also have a fleet of 96 of the most modern and up-to-date freight trucks. They also have a one-line connection with principally all the eastern and northern cities, giving you the best possible freight truck service into Monroe and this vicinity.

Give them a trial shipment and let them prove to you their service. The terminal is located at 504 Olive street and the telephone number is 4808; the agent is R. P. Lee, who is well known to most of the shipping public as he has been in the freight service in Monroe for the past twenty years.

Stock Company Protection Best

When you buy stock company insurance, you buy insurance protection on which you can rely when catastrophe strikes. You buy it from a man whose business is counseling people on their insurance problems. Stock companies stand behind their contracts with their millions of dollars in safely invested assets and their reputation for fair dealing and fast service.

Such are the stock companies represented by Gregg and McKenzie, 313 Harrison street, Monroe's oldest insurance agency.

If you have a loss under a stock company insurance policy, you receive immediate dependable loss service. You turn at once to the man from whom you bought the policy and he is there to serve you. Your local insurance counselor, with whom you can get in touch at any time, day or night, is in a position to advise you on all your insurance needs. He offers insurance to complete the protection of your business and your home.

More than 80 per cent of the men and firms who buy insurance against loss or damage to property wisely choose stock company insurance. When four out of five use this service, it must be good. Stock company insurance means that back of the contract of insurance is capital supplied by investors that provides additional security for your insurance. In insurance, you may lose hundreds of times the original cost if you take a chance in buying. So you are thrifty as well as wise when you buy stock company protection from your local insurance counselor, for it's cheaper to be safe than sorry.

DALE COBB, Choir Director

The Sunday School meeting followed by a short Easter program consisting of readings and choir numbers will be of special interest and greatly appreciated. The preaching hours are 11 o'clock A. M. and 7:30 P. M., the pastor's subjects are "Which—Easter or the Resurrection?" and "Today or Tomorrow—Which?" the prayer meeting each Wednesday, 7:30 P. M. and choir practice 8:30 P. M.

The church membership has outgrown our present building and plans are now being made to erect a new and larger building. Volunteer offerings are already coming in without any solicitation and there is every reason to feel greatly encouraged as to the progress of this work. Central Baptist cordially invites all Baptists of south side to come to the help of the Lord and let us build and grow a great church here for the glory of the Lord and for the salvation of this community and city.

"Matter" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, March 24, 1940.

The Golden Text is: "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal" (Matthew 6).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit" (Rom. 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit and matter no more commingle than light and darkness. When one appears, the other disappears" (Page 281).

"Matter" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, March 24, 1940.

The Golden Text is: "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal" (Matthew 6).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit" (Rom. 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit and matter no more commingle than light and darkness. When one appears, the other disappears" (Page 281).

'The Fighting 69th' To Open Engagement At Paramount

It's puppy love all right, when Betty Field can't make up her mind between the boy friend at her right and the one in her arms Jackie Cooper is her ardent suitor, and the scene is from "Seventeen," scheduled to show Wednesday at the Paramount theater.

Here aboard the ship which is to bear them into the supreme ordeals of their lives are the members of "The Swiss Family Robinson." This big adventure picture comes to the Paramount theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday starring Thomas Mitchell, Freddie Barhtolomew, Tim Holt, Terry Kilburn, little Bobby Quillian and Edna Best.

Loretta Young and David Niven find the road to romance in "Eternally Yours," the new comedy which will show at the Capitol theater Thursday only with a supporting cast made up of Billie Burke, Hugh Herbert, C. Aubrey Smith, Zasu Fitts, Broderick Crawford and Virginia Field.

Cagney, Brent And O'Brien Top Big Cast

Thrilling Story Of War Deeds Of Great Regiment Makes Fine Film

"THE FIGHTING 69TH," a new Warner Bros film, starring James Cagney, George Brent and Pat O'Brien, will be the feature attraction at the Paramount theater. The hilarious, excitement-crammed film will open there today.

Headed by the three stars, the cast includes a long roster of well-known players such as Alan Hale, Jeffrey Lynn, Frank McHugh, Dennis Morgan, Dick Foran, William Lundigan, and Guinn "Big Boy" Williams. The original story by Norman Reilly Raine, Fred Niblo, Jr., and Dean Franklin is based partly on the exploits of the famous 165th New York infantry, better known as the Fighting 69th, the Irish Brigade, of which the late Father Francis Patrick Duffy was regimental chaplain. This is the role played by Pat O'Brien, whose priest role in "Angels With Dirty Faces" will long be remembered. Cagney is cast as a rebellious buck private, and George Brent as "Wild Bill" Donovan, colonel of the 69th. Alan Hale is the crusty top sergeant, and Jeffrey Lynn portrays the wartime poet, Joyce Kilmer.

The ups and downs of training camp life are vividly depicted in the film—the human interest drama of the adjustment of raw recruits from every walk of life to the discipline of life in the army. Cagney, as the tough guy who stubbornly resists falling into line with the military rules and regulations, provides the main thread of the story. In spite of the efforts of O'Brien, as the kindly and humane priest, and Brent, as the hard-bitten, but understanding colonel, he refuses to conform until events place him in a position where there is a true test of his mettle, and he comes through with flying colors.

Critics who previewed the film in Hollywood have sent through advance reports, hailing it as the most exciting human interest entertainment in years, a good rousing action drama with a leavening of broad comedy in the tradition of such films as "The Cock-Eyed World." Cagney and Alan Hale carry much of the comedy with a typical feud between a cocky private and a bullying top sergeant, which climaxes, incidentally, in one of the most rough and tumble fist bouts ever filmed.

William Keighley directed the production.

'Eternally Yours' Soon At Capitol

Loretta Young And David Niven Head Cast In Sprightly Picture

WALTER WANGER'S new comedy romance, "Eternally Yours," which plays Thursday at the Capitol theater is a most welcome addition to film fare. It is fast-moving, sparkling modern-day comedy, brilliantly directed, smartly mounted and played by a cast of outstanding stars and players.

Loretta Young and David Niven are the starring duo, and both of these top-notch actors turn in grand performances. The supporting cast is enhanced by such well-known performers as Billie Burke, Hugh Herbert, Zasu Pitts, Broderick Crawford and Ralph Graves. The direction was by Tay Garnett who has brought to the production smoothness, swiftness, drama and suspense. An excellent screenplay by Gene Towne and Graham Baker is responsible for the bright and witty dialogue, the exciting romantic scenes, the thrillingly paced story and the brilliant backgrounds.

Briefly, the story of "Eternally Yours" revolves around a magician noted all over the world for his spectacular magic and his ingratiating personality. He falls in love with and marries a stunning girl whom he meets at one of his matinees and thereafter his success soars to new heights. Their life in all the brilliant capitals of the world grows more and more hectic. But while the magician, known as the Great Arturo, thrives in this atmosphere, Anita, his wife, begins to long for peace and quiet. When she fails to persuade him to follow her to a Connecticut farmhouse, she leaves him. Thereafter, he begins a frantic pursuit of his wife, only to find her when it is too late. Anita has divorced the Great Arturo and married a schoolday chum. In a smash and thrilling climax, however, Arturo wins his wife back and they resume their interrupted romance.

"Eternally Yours" is not only delightful entertainment in an excitingly romantic vein, it is brilliant spectacle. For the new picture features some of the most thrilling scenes in motion pictures in a long time. The scenes showing Arturo performing his magic for his audiences are presented with unusual lighting effects and telling suspense. And the picture is highlighted by spectacular air scenes showing dare-devil, death-defying parachute jumps over Croydon airdrome and the World's fair which are guaranteed to thrill audiences beyond words.

RUSTON ORPHANAGE NEEDING DONATIONS

The spring offering for the support of the Louisiana Methodist orphanage at Ruston will be received at every Methodist church in the state today.

This insititution is the only one of this denomination in Louisiana and is supported wholly by voluntary offerings which are taken up by the churches interested at Easter and in the autumn.

There are a large number of children in the Ruston home who would be homeless were it not for the existence of this institution. The financial needs at this time are possibly a little greater than was the case last fall. The public is asked to be generous in their offerings today.

MANY FEATURES IN M-W MODELS

Montgomery Ward Offers 'All Good Things' In New Refrigerators

"All the good things you're looking for," said H. C. Clark, manager of the Montgomery Ward Store, "are in the new M-W refrigerator this year."

"You get complete food protection plus maximum convenience with four separate Frigid zones to meet every refrigeration need and a host of new developments that save you time and trouble," continued Mr. Clark.

"Simply maintaining a temperature below 50 degrees does not provide complete food protection. That is why the new M-W offers 4 separate frigid zones. Frozen storage in the Speedy Freezer, cold storage in the food froster, general storage in the full-width adjustable shelves, and in the vegetable fresheners, the humidified cold that assures you crispy salads with that 'magazine picture' allure.

"Its special glass-shelf cover permits you to see exactly what food is there and it holds the moisture in. You'll like the M-W's automatic lighting, sliding shelves, waist-high storage which eliminates stooping and its acid-resisting porcelain interior. And a simple one-button control regulates all the M-W's operations; freezing speeds, automatic defrosting, and turning the refrigerator on and off.

"Quality goes all through the M-W! Even the parts you can't see are as carefully made as the visible features . . . in short it is 'as good as it looks.' For example every M-W has all-steel construction. It has a durable Dulux exterior! It uses Freon F12, the refrigerant Uncle Sam demands in his subs and hospital ships. And we offer two types of reciprocating units; sealed and open. Both provide high-capacity efficient operation and dependable refrigeration at low current cost.

"Here's why your dollars buy more in the new 'M-W'! We set out to build for you the finest electric refrigerators in America. We consulted the foremost designers . . . called in outstanding engineers . . . worked with the most experienced laboratories and complete plant equipment in the country. But that was only one part of our goal! The other . . . equally important and difficult . . . was to bring you these quality products at prices substantially lower than others ask. How did we do it? Long-range planning and large-scale purchasing for our 625 department stores keep costs low. Also we buy direct from factories and sell direct to you. This eliminates not only costly middlemen's profits but also duplicate selling, double warehousing, expensive national advertising and other frills. No wonder almost 2-3 of the price you pay elsewhere goes for distribution costs. And it's not surprising that independent marketing surveys conclude we save you important money."

The city of Boston, in 1899, closed its parks to automobiles between the hours of 10 a.m. and 9 p.m., because of the many runaway horses.

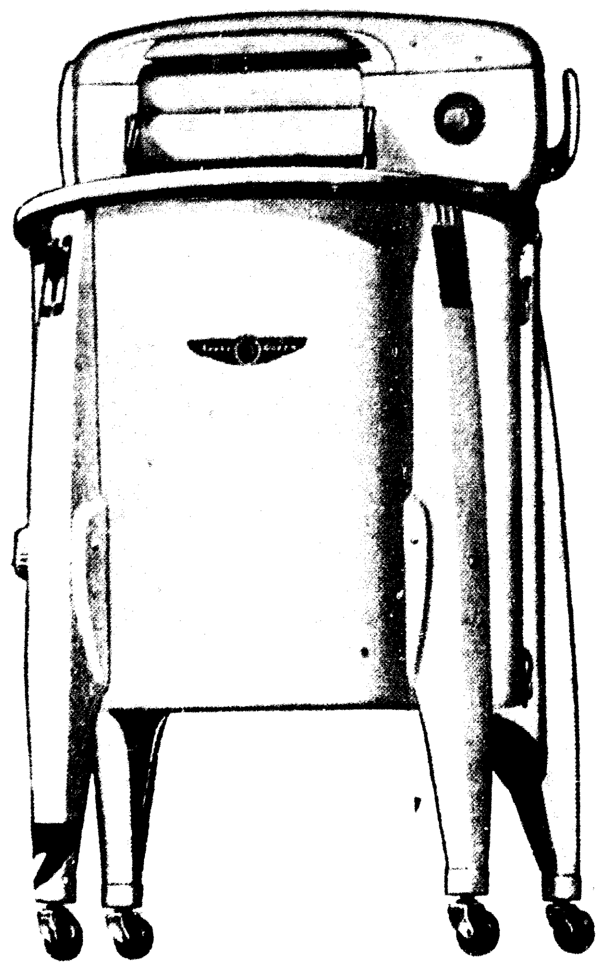
SPEED QUEENS AT HOME FURNITURE



The Home Furniture company is proud to present the new Speed Queen models for 1940. "They are bigger, better-looking than ever before," said Mr. J. B. Lindsay of the Home Furniture company Saturday, "and yet, prices remain the same."

Some of the outstanding features are the "therometer" which indicates whether or not your water is of the correct temperature and the "timer" which automatically stops your washer according to the time you set for each batch of clothes.

"We have seen practically all the "competing lines," said Mr. Lindsay, "and we sincerely believe that the 1940 Speed Queen washer offers more beauty, more worthwhile features and more dollar-for-dollar value than any other present day washer.

"There are many, more expensive washers but none more dependable, more efficient and better-looking. So why pay more? Why not make the saving every Speed Queen model offers?"

Mangham

Mrs. Charles Edward Hixon left for a visit with her mother in Shreveport.

This Land of Ours

There's peace on only a piece of the earth—
That part, thank God, is ours;
There's Spring in only some lands of the world—
Our Southland—with all of its flowers;
There's good will among only some of all men—
These men are American born—
Yes—
Peace, goodwill, contentment here,
"As times goes on."
—Washburn

Peace, prosperity, plenty—
Freedom of country, of speech, of war—
The beauty of trees and flowers and shrubs—
And a mind free from all hatred and malice
and greed—
You have much to be thankful for this glorious Easter, friends, and there is a church just around your corner.

Among those who attended the showing of "Gone With the Wind" in Monroe were Mrs. J. W. Holly, Marie Holly, Louise Thompson, Anita Hill, Margie Fisher, Mrs. E. T. Purnell, Mrs. W. M. Murphy, Mrs. C. E. Hester, Mrs. A. E. Adams, Mrs. Leo Shields, Mr. and Mrs. Will Adams, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Todd and Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Gayle.

Mason Spencer has returned from New Orleans and will enjoy a short vacation at his camp south of town.

David Harvey of Transylvania underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Tallulah hospital. He is reported to be making a satisfactory recovery.

Miss Ann Palmer is ill at her home here with an attack of influenza.

The Wednesday club met with Mrs. W. D. Buford at her plantation home at Trinidad plantation, which was especially attractive with quantities of spring flowers. Bridge games were enjoyed, resulting in Mrs. Frank Montgomery capturing the high score prize and Mrs. A. T. Palmer consolation. A delicious two-course luncheon was served at the conclusion of the games to Mrs. A. T. Palmer, Mrs. G. L. Smith, Mrs. E. S. Freeman, Mrs. Davis Whitfield, Mrs. Frank Montgomery, Mrs. Z. L. Chambliss, Mrs. J. K. Post and Mrs. E. S. Moberley.

Mrs. R. N. Ware left for Gulfport where she was called by the illness of her brother.

Mrs. R. T. Campbell was a bridge hostess, entertaining the members of the Friday club. A profusion of lovely spring flowers added much to the pleasure of the occasion. The high score prize was won by Mrs. R. C. Gaines.

At the conclusion of the games a delicious and attractive plate was served to Mrs. Colvin Todd, Mrs. George Yerger, Jr., Mrs. T. B. Lucas, Mrs. W. M. Scott, Mrs. W. C. Starrett, Mrs. E. A. Buckner, Mrs. Dean Moberley and Mrs. Gaines.

Mrs. Roy McCaa left for Blytheville, Ark., where she was called by the illness of her mother, Mrs. P. M. Bennett.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Theobold of Memphis and Tom Lewis were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Yerger.

The group of singing mothers of the Talluah P.-T. A. met at the home of Mrs. Neal T. Holt.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Ed Williams are visiting Mrs. Williams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Brown, in Little Rock.

Mrs. Maxwell Yerger entertained the members of her club, serving a delicious turkey luncheon at the conclusion of bridge games. Mrs. Curtis Agee was the recipient of the high score award. The guests included Mrs. Hugh Montgomery, Mrs. Curtis Agee, Miss Katherine Ward, Mrs. George Kimbrough, Mrs. Will Adams, Mrs. Charles Calhoun, Mrs. Otis Edgerton of Alexandria and Mrs. Owen Hamilton Boney.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Lee entertained the members of the Thursday Night club with a delightful supper bridge. Prizes for high score were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Lucas. Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. George Kimbrough, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Gaines, Mr. and Mrs. George Yerger, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Lucas.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Lee and daughter, Lottie Louise left for a trip to Nashville, Ark.

Barbara McCaa left for Shaw, Miss., where she will join relatives and attend the funeral of her grandmother, Mrs. P. M. Bennett.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rountree and daughter, Geneva attended the funeral of Mr. Rountree's father in Ferriday.

Mangham

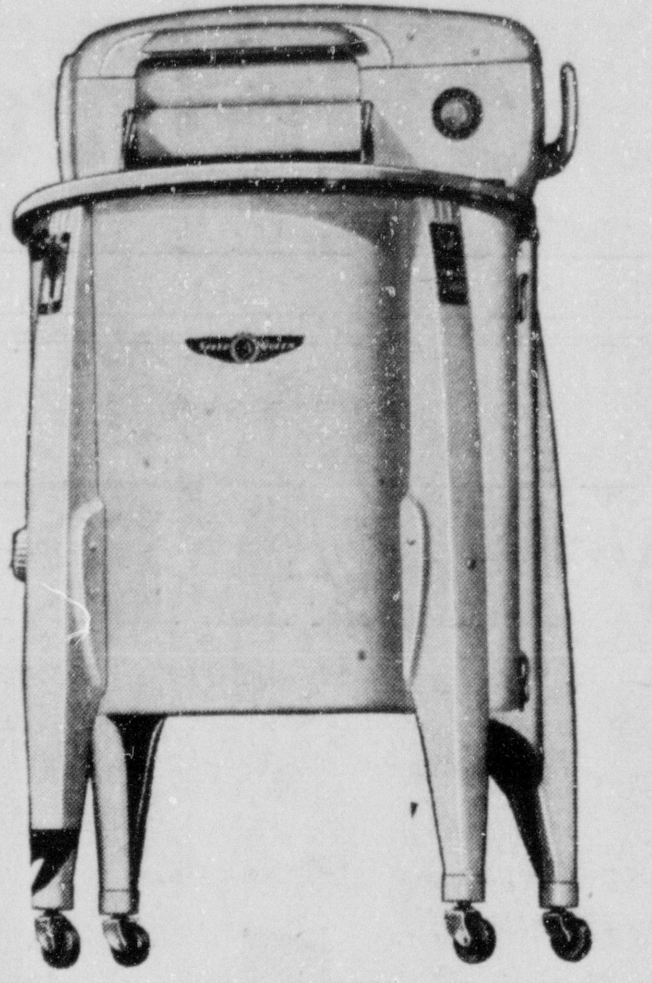
Mrs. Charles Edward Hixon left for a visit with her mother in Shreveport.

Mrs. W. D. Humble, accompanied by Mrs. Maye Sayre and Mrs. Matt Boughton, motored to Alexandria to visit with relatives.

Miss Elizabeth Grantham, who is in training at Streets' sanitarium in Vicksburg, Miss., visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Grantham.

Mrs. Lee McIntosh of Shreveport, Mrs. Ruby Archibald of Baskin and Miss Carrie McIntosh enjoyed a visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Watson and Miss Ethel Watson.

SPEED QUEENS AT HOME FURNITURE



The Home Furniture company is proud to present the new Speed Queen models for 1940. "They are bigger, better-looking than ever before," said Mr. J. B. Lindsay of the Home Furniture company Saturday, "and yet, prices remain the same."

Some of the outstanding features are the "therometer" which indicates whether or not your water is of the correct temperature and the "timer" which automatically stops your washer according to the time you set for each batch of clothes.

"We have seen practically all the "competing lines," said Mr. Lindsay, "and we sincerely believe that the 1940 Speed Queen washer offers more beauty, more worthwhile features and more dollar-for-dollar value than any other present day washer.

"There are many, more expensive washers but none more dependable, more efficient and better-looking. So why pay more? Why not make the saving every Speed Queen model offers?"

Okaloosa

Mrs. W. T. Holloway of Okaloosa was complimented on her birthday anniversary with a birthday dinner given by her children. Wishing Mrs. Holloway a "happy birthday" were: Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Smith and children, Elizabeth and Milton, and Miss Jannie Reppond of Shreveport, Mrs. David Bowen and children of Marion, Burrow Reppond of Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Webb Holloway and children of Okaloosa, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Holloway and children of Okaloosa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fletcher had as their guests recently Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Graham of Shreveport and Mrs. Leah Eady of Monroe.

The Okaloosa Home Demonstration club met in the home of Mrs. D. A. Coon. Mrs. C. P. Holloway presided and Mrs. H. P. McBride reported on the council meeting. Mrs. Jewell McQuiller discussed "When Should My Family Expand Its Level of Living." She also discussed flowers and the garden show to be held June 7 and 8.

D. L. Bornman, Jr., parish agricultural agent, demonstrated how to use an orchard and vegetable spray. The spray was presented by the Monroe Chamber of Commerce to be used by everyone in the Okaloosa community.

The next meeting of the club will be held in the home of Mrs. N. L. Coon at 2 p.m., April 8.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. C. P. Holloway, Mrs. J. E. Fletcher, Mrs. J. A. Kilpatrick, Mrs. H. P. McBride, Mrs. E. M. Frith, Mrs. F. J. Crowell, Mrs. Jewel McQuiller, Mr. Bornman, Jr., and one visitor, Mrs. Hudson.

The Okaloosa Junior 4-H club met with Mrs. Jewel McQuiller presiding. A short Easter program was rendered as follows: "The Pussy and the Bunny," Helen Wallace; a play, "Wanted, Easter Eggs," Easter Bunny, Ruth Holloway; Jack and Jill, Billy Jean Young and Katie Lou Cooper; Father Bear, Opal Wood; Mother Bear, Otha Williamson; Baby Bear, Betty June Wallace; Red Riding Hood, Elaine Wilbanks; Henny Penny, Ammon Hobbs; Tommy Tucker, Helen Wallace; Easter Eggs, Rae Hobbs, Benita J. Pylant, Clariece Mallard; Little Bunny Rabbit, Vivian Coats.

The next meeting of the club will be April 8.

The program committee appointed was Ammon Hobbs and Ruth Holloway, and 4-H club leaders were Mrs. H. H. Walters and Mrs. A. P. Burkett.

The Okaloosa Boys Junior 4-H club met with Webb Jarrel Roberts presiding. D. L. Bornman, Jr., parish agricultural agent, demonstrated how to use an orchard and vegetable spray. Mr. Bornman and the club members planned a program of interest and profit for 1940. The next meeting of the club will be held April 8.

Jonesville

Mrs. B. C. Crawford has returned to her home in Kennett, Mo., after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Leo Crawford for several weeks.

Dr. M. L. Levy spent the first of the week in Dallas, Tex., where he attended a medical meeting.

Mrs. Fannie Pullen is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Curtis Moore in Taylor, Ark.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Scott left for Rochester, Minn., where Mr. Scott will receive medical attention.

Dr. L. C. Spencer spent the first of the week in New Orleans. He left New Orleans Wednesday for Abbeyville, where he will be health unit director for Vermillion parish.

This Land of Ours

There's peace on only a piece of the earth—
That part, thank God, is ours;
There's Spring in only some lands of the world—
Our Southland—with all of its flowers;
There's good will among only some of all men—
These men are American born—
Yes—
Peace, goodwill, contentment here,
"As times goes on."
—Washburn

Peace, prosperity, plenty—
Freedom of country, of speech, of war—
The beauty of trees and flowers and shrubs—
And a mind free from all hatred and malice
and greed—
You have much to be thankful for this glorious Easter, friends, and there is a church just around your corner.

FRIGIDAIRE MADE IN MANY MODELS

Buyers Can Get Exactly What They Want In Size, Price And Kind

Frigidaire buyers can have exactly what they want in size, price and kind.

This year more than ever before, Frigidaire has gauged its line to give the models needed for every household. No matter where you live or what conveniences you have there is now a Frigidaire to meet your purse.

If you want a refrigerator that provides conventional food storage conditions, Frigidaire has the best there is—and among the eight brilliant models you can find the one you need at the price you want to pay.

If you want a refrigerator that provides the additional advantages of moisture protection with the utmost in food-keeping, Frigidaire has the best there is in the marvelous Frigidaire Cold-Wall. And among the seven models of this outstanding series, you will find a wide range of sizes at prices to suit your purse.

Throughout its entire line of fifteen models, Frigidaire has more de luxe features than ever before, thereby offering new and greater value in the low-cost field. Every model with new beauty and new eye appeal. Yes, and in every model, a new economy of operation, new construction and convenience features that show once more why Frigidaire is the leader.

And again in every model are those world-famous Frigidaire features that have become the very standards by which all refrigerators are judged—the Meter-Miser, Simplest Refrigerating Mechanism Ever Built, F-114 Refrigerant, One-Piece Steel Cabinet, Super Freezer and "Double-Easy" Quickube Tray. Everyone knows that these are features which have no equals in any refrigerator, past or present.

Small wonder it is, then, that Frigidaire and General Motors are so proud of these 1940 Frigidaires. In every way, they are the finest ever built.

Frigidaires are sold in Monroe by the Home Appliance company, 417 DeSiard street.

MANGHAM JUNIOR 4-H CLUB MEETS

MANGHAM, March 23—(Special)—The Mangham Junior 4-H club held its regular monthly meeting Wednesday with the parish agents, Miss Pearl LeFevre and Bennie Boughton, and local leader, Miss Bessie Noble.

Felix Acklin presided, and Anita Longkabel, secretary, gave a financial report of dues paid into the treasury. Since this is National Wild Life week all over the nation, every 4-H club member is particularly interested in this work. LeNetta Martin gave a talk on "Conservation of Our Wild Life."

After reports were heard from all the project leaders, the meeting was turned over to Miss LeFevre, who discussed clothing with the girls, and Mr. Boughton, who talked to the boys on judging crops and hogs.

Snails, because of their ability to undergo long fasts, are taken along on safaris by African natives as a source of fresh food.

RIGHT IN THE SWIM FOR SPRING

A centerpiece set of modernistic sea life in a crystal clear, modern plastic, fish-shaped linen doilies and undersea motifs on napkins and china make this table for spring luncheons unusual as well as charming.

CHURCHES

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH
3400 Lee Avenue
D. D. Cantrell, Pastor
Dale Cobb, Choir Director

The Sunday school will open promptly at 9:45 a.m. A great lesson is prepared for all who will come. Bring your friends to the classes and let's make this day the banner day in attendance for the year. Superintendent Minor will have good news to announce concerning the enlargement program.

The Baptist Training unions will meet at 6:30 p.m. There is a class for all ages, bring the babies and children and all the family and let us find our place in this great training service of your church. March 25 through 29, is the date for our B. T. U. study course, meeting each evening at 7 p.m. The pastor will teach the book "Growing A Church" for the B. A. U. The choir director will teach the book "Church Music" for the young people and Miss Dorothy Flanigan will teach the book "Meaning of Church Membership" and Mrs. W. F. Carson will teach the juniors the book "Living for Jesus." It is important for the best interest of the entire church program to have good good attendance and a fine spirit of cooperation from all groups.

The pastor will speak on the subject "Easter or the Resurrection" at the morning worship service and "Today or Tomorrow" at the next service. Prior to the preaching service, and at the close of the Sunday school, a short playlet of readings and songs in keeping with the Easter day will be given. The choir has a splendid program arranged and we cordially invite all our friends to worship with us.

ASSEMBLY OF GOD
West Monroe
E. L. Tanner, Pastor

Our goal for Sunday school today is five hundred. Will you help us reach this number by being present yourself and bringing someone with you? The entire Sunday school personnel invites you and will be here to welcome you. The hour is 9:45 a.m. Our superintendent, S. W. Hamilton, will arrange to send a car for you if you do not have conveyance of your own. Call 2196-J or 3819. Rev. Carl W. Barnes will speak at 11:00 a.m. on "The Resurrection." His subject for evening service will be "The Unpardonable Sin." We are expecting a large crowd at both services and you should come early to be sure of a seat.

The revival will continue through next week with services each day at 7:30 p.m.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
West Monroe
Dr. A. E. Prince, Pastor
Dellas Goss, Music Director
Miss Beulah Doerr, Educational Director

Special evangelistic services are now in progress in this church. Dr. Prince is preaching and Ira Prosser, gospel singer of Oklahoma City, is leading the singing. Services continue throughout this week.

The program for today is as follows: Prayer service 9:15 a.m. Sunday school 9:45 a.m. Morning worship 10:50 a.m. B. T. U. workers meet at 6:15 p.m. General B. T. U. and Brotherhood at 6:45 p.m. Evening service at 7:45 p.m. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Daily revival services Monday through Friday at 9:30 a.m. and 7:45 p.m.

One special feature for this entire week will be the Sunday school session at 7:15 each evening—30 minutes before each preaching service. The entire Sunday school will assemble in the usual meeting place each evening for a lesson period, beginning tomorrow.

PENIEL BAPTIST CHURCH

This church, located between Brownville and Baucomville, will begin Easter services with a sunrise service Sunday, followed by Sunday school at 10 a.m. and preaching at 11 a.m.

A pageant will be given at 7 p.m. by the young people under the direction of Mrs. Johnnie Bowman. A special sermon will be delivered at 8 p.m. by the pastor, Rev. J. T. Hinkle.

The pastor urges all members and all friends of the church to attend and make Easter the biggest day in the history of the church.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
St. John And Oak Streets
R. T. Watson, Minister

Sunrise service, 6 a. m. to 6:30 a. m. This service will be led by our young people. Let us come "very early on the first day of the week." Church school will be at 9:45 a.m. At the close of the lesson period, a general assembly will be held, at which time the gospel invitation will be given. An offering for home missions will be received. Worship service, 10:50 a. m. Everyone wants to attend church on Easter, so come early. Let's fill the house to praise God for the victory that is ours in the risen Savior. The sermon at this service will be: "The Significance of His Resurrection." There will be two special numbers. The Christian Endeavor societies will meet at 6:30 p. m. for their Easter programs. Evening service of worship, 7:30 p. m. The theme at this service will be: "Three Heavens and Three Hells." There will be a baptismal service at the close. The annual World Call banquet will be held Wednesday, March 27.

GRACE CHURCH
Fourth And Glenmar Streets
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

Services on Easter day are as follows: 7 a.m., the first celebration of the Holy Eucharist. This service is for the Easter communion of confirmed members of the church. At 9:30 a.m., the church school will sing their Easter hymns, presenting of crosses, and offerings in the "mite boxes." The musical service for the day begins at 10:45 a.m. sharp. The processional hymn is Bach's "At the Lamb's High Feast We Sing." The introit is Barnby's "Awake Up, My Glory." The Kyrie Eleison is taken from Mozart's Twelfth Mass, arranged by Read. The other musical parts of the Eucharist, namely, Gloria Tibi, Laus Tibi, Sursum Corda with proper preface, the Sanctus, Benedictus Qui Venit, Agnus Dei and Gloria in Excelsis are from W. A. C. Cruickshank's service in F flat. The Gradual is Charles Wesley's hymn, "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today." The offertory anthem is John Stainer's "They Have Taken Away My Lord." The recessional hymn is John Neale's hymn, "Come, Ye Faithful, Raise the Strain." Roger Frisbie will preside at the organ and the soloists are Mr. William Regan and Mrs. Louise McComb. The sermon will be preached by the rector. At St. David's, Rayville, the rector will say evensong and preach at 4 p.m.

The public is cordially invited to attend the Easter day services. Monroe commandery, No. 7, Knights Templar, will attend in a body the 10:45 service.

GORDON AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH
J. M. Alford, Pastor

Special Easter services will be observed today with songs and a sermon at 11 o'clock appropriate to the occasion. The pastor will preach on the subject: "Christ the Light of the World." Just before the discourse the baptism of children will be observed. Let all parents who desire to have their children dedicated to the Lord bring them at this time. The Sunday school will open at the usual time, 9:45 a.m. All are urged to bring liberal offerings for our orphanage at Ruston. The two Epworth leagues will render their programs at 6:30 p.m., and the evening worship service will open at 7:30 o'clock. At this time the names of new members who united during the revival will be announced and received into the church according to the requirements of the discipline. We urge every member to be present to welcome the new members, and a cordial invitation is extended to all our friends to attend all the services today. Let's make this day—Easter Sunday—the day of the anniversary of our Saviour's resurrection, a great day in our church work, and also a great day in our individual religious lives.

The missionary society will meet in circles next Tuesday, the places to be announced at today's services. The young people of the church held a sunrise prayer meeting this morning.

Have you responded to the earnest appeal of the Diaconate in regard to the financial support of the church? Your cooperation will be helpful. It is the purpose of the deacons to follow up the appeal and all members of the congregation will be given an opportunity to enlist in this essential phase of the church program. Can you sincerely pray "Thy Kingdom Come" and fail to share a portion of what you have been entrusted with? "God loveth a cheerful giver." "The Power of Christ's Resurrection" and "The Realities of Easter," are the subjects of our messages. The elders will meet in the Sunday school room at 10:30 to receive church members. If it is your intention to affiliate with the church, will you please be present at the time and place indicated? The children of the church will be dedicated to the Lord in baptism at 4:00 in the afternoon. Your presence at the worship periods of the Holy Sabbath will cheer, encourage and please the faithfuls and the Lord.

PYTHIANS LAMENT DEATH OF BYNUM

A special committee of Stonewall lodge No. 8, Knights of Pythias, composed of J. Norman Coon, John F. McCormick and Jesse S. Heard, drew up and presented the following resolution on the death of their fellow lodge member, Charles E. Bynum, Jr.:

"Whereas, the members of this lodge deeply regret that our beloved brother knight, Charles E. Bynum, Jr., departed this life on this date, March 21, 1940; now therefore,

"Be it resolved, that in the years of our fraternal association we recognize that in the passing of our brother we have lost a most valued member and loyal friend. We shall always cherish the memory of our deceased brother. He obtained our highest esteem with his pleasing personality, sincerity and fidelity to high principles.

"Brother Bynum manifested a great interest in the work of our lodge and order. He contributed generously to various causes, whereby the good work of our lodge and order was promoted. In short, he practiced those great fraternal principles which our order teaches, and was thereby an inspiration to the other members of our lodge.

"It is thus, that we use the language of another to express our sentiments and regrets on the sad occasion of the departure of our beloved brother.

"'Fast as the rolling seasons bring
The hour of fate to those we love,
Each pearl that leaves the broken string
Is set in friendship's crown above,
As narrower grows the earthly chain,
The circle widens in the sky;
These are our treasures that remain,
But those are stars that beam on high.'

"Resolved further, that these proceedings be inscribed upon the minutes of this lodge, that a copy be presented to the family of Brother Charles E. Bynum, Jr., to whom we extend our heart-felt sympathy in their bereavement."

FRIGIDAIRE MADE IN MANY MODELS

Buyers Can Get Exactly What They Want In Size, Price And Kind

Frigidaire buyers can have exactly what they want in size, price and kind.

This year more than ever before, Frigidaire has gauged its line to give the models needed for every household. No matter where you live or what conveniences you have there is now a Frigidaire to meet your purse.

If you want a refrigerator that provides conventional food storage conditions, Frigidaire has the best there is—and among the eight brilliant models you can find the one you need at the price you want to pay.

If you want a refrigerator that provides the additional advantages of moisture-protection with the utmost in food-keeping, Frigidaire has the best there is in the marvelous Frigidaire Cold-Wall. And among the seven models of this outstanding series, you will find a wide range of sizes at prices to suit your purse.

Throughout its entire line of fifteen models, Frigidaire has more de luxe features than ever before, thereby offering new and greater value in the low-cost field. Every model with new beauty and new eye appeal. Yes, and in every model, a new economy of operation—new construction and convenience features that show once more why Frigidaire is the leader.

And again in every model are those world-famous Frigidaire features that have become the very standards by which all refrigerators are judged—the Meter-Miser, Simplest Refrigerating Mechanism Ever Built, F-114 Refrigerant, One-Piece Steel Cabinet, Super Freezer and "Double-Easy" Quickube Tray. Everyone knows that these are features which have no equals in any refrigerator, past or present.

Small wonder it is, then, that Frigidaire and General Motors are so proud of these 1940 Frigidaires. In every way, they are the finest ever built.

Frigidaires are sold in Monroe by the Home Appliance company, 417 DeSiard street.

MANGHAM JUNIOR 4-H CLUB MEETS

MANGHAM, March 23.—(Special)—The Mangham Junior 4-H club held its regular monthly meeting Wednesday with the parish agents, Miss Pearl LeFevre and Bennie Boughton, and local leader, Miss Bessie Noble.

Felix Acklin presided, and Anita Longkabel, secretary, gave a financial report of dues paid into the treasury. Since this is National Wild Life week all over the nation, every 4-H club member is particularly interested in this work. LeNetta Martin gave a talk on "Conservation of Our Wild Life."

After reports were heard from all the project leaders, the meeting was turned over to Miss LeFevre, who discussed clothing with the girls, and Mr. Boughton, who talked to the boys on judging crops and hogs.

CHURCHES

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH
3400 Lee Avenue
D. D. Cantrell, Pastor
Dale Cobb, Choir Director

The Sunday school will open promptly at 9:45 a.m. A great lesson is prepared for all who will come. Bring your friends to the classes and let's make this day the banner day in attendance for the year. Superintendent Minor will have good news to announce concerning the enlargement program.

The Baptist Training unions will meet at 6:30 p.m. There is a class for all ages, bring the babies and children and all the family and let us find our place in this great training service of your church. March 25 through 29, is the date for our B. T. U. study course, meeting each evening at 7 p.m. The pastor will teach the book "Growing A Church" for the B. A. U. The choir director will teach the book "Church Music" for the young people and Miss Dorothy Flanigan will teach the book "Meaning of Church Membership" and Mrs. W. F. Carson will teach the juniors the book "Living for Jesus." It is important for the best interest of the entire church program to have good good attendance and a fine spirit of cooperation from all groups.

The pastor will speak on the subject "Easter or the Resurrection" at the morning worship service and "Today or Tomorrow" at the next service. Prior to the preaching service, and at the close of the Sunday school, a short playlet of readings and songs in keeping with the Easter day will be given. The choir has a splendid program arranged and we cordially invite all our friends to worship with us.

DAVID E. PACE GIVEN 'WINGS'

West Monroe Youth In First Class To Graduate Under New Program

Flying Cadet David E. Pace, of West Monroe, Saturday received his diploma and "wings" at the air corps advance flying school in Kelly Field, Texas. Major General Henry H. Arnold, chief of the air corps, made a special trip to this airport from Washington, D. C., in order personally to address the first class to graduate under the expansion program of the air corps. Brigadier General Barton K. Yount, assistant chief of the air corps, accompanied General Arnold from Washington.

The graudation ceremonies began at 9:30 a.m., when an aerial review of 125 basic combat training planes roared past the reviewing stand. Heads of the nine civilian primary flying schools and their air corps supervisors were General Arnold's special guests at the review. Since the graduating class is the first class to receive its initial training in these civilian schools, these executives received congratulations. Colonel A. W. Robins, air corps, commanding officer of the air corps training center; Colonel Eugene A. Lohman, air corps, commandant of the air corps advanced flying school; and Colonel John B. Brooks, air corps, commandant of the air corps primary flying schools were also with General Arnold in the reviewing stand.

At 10:45 a.m., after an invocation by Chaplain P. B. Rupp of Kelly field, Colonel Robins introduced General Arnold. Colonel Robins presented the diplomas, and Colonel Lohman then completed the exercises when he handed each member of the graduating class his silver wings, bidding him many happy landings as a second lieutenant in the air corps reserve.

The graduating class, numbering 224, has just completed three months of intensive training in modern basic combat training planes at the air corps advanced flying school. Formation flying, cross-country flying, instrument flying, and night flying have composed most of the flying course. The class was prepared for this advanced flying at Randolph field, Texas, "The West Point of the Air."

After graduation each flying cadet will receive a commission in the air corps reserve as second lieutenant and will be placed on extended active duty to complete his training while piloting the modern planes of the air corps. His foundation in all fields of aeronautics is the finest obtainable.

WOMEN RADIO FANS HOLD PARTY HERE

Nine women Thursday night took charge of the Ouachita Valley Amateur Radio club meeting held at Northeast Junior college. Each one intensely interested in some phase of amateur radio, two of the women, Mrs. E. S. Wells and Mrs. Jewel Caraway, are already full fledged "hams," holding amateur radio operator licenses, and have their own stations "on the air."

Mrs. Allen J. Christmas, commenting on her experiences in amateur radio, said that the most enjoyment she gets from radio is listening to the amateurs contacted by her husband, W5DRF, on his station at their home in Holly Ridge. Mrs. Christmas stated that for a period of one hundred days she and her husband talked with an English amateur every morning before breakfast. Although the reception was occasionally bad on account of atmospheric interference, not once during that time did they fail to make contact with their radio friend across the sea. This is some sort of record, she declared ,as an uninterrupted schedule of that kind is not an easy accomplishment, considering the distance between Holly Ridge and Newcastle-Upon-Tyne, where the English amateur lived.

Assisted by seven women, Mrs. E. S. Wells presented a radio pantomime guessing game, the idea being to recognize certain countries by the antics of those present. Using a specially built "television" set, Mrs. Wells tuned in several foreign countries, among them Germany, Russia, Italy and Africa, and from actions taking place on the screen, club members were enabled to identify the countries.

JUDGE CRABITES TO SPEAK ON MONDAY

"How the Allies Created and Consolidated Hitlerism" will be the timely theme of Judge Pierre Crabites, student, writer, lecturer of world-wide political and economic affairs, who is now a member of the L. S. U. law faculty, to be given at Georgia Tucker school auditorium Monday at 8 p.m.

This lecture, free of charge to the public, will be the second one of a series to be given here through the sponsorship of the Y's Men's club of Monroe.

Groups of women's organizations here will also participate in an effort to promote community interest in world-wide affairs. The clubs that will be represented at the lecture will be the Altrusa club, the American Association of University Women, the Business and Professional Women's club, the Y. W. C. A. Business Girls' club, and the Y. W. C. A.

Members of these clubs and the general public are invited to attend this lecture, which it is believed is timely and of unusual public interest. The first lecture of the series was given recently at Northeast Junior college auditorium, and the lecture Monday night will be given at Georgia Tucker school auditorium, which is regarded more easily accessible and in this way will enable a larger number to attend than otherwise.

CHAPTER XXV

"Hi, old timer," Steve said pleasantly. "Tell the fair damsel that her swain has arrived—" He gasped, "Ann—" as if only half believing his eyes.

"Hello, Steve."

"Is that you, Ann? I only took one drink—I swear I did." Shutting his eyes, he shook his head violently, then stared again. "It's true. For a minute I thought I'd conjured you out of thin air."

"I'm here all right," she admitted, sitting down on the second step. "That is, what's left of me."

Steve sat down beside her. "Swell to see you, Ann."

She nodded, resting her chin on both fists. "I'm the new housekeeper."

His laugh was explosive. "You're what?"

"The new housekeeper," she repeated. "Mr. Temple hired me to bring order out of chaos in this house." She set her teeth. "And I'll do it—if it kills me."

"Well, I'll be—Look, Ann, I thought you were married by now."

"No."

"I thought—you said—"

"Paul went away." Saying it, she felt the sting of tears. She got to her feet and Steve also rose, looking up at her.

"He isn't coming back?"

She shook her head, fingering the little silver bracelet.

"I've never forgotten you, Ann. You pop out of my thoughts at every turn."

She smiled vaguely, her mind on household troubles. She and Plunket would have a showdown in the morning. Plunket and all her relatives couldn't lick her.

Steve still gazed at her. "Guess I'm in love with you," he said. "Guess I fell in love with you that night at Clancy's—"

"You're being very silly, Steve."

"It doesn't seem silly to me." He kept looking at her, a half frightened expression on his reckless young face. "I never intended to fall in love with anyone," he went on as if to himself. "Seeing you again—well, I've gone off the deep end."

Ann moved up a step. "We'll just scratch the last few remarks from the records," she said lightly. "Keep it in mind that I'm an upper servant in this house—"

"I'll keep you in mind. If I found you scrubbing down the back stairs it wouldn't change the way I feel."

Irene floated down the stairs in white tulle. She touched Ann's arm with a friendly little gesture as they passed. She called, "Evening, mister."

"Hy'a, beautiful," Steve responded in an absent-minded tone.

Ann went to bed and she did not plan. She slept. Refreshed the next morning, she took a firmer grip on the management of Mr. Temple's difficult household. She breakfasted alone with her employer, sitting demurely behind the coffee service.

"Everything all right?" Mr. Temple asked.

She nodded. "It will take a little time."

"My top sheet was fine."

Ann smiled. She had seen to that herself. "Highball all right?"

"Just right. The house feels different, Ann. I feel guilty in dumping my problems on your shoulders, but I actually relaxed and enjoyed myself last night. You'll be good for the kids. I'm glad you're here."

"Thank you," she said with a little warm glow. When the chauffeur had driven him to the city, she attacked her duties with new fortitude. She went first to the kitchen.

"I'll do the ordering and planning from now on, Plunket," she said firmly.

The woman's beady eyes narrowed.

"After this, don't make the toast until Mr. Temple is eating his fruit. It was cold this morning."

Plunket grunted.

"What food market have you been patronizing?"

"The Superior."

"May I see yesterday's order slip?"

"I don't know where it is." Plunket spoke hastily.

"Give it to me at once."

"Find it if you can," the woman grumbled.

"Plunket—you will speak courteously to me or I will find another cook."

"I keep the slips in that drawer," Plunket nodded her small, round head.

Ann opened the drawer and scanned the dates on a number of market slips. She chose one. "Hm-m—four dozen boxes of soap flakes. Where are they, Plunket?"

"In the laundry—where do you suppose?"

"Plunket—" Ann's sweet voice had a steely ring.

"—Well—"

"Six dozen limes. Why six dozen?"

"Mr. Temple likes 'em in his highballs."

Ann opened the huge refrigerator. Five limes reposed in a little wooden basket. "Where are the other five and a half dozen?" she asked crisply.

Plunket's face was scarlet. "I run that refrigerator," she fumed. "You keep out of it."

"Where are the limes?"

Plunket whined. "Me and the girls like limeade—"

Ann turned away. "Beginning now, Mr. Temple will pay only the market bills which I have okayed," she said.

Plunket was washing dishes. She splashed the suds and clattered the silver.

Ann took down draperies and sent them to the cleaners. She superintended the cleaning of the bedrooms, feeling like nothing so much as a pitiless slave driver. Dinner was served that night with flowers and lighted candles on the table. It was a simple, well-balanced meal and brought forth a compliment from Mr. Temple. "I don't like flub-dubbery," he said.

Ann knew that an uprising was well under way in the kitchen. The servants whispered behind her back, they glowered and were sullenly perverse when she came upon them. With a little tactful inquiry Ann had learned that the Superior market was owned and operated by Plunket's uncle. And she knew that war would be declared when the Temple account was taken elsewhere.

Ann was in her room that second evening when Irene knocked on the door. "May I come in, Ann?" she called.

"Oh, yes—come in." It had occurred to her that she was well on the way to being as lonely as she had been in her first working days. She welcomed Irene eagerly. Ann had been packing her father's watch, the silver spoons and a few other treasures in the lower drawer of her dresser. She closed the drawer and stood up as Irene dropped to the bed.

"I'm glad to note that Plunket hasn't slit your throat yet," she said cheerfully.

"Just give her time." Ann laughed.

"She's talking to Dad in the library."

Ann frowned. "I'm sorry. I want to relieve him of all that."

"Dad'll get rid of her if he doesn't want to be bothered." Irene lighted a cigaret and lay back comfortably on the pillows. "It's fun having another girl in the house," she said.

"It's fun being here." Considering her day, it was quite a thing for Ann to say.

"What's it like to earn your own living, Ann?"

"Ghastly." They both laughed. Ann stretched herself luxuriously on the satin brocade chaise longue, crossing her slender ankles. The two girls looked at each other, smiling a little.

DAVID E. PACE GIVEN 'WINGS'

West Monroe Youth In First Class To Graduate Under New Program

Flying Cadet David E. Pace, of West Monroe, Saturday received his diploma and "wings" at the air corps advance flying school in Kelly Field, Texas. Major General Henry H. Arnold, chief of the air corps, made a special trip to this airport from Washington, D. C., in order personally to address the first class to graduate under the expansion program of the air corps. Brigadier General Barton K. Yount, assistant chief of the air corps, accompanied General Arnold from Washington.

The graudation ceremonies began at 9:30 a.m., when an aerial review of 125 basic combat training planes roared past the reviewing stand. Heads of the nine civilian primary flying schools and their air corps supervisors were General Arnold's special guests at the review. Since the graduating class is the first class to receive its initial training in these civilian schools, these executives received congratulations. Colonel A. W. Robins, air corps, commanding officer of the air corps training center; Colonel Eugene A. Lohman, air corps, commandant of the air corps advanced flying school; and Colonel John B. Brooks, air corps, commandant of the air corps primary flying schools were also with General Arnold in the reviewing stand.

At 10.45 a.m., after an invocation by Chaplain P. B. Rupp of Kelly field, Colonel Robins introduced General Arnold. Colonel Robins presented the diplomas, and Colonel Lohman then completed the exercises when he handed each member of the graduating class his silver wings, bidding him many happy landings as a second lieutenant in the air corps reserve.

The graduating class, numbering 224, has just completed three months of intensive training in modern basic combat training planes at the air corps advanced flying school. Formation flying, cross-country flying, instrument flying, and night flying have composed most of the flying course. The class was prepared for this advanced flying at Randolph field, Texas, "The West Point of the Air"

After graduation each flying cadet will receive a commission in the air corps reserve as second lieutenant and will be placed on extended active duty to complete his training while piloting the modern planes of the air corps. His foundation in all fields of aeronautics is the finest obtainable.

ELECTROLUX GIVES LENGTHY SERVICE

First In The Line Of Refrigeration: No Moving Parts To Wear

You're assured of long service and permanent silence when you buy a Servel Electrolux refrigerator. It has no moving, wearing parts and is first in the line of refrigeration, says G. F. Becker, general manager of United Electric Service, distributors for Servel.

Year after year, Servel Electrolux brings you the same dependable, money-saving service that it did the first month you had it in your home. That's because this modern refrigerator has no moving parts in its freezing system. Nothing to wear or lose efficiency, nothing to cause noise. Five million dollars was paid for the Servel Electrolux method of freezing with heat. And no other refrigerator can use this amazing invention. Heat from a single burner circulates the refrigerant which produces constant cold and cubes of ice silently, without fail. Servel Electrolux needs no electricity, no water at all.

Constant, steady cold in Servel Electrolux assures safe protection and keeps perishable foods fresh for days. Steaks, roasts, fowl and other fresh meats stay juicy and full of flavor. You can gather vegetables at your convenience and keep them crisp until you're ready to use them. Leftovers can be saved and made over into new tasty dishes. And it's easier to give children the proper diet, because you keep their milk and other foods always sweet and wholesome.

Steps are saved in baking and cooking with foods near at hand in Servel Electrolux. Meals can be prepared in advance; double quantities cooked for future meals.

This modern "first" refrigerator saves you money, too. It cuts costly food spoilage due to poor protection. Permits you to buy in quantity—take full advantage of all food "specials."

Even in hottest summer weather, there are always lots of ice cubes in your Servel Electrolux for cooling drinks. You'll appreciate cubes in time of sickness, too, for ice packs.

Servel Electrolux refrigerators operate on natural gas, kerosene or butane or bottled gas. Besides household Servel Electrolux refrigerators, there are models designed for commercial use in stores and dairies.

A full line of 1940 Servel Electrolux refrigerators are on display at United Electric Service, Inc., 306 North Third street, and at the establishments of Servel dealers throughout northeast Louisiana.

NEW COLDSPOT IS THING OF BEAUTY

Sears Manager Highly Enthusiatic Over His Refrigeration Line

Hal Hodges, manager of the local Sears Roebuck store, announces the complete line of 1940 Coldspot refrigerators is now on display.

Enthusiastic over the new models, Mr. Hodges invites the public of Monroe, West Monroe and northeast Louisiana to view the 1940 improvements. In a statement Saturday Mr. Hodges said:

"Coldspot is truly the big name in refrigeration circles today. During the past ten years it has steadily climbed to the top in electric refrigeration sales until at the present time one out of every six electric refrigerators sold is a Coldspot.

"And why shouldn't Coldspot be at the top in refrigerator sales? It was the first to give the average family the size refrigerator that it needed at a price it could afford to pay. From the very first models built right up to those beautiful 1940 models each year brought new thrills to Mr. and Mrs. America.

"Coldspot is built by Sears and sold by Sears. Coldspot is built in one of the oldest, largest and most modern factories where supreme quality is an old tradition. Those glistening 1940 models now on display at Sears incorporate all those features known to the great refrigeration industry.

"See the 1940 Coldspot and thrill to its natural beauty. Check its many exclusive features. Find out what a "banderized" steel cabinet means. See the stainless steel shelves and accessories in the deluxe models. Notice the concealed door hinges. Thrill to the sanitary 'foodex' that stacks thereby giving you greater storage space.

"Try to visualize the many different items you can store in the famous handibin exclusive with Coldspot. Compare the new polarex meat storage with the old-fashioned defrost tray. Count the ice cubes and observe the convenient arrangement of the ice trays in the roomy ice compartment.

"Don't fail to see the famous Coldspot current cutter rotorite superposer unit that gives more power than will ever be needed even during the hottest weather. Read Sears' famous five-year guarantee on the Coldspot unit and learn about their equally famous service policy.

"After you have thrilled to Coldspot's beauty, quality and dependability you have the biggest surprise and the most pleasant one left, the price. It's so far below what you would expect to pay that you'll just naturally join the thousands of others and say, 'Make mine Coldspot.'"

A cyclone travels over continents, lasting for days, but after it has roared on its way, the damage may not be worth mentioning. A tornado, in its few minutes of existence, leaves death and destruction.

THEY BELIEVE 'COLDSPOT' FINEST ON MARKET!

NEW RADIOS AT UNITED ELECTRIC

Firm Appointed Distributors For Stromberg-Carlson Line

The United Electric Service, Inc., 306 North Third street, has been appointed distributors for Stromberg-Carlson radios, the radio with the Carpinchoe speaker.

"Music and voices on any program are reproduced with greater fidelity due to inclusion of the Labyrinth and Carpinchoe leather speaker, Stromberg-Carlson patented tonal features," G. F. Becker declared.

"The function of the absorbent-lined Labyrinth tube is to blot-up unwanted 'boom' occasioned by cavity resonance and to increase the number of bass notes reproduced. Similarly, the purpose of the speaker-cone being suspended by soft, flexible Carpinchoe leather is to absorb distortions set up by the speaker and to increase the number of treble notes reproduced.

"As a result of the combined use of these features, distortions ordinarily present are eliminated, and since more of the tones and overtones broadcast are reproduced, tone quality is endowed with greater realism. Separate bass and treble tone controls are provided so the tone can be adjusted to suit personal tastes.

THEY BELIEVE 'COLDSPOT' FINEST ON MARKET!

NEW RADIOS AT UNITED ELECTRIC

Firm Appointed Distributors For Stromberg-Carlson Line

The United Electric Service, Inc., 306 North Third street, has been appointed distributors for Stromberg-Carlson radios, the radio with the Carpinchoe speaker.

"Music and voices on any program are reproduced with greater fidelity due to inclusion of the Labyrinth and Carpinchoe leather speaker, Stromberg-Carlson patented tonal features," G. F. Becker declared.

"The function of the absorbent-lined Labyrinth tube is to blot-up unwanted 'boom' occasioned by cavity resonance and to increase the number of bass notes reproduced. Similarly, the purpose of the speaker-cone being suspended by soft, flexible Carpinchoe leather is to absorb distortions set up by the speaker and to increase the number of treble notes reproduced.

"As a result of the combined use of these features, distortions ordinarily present are eliminated, and since more of the tones and overtones broadcast are reproduced, tone quality is endowed with greater realism. Separate bass and treble tone controls are provided so the tone can be adjusted to suit personal tastes.

NORGE COMBINES ALL ADVANTAGES

Housewife Can At Last Have Refrigerator She Has Always Wanted

At last the housewife can have the refrigerator that she has always dreamed of, but could not find. The new 1940 Norge combines every convenience ever thought of with perfect temperature and humidity. It's the refrigerator that's almost all storage space for every type of storage. Five zones of storage space for every kind of food.

2. Extra cold storage zone—Norge coldpack—chilled by intense cold of the refrigerating surface directly above it—always usable for the storage of fresh meats in large quantities.

3. Cold storage zone—The entire food compartment maintains a low temperature for safe preservation of foods. Also with 25 per cent more coiling surface and six to ten degrees lower temperatures, foods do not have to be kept covered and periods between defrosting are longer.

4. Humidity zone—Norge hydrovoir keeps leafy vegetables crisp, appetizing and tender.

5. Reserve storage zone—Norge cellaret brings to the kitchen extra storage space for a reserve supply of bottled beverages, canned goods and other staples, thereby eliminating many steps from the refrigerator to the pantry, and taking up no more space than the ordinary box.

Hence, from the above features Norge has taken this slogan, "From top to floor there's space galore."

The new Norgite inner door panel is one of the reasons that Norge is the cheapest operating electric refrigerator on the market. Norgite is a plastic developed by Norge engineers in cooperation with du Pont chemists that is 126 times more resistant to heat than porcelain or steel, used by other refrigerators. Norgite will not scratch, peal, turn yellow and is impervious to acids. Norgite is also much lighter than steel and porcelain allowing Norge to give you a door that is five inches thick instead of 2½ inches and still not be top heavy when the door is open.

Another reason for Norge's economy of operation is the Royal Rollator mechanism, which is the only permanently sealed and oiled rollator cold maker. While other refrigerator units depend upon natural draft in the room to cool their units, the Royal Rollator mechanism is cooled by flowing refrigerant and the hotter the weather gets the cooler the unit will operate because more refrigerant is pumped into the unit. The Royal Rollator cold maker is the simplest refrigerating mechanism ever built, having only three moving parts including motor and compressor. These three slowly-moving parts are oiled by seventy pounds oil pressure to insure long life and better operation, using so little electricity that one will hardly notice its cost on his electric light bill.

Some people who are careful about the ice that they serve their guests have put off buying a mechanical box, because they say that ice made in a mechanical box has a peculiar taste. This taste is due to small particles of food being taken up by the water in the trays of the refrigerator before it freezes and when dissolved in water or beverages gives an unpleasant taste. Norge is replacing many of these ice boxes because of its glacier sealed ice compartment where the water is sealed air tight away from food odors. Better desserts can also be made where they are free from such a mixture of food odors.

The old dreaded day of defrosting a refrigerator is made a pleasure with the Norge Spill-proof Handifroster, with no spoilage of food and cluttering up the box.

Besides the above features, Norge offers many other new and startling conveniences to make up this dream refrigerator.

A complete line of Norge refrigerators is on display at Passman Equipment company, 110 St. John street, together with other 1940 Norge home appliances—Norge Super Concentrator gas ranges and Autobilt washers. All of these appliances are products of latest engineering developments. They are built by Norge for efficiency, beauty and operating economy.

More than 3,000 Norge appliances are now being used by homemakers in the Monroe trade area and the popularity of Norge products in this area in growing day by day, keeping pace with phenomenal growth of Norge corporation, the largest producer of home appliances in the world today.

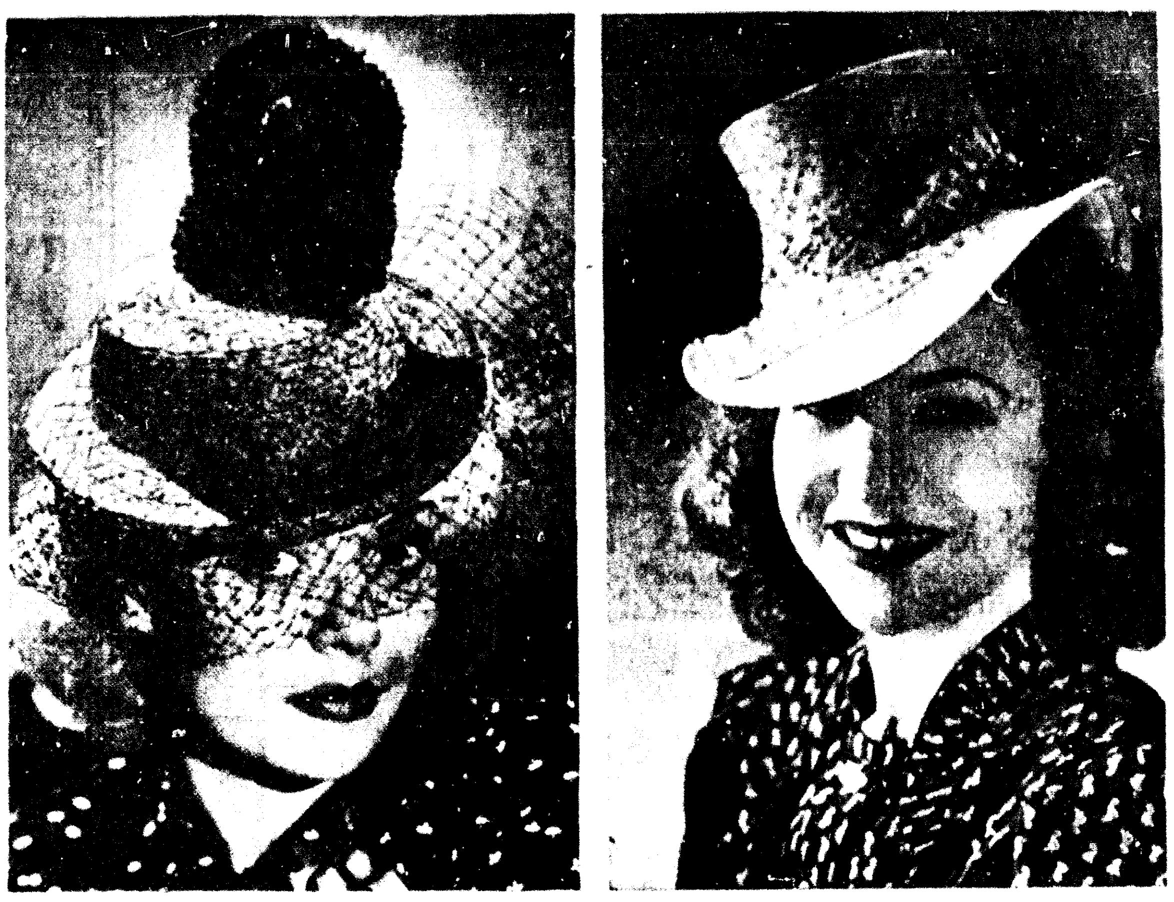
ACTRESSES SAY THEY'RE 'LOVELY'



Nine out of ten of Hollywood's new spring hats have veils. Pert Jane Wyman's new topper (left) has a nose-length veil of navy blue fishnet. The hat is a cushion-brimmed sailor of natural straw braid, made with a gay red cockade of pinked-edge grosgrain ribbon. Lucile Fairbanks (right) makes hat news by wearing a Panama in February. A tailored bow finishes it at back, and the postilion crown is draped with coarse black fishnet.

NORGE COMBINES ALL ADVANTAGES

Housewife Can At Last Have Refrigerator She Has Always Wanted

At last the housewife can have the refrigerator that she has always dreamed of, but could not find. The new 1940 Norge combines every convenience ever thought of with perfect temperature and humidity. It's the refrigerator that's almost all storage space for every type of storage. Five zones of storage space for every kind of food.

1. Freezing zone—Near zero temperatures in glacier sealed ice compartment for storing frozen foods and freezing huge amounts of ice.

2. Extra cold storage zone—Norge coldpack—chilled by intense cold of the refrigerating surface directly above it—always usable for the storage of fresh meats in large quantities.

3. Cold storage zone—The entire food compartment maintains a low temperature for safe preservation of foods. Also with 25 per cent more coiling surface and six to ten degrees lower temperatures, foods do not have to be kept covered and periods between defrosting are longer.

4. Humidity zone—Norge hydrovoir keeps leafy vegetables crisp, appetizing and tender.

5. Reserve storage zone—Norge cellaret brings to the kitchen extra storage space for a reserve supply of bottled beverages, canned goods and other staples, thereby eliminating many steps from the refrigerator to the pantry, and taking up no more space than the ordinary box.

Hence, from the above features Norge has taken this slogan, "From top to floor there's space galore."

The new Norgite inner door panel is one of the reasons that Norge is the cheapest operating electric refrigerator on the market. Norgite is a plastic developed by Norge engineers in cooperation with du Pont chemists that is 126 times more resistant to heat than porcelain or steel, used by other refrigerators. Norgite will not scratch, peal, turn yellow and is impervious to acids. Norgite is also much lighter than steel and porcelain allowing Norge to give you a door that is five inches thick instead of 2½ inches and still not be top heavy when the door is open.

Another reason for Norge's economy of operation is the Royal Rollator mechanism, which is the only permanently sealed and oiled rollator cold maker. While other refrigerator units depend upon natural draft in the room to cool their units, the Royal Rollator mechanism is cooled by flowing refrigerant and the hotter the weather gets the cooler the unit will operate because more refrigerant is pumped into the unit. The Royal Rollator cold maker is the simplest refrigerating mechanism ever built, having only three moving parts including motor and compressor. These three slowly-moving parts are oiled by seventy pounds oil pressure to insure long life and better operation, using so little electricity that one will hardly notice its cost on his electric light bill.

Some people who are careful about the ice that they serve their guests have put off buying a mechanical box, because they say that ice made in a mechanical box has a peculiar taste. This taste is due to small particles of food being taken up by the water in the trays of the refrigerator before it freezes and when dissolved in water or beverages gives an unpleasant taste. Norge is replacing many of these ice boxes because of its glacier sealed ice compartment where the water is sealed air tight away from food odors. Better desserts can also be made where they are free from such a mixture of food odors.

The old dreaded day of defrosting a refrigerator is made a pleasure with the Norge Spill-proof Handifroster, with no spoilage of food and cluttering up the box.

Besides the above features, Norge offers many other new and startling conveniences to make up this dream refrigerator.

A complete line of Norge refrigerators is on display at Passman Equipment company, 110 St. John street, together with other 1940 Norge home appliances—Norge Super Concentrator gas ranges and Autobilt washers. All of these appliances are products of latest engineering developments. They are built by Norge for efficiency, beauty and operating economy.

More than 3,000 Norge appliances are now being used by homemakers in the Monroe trade area and the popularity of Norge products in this area in growing day by day, keeping pace with phenomenal growth of Norge corporation, the largest producer of home appliances in the world today.

THIRTY MINUTES LATER AT HEADQUARTERS.
NO, MARY X, I HAVEN'T MUCH TO REPORT.
BUT YOU'VE GOT TO PROTECT ME. CAN'T YOU EVEN FIND OUT WHO I AM? MY LIFE'S IN DANGER! THEY'RE SHOOTING AT ME.
MARY, I HAVE ONE PLAN! SUPPOSE I DRIVE YOU AROUND TO SEVERAL DIFFERENT SPOTS IN TOWN. MAYBE YOU'LL SEE SOMETHING THAT WILL REVIVE YOUR MEMORY.
I'LL DO ANYTHING.
OH, I'M SO MISERABLE! SURELY, SOMEBODY KNOWS WHO I AM.
CHIEF, THE GIRL AND I ARE GOING OUT—ER— HEY!
WHAT IS IT, TRACY?
HOLD IT, CHIEF! THERE'S SOMETHING SHINY ON THE SOLES OF YOUR SHOES. LITTLE PARTICLES!
TINY PIECES OF METAL! EXACTLY LIKE THOSE I FOUND IMBEDDED IN HER SHOES!
PIECES OF METAL? HOW DID THEY GET THERE? WHERE HAVE I BEEN?
IN A MACHINE SHOP, CHIEF. COME ON, MARY X, LET'S GO.

HO HUM! ANOTHER BRUTAL DAY...
THAT REMINDS ME. SOMETHING I HAD TO REMEMBER. LET ME THINK.?
IT HAD SOMETHING TO DO WITH A PICTURE.
WHAT KIND OF A PICTURE?
AH I'VE GOT IT! A MAN WITH A SQUEAKY VOICE CALLED YOU UP TODAY. SAID IT WAS IMPORTANT.
FINE! WHAT'S HIS NAME?
THAT'S WHERE THE PICTURE COMES IN. WHAT WAS THE SUBJECT OF THAT PICTURE WE HAD IN THE HALL WHEN WE LIVED IN SUNKEN HEIGHTHS?
WHAT? LISTEN JO. WHAT A FINE KETTLE OF FISH THIS IS...
THAT'S IT! FISH. THE PICTURE WAS A MAN IN A BOAT. FISHING.
WELL THE MAN'S NAME WHO CALLED YOU UP HAD SOMETHING TO DO WITH FISHING. DO YOU KNOW A SALMON?
SALMON?
OR TROUT?
TROUT? LET ME..
MENTION OTHER FISH NAMES....CARP... MACKEREL.. THAT'S IT... NEARLY. MACKEREL.
MACKEREL? I DON'T KNOW ANY...
IT ISN'T EXACTLY MACKEREL.. BUT THAT'S VERY CLOSE... AH I'VE GOT IT! THE NAME IS MACKEY.
MACKEY?
OKAY, WHAT'S HIS FIRST NAME AND THE PHONE NUMBER?
LET ME THINK...WELL IT'S EASY TO FIND THAT IN THE PHONE BOOK.

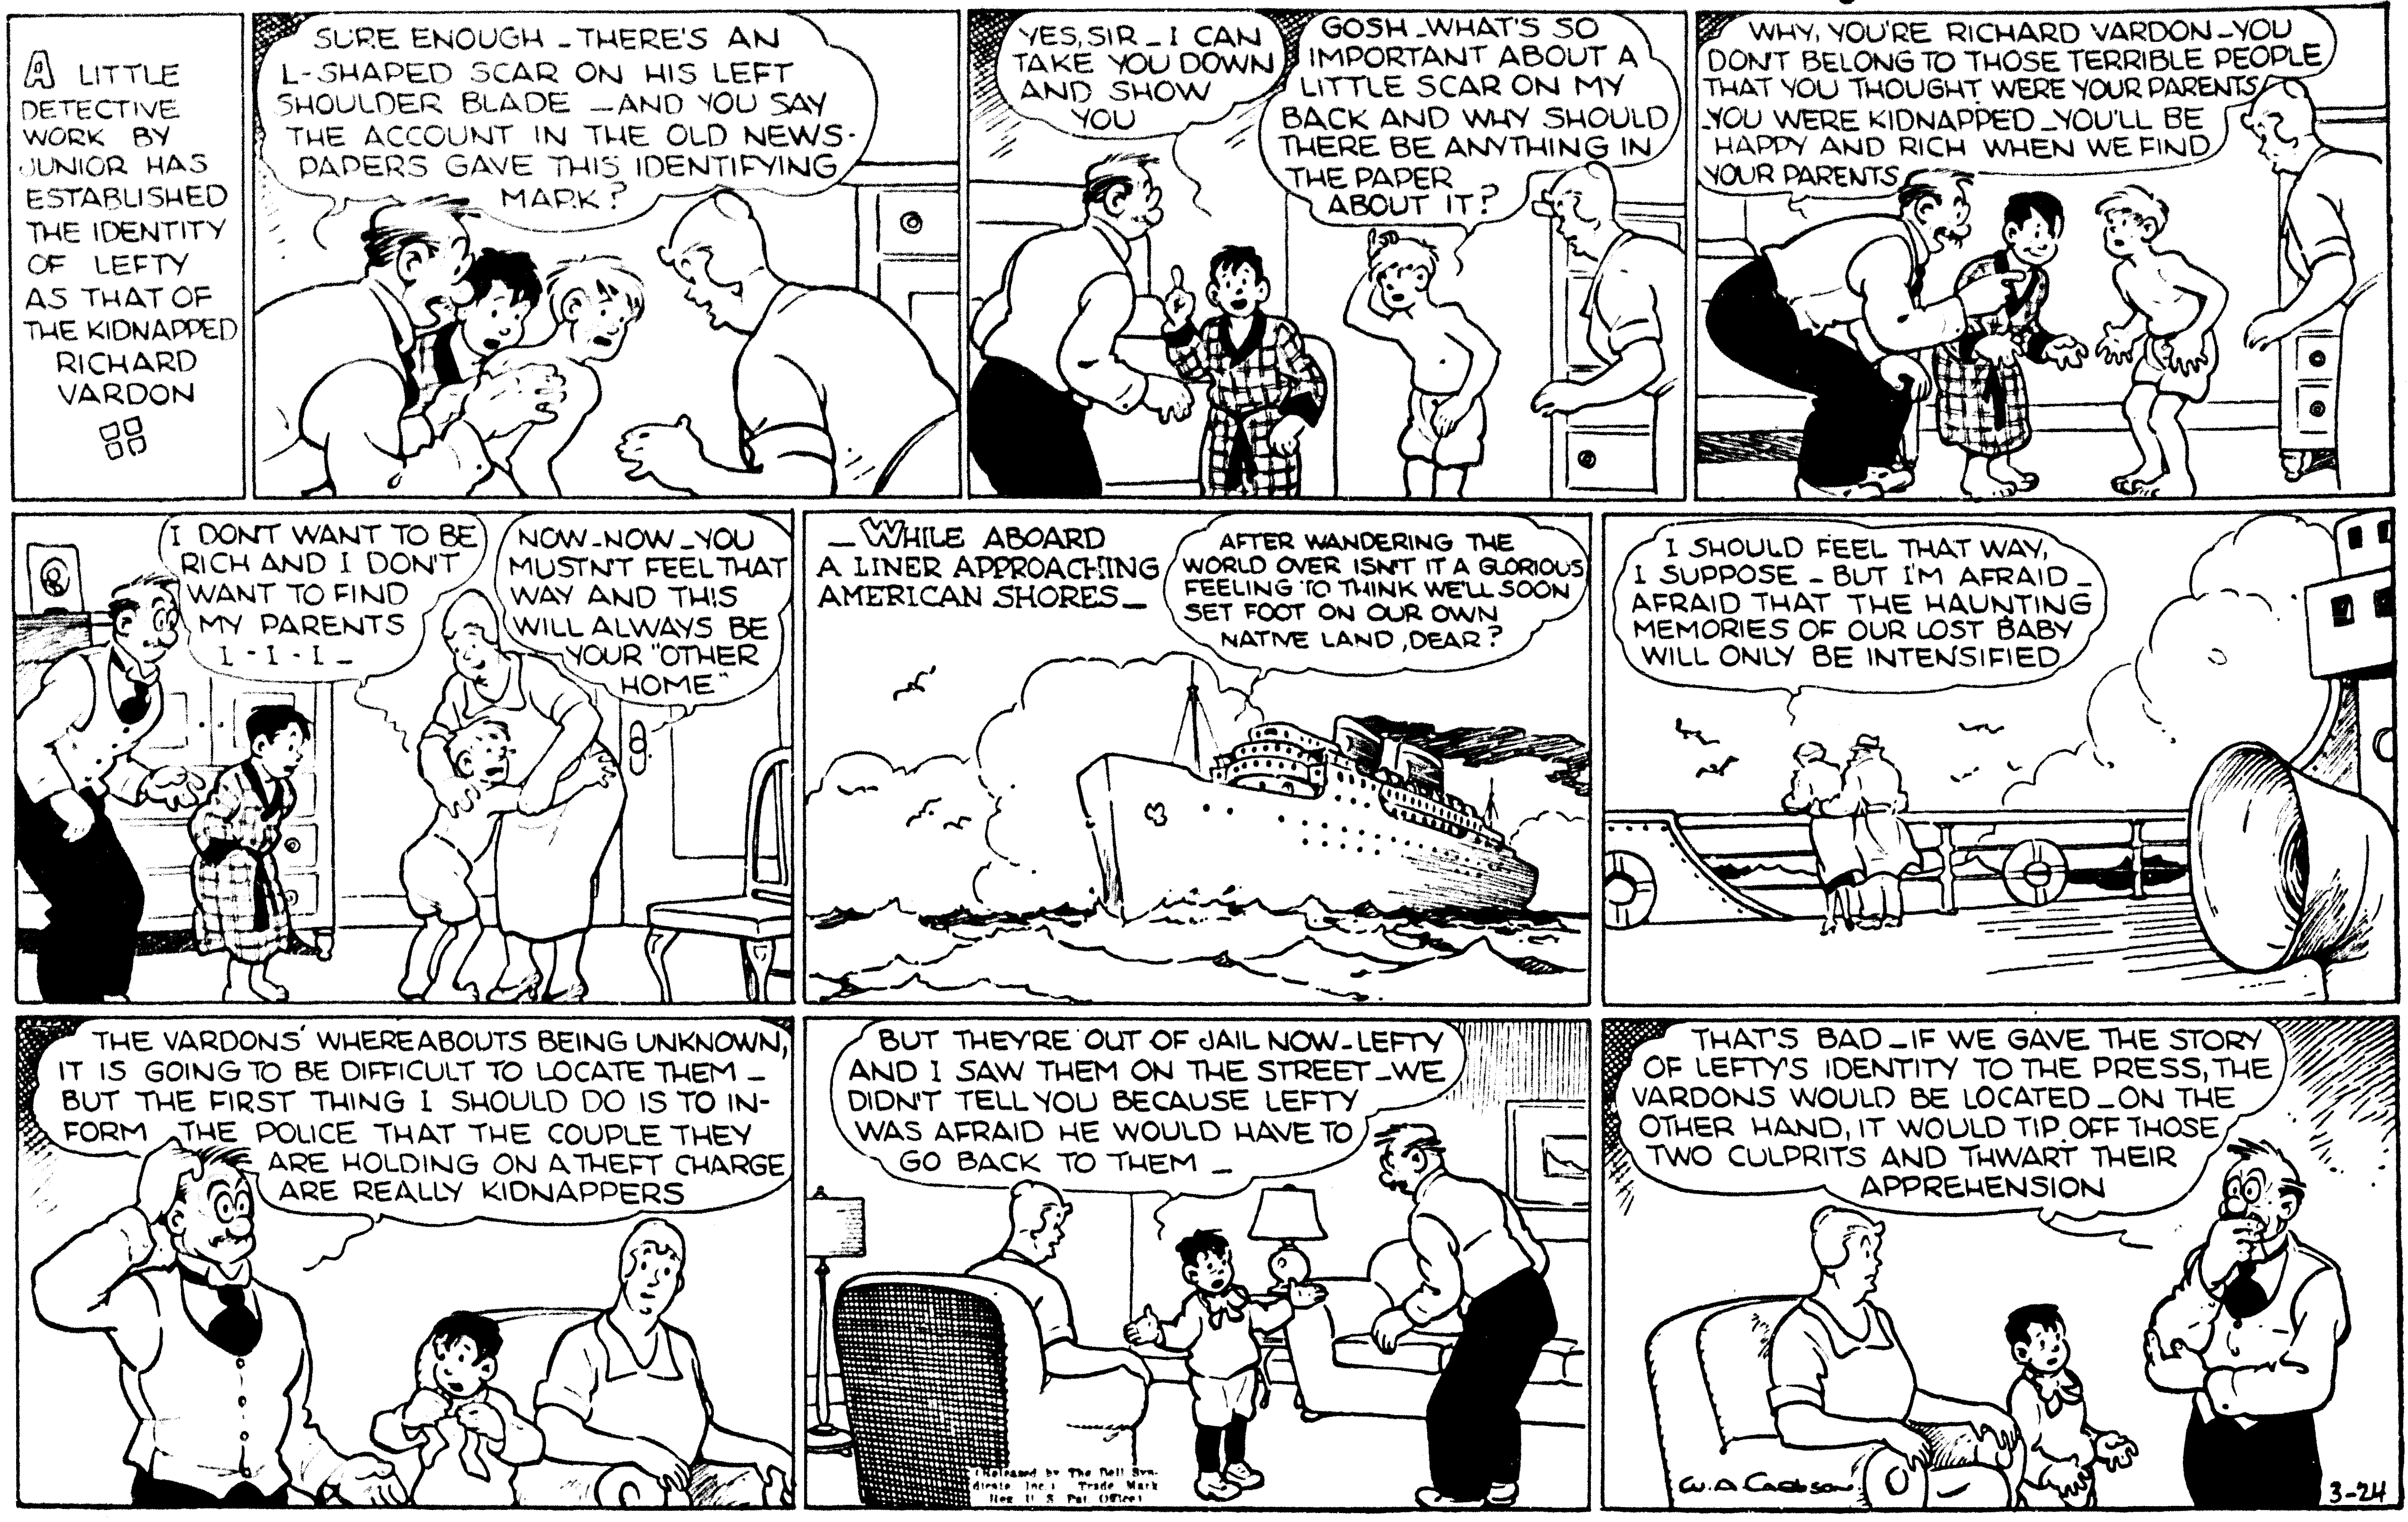
THE NEBBS • A Difficult Problem • By SOL HESS



A LITTLE DETECTIVE WORK BY JUNIOR HAS ESTABLISHED THE IDENTITY OF LEFTY AS THAT OF THE KIDNAPPED RICHARD VARDON
SURE ENOUGH - THERE'S AN L-SHAPED SCAR ON HIS LEFT SHOULDER BLADE - AND YOU SAY THE ACCOUNT IN THE OLD NEWSPAPERS GAVE THIS IDENTIFYING MARK?
YES, SIR - I CAN TAKE YOU DOWN AND SHOW YOU
GOSH - WHAT'S SO IMPORTANT ABOUT A LITTLE SCAR ON MY BACK AND WHY SHOULD THERE BE ANYTHING IN THE PAPER ABOUT IT?
WHY, YOU'RE RICHARD VARDON - YOU DON'T BELONG TO THOSE TERRIBLE PEOPLE THAT YOU THOUGHT WERE YOUR PARENTS - YOU WERE KIDNAPPED - YOU'LL BE HAPPY AND RICH WHEN WE FIND YOUR PARENTS
I DON'T WANT TO BE RICH AND I DON'T WANT TO FIND MY PARENTS I-I-I-
NOW - NOW - YOU MUSTN'T FEEL THAT WAY AND THIS WILL ALWAYS BE YOUR "OTHER HOME"
- WHILE ABOARD A LINER APPROACHING AMERICAN SHORES -
AFTER WANDERING THE WORLD OVER ISN'T IT A GLORIOUS FEELING TO THINK WE'LL SOON SET FOOT ON OUR OWN NATIVE LAND, DEAR?
I SHOULD FEEL THAT WAY, I SUPPOSE - BUT I'M AFRAID - AFRAID THAT THE HAUNTING MEMORIES OF OUR LOST BABY WILL ONLY BE INTENSIFIED
THE VARDONS' WHEREABOUTS BEING UNKNOWN, IT IS GOING TO BE DIFFICULT TO LOCATE THEM - BUT THE FIRST THING I SHOULD DO IS TO INFORM THE POLICE THAT THE COUPLE THEY ARE HOLDING ON A THEFT CHARGE ARE REALLY KIDNAPPERS
BUT THEY'RE OUT OF JAIL NOW - LEFTY AND I SAW THEM ON THE STREET - WE DIDN'T TELL YOU BECAUSE LEFTY WAS AFRAID HE WOULD HAVE TO GO BACK TO THEM -
THAT'S BAD - IF WE GAVE THE STORY OF LEFTY'S IDENTITY TO THE PRESS, THE VARDONS WOULD BE LOCATED - ON THE OTHER HAND, IT WOULD TIP OFF THOSE TWO CULPRITS AND THWART THEIR APPREHENSION

COME ON, GIRLS -- THIS IS EASTER WHETHER YOU LIKE IT OR NOT!
AWK!
EGGS ARE IN DEMAND AND IF I COLOR THEM THEY'LL BE EASIER TO SELL!
COLORING EGGS?
YEP! THIS WILL SAVE MY CUSTOMERS THE TROUBLE!
GOOD MORNING, LADY! WOULD YOU LIKE TO BUY SOME NICE COLORED EASTER EGGS?
HM -- HOW MUCH ARE THEY A DOZEN?
SIXTY CENTS A DOZEN!
WHAT? THE IDEA! SUCH A PRICE FOR EGGS THAT MAY NOT EVEN BE FRESH!
OH, BUT THEY ARE FRESH! FEEL 'EM - THEY'RE STILL WARM!
WELL - I WON'T PAY ANY MORE THAN THIRTY CENTS A DOZEN!
CHEEP! CHEEP!

A LITTLE DETECTIVE WORK BY JUNIOR HAS ESTABLISHED THE IDENTITY OF LEFTY AS THAT OF THE KIDNAPPED RICHARD VARDON
SURE ENOUGH _ THERE'S AN L-SHAPED SCAR ON HIS LEFT SHOULDER BLADE _ AND YOU SAY THE ACCOUNT IN THE OLD NEWSPAPERS GAVE THIS IDENTIFYING MARK?
YES, SIR _ I CAN TAKE YOU DOWN AND SHOW YOU
GOSH _ WHAT'S SO IMPORTANT ABOUT A LITTLE SCAR ON MY BACK AND WHY SHOULD THERE BE ANYTHING IN THE PAPER ABOUT IT?
WHY, YOU'RE RICHARD VARDON _ YOU DON'T BELONG TO THOSE TERRIBLE PEOPLE THAT YOU THOUGHT WERE YOUR PARENTS _ YOU WERE KIDNAPPED _ YOU'LL BE HAPPY AND RICH WHEN WE FIND YOUR PARENTS
I DONT WANT TO BE RICH AND I DON'T WANT TO FIND MY PARENTS I-I-I_

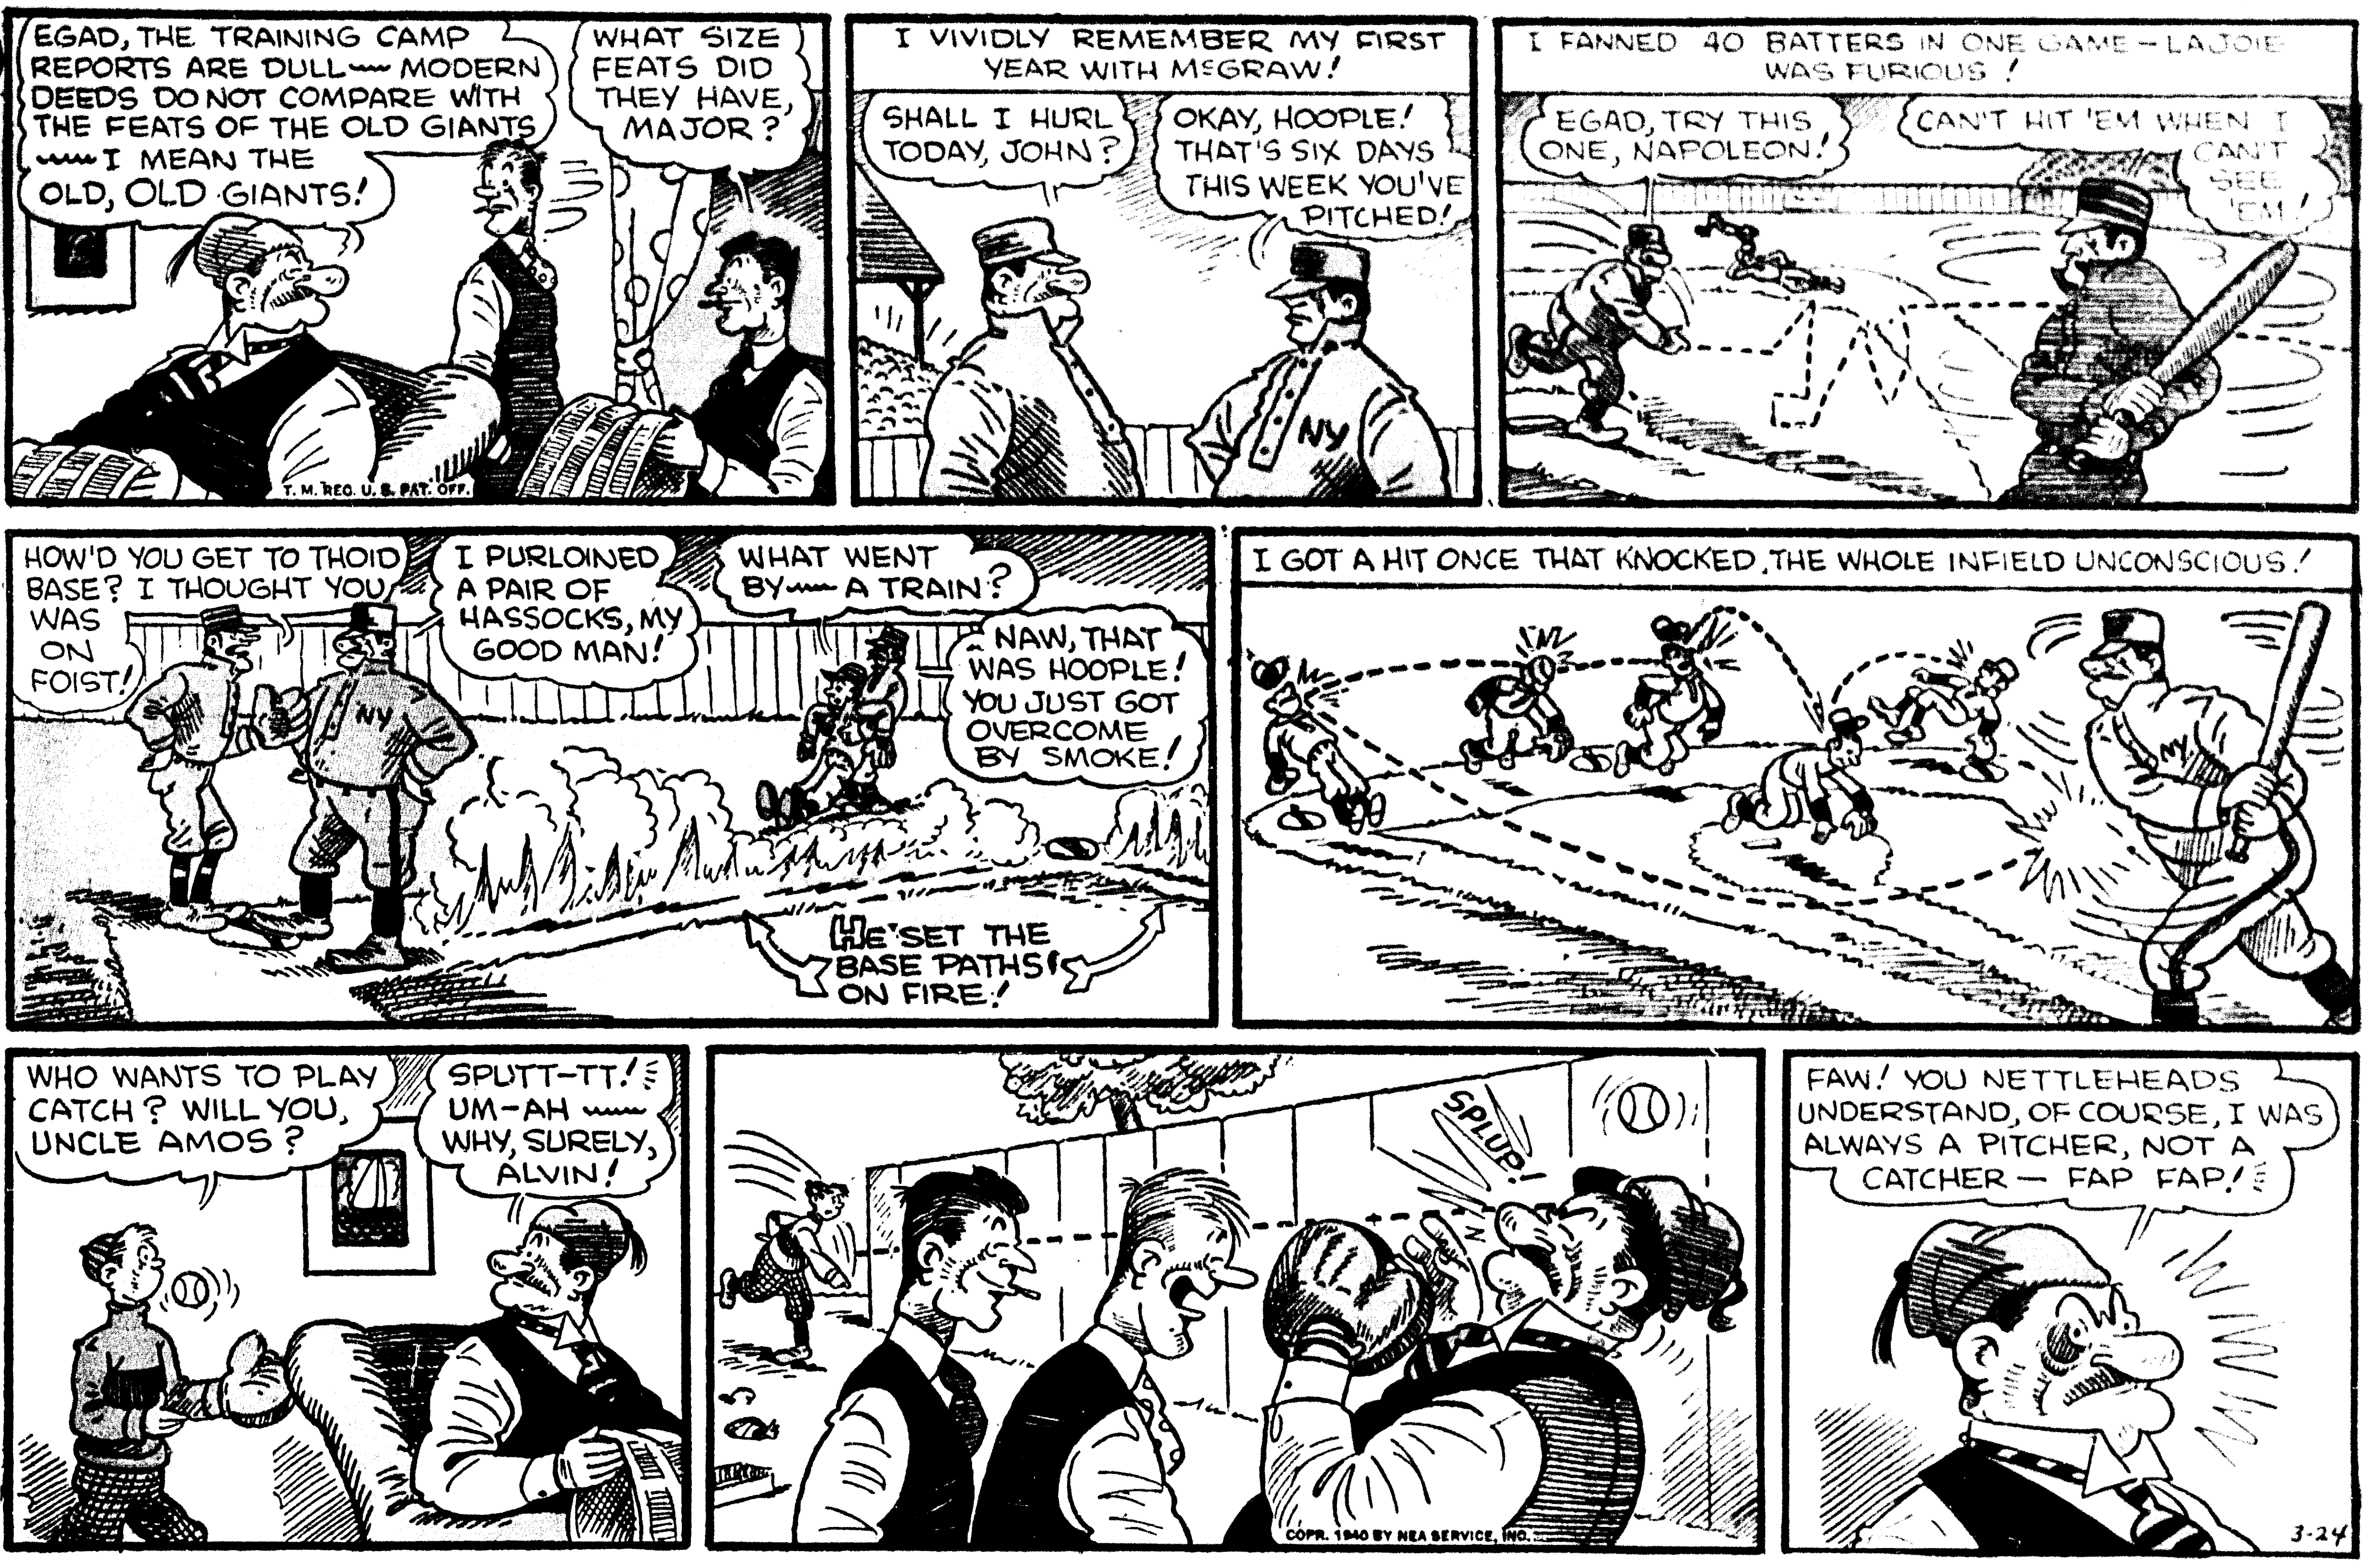
OUR BOARDING HOUSE MAJOR HOOPLE



EGAD, THE TRAINING CAMP REPORTS ARE DULL — MODERN DEEDS DO NOT COMPARE WITH THE FEATS OF THE OLD GIANTS — I MEAN THE OLD, OLD GIANTS!
WHAT SIZE FEATS DID THEY HAVE, MAJOR?
T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
I VIVIDLY REMEMBER MY FIRST YEAR WITH McGRAW!
SHALL I HURL TODAY, JOHN?
OKAY, HOOPLE! THAT'S SIX DAYS THIS WEEK YOU'VE PITCHED!
NY
I FANNED 40 BATTERS IN ONE GAME — LAJOIE WAS FURIOUS!
EGAD, TRY THIS ONE, NAPOLEON!
CAN'T HIT 'EM WHEN I CAN'T SEE 'EM!
HOW'D YOU GET TO THOID BASE? I THOUGHT YOU WAS ON FOIST!
NY
I PURLOINED A PAIR OF HASSOCKS, MY GOOD MAN!
WHAT WENT BY — A TRAIN?
NAW, THAT WAS HOOPLE! YOU JUST GOT OVERCOME BY SMOKE!
HE SET THE BASE PATHS ON FIRE!
I GOT A HIT ONCE THAT KNOCKED THE WHOLE INFIELD UNCONSCIOUS!

POPEYE, WE WILL START A ROCK GARDEN
WHAT! YA GO'NER GROW ROCKS?
IT TAKES MILLIONS OF YEARS TO MAKE ROCKS, YA KIN NOT GROW 'EM
STOP BEING SILLY
WE PLANT LITTLE VINES AND FLOWERS AND THEY GROW AROUND THE ROCKS, THE RESULT IS A COZY NOOK APPARENTLY DESIGNED BY MOTHER NATURE
WE NEED A LARGE STONE FOR THE CENTER
OKAY, OLIVE, I WILL GETCHA ONE
ESCUSE ME, KIN I HAVE THE STONE YER SITTIN' ON?
YOU CAN HAVE A SOCK IN THE MUSH
OH, SO YA WANNA FIGHT?
SPLAT
WHOP
NOW I WILL TAKE THE STONE TO OLIVE GR-R
BONK
OLIVE IS NOT AROUND, I WILL PUT THE STONE IN THE MIDDLE OF HER GARDEN
POPEYE, MOVE THAT STONE INSTANTLY
LOOK, YOU HAVE CRUSHED MY DAISY
I YAM SORRY
DON'T WORRY, POPEYE, THERE WILL BE MORE
I HURT A POOR LITTLE DEFENSKLESS BLOSSOM, I YAM JUS A COWARD AN' A BULLY
THEY'S NO WAY TO UNDO THE WRONG THAT I HAVE DONE
